

GRAND CENTRAL- MAMMOTH SUIT

Case Occupied the Attention of the Supreme Court this Morning and Afternoon.

BOTH SIDES MAKE ARGUMENTS.

Big Mining Controversy Being Stubbornly Contested by a Array of Legal Talent.

The supreme court was today occupied in hearing further arguments in the case of the Grand Central Mining company vs the Mammoth Mining company, appellant. The arguments were commenced yesterday when Judge C. S. Zane and John M. Zane made the opening arguments in behalf of appellant, Judge W. H. Dickson consumed the entire morning in his argument for the respondent and he will be followed this afternoon by Judge H. P. Henderson also in behalf of respondent. The arguments will not be concluded until tomorrow.

The action was originally brought in Junb county and involves the title to the valuable ore bodies which run through the properties of both companies, the apex of which is claimed by both parties to the action. The case was tried before Dist. Judge Marion-eaux at Nephi and lasted for several months. The judgment of the lower court favored the Grand Central company and an appeal was taken by the Mammoth company. The case is considered the most important mining litigation in the history of the state. A similar action between the two companies is now pending in the federal court in this city.

PLAINTIFF FAINTED.

Abrupt Interruption in Case of Nancy J. Nichols vs Oregon Short Line.

A temporary interruption of the proceedings in the case of Nancy J. Nichols against the Oregon Short Line railroad company, occurred this morning in Judge Morse's courtroom, when the plaintiff in the case fainted while on the witness stand and had to be carried from the room by her husband, sister and the court bailiff. Her husband and sister worked with her for some time and succeeded in getting her in such a condition that she could be taken to her home. It is said that the fainting spells were caused by the nervous shock which she received in the wreck, which is the cause of the present damage suit. Mrs. Nichols fainted away yesterday also and had to be taken from the court room. After she was removed from the room today the court proceeded with the case.

The action was brought to recover $25,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been received by plaintiff in a wreck which occurred at Pebbles, Ida., May 1, 1902. This is the second trial of the case, the supreme court having recently remanded it to the lower court for a new trial.

DR. DALBY'S WILL.

Deceased Physician Left All His Property to His Wife.

The will of Dr. W. T. Dalby, deceased, who died in this city on Sept. 7, 1903, was admitted to probate today by Judge Hall and Mrs. Fredrick M. Dalby, the widow of deceased, was appointed executrix without bonds as provided in the will. The estate consists of personal property valued at $1,000 and cash in bank amounting to $6,000. Under the terms of the will all of the property is bequeathed to Mrs. Dalby and her heirs. The will was executed on Sept. 8, 1899, and was witnessed by Dr. J. N. Harrison and Atty. J. H. Hurd.

Haynes Released.

Upon motion of Atty. Soren X. Christensen, Judge Morse this morning ordered Martin L. Haynes released on his own recognizance. Haynes is charged with burglary but it is understood that the evidence against him is insufficient to convict, so in all probability the case will be dismissed in the near future.

WHERE FINE BLOOD TELLS ITS STORY

years five months. The swinish gentleman is quite lamblike, and submits to having his hide scratched with becoming grace and dignity. Mr. Irwin's "pet hold," though, is "Carrie Nation," not the heroine of the hothot, but a lady pig of 500 pounds avoirdupois. She is still "young and charming," only two years and four months, and like other indolent people slumbers and snores most of the time. "Carrie" has an "interesting family" of eight "little ones," and caring for these prevents too much time being given to combing her bristles or otherwise bedecking herself for social appearances. "Molly" is another mature matron whose progeny this year has aggregated 28. She claims to be deeply wronged in that there is no special prize offered for the lady pig showing the greatest number of children in one year.

The Agricultural college exhibits two "farmworthy" pigs. These are covered with red hair, making a "red headed pig" a solid reality. They are called "post hole diggers" from their propensity to dig and bore through anything. The college also has two fine Yorkshire hogs and two Poland Chinas. The Allen Bros. of Draper exhibit a Chester white boar, two Chester white sows with pigs. Mr. Streeter of Centerville has several pens of Poland Chinas of fine breed, and D. O. Rideout, Jr., of Draper, has among a creditable Berkshire pig exhibit, one weighing 600 pounds.

POULTRY EXHIBIT.

All Classes of Breeds Are Represented in the New Quarters.

The poultry exhibit is quite complete, and worth examination. The display is located in a wooden building 205 feet long and 20 feet wide, and contains 150 coops of all kinds, in which are exhibited a wide array of chickens, geese, ducks, pigeons, etc. Mr. K. Parsons, the supervisor, on carrying over there is a brooder, with the eggs hatching therein, and an incubator with the little motherless scampers around in side and among themselves. Some of the finer breeds of poultry are quite noticeable. F. D. Silver has some very striking Silver Duck Wing Games, and C. W. Woodruff has Golden Sea Brights that are worth looking at. J. W. Bird has a fine array of white and barred Plymouth Rocks; also, Golden Laced fowl and White Leghorns. Thomas P. Seddon has fine Barred Plymouth Rocks and Buff Cochins Bantams; and Ezra Adams and Daniel Duncan shows some choice Plymouth fowl, Morris McGrath Buff Cochins Bantams. E. C. Chamberlin has Silver Duckwings, and the same in chickens that are worth noting, and Black Breasted Reds and Red Pyle games. The pigeon exhibit is very choice. It includes a wide variety of "jacks" Carrier pigeons, Pouters, Turbats, Fantails, Tumblers, Bald-heads, Owl Pigeons, and others. There are two very large Belgian hares, fine ducks and geese and other water fowl. The rest of the chicken display includes Partridge Cochins, Rhode Island birds, Japanese chickens, Guinea hens, Polish fowl, Black Leghorns, White and Dark Brahmas.
