

THE EVENING NEWS.

GEORGE Q. CANNON,
EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

Monday, November 15, 1909.

The San Francisco Call, of the 10th inst., contains the particulars of a terrible tragedy which occurred in the South Sea. There is a company on the island of Tahiti, styled the Tahiti Cotton Company. They have plantations there, and in the absence of laborers they sent a ship to Gilbert Island for a cargo of natives to work on them. The first venture of this kind proved so successful—the natives being such good workers—that some six months ago the same company sent for another cargo. The vessel sent reached its destination in safety, and succeeded in getting between two and three hundred natives; and with that number the ship sailed for Tahiti.

During the first few days of the voyage the natives behaved very well; but about the tenth day out, they began to show an insubordinate disposition. This change in their conduct was noticed, and accordingly the leading spirits among them were watched.

On the fifteenth night from the time of first setting sail, the Coolies made an attack upon those of the crew who were on deck, and succeeded in killing two of them. The captain, who ran out of his cabin upon hearing the noise, was set upon and beaten to death with marine spikes and belaying pins.

When the first mate saw what had happened, he pushed into the hold, where there were a couple of kegs of powder. These he carried under the hatchway, and, pouring a quantity of powder on the floor, laid a train from there to the afterpart of the ship. This done, he climbed up the hatchway and shot one of the Coolies with his revolver. By this means he attracted their attention. He then dropped back into the hold and ran to where his train started. The Coolies instantly began to tumble down the hatchway, cursing, bellowing and shouting in the wildest manner. The mate watched his opportunity and ignited the train. There was a flash, a report, and the vessel shook and trembled as if she had suddenly struck upon a rock. The air was filled with shrieks and groans, while the dense smoke penetrated into every recess and became so stifling, that the mate was compelled to crawl upon deck. Strange to say, none of the crew, whom the Coolies had not killed, were injured by the explosion; and when they heard the mate's voice after he had regained the deck, they immediately joined him.

The explosion killed a great many of the Coolies outright, wounded many more and so frightened the remainder, that they jumped into the sea. When they attempted to regain the ship, the crew, with cutlasses and pikes soon dispatched them. There was a slight breeze blowing at the time, and the vessel was borne away from the swarm of Coolies struggling in the water.

Upon examination, the mate found that the vessel was not seriously injured; and such repairs were made as enabled her to reach Tahiti in safety.

It is likely that no more Coolies will be brought from Gilbert Island.

Hon. Garrett Davis, Senator from Kentucky, was appointed delegate from that State to the Capital Removal Convention, recently held at St. Louis. On his return, he gave an account of his stewardship in a lengthy letter to the Governor of Kentucky. Mr. Davis is opposed to the removal and gives as his reasons, first, the unconstitutionality of the thing; second, the central location of Washington City when the Government was first organized; third, the expense of the undertaking; fourth, the evil of locating the seat of Government among any industrious and moral people; fifth, the non-necessity of locating the capital in any large city; sixth and last, because Rome was built upon a dirty stream and named after its founder.

From this Capital on the Tiber went forth the armies which subdued all neighboring countries, comprehended in what is denominated her western empire; and also the edicts and intellectual and moral forces that conquered Europe, and all the other achievements which occupied her attention for twelve centuries. He asks: "Why should not Washington City run the parallel of Rome in the duration and splendor of Metropolitan history?"

The St. Louis Dispatch thinks that if the fourth reason given by Mr. Davis fail to satisfy the people of St. Louis that not to have the capital will be a blessing, while to have it will be a curse, it is sure the compendium of ancient history, that Davis gives will readily remove all desire to have the Capital removed to that city. It thinks his historical reminiscences will cure St. Louis' ambition to become the Capital of the Great Republic.

A WOULD BE RAVISHER, in Stephentown, near Troy, New York, met with a fate a few days ago which all such fellows deserve. His name was Croissey. He entered the house of a Mrs. Dodge and undertook to ravish her, when she seized an ax and split his head open. He died instantly.

TO SHEET RAINERS.—The following note has been handed to us for publication:

"Ed. Evening News.—We are just in receipt of a letter from Dr. D. W. Ap. Jones, of California, expressive of his regrets that he will be unable this fall or winter, to bring his drove of fine blooded sheep to Utah, but he hopes at an early day to consummate his design.

"He has requested us to make this public, to enable those of the citizens, stock-raisers, and farmers, who have relied upon obtaining approved breeds of sheep from him, to make other arrangements.

Yours respectfully,
MARSHALL & CARTER."

GENERAL.

Washington, 13.—Secretary Robeson to-day sent a cable dispatch to Admiral Radford, commanding the U. S. European fleet, directing him to detail one vessel to act as convoy to the ship bearing the remains of Mr. Geo. Peabody from London to this country.

Hon. Amos Kendall died this morning. Secretary Boutwell officially announced the death of Robert J. Walker. Business will be suspended in the Treasury Department to-day for the burial.

Baltimore.—The funeral of George Peabody was observed to-day. Flags at half mast were on many buildings, numbers of which were draped in mourning, bells tolled, &c.

Boston.—One hundred and eighty-five men, attached to the Construction Department of the navy yard were discharged yesterday; the engineer and other departments are to be cut down. The exhaustion of the naval appropriations is said to be the cause.

The Republican's Washington special says it is said that Minister Low will not start to China until after the meeting of Congress. He was averse to accepting the mission at all, and it is now asserted that he waits to have the mission raised to one of the first class, and if not done early in the session he will resign and return to California. It now appears probable that the difference existing between the line and the staff of the Navy about the respective ranks will be amicably settled without an appeal to Congress as was threatened. It was the intention of Secretary Robeson to organize a board of naval officers to settle the points at issue between the two classes of officers, the boards to be composed of the heads of the different bureaus in the Navy Department, three of whom belong to the line and three to the staff, but some of the representatives of the staff have submitted to the Secretary of the navy their grievances and their desires, and the Secretary has intimated that a compromise will be easily effected, the details of which he will submit to Congress in his forthcoming report.

Cincinnati.—Rabbi Lillenthal, in his service yesterday, spoke against the Pilgrims, and the instructions in the public schools as incompatible with the genius of American institutions; quoting the decisions of Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York courts disclosing that America is not a Christian country.

New York.—The entire custom frauds are estimated at $800,000. They were committed during 1886 '7 and '8. The principal offender has not yet been arrested. His name is withheld. It appears that a few weeks ago W. J. Koone and W. H. Whitteid were arrested, charged with being engaged in the frauds; they have made a statement implicating Blatchford and Mullen and three brothers named Caldwell. The District Attorney demanded documentary evidence against them from the Treasury Department, and on the day papers were brought in. The trail of Blatchford depends on the genuineness of his initials upon the drawback claims. The examination of Mullen is adjourned till to-morrow.

Lancaster, Wis.—Last night two men named Parker Bliss and Chas. G. Wild were registered at the St. Charles Hotel; Wild left at midnight; Bliss was found at 4 p. m. to-day, in his room, dead, with two bullets through him. Wild had probably murdered him.

Nashville.—J. D. Vincent was shot and mortally wounded at Lauk's hotel to-day by a man named Burton.

New York.—Relative to the stupendous frauds in the drawback department of the Custom House the Sun calls for the removal of collector Grinnell as incompetent to fill the position although perfectly honest. It says the frauds of Blatchford were brought to Grinnell's notice three weeks ago, but he refused to listen to the charges and subsequently gave Blatchford leave of absence, when he went to Canada, and has since gone to Europe.

The skeletons of two children were found in a flue of a tenement house on Twenty-eighth street yesterday; no one in the house seemed to know anything about them.

The Cuban Junta are indignant at Capt. Higgins, of the Hornet, and though they are fitting out another vessel, it is not probable that he will be placed in command. It is said that a schooner laden with coal, which was sent out from Florida to supply the Hornet, was searching two days for her at the time she ran into Wilmington.

The Hornet was carrying specie to pay the officers and soldiers of Cuba at the time of her capture, and it is said she cost the Junta two hundred thousand dollars.

The Herald says the national banks are aiming to control all the money in the country. It holds that the national currency ought to be withdrawn and greenbacks used instead. All parts of the country might then have as many banks as they choose. The banks could discount deposits and be for commercial accommodation, which is the only legitimate business of banking, all using the currency of the Government and people for circulation. The Government would then get the benefit of the national circulation, the profits of which are enormous and the people would have a uniform and perfectly safe currency.

Caldwell, the alleged accomplice of Blatchford in the drawback frauds, has absconded. Warrants are issued for the arrest of both.

Forty-seven of the guards of the Illinois State Prison, at Joliet, struck for higher wages yesterday, leaving the prison with only three men to guard thirteen hundred convicts.

gotious for the same having been entered into last August, which have progressed so far as to substantially provide that St. Domingo shall be annexed as a State without going into a territorial form.

San Francisco.—Important developments of the Comstock lode, Nevada, cause excitement in the mining stock circles; nearly all descriptions have advanced. A memorial asking Congressional aid for the Sutro tunnel has been signed by all the Nevada State officials and many prominent citizens.

A gold bearing quartz bed has been discovered near Los Angeles. The surface rock abounds in fine gold.

Work on the California and Oregon railroad is being pushed forward with vigor. The Feather River bridge at Marysville, is completed. The land in the northern portion of the Sacramento Valley is increasing in value, and there is a prospect of the early completion of the Grand Trunk line through its entire length.

Troy.—Appropriate funeral honors were paid Gen. Wool to-day.

Philadelphia.—At the medical lecture at the Penn. hospital, to-day, there was a class of thirty-nine ladies present and 140 male students.

The funeral of Robert J. Walker took place at noon to-day; a heavy snow storm prevailed at the time of the funeral.

Washington.—The Post Master General will issue orders prohibiting the carriage, through the mails, of circulars gotten up by swindling firms for the purpose of defrauding the public. Some twenty of these firms are on the black list of the government detectives.

The old Republican wigwag in which Lincoln was first nominated for the presidency, was totally destroyed by fire last night. The loss is about $25,000. It has been occupied for business since '61.

Leavenworth.—In the case of Ex-Mayor Anthony of this city, and Gen. Thomas Ewing, for false arrest, the jury yesterday rendered a verdict for the defendant. This was an action for $30,000 damages based on the arrest of Anthony, while mayor of Leavenworth, during the war, by the U. S. detectives, who took him to Missouri, when he was discharged.

Chicago.—Washington specials say that General Cole, who killed Hisecock, is up for Secretary of the Senate; whether he succeeds or not, will make a fierce opposition to Gorham.

Erie.—The boiler of a small engine, attached to a threshing machine, exploded in this county, to-day, and killed a small boy.

Boston.—A gentleman in this city, who recently left a respectable business with good prospects to engage in gold speculation, has been sent to an insane asylum.

The funeral of George Peabody was observed to-day by the tolling of bells, and the displaying of flags at half mast.

San Francisco, 14.—At a few minutes past nine this morning, an eastward bound train on the Western Pacific road, of eight cars, including one sleeping car, collided at Alameda ferry, with a train of four cars, both trains going at the rate of twenty miles an hour. The engines were a perfect wreck. The Western Pacific train left promptly to time, but the morning was so foggy that the engineer had difficulty to see any distance ahead. The other train had passed the switch where the Western Pacific connects with the Alameda road. The train slowed at the switch longer than usual and questioned whether the Alameda train had passed, and was answered "all right, go ahead." Soon after the trains came together with a terrific crash.

The first passenger car of the Western Pacific was driven through the smoking car. The other cars were badly damaged. The killed and wounded are variously estimated at from ten to fifteen, and from thirty to fifty; but it is impossible to obtain the correct number. The following are known to be killed and wounded: killed, Alex. W. Baldwin, United States District Judge of Nevada; Edward Anderson, Engineer of the Western Pacific; McDonald, Roadmaster of the California Pacific Railroad; Boulton, principal of the young ladies' seminary at Oakland; Charles Martin, fireman of the Austin Pacific train; David Vary, merchant, of San Francisco; Jas. Connelly, of Corral Station; Max. Ebelner, merchant of San Jose.

Wounded: J. D. Perkins, railroad employee, bruised; J. P. Lovell, of Sacramento, both legs badly jammed; J. L. Beard, Mission San Jose, slightly; Judge Wm. Campbell, U. S. District attorney, for Nevada, left leg broken; S. M. B. Halley, of San Francisco, leg twisted; Patrick Mahon, of Oakland, both legs broken; J. C. Knapp, of Pleasanton, right leg smashed; J. P. Helen of San Francisco, badly bruised; Noel Lambert, carpenter on the Western Pacific, both legs broken; M. L. Taylor, of Chicago, bruised across stomach; Seth Thomoly, of Sacramento, one leg broken and the other badly jammed; George Cadwallader, of Sacramento, badly bruised; J. J. Hill, of San Francisco, badly bruised; Thos. McMilly, of San Francisco, right leg broken and foot bruised; two Chinamen badly hurt.

The killed and wounded were mostly on the Western Pacific train. When the cars collided the passengers were driven together and crowded among the ruins, and many could not be extricated. The legs of one man had to be amputated before he could be released from the cars. A sleeping car with the wounded was sent to Alameda. Great excitement prevailed during the day. The catastrophe has cast gloom over the entire people. The announcement of the accident was read from the pulpits during the morning service.

San Francisco, 14.—Seventeen dead bodies have been recovered from the wrecked cars and eleven brought to the dead house at Oakland; it is estimated that twenty are wounded. The scene at the disaster was heartrending, the ruins revealing a mass of crushed humanity.

There are different statements as to the cause. It is alleged that the Western Pacific was ahead of time and should have waited at Damon station for the passage of the Alameda train. Again, the fault is said to be with the road master, where the Alameda and Western Pacific roads connect, who said the Alameda train was behind time and he'd be damned if he would wait for it, and went into the house for breakfast; and while there a gravel train passed down, which he supposed was the Alameda train, and when the Western Pacific came up, in reply to the question whether the Alameda train had passed, he said, "all right, go ahead."

FOREIGN.

London.—The funeral obsequies of the late George Peabody took place this afternoon. The funeral procession formed at the mansion of Sir Curtis Lampton. The funeral consisted of the hearse and five mourning coaches. The funeral cortege passed slowly through the streets, which were lined with silent crowds of spectators, to Westminster Abbey. This venerable structure was completely filled with people, who had been admitted by tickets and who were all dressed in mourning. The choir was hung with black and wore a sombre aspect. The interior was only relieved by richly decorated robes. The Lord Mayor and others stood at the door as the body was brought in.

A brass plate, with an inscription giving the simple name of deceased, and the date of his birth and death.

The lessons were read by the Dean of Westminster. As soon as the ceremony within the church was over the procession formed again and advanced to a spot near the Western entrance, where a temporary grave had been prepared, the sides of which were hung with black drapery. Here the body was deposited. Lord John Thinner read the remainder of the service. At the head of the grave, on the right, stood mourners, including the American Minister; on the left stood General Grey, Mr. Gladstone, Lord Clarendon, the Lord Mayor, the High Sheriff, the clergy of Westminster and St. Paul's. The solemnity of the occasion was profoundly felt by the vast assembly, and many shed tears during the choral service, which included the singing of the anthem "His body is buried in peace, but his name liveth evermore." After the coffin had been lowered into the grave a floral cross was placed upon it. This act was witnessed in profound silence, and served to increase the emotion which pervaded the congregation. The people then passed round the coffin and took a last look of the features of the deceased. The Bishop of London will preach his funeral sermon on Sunday.

Paris.—There has been a severe hurricane on the Mediterranean, and it is feared that many disasters have occurred.

Madrid.—The Empress Eugenie departed for Alexandria to-day.

London.—A few days previous to his death Mr. Peabody gave an extra $150,000 to the public fund.

London.—According to announcement on Friday, the Bishop of London, to-day, delivered a funeral sermon on the late Geo. Peabody at Westminster Abbey to an immense congregation. The Bishop said no untitled commoner drew around his grave as large a concourse of sincere mourners as Peabody. The reason was that through his long life he labored for others, especially for the poor. He was simple in habits, unambitious in rank and power; he found enjoyment in beneficence. It was his business to gather wealth, his joy to give it away. His name would be a prestige to two or three nations, and would form another link in the cord binding England and America.

Madrid.—Admiral Topete was elected Vice President of the Constitutional Cortes.

Paris.—The garrison of this city will be immediately augmented by two regiments. Last night another demonstration in favor of Henry Rochefort, was held in the streets. The people were not disturbed by the police.

A letter from Mexico states that on the ninth ultimo one hundred men, women and children were crushed to death by the falling of the Silver mine at Guanajuato while the miners were eating their dinners, which had been just brought by their families. The following day sixteen women, six children and twelve men were drowned in the river Muneito. They had sat down on a bank to rest before undertaking to ford the river which was swollen by the rains. The banks suddenly slid off into the stream and every one perished.

CURE FOR SNAKE BITE.—About 20 years ago, the Smithsonian Institute embarked in a series of experiments testing the practicality of neutralizing the poison of snakes, founded purely on a chemical basis, which developed great results. The fact was illustrated that the poison of the most venomous rattlesnake can be neutralized in an incredible short time. After the most extraordinary results from all the experiments witnessed, there was promulgated from the Institute, at the time above mentioned, the following simple but certain cure for snake bites, and for the sting of all kinds of insects. Thirty grains of iodine potassium, thirty grains of iodine, one ounce of water; applied externally to the wound by saturating lint or bathing—the same to be kept damp with the antidote until the cure be effected, which will be effected in one hour, and some times instantly. The limb bitten should be corded tight to prevent circulation. The liquid should be kept in a vial with a glass stopper. This simple remedy can be obtained at any drug store, and costs a trifle. Every family ought to keep a vial of it ready at hand. Fruit gatherers may feel some security in having it with them. Hunters and fishermen may not find it inconvenient to go forth thus prepared for "the mishaps of the hour."—Farmer's Home Journal.
