Last Night's Dispatches.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

The Louisiana Bill.

WASHINGTON, 14.—At the expiration of the morning hour the Senate, on motion of Carpenter, took up the Louisiana election bill, and Frelinghuysen delivered a constitutional argument against it, after which the Senate went into executive session and adjourned.

HOUSE.

Bills Passed.

WASHINGTON, 14.—The bills reported from the committee on civil service reform, to provide for the reorganization of the customs service and the treasury department were both referred to the committee of the whole on the State of the Union.

Kellogg, from the same committee, reported a bill abolishing the office of appraiser of merchandise at Providence, Portland, Me., Cleveland, Milwaukee, Memphis, Evansville, Louisville, Norfolk, Mobile, Toledo, and Pittsburg, and providing for appraisers only at Philadelphia, Baltimore, Charleston and Savanah. Davis intimated that the committee on civil service reform were trenching upon the business of the ways and means committee, referring to the former in a rather sarcastic manner, which drew forth a rejoinder from Kellogg that Dawes was always in favor of general reform, but failed to reduce it to special cases. Motions to strike out a number of places included in the bill were made by many members, representatives of the districts affected, but all were rejected and the bill passed.

The House took up the currency bill. Butler withdrew his motion to substitute the Senate bill for it, it being understood that Maynard would, after the passage of the House bill, move to go to the Speaker's table and take up the Senate bill. Maynard moved the previous question on the bill and the amendments were seconded, 114 to 83, and all the pending amendments were rejected and the bill passed, 128 to 126.

On motion of Butler the House proceeded with the business on the Speaker's table, and finally reached the Senate bill to amend the currency acts, and establish free banking.

Hoar made a point of order, that as the bill increased the national debt it should be first considered in committee of the whole.

Garfield made a point of order, that no proposition to tax the people shall be discussed the day it is offered.

The Speaker ruled that the points were well taken if the bill was a tax bill, but the Senate could not originate such a bill, and it was for the House and not the Speaker to decide if the bill was not properly here.

Garfield then raised the question that the bill was not properly in the House, and should be returned to the Senate, but the House decided against him, and the previous question was moved and seconded, and the bill passed 141 to 102.

EASTERN.

Nomination.

WASHINGTON, 14.—The President has nominated Thos. Russell Moss, minister resident at Venezuela.

Bribery and Rascality.

Before the ways and means committee to day, Parks, agent of the Pacific Mail S.S. Co., testified concerning $600,000, alleged to have been paid by the company to influence legislation, that half the amount was transferred by the agent to whom the whole was committed to a sister, for investment in Philadelphia real estate.

Exchange of Bonds.

Secretary Richardson has made negotiations for the exchange of half a million of the new five per cent bonds for an equal amount of six per cent five-twenty bonds at par, this is one of the most favorable sales made.

The Mississippi on a Tear.

NEW ORLEANS, 14.—The water is five to seven inches above high water mark of 1871. The water covers the track of the Mobile railroad a foot deep. Governor Kellogg, to-day, addressed a circular to the property owners, recommending private levee work, and promising to favor reimbursing them in the next legislature.

Ecclesiastical Investigation.

CHICAGO, 14.—The Presbytery of Chicago, to-day, appointed a committee to investigate the Ninth Presbyterian church affair; it was found that Dr. McKay has been teaching unsound doctrine, and they recommend the Presbytery of Sacramento to withdraw his letter, and the church to sever his pastorship.

Anti-Inflation Meeting.

CINCINNATI, 14.—At an anti-inflation meeting here, to-day, resolutions were adopted strongly condemnatory of the measures now about to be taken by Congress regarding inflation, and a committee was appointed to take a document signed by fifty manufacturers, and representing ten millions of capital, to Washington.

Serious Trouble Anticipated.

NEW YORK, 14.—Lemaire, Captain of the Europe, gave to the French consul for transmission to France, a formal protest against the action of the officers of the Greece, and serious trouble is anticipated.

WESTERN.

$60,000 Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, 14.—A fire at Jacksonville, Oregon, to-day, destroyed part of two blocks in the business part of the city; loss about $60,000; little insurance.

FOREIGN.

PRUSSIA.

Compromise Adopted.

BERLIN, 14.—The Reichstag, by a majority of seventy-eight, adopted the compromise amendments to the army bill.

When a devoted wife holds her husband out at arm's length by his sore ear, and says she wouldn't crush a worm, he realizes, all at once, how fearfully and wonderfully women are made.

Correspondence.

Extracts from the History of Towns in New England.

Editor Deseret News.

In a certain town in Hillsborough County, N. H., the first sermon preached was by Rev. Mr. Davidson, Presbyterian, in Deacon Atkens' barn, Sept., 1775. A few weeks after, in the same county, in another town, Rev. Mr. McGregor, same persuasion, preached the first sermon delivered in that town in Deacon Hopkins' barn, to which several children from adjoining towns were taken to be baptized, that is to say, to be sprinkled. About two Sabbath preachings in a year was the average at that period.

To find the centre of town after it was incorporated in 1777, to build a meeting house, it was voted, at the first town meeting, to allow the surveyor twenty-five cents per day. A silver dollar could scarcely be found and the continental paper was scarcely an object of valuation. Boots were rare, great coats were rarer still. A pair of boots would last a man many years. In summer men or women wore no shoes about home. On the Sabbath day, after meetings were regularly established, the women often carried their shoes in their hands, to save wear, till near the meeting-house, and then put them on. Tea and coffee were almost unknown.

Broths of various kinds, beans, corn and barley were in constant use; on Sabbath days for lunch at intermission of meeting, men frequently carried boiled potatoes in their pockets, and nothing more.

A party of smart young people once assembled at a neighbor's house, in early times, for a social interview. The supper—what was it? Not a modern one of roast turkey and oysters, &c., but hasty pudding and milk; there being only three spoons, one division of guests sat down to table, then another and another, till all had been served. All went off well, and it was considered a fashionable, well managed affair.

It was the age of homespun, the age of hard work and simple fare, interspersed with trainings, musters, raisings, huskings, chopping bees, piling bees, and wrestling matches, and, on the part of the female world, quiltings, apple parings, carding bees, &c., the buzzing wheel and the clattering loom. At the first school, which was kept for one month at the house of Deacon Akin, was taught reading, writing and a little arithmetic, the only reading books attainable being the Bible and Dillworth's Spelling Book. In some parts the children learned to write on birch bark for lack of paper.

Getting about in the winter, at any distance from home, could only be done on snowshoes. What was called the Great Frost, June 17th, 1794, froze water in a tub in the open air one inch thick. Fruit chiefly all perished. The winters at that period were so hard sometimes that the water did not drop from the eaves of the houses for six weeks together, and snow lay on the ground till late in April.

October 7th, 1804, snow fell to the depth of one foot, and in shady places where it drifted remained until the next Spring.

January 19, 1810, was the long referred to cold Friday, in which several persons in New Hampshire perished.

Memorable as the cold season, or poverty year, was 1816, when snow fell in June.

In 1819, violent thunderstorms occurred day after day. Many buildings were struck and many persons killed by lightning.

In 1826, was the great drouth and grasshopper year. About this period pleasure wagons, chaises, sofas, carpets, tea, coffee, &c., began to take the places of other things that were used.

In 1844, a period from its commencement of one hundred years, the people voted at town meeting on the abolition of capital punishment, yeas 27, nays 175.
