Testimonial to Dr. Plant,

Extraordinary Delivery of Stomach Worms.

SALT LAKE CITY,
September, 12, 1877.

Dear Sir—For the past seven years I have been confined to my bed, and afflicted with I know not what. I consulted Dr. Plant, when, after twenty-four hours' treatment I passed from my mouth and nostrils upwards of two hundred stomach worms, resembling the snake, and averaging from ten to twelve inches in length, since which time I have gained my strength. For verification of this can be seen at the Doctor's office in the Tithing Yard any day this month. I feel it to be my duty to make this public for the benefit of others suffering in a like manner.

FITS CURED.

Mrs. Mary Ann Walker, adjoining Sugar House Ward, begs to return her most sincere thanks to Dr. E. L. Plant for the cure effected upon her of fits. She has had no attack for upwards of twelve months, although she had been subject to them from childhood. I have also to thank you for the cure of worms effected upon my daughter, 10 years old. She is entirely well now. Again thanking you.

Great Popularity.

Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts, Nectarine, Rose, Lemon, etc., have been before the public many years, and have gained for themselves, on their own merits, an extensive sale. Their great popularity is mainly due to the using of the purest and best materials, with special reference to their healthfulness. 2

Exhilarating.

The fragrance of Dr. Price's Floral Riches, the sweet odor of his Pet Rose, and his charming perfume Alista Bouquet, produces an exhilarating effect upon the mind. They are as fresh and sweet as the fields in hay-making time. None have smelled them but to admire. 3

Alert Fire Co., No. 3.—A meeting of the above company will be held in the Fireman's Hall, to-morrow evening, Sep. 26th, at half past seven. All the members are requested to be present.

G. W. TIMSON,
Secretary.

The Tramps.—Tramps appear to be becoming a national institution in this country. They keep coming this way in larger numbers than is desirable, and the influx of that obnoxious element is likely to increase with the approaching Winter. The city authorities have determined, in consequence, to station a police officer in the vicinity of the railroad depot. It will be one of his special duties to look after members of the genus tramp. The officer will go on his beat about the end of this or the beginning of next month.

Attempted Self-Murder. — On Saturday John Silloway, a gambler, made an attempt to end his life, at Ogden. He had been arrested on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses, and, on being taken to the hotel where he boarded, by the officer, he suddenly drew a pistol, one chamber of which was prematurely discharged, the ball passing through his thigh, inflicting a painful but not dangerous wound. He tried to shoot himself through the head, but the bullet missed the intended mark and entered the wall of the room. So we learn from the Junction.

A Fire.—The other day some boys entered the locust grove adjoining the B. Y. Lower Mill and, while playing with matches, set fire to the undergrowth, burning a patch of trees. Luckily, Brother Charles H. Wilcken, who has charge of the place, and some others were passing, and, by beating the flames, succeeded in extinguishing them. As there is considerable brush and undergrowth around, there was a narrow escape from the destruction of the whole grove, which would have been a misfortune, not only financially to the proprietor, but to that part of the city, to which it is an attractive ornamentation.

The boys who started the fire honestly confessed to having done it and, on that account, were not prosecuted. However, should such an occurrence take place again, the offending parties will be punished.

From Far South. — Yesterday afternoon we had the pleasure of meeting with Elder Luther C. Burnham, who arrived on Sunday evening from Savoia Valley, New Mexico. He has been laboring in that part and the surrounding country as a missionary, since a year ago last October. Previous to that he was in the Moan Coppy country for some time. Besides having built a house in Savoia Valley and assisting in farming operations, Elder Burnham has traveled and lived much among the Navajoes, instructing them in the principles of the gospel. He, in connection with other brethren, recently baptized thirty-five of that tribe.

A party of eight Navajoes accompanied him from their own country to this city, six of whom have been baptized, and the other two are anxious to be. They appear naturally intelligent, and are much pleased with, to them, the many strange and interesting sights they are witnessing.

Elder Burnham speaks very highly of the Navajoes as a people. They are exceedingly kind and affectionate to each other, and to those white people they esteem to be their friends. They are also very industrious and moral, the majority of exceptions being where corruptions have crept in among them by association with dissipated white men.

The labors of the Elders are having a very beneficial effect upon those of them who listen to and try to carry out their instructions, causing them to improve in their habits, and to adopt better methods of cultivating the soil. They frequently manifest great faith, being a simple and, generally speaking, a religious people. Instances have occurred of some of them who have not yet been baptized, being healed by the power of God, through the administrations of the Elders.

In relation to Savoia Valley, where Elder L. H. Hatch and others are also located, Elder Burnham states it is as beautiful a country as he has ever seen, being thickly timbered. It has some drawbacks, however. The altitude being very great, it is rather cold, being visited frequently by frosts, and the water supply is quite limited, notwithstanding that there is occasionally considerable rain at different times in the summer. It is situated about 125 miles from the Rio Grande River.

We understand that a company of Latter-day Saints recently arrived there from Arkansas, for the purpose of settling in the valley.

Elder Burnham has come north for the purpose of removing his family, this fall, from Hyde Park, Cache County, to his new home in Savoia Valley, New Mexico. Every well-wisher of the aboriginal tribes, in fact, every person who has the general interests of humanity at heart, will wish him and all others who are seeking to improve and ameliorate the condition of the Indians, God speed. It is an arduous and difficult labor, and can only be successfully prosecuted by those whose hearts are in it.

The Quarry. — This morning President John Taylor and Superintendent John Sharp, accompanied by brother Edward Brain, mason, visited the Temple Quarry. The principal object of the visit was to take steps about getting suitable rock for some portions of the New Tabernacle, such as the abutments, &c. They inspected the quarry and found everything proceeding satisfactorily, under the immediate superintendency of Brother J. C. Livingston.

While on the ground the party witnessed the splitting of a mammoth rock in halves, by means of drilling and wedges. It was done with remarkable precision.

The Damage.—The damage by the fire, on Mrs. Savage's premises, in the 6th Ward, yesterday afternoon, was greater than reported. A stable, a couple of haystacks, a wagon, etc., were consumed, amounting in the aggregate to about $300; a very serious loss to a poor widow.

After the firemen arrived on the spot with their apparatus, there being no hydrant near, they had to send to the engine house for the fire steamer. They got the water supply from the canal, a couple of blocks distant from the fire.

Expensive Pastime.—On Saturday evening a son of Brother L. R. Jenson, of Spring Lake, Utah County, was in his father's cattle corrall, at that place, playing with a flask containing gunpowder. He ignited the contents, making a small explosion and setting fire to the stack yard, etc., damaging property to the amount of $100.

Musical. — The Utah Musical Boquet, No. 7, contains "Laughing Eyes," words by Gus M. Clark, music by Joseph J. Daynes; "The Ensign March," by E. Beesley and "Lowell," a long metre tune by "B. Natural." Also a continuation of the lessons in thorough bass and harmony. Published by Daynes & Son, Salt Lake City.

Scribner.—Scribner's for October is a fine number of this popular magazine and contains a vast fund of information, entertainment and intellectual food. Its illustrations are excellent, and its editorial matter vigorous and thoughtful. Several new writers contribute to its poetical columns. Scribner's is now one of the standard magazines of the country.

St. Nicholas. — St. Nicholas for October is out, and contains a large variety of stories and poems and illustrations, chiefly for the larger juveniles. It is the closing number of the Fourth volume, and full as it is of good things, it contains a promise of even better things to come. A new serial by Louisa M. Alcott is to commence in November

No Performance.—In the absence of an audience the Irving-Nielson troupe concluded it would be "labor lost" to give an entertainment last evening. This shows how small an interest there is in amusements just now, as the performances of the troupe are really good in several particulars.

The Masons.—The ground is being prepared for the laying of the foundation of the New Tabernacle, the old one having been completely demolished. We learn from Brother Grow that the masons will begin work to-morrow or next day.

Accident. — The Junction says that, on Saturday, a man named Larson fell from a ladder, in an unfinished building, at Ogden, a distance of about ten feet. He was badly bruised, but no bones were broken.

THE USES OF THE LEMON. — As a writer in the London Lancet remarks, few people know the value of Lemon juice. A piece of lemon bound upon a corn will cure it in a few days; it should be renewed night and morning. A free use of lemon juice and sugar will always relieve a cough. Most people feel poorly in the spring; but if they would eat a lemon before breakfast every day for a week,—with or without sugar, as they like—they would find it better than any medicine. Lemon juice used according to this receipt will sometimes cure consumption: Put a dozen lemons into cold water and slowly bring to a boil; boil slowly until the lemons are soft, but not too soft, then squeeze until all the juice is extracted; add sugar to your taste, and drink. In this way use one dozen lemons a day. If they cause pain or loosen the bowels too much, lessen the quantity and use only five or six a day until you are better, and then begin again with a dozen a day. After using five or six dozen, the patient will begin to gain flesh and enjoy food. Hold on to the lemons, and still use them very freely several weeks more.

Don Piatt says that "a true interviewer is a man who puts his own views in the mouth of the interviewed, and trusts to God and good luck to escape death."

A Rhode Island woman who died recently, expressed a dying wish that she should not be buried or placed in a tomb. Her husband consequently built a stone cottage on the shore of the bay, exactly like an ordinary dwelling externally, in the cellar of which her body is kept. The building has but one room, which is fitted up with the furniture they had in their parlor when first married, and the surviving members of the family spend an hour or so there in devotions every Sunday.

A Fearful Fall.

On Saturday last, Miss Carrie A. Rice, the daughter of Philo W. Rice, of Glenbrook, fell from Shakespeare's Rock at Lake Tahoe, and was killed. It appears that she was with a party of six who were rambling along the shores of the lake during the afternoon, when they reached a point of rocks running out into the water, one of which, from a fancied resemblance to the face of the great poet, is known as Shakespeare's Rock. Miss Rice was in company with Wm. Cranmer, an engineer at one of the sawmills on the lake shore, and proposed to him to descend a steep gorge which led down the face of the rock. Although the members of the party tried to dissuade them from making so hazardous a trip, the venturesome couple started down the rock, reaching a cave a few yards below in safety. Here they rested awhile, and started out again.

When but a few feet from the cave they began slipping and slid fifteen feet to the edge of the most precipitous part of the rock. Miss Rice cried out: "We must go, Will—there is no hope for us!" When they reached the edge Cranmer caught a jutting point and held fast, at the same time seizing his companion's clothes. But her impetus was too great, and shooting from his grasp, she reeled over the edge and fell a distance of eighty feet. Cranmer started back over the trail to carry the news to her father's house, a distance of about a mile, but fainted just before reaching the door. A number of people hastened to the foot of the rocks, about a mile distant, and found the body of the unfortunate girl lying on a pile of rocks, crushed, bruised and mangled. She was unconscious and dying. Her head lay between two sharp fragments of rock, and the blood was oozing from her nose and mouth. She was covered with bruises and lacerations, and nearly all of her limbs were broken. She was lifted up, placed on a stretcher and taken to the house, where she died in about half an hour. She was but 18 years of age, bright-witted and a beautiful girl, and much beloved in Carson City and Glenbrook. She was engaged to be married on Wednesday to George Comstock, her father's partner.—Virginia-Nevada Chronicle.

Head To Foot Washing.

At the recent Domestic Economy Congress, held at Birmingham, Mr. Edwin Chadwick, C. B., said the effect of cleanliness was not sufficiently recognized. He found evidences of its effects in various ways. Dealing with the animal creation, he said the pig that was washed would put on one fifth more flesh with the same amount of food than the pig that was unwashed. The same effect was observable in other animals. They had seen the horse washed from head to foot to give it additional force. The same argument applied to the human creature. He knew the case of an army hemmed in by the enemy and put on half rations. They were regularly washed, and it was found after a time that the men who washed were equal in force to those who were unwashed and put upon full rations.

Head to foot washing was not only important in the matter of economy in food, but also for the prevention of contagious diseases. Nurses who attended scarlatina cases and other cases of contagious diseases had found out that, by washing twice a day, and sometimes by changing their clothes, they might withstand the dangers resulting from the practice, and doctors who were similarly engaged had come to the same conclusion. As a defense against an outbreak of epidemic disease he would have the whole population tubbed. He mentioned that in a prison containing 1,200 persons, washing was enforced, and instead of using 70 to 80 gallons of water for each bath, and causing a large expenditure of time, a very simple method was devised for giving the prisoners a thorough good bath. Each man was placed in a recess, with a spray of tepid water overhead, which completely cleansed him. Schools at which unwashed children attended were centres of children's epidemics.

The man who comes to the depot two minutes behind time, and sees the railroad train scudding out the other end, derives no satisfaction or comfort from the proverb, "Better late than never."

Somebody says: "Every failure is a step to success." This will explain why the oftener some men fail the richer they become.—Norristown Herald.

General Howard is not personally acquainted with Chief Joseph. This is what embarrasses operations between them.—Danbury News.

A young man, 17 years of age, died recently at Charlestown, Mass., of hemorrage, resulting from the extraction of a tooth. Nine of the young man's relatives have died from similar causes.
