FRAGMENTS.

A VERY summer-like sort of day this has been.

JUDGE BOREMAN came up from Beaver last evening.

THE witnesses in the Grether case were before the grand jury to-day.

A GOLD locket has been lost on Arsenal Hill. Read the advertisement for it.

THE charge of forgery, made against John Riley, has been ignored by the grand jury.

SHERIFF TURNER, of Provo, was a passenger to Salt Lake on last evening's Utah Central train.

A SUBSTANTIAL awning is being put up in front of C. R. Savage's Art Bazar and E. Scrace's bakery.

THE judges who served at the August election are expected to act on Tuesday next, without further notice.

DEPUTIES Redfield and Vandercook passed through Juab yesterday on a tour to the south of that county.

THE next thing in the amusement line is the Daly Company in "Vacation," on Thursday and Friday evenings.

ELIAS MORRIS, ESQ., is expected to arrive home from Butte, Montana, this evening, the large contract which he had near there being about completed.

HON. J. R. PETTIGREW, whose place on the Utah Commission was filled by the appointment of Abner B. Williams, yesterday, died at Waco, Texas, on Oct. 17th.

LAST evening Claudie LeRoy, or Kate Paul, who was accused by James McCurdy of obtaining money under false pretenses, was married to the latter by Judge Pyper.

A. S. CUTHBERTSON, who succeeded Richard White as Railway Pool Commissioner in this city, has assumed the duties of the office. Mr. White will turn to Denver.

THE $50,000 robbery of the Adams Express Company, in Missouri, as detailed in our dispatches, will recall to the minds of old readers of the NEWS a similar event between here and Ogden some years ago.

MR. J. W. HARDY, who has for sale a number of merino rams, has received a communication from New York, telling how his sheep at fairs held in that State have made a clean sweep of the prizes offered. Read the advt.

MR. WILLIAM ASHWORTH, of Beaver, is in the city for a few days. The gentleman is superintendent of the Beaver Woolen Mills, and a representative citizen of that community. He reports everything as moving along smoothly.

DURING the recent fire at Coalter & Snelgrove's, a show case containing some musical instruments was carried to a place of safety by parties assisting on the occasion. If anyone knows of its present whereabouts they will confer a favor by giving information to the owners.

A GENTLEMAN somewhat interested in live stock and railroads went to Ogden the other morning and came back by return train without transacting any other business than getting his breakfast. When questioned about it, he said he went there for that purpose. He said it was costly, but cheaper in the end.

HIRAM THOMSON was before Justice Pyper to-day on a charge of battery. It was alleged that he had had a disagreement with a University student. He was riding on a dray, on which the student was also granted permission by the driver to ride. As they were going along Thomson dealt the boy a severe blow on the side of the head, and followed it up with another. The driver then interfered and the assailant was arrested. He was adjudged guilty, and notwithstanding his touching appeal for mercy, the court gave him to understand that he could not with impunity "beat, bruise and otherwise injure" whomsoever might differ with him in opinion, because he had the advantage of size and strength. He was fined $20, $5 of which was paid, while one of his friends went out to raise the remainder.

LOCAL NEWS.

Wild Mustangs Promised.—A number of the wildest and most unmanageable mustangs have been promised by ranchmen to be used at the coming "wild west" contest (on Saturday next) at the old race track. Both Talt and Reid are confident of victory.

Wants Work.—James J. Phillips, lately arrived from Bristol, England, is in want of a situation. He has been accustomed to hotel work, having been what is called in England "boots" and porter, and can make himself generally useful. He can be heard of at this office.

Court Notes.—Proceedings in the Third District Court to-day:

Edward D. Egan vs. James T. Clasby; court delivers opinion and finds for defendant for price of 525 shares of stock on counter claim, $1,575.

F. Heath vs. Salt Lake County; five days additional allowed defendant to be heard on the report of the referee.

David C. McLaughlin vs. George Brazier; judgment for plaintiff. Same order in suits of same plaintiff against Joseph Robinson and Louis Dientat et al.

Samuel Levy vs. Salt Lake City; trial before jury in progress.

From London.—On Oct. 11th, 1884, Elder Wm. Horsley, of Brigham City, left Utah on a mission to England, and was assigned to the London Conference. He returned on Sunday, the 17th inst. During the whole period of his mission he labored in the conference named, meeting with excellent success. During the first eighteen months he labored in the Berkshire district, and the remainder of the time was President of the conference. During his mission he baptized forty-three persons. He reports great indifference towards the Gospel on the part of the masses of the people in the great metropolis, his greatest success having been in the suburban districts. The Elders and Saints of that conference are feeling and doing well.

Thos. Butler Arrested.—About 11 o'clock to-day Thomas Butler, of the Fourteenth Ward, was arrested on a charge of unlawful cohabitation, and taken before Commissioner McKay. The complaint against him is sworn to by Rench, and alleges that from November 1, 1883, to October 1, 1886, he lived with Mary E. Butler and Annie C. Hillstead as his wives. Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. Phelps, John Clark and Joseph Hillstead were sworn as witnesses. None of them had any knowledge of the offense, though Hillstead had heard it rumored that his sister was married to the defendant, and that satisfied his mind as to the fact. The examination was continued until 1 p. m. to-morrow. The defendant had no counsel to represent him. He was released on $1,000 bail, Messrs. Carlquist and Morris being his bondsmen.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

A GLADSTONIAN ON THE GREATEST ISSUE OF BRITISH POLITICS.

In Independence Hall last evening the Rev. Dr. Aubrey, of London, a candidate on the Gladstone ticket at the late general election in England, delivered a lecture entitled: "An English Liberal View of the Home Rule Question in Ireland." Dr. Aubrey is a pleasing speaker, and is doubtless capable of a display of eloquence of a high character; but last evening he confined himself mostly to a conversational style. His lecture was worthy of the attendance of a larger audience than was present, as the house was scarcely half filled, but his auditors comprised a very intelligent class of people.

The speaker began by expressing his pleasure at noting the great interest which the people of the United States take in English politics, and the widespread admiration for Gladstone among the American people. He remarked that Americans with the Liberal party in England, and with its purposes and the objects which it seeks to accomplish. That party aims to do nothing except what is right, nor to accomplish any object not in harmony with the principles of justice and truth.

The lecturer said that England is now passing through a great crisis, one of the greatest of her whole history. Seldom or never had the government of the nation been called upon to handle a subject so important and at the same time so difficult and intricate as the Irish question has become. At one time during the present century Ireland had a population of eight and a quarter millions, which was now reduced to barely five millions. The famine of 1846 had, the speaker said, expatriated many, but other causes had operated to bring vast numbers of Irish people to this country; and it was observable that, after they resided in America many years they still felt a bitterness that was almost remarkable, towards the English government. And yet when the treatment their countrymen at home were receiving is considered, their feelings of bitterness towards the power inflicting that treatment is easily accounted for.

The speaker gave some interesting statistics of Ireland. The Island contains 914,000 houses, including every description. About half of these, or 400,000, are farm houses, and in the majority of cases these are constructed in a most primitiv manner, of mud and the cheapest materials, and the people of this country would scorn to live in such homes. The speaker described the poverty, squalor and wretchedness of the people, which were extreme.

Unable to accomplish the amelioration of the condition of the Irish people, or a redress of their wrongs, the

had, for a number of years past, adopted a policy of obstruction to prevent the transaction of business in Parliament. They had systematically resorted to every possible technicality to obstruct legislation of every kind, and had been very successful in hindering the accomplishment of public business. They followed this policy in order to gain certain ends in behalf of Ireland. been compelled to feed their oppressors. He stated some of the points of the penal code, under which the Protestant minority of one-seventh tyranized over six-sevenths of the population who were Catholics. Under this code a Catholic could not sit on a jury, nor even testify in a court of law under oath. His children could not be educated. He could not own a horse with more than a sum equal to about $25, and if any Protestant found him in possession of a horse, no matter how valuable it might be, and offered him that sum for it, he was compelled to let the animal go. If his son would only renounce Catholicism and say "I am a Protestant," the father's possessions could be seized by the recalcitrant son. For 200 years the Catholics of Ireland were thus oppressed, and it was not a matter of wonder that the children should feel bitter at the remembrance of their fathers' wrongs. The lecturer related how the

had been brought about in 1800. William Pitt had resorted to open bribery, and by paying large sums of money to some of its members, and having conferred upon others honors and titles, he induced a sufficient number of the members to vote for the union act to secure its passage. The history of those times was a history of the most shameless political corruption and deception. Though the so-called union of Ireland with England was brought about by such wrong and corrupt means, the Irish people do not now ask nor desire to have the union act repealed, though Daniel O'Connell labored to accomplish this.

The speaker said that, in history, it often seems that fraud and treachery bring their own nemesis, and that this was eminently true in relation to the act of union; for the measure had proven a curse to England ever since it had been passed. There had never been any real union between the two countries. They were united merely as the constable and prisoner are when the former handcuffs the latter to his own wrist.

Since the passage of the act of union, England has ruled Ireland wholly by coercion. About have been passed by Parliament. The writ of habeas corpus has been suspended many times; search laws have been enacted; Catholics have had their arms taken from them, and have been oppressed in many ways.

There are now 42,000 armed men in Ireland to keep order among 5,000,000 people; at the same rate the United States would require a constabulary of about 4,500,000. It is only by force of arms that England maintains control in Ireland. The speaker admitted that the lawless acts of the Irish people, such as the boycott, maiming of cattle, destroying of property, etc., were not to be excused, but he declared that the perpetrators did not justly represent the Irish people.

He gave an account of the causes that led to the defeat of Gladstone in the late election. The Tories had three election cries; one was: "The church is in danger!" That is the Protestant church in Ireland would be in danger, should Gladstone's policy be carried out. A more effective cry was, "Dismemberment of the Empire!" which the Tories declared would be another result of Gladstone's policy. The third and most effective cry was "Taxation to buy out Irish Landlords!" All these cries were false and misleading, but they had the desired effect of defeating Gladstone. In reality, however, a majority of the English voters, numbering at least 46,000; were with Gladstone, but owing to the unequal system of election districts in England, candidates for Parliament on the Gladstone ticket were defeated. The speaker explained Gladstone's plan for settling forever the land question in Ireland. Briefly it was this: Let the Government borrow the money at three per cent. with which to buy the land, and then loan it to the Irish people at 4 per cent., taking security on the land they might purchase; let a sufficient portion of the revenue of Ireland be retained by England as additional security.

The speaker expressed great confidence that Gladstone's plans would yet triumph, and said he would not be surprised if the Tories, in order to retain office, would go farther than even Gladstone had gone.

Little Girl Lost and Found.—A little girl, four years old, the daughter of A. W. Beach, of American Falls, Idaho, who with his family arrived in this city yesterday on a visit, strayed from the house in the Sixth Ward where the family are visiting, and became lost. Some person, whose identity is unknown to the little girl's father, kindly took the child to the City Hall, where the father found it. Mr. Beach wishes through the NEWS to thank this person for his or her kindness and taking the child to a place at which she could be easily recovered.

CITY COUNCIL.

The City Council met in regular session at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, Mayor Armstrong presiding.

Orson Rogers, O. P. Arnold, Jr., and Douglass Swan asked that the mains be extended up Third Street from Cañon Road, and offered to make the usual advance. Referred to the committee on waterworks.

C. R. Savage asked permission to pile building material in front of his store, for the purpose of making an awning. Granted under the usual restrictions.

Two retail liquor licenses were granted.

The committee on finance reported that they had examined and found correct the quarterly report of the Auditor.

The committee on license reported in favor of granting the petition of Thomas Roberts, asking a free license to peddle woolen goods. Granted for a period of six months.

The Recorder notified the Council that the insurance policy on the Warm Springs Bath House expired Oct. 31st. He was authorized to renew it.

Five hundred dollars were appropriated to the Marshal's contingent fund.

The Council then adjourned until Tuesday evening next.

Officers Will Meet.—The officers of the Primary Association of Salt Lake Stake, will meet as usual at the residence of Mrs. Ellen Clawson, Thursday, October 28th, at 2 o'clock.

Under Bonds.—Yesterday afternoon, in the case of the United States vs. Geo. B. Wallace, charged with unlawful cohabitation, the defendant stated that he had lived with his wives, and was required to give $,1000 bail. The witnesses also gave surety in the sum of $200 each, and appeared before the grand jury to-day.

Sudden Death.—At South Cottonwood, at about 2 a. m. this morning, a lamentable event took place. It was the death of Athaliah A., daughter of James and Mary Elizabeth Gilbert. Deceased was born February 18, 1870, and her death was quite sudden, as she had been ailing about two hours when she breathed her last.

The Theatre.—"After Dark" did not draw so large a crowd last evening as on its first presentation, still there was a fair attendance, the parquette being tolerably well filled. There was less of "rawness" in the second performance than the first, showing that more preparation should have been had, and the piece not hurried before the public when it was in an underdone condition.

The Suit Against the City.—The suit of Samuel Levy vs. Salt Lake City, for damage by water to a quantity of tobacco belonging to the plaintiff, in 1878, was taken up for trial in the Third District Court this afternoon. The following jurors were chosen:

Alfred Thomson	Wm. McRay,
Albert Fischer,	T. G. M. Smith,
George Mullett,	M. Dusseldorf,
S. E. Underhill,	George Morrison,
S. C. Pancake,	J. M. Harvey,
C. M. Brown,	Wm. Stanley.

Got Out.—Brother M. L. Shepherd, of Beaver, emerged from the penitentiary this morning, having served his full term of six months less the one month taken off by the Copper Act, and paid his fine of $300 and costs, amounting in all to $456. He will remain in the city for a few days and then return home. He says the other brethren from his section, and generally, are getting along finely and feeling well. He was outside the walls considerably, being a "trusty" almost from the first.

The Dalys.—Of "Vacation," the piece to be presented by the Daly Company, Thursday and Friday evenings, at the Theatre, it is said:

"The peculiar tactics resorted to by the athletic students to win the hearts of Virgie and Viola; the laughable contretemps of the two servants who fight a Bennett and May duel over the cosquettish Della; the hazing of the Professor; the peculiarities of Rabbi, a French Butler, who has a remarkable faculty of getting everybody and everything woefully mixed; and the generall ludicrousness of the entire play is a revelation in American humor and is an oasis in the desert of so-called comedies."

Obsequies.—The funeral service over the remains of the little son of Mr. John Nicholson and his wife Susanna, was held yesterday afternoon (October 26th), Bishop O. F. Whitney presiding. A large number of relatives and friends assembled on the occasion and in various ways showed their sympathy for the bereaved, the kindly sentiments being greatly appreciated by those to whom they were directed. The opening prayer was offered by Elder John T. Caine, and addresses suited to the occasion were delivered by Counselor Patrick and Bishop Whitney. The benediction was pronounced by Elder George Romney, and the dedicatory prayer at the grave was offered by Elder Caine. Little Nephi was born while his father was confined in the penitentiary. This fact connected with his coming into the world, together with his giving promise of being unusually bright, intensified for him the affection of his parents, to whom his death was a severe shock. Parents in these matters, however, have no alternative other than to accept with resignation what appears to be the Divine will.

Judgment for Defendant.—The suit of E. D. Egan vs. J. T. Clasby, which has occupied the attention of the Third District Court for the past three days, was submitted last evening, and a decision rendered to-day by Judge Zane. The court reviewed the testimony, which showed that the defendant had purchased of the plaintiff $5,000 worth of stock in what was afterwards incorporated as the Bannock Gold and Silver Mining Company. This stock was to be transferred at the original cost, so the purchaser had placed to his credit 10,000 shares. The plaintiff claimed that the amount should have been only 8,000 shares, and afterward induced the defendant to return to him 525 shares, and brought suit for the remainder of the 2,000. In support of his claim the plaintiff contended that in addition to the original cost to him of 50 cents per share, money had been borrowed and work done sufficient to make the cost 62½ cents per share. After incorporating, however, the company paid the loans and for the labor, the defendant bearing his proportion, so that in reality, to the plaintiff, the original cost still remained at 50 cents, and the court held that he was not entitled to any of the 2,000 shares claimed by him. Further, it was ordered that the value of the 525 shares, which were worth $3 each at the time the plaintiff received them, $1,575, should be paid to the defendant. As the shares are now valued at $5.50 each, the property in dispute is worth $11,000.

Arrived.—The five "Mormon" emigrants who were sent back to England by the bigoted action of the emigration commissioners at New York, have arrived in this city. They were taken to Liverpool and there placed on another steamer for New York, and as it was not noised around that they were "Mormons" the ordinary questions put to emigrants were satisfactorily answered and they reached their destination without further difficulty
