MEETING HELD.

Investigation Begun Into the Latest Police Scandal.

IT WAS HARDLY TWO-SIDED.

Councilman Thomas and Hartenstein, However, Enter Their Protests-Stand for Fairer Play.

The Council committee on police and prison department, composed of Cattrell, Hewlett, Fernstrom, Hartenstein and Thomas, met last night for the purpose of investigating the case of the three girls subjected to a medical examination. The meeting was held in the private office of Chief Hilton, and all the members of the committee were present except Fernstrom, who had not received notice of the meeting. Two of the girls, Clara Carney and Hattle Dahl, were present with their mothers, Pearl Kesler, the other girl, was ab-Her mother sent word to the committeee stating that if she and her hild were wanted they would have to e subpoenaed in regular court fash-

PECULIAR INVESTIGATION.

The investigation was conducted in a sort of a "go-as-you-please" fashion, and the main facts in the case came out as an incident, after considerable "beating around the bush." Neither of the girls was represented by counsel, otherwise two-thirds of the testimony and the questions propounded would probably have been objected to, and ruled out. At times it looked as though the girls were on trial for misconduct, with the police as complaining witness. THE CORRECT STAND.

Councilmen Thomas and Hartenstein several times objected to the line of questioning, but that was as far as it

It was after 9 o'clock when the pro-ceedings began. Chairman Cottrell briefly explained the object of the meet-ing and at the same time suggested a mode of procedure which was adopted. It was decided to exclude the witnesses from the room. Chief Hilton wanted to remain in the room, but he was told withdraw and wait until sent for.
The first witness called was Clara arney, who testified in the presence f her mother.

Chairman Cottrell assured her that she need have no fear to tell all that had happened, as the committee would see that her rights were pro-tected. The witness related the circumstances leading up to her arrest and subsequent happenings. "I was willing," she said, "to be examined, in order to let people know what I was." No one but Dr. King was present during the examination. She did not ask for anyone and preferred to be alone. She was acquainted with Stephen Mc-Kenney. He was the person who had written the papers under the name of "C. E. Thorpe." He was not a very good nor a very bad man. The witness here proceeded to state how she became acquainted with McKenney when Counclimen Thomas and Hartenstein pro-Before leaving the room President Buckle asked her if she objected to the examination made by Dr. King, and the answer was in the negative.

GATHER THEM IN.

Police Officers Davies and Sperry testified that the reputation of the girls was bad. Complaint as to their con-duct had been made to the defendant and they were instructed to "gather them in." They knew nothing of the ination save what they had read in the daily papers.

Chief Hilton was called and related Chief Hilton was called and related the circumstances leading up to the arrest of the girls and the medical examination by Dr. King. He said the girls were decidedly bad, otherwise he would not have ordered their arrest. McKenney, he knew, had made indecent proposals to them. He had also heard that one of the three was diseased, and it was for the purpose of finding out the truth of this statement that he consented to the examination. The chief was very emphatic in the statement was very emphatic in the statement that what had been done was in the interest of morality. President Buckle anguired if any of his men had exwressed a desire to be present at the examination.

"No, sir," replied Chief Hilton, "my men are above such things. There is not a man on the force who would stoop so low as that."

HATTIE DAHL'S STORY.

Hattie Dahl, who has just turned 14, then related her side of the story. She knew Kenney to be a bad man. The examination was made with her full consent. She knew that she was "virtuous," and wanted "people to know it."

Detective Sheets was the next wit-ness called. He gave quite a little hisness called. He gave quite a little is tory of the girls and said they were a "bad lot." Kenney was a "bad egs." too, and the polles had been on the look out for him for months past. He had not asked to be present at the ex-amination. Such a thought had not entered his mind. When the girls were brought in he walked out. He heard they were diseased and suggested that the city physician be sent for.

This concluded the testimony and an adjournment was taken until 2:30 today.

HARTENSTEIN'S PROTEST. Effort to Prove Girls Guilty and the Real Offense.

Councilman Hartenstein, in the lan-guage of the athlete, talked "square from the shoulder" to a "News" man today when speaking of the examinaucted at the police station Mr. Hartenstein did not last night ords in the least. One of them, Miss Dahl, who was but fourteen years August, broke down and t these questions. This alone w that she cannot be very bad. The other girl, Clara Carney, was but filtern years of age on the 9th of last month, whereas the Kesler girl is but twelve years of age and only a child. STANDARD DICTIONARY! This rare work of nearly 2,400 pages, each volume weighing 1712 pounds, beautifully bound in embossed leather, issued by Funk and Wagnalls of London and New York, is now on sale at the Descret News office. One hundred volumes have just been received. This is the work in the compilation of which Dr. James E. Talmage was engaged as one of the 200 editors. Its thoroughness is well illustrated by its treatment of the single word "Quorum," as follows:

"Quorum;" 1. Such a number f persons of any deliberative r corporate hody as is necessary for the legal transaction of business: unless otherwise ordered, a majority, 2. (Eng.) Certain designated justices of the peace commissioned as JUSTICES OF THE QUORUM, without the presence of some one of whom the others could not act. 3. Mor. Ch. A council or organized body of the A council or organized body of the priesthood; as, an Elders' quorum; the quorum of the First Presidency. 4. Necessary constituents. (L., of whom, gen. pl. of "qui" (who.) from the Latin words "quorum unum—A. B. esse volumus" (of whom we desire A. B. to be one) forming part of ancient commissions, as of justices.

dignant," continued Mr. Hartenstein, is that I was notified by the chalrman to attend the meeting to inquire into jected to the outrage complained of.
As I understand it, that was all there was to be of it. The police readily confessed that the charge was true.
This should properly have ended the case, but it became apparent at once that the girls were being put on trial. It was then that Councilman Thomas and myself entered our protest. We ontended that the committee had no contended that the committee had no legal or moral or any other kind of right to indulge in this kind of questioning. In fact, in the absence of instruction from the City Council, I question its right to held any examination at all. It is well known that the matter is to come up in regular form be-fore the City Council on a resolution prepared by City Attorney Stophens. repared by City Attorney Stephens. That is where the real investigation should begin. This haste can only be explained on one ground and that is that there seems to be a great desire to whitewash somebody. But I am against that sort of thing, and that is why I entered my protest. There must be no whitewash to cover up the real. no whitewash to cover up the real
