24 Years Ago.

For more than two-thirds of a life-time Charter Oak Stoves have been a familiar household word: daily gaining in popularity, and doing a vast deal of good in enabling housewives to place before their families every day three "square meals," well and quickly cooked, at a very small cost of both fuel and labor, and we are doing no more than our duty in advising every householder who does not have a Charter Oak Stove to get one with the least possible delay.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

Lyon's Kathairon is an invigorating tonic vegetable preparation, positively free from any mineral or deleterious substances. It is the most delightful of all hair dressing—cooling the head, allaying irritation, curing headache and throbbing temples, making the hair strong, fragrant, glossy and obedient to control, so cleanly to use that it will not soil the finest fabric, causing the hair to grow luxuriantly and beautifully, removing dandruff and pimples. No man or woman can become bald who will use the Lyon's Kathairon properly. d95 e o d —3—

EVENING NEWS.

Tuesday, September 12, 1876.

PRICE OF GOLD.

Corrected daily by Deseret National Bank.

SALT LAKE CITY, September 12, 1876.

Buying at $1.08; selling at $1.10.

Local and Other Matters.

THERMOMETER 78 degrees F. in the shade at 1 p.m. to-day. Fine, some clouds.

Error.—In a few copies of yesterday's NEWS the temperature figures were incorrectly put at 97. They should have been at 79.

For Cache.—This morning a large number of people availed themselves of the opportunity of a cheap and pleasant excursion to Cache Valley. The weather is most propitious and doubtless the party will have a very agreeable time.

Ancient Outlet of Salt Lake.—According to Professor G. K. Gilbert, of Wheeler's Expedition, the Great Salt Lake of Utah anciently had an outlet northward, the overflow being carried to the ocean by the Columbia river. But the Great Salt Lake was then a great inland sea, as is evidenced by the existence of an ancient beach 970 feet higher than the Great Salt Lake to-day, and 700 feet higher than Sevier Lake.—Ex.

"Utah and Her Founders."—Mr. Edward W. Tullidge has received an advance copy of his new book, "Brigham Young, or Utah and Her Founders." It is a work of between 400 and 500 pages, besides the supplement, which contains biographical sketches of a number of leading citizens. It is printed in large, clear type, on good tinted paper, and well bound. Copies will soon be on hand for sale.

Information Wanted.—Thomas Jones, formerly of Liverpool, England, now employed in the Land Office at Washington, D. C., is desirous of obtaining information concerning his brother Edward, son of Edward and Margaret Jones, who left Liverpool between the years 1855 and 1858 for America, and when last heard from, about 1860, was keeping store in Utah Territory. He was an engineer by trade.

Frost—Storm—Grasshoppers.—"S. S." writes from Clarkston, Cache Valley, Sep. 9th—

"The people in this settlement enjoy good health generally, and the NEWS is always received very eagerly, and much appreciated. Our late wheat suffered somewhat from the frost on the 23rd ult., and we had a very severe thunderstorm, accompanied with rain and hail, on the 4th inst., which destroyed quite a large amount of the oat and barley crops that were not harvested. Notwithstanding those losses in our grain crops we feel to continue the pursuits of industry, trusting Providence will overrule all things for our best good. The grasshoppers are very numerous and are depositing their eggs."

That Horse Stealing Firm.—We are informed that circumstances around the Corinne stock stealing institution do not brighten at all in their favor. Things are altogether tending in the other direction. It appears the brands put on the stolen animals by the thieves were, after their knavery was discovered, "vented" by them, with the exception of that on one of the horses, which had been stolen from a resident of Bear River City. In attempting to "vent" or cover up the brand on this particular horse a sudden jerk of the lariat broke the poor brute's neck and killed him. An unbiassed grand jury will be likely to look into those little circumstances next time they meet.

Primary Meeting.—The Central Committee of Salt Lake County held a primary meeting, at the City Hall, last evening, at which it was decided to hold a County Convention at the County Court House, Salt Lake City, on Saturday, September 30, at 11 a.m., for the purpose of electing delegates to the Territorial Convention, announced to take place on Oct. 7th. It was also concluded upon that primary meetings should be held in each electoral precinct throughout the county on Monday, Sept. 25th, those of the city to convene at 7 p.m., and those in the county precincts at four p.m. of that day. At those latter meetings delegates are to be elected to represent the precincts at the County Convention, the allotments being as follows—

Two Days' Meetings.—Two days' meetings were held in Big Cottonwood Ward, Bishop William G. Young presiding, on Sunday and Monday, the 10th and 11th instants. The meetings were held in a commodious bowery, which had been erected for the occasion.

At the first meeting, Sunday morning, Elder George Goddard was the first speaker, and treated upon the Sunday School question. He was followed by Bishop L. D. Young.

In the afternoon the congregation was addressed by President Joseph Young and Elders S. L. Evans and William Willes, the two latter in the Sunday School interest.

At the meeting on Monday morning the speakers were President Joseph Young and Bishop L. D. Young, and in the afternoon the congregation was addressed by Bishop L. D. Young, Elder A. M. Cannon, Bishop R. T. Burton, and President Joseph Young.

The congregations were large, an excellent spirit prevailed, and the remarks of the speakers were timely and spirited.

The choirs of Big Cottonwood and Brother Gilbert's of South Cottonwood, supplied excellent music on the occasion.

Personal.—This afternoon we had the pleasure of a call from the Rev. Charles Clark, lecturer, elocutionist and humorist, now on his return to England, after a successful professional tour in Australia. He was accompanied by Mrs. Clark and by his business agent, Mr. R. S. Smythe.

PEOPLE'S COUNTY CONVENTION.

PEOPLE'S CENTRAL COMMITTEE, For Salt Lake County, Salt Lake City, Sept. 11, 1876.

To the Voters of the People's Ticket.

A Convention for Salt Lake County, to elect 18 delegates, to represent the county in the People's Territorial Convention and transact such other business as may properly come before it, in the people's interest, is hereby called to convene in the County Court House, Salt Lake City, on Saturday, Sept. 30th, at 11 a.m. Said Convention will consist of 65 delegates, allotted to the several precincts in the county as follows—

SALT LAKE CITY.

Primary meetings for the election of delegates to the County Convention will be held in the several precincts of Salt Lake County, at the usual places of holding elections therein, on Monday, September 25th, commencing at 7 p.m., in Salt Lake City, and at 4 p.m. outside the city. Said delegates should receive credentials duly signed by the chairman and secretary of the meeting electing them.

The leading men in the several precincts who support the People's Ticket are invited to co-operate in carrying out these suggestions and endeavoring to obtain a full representation of voters at their several precinct meetings.

By order of the People's Central Committee for Salt Lake County.

DAVID O. CALDER, Chairman.

THEODORE MCKEAN, Secretary.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Hard Winter and Its Consequences—Plenty to Eat, Drink and Wear—No Day School.

CEDAR CITY, Iron Co., Sept. 7th, 1876.

Editor Deseret News:

The people of this place unquestionably owe a deep debt of gratitude to the Supreme Being for his mercies vouchsafed unto them. Our geographical position, with its peculiar climatic influences, plays us some fantastic tricks, that are sometimes hard to bear.

Emerging from one of the severest winters known to this place, our hopes were considerably dampened. Cattle were poor and emaciated, numbers of them died. Our sheep, hitherto noted for unexampled prolificness and profit to their owners, did not bring their usual dividend. Our fruit trees, whitened with blossom, at one fell swoop became a prey to the biting breath of old King Frost. Crops were unpromising and late; cattle and sheep ranges denuded of their scanty herbage, grain and forage scarce, brought feelings of no envious character. But Providence is over all; Hope springs on exultant wing, comforting us with its benign influences, and we, of necessity, accepted the situation, and are glad it was no worse.

Coal Creek held out nobly, and we are to-day the rich possessors of an abundant harvest, enough for man and beast, and some to spare. Our cattle and sheep are on the mountains, within easy reach, sleek and fat; our meat market is abundantly supplied, and as abundantly consumed. Dairying is being extensively carried on, tons of butter and cheese are being made. Several good, substantial dwellings are in process of erection, the new co-operative store is about finished, and is an ornament to the place as well as a monument of energy to its projectors. The resources of this place are numerous and valuable, but few of them are taken advantage of, the people contenting themselves with being farmers pure and simple. Our industrial pursuits are therefore few, and some of those are sadly neglected. Our steam saw and shingle mills lie snugly ensconced in a grove of splendid timber, the owners entirely oblivious of its existence. So far as our temporal condition is concerned we can say that we are comfortably housed, plenty to eat, and an abundance to wear, for which we feel thankful to the giver of all good. The people here are generous and large-hearted, second to none in their liberality to the poor, in their contributions to the temple, and in the payment of their tithes. Sabbath meetings as well as Sunday Schools are well attended, a good spirit generally pervades the whole settlement. Our juveniles are rosy-cheeked and clad in comfortable home-spun; money being scarce we cannot make fools of ourselves in buying the trash of eastern markets.

Notwithstanding our generally envious condition and circumstances there is a tell-tale sign that betokens a disturbing element of fearful portent. This city of six hundred inhabitants is to-day without a day school, a neglect that cannot be too seriously condemned. We have a licensed wine and liquor establishment dispensing its debasing wares by the hundreds of gallons to the old and young, the results of these combined twin relics of barbarism is too apparent to need comment. The school trustees and city council forget that whatever mitigates the woes or increases the happiness of our fellow beings is the criterion of goodness; or that whatever injures society at large, or any individual in it is the criterion of iniquity. But here let me pause, I am myself subject to all the ills of life, and cannot probably see myself as others see me. It is to be hoped that those heresies of a true religion will be done away with, and that instead of ignorance and wine, we return to the good old practice of reading the Bible, and singing our Creator's praise in the midst of our numerous families.

CARACTACUS.

The Indian Campaign Virtually Over.

CAMP ON HEART RIVER, D. T., 5th, via Bismarck, Sept. 8.

We are twenty-six miles from the Little Missouri. The Indians have dispersed; there are small trails leading in different directions. We have only three days' rations after to-day, and about 150 or 200 miles from Deadwood, where we are said to be going.

We are six days at least from Deadwood and 100 miles from Fort Lincoln. I expect to go to the Hills two or three days in advance of the command. Davenport, of the New York Herald, who scouts and messes with us, will accompany me; from there will telegraph or write further. Starvation stares us in the face; scurvy and dysentery is upon us to some extent.

To-morrow half rations only will be issued, which, when done, we may hunt for a living.

Davenport, of the Herald, joined in the chase to-day after thirty Sioux, discovered by our scouts in advance, but owing to the weak condition of our horses, the reds got away.

I think the campaign is virtually over. CAPT. JACK, Chief of Scouts.

—Omaha Bee.

Scoffed at and Discarded for Being Poor But Honest.

The state of public morals now existing in this part of the country, and in every other, would be alarming to any people not absolutely palsied with insensibility to the deplorable consequences to which it leads. The whole social body is debauched by contact with the methods that obtain in elections and in administration. The idea of honest purposes and acts in public men is ridiculed as both absurd and obsolete. Religious men, ministers of a holy religion, men of reputable name, who would scorn a dishonorable action, sneer at and libel those whose lives have been blameless. One of the most touching proofs we ever had of the universal reign of this sentiment was furnished us in the living example of our late congressman, Hon. John Taffe, who came back to his constituents after two terms in Congress poor and honest, and, as he told us with his own lips, to be scoffed at and discarded for that reason.—Omaha Herald.

—The Methodists of Fistland, Flatbush, Parksville, and Sheepshead Bay held a union picnic at Bath Hotel Park recently. Returning home the drivers of the Parksville wagons, stimulated with liquor, had a race, and in turning a corner one of the wagons was upset, and thirteen persons were injured, one woman having her skull fractured, causing her death.

—John Bright expects to visit America in 1878, and lecture in several cities.
