WORK ON VIADUCT BEGINS APRIL 1

Structure Will be Pushed to Completion Within Next Twelve Months.

FIRE ESCAPES FOR SCHOOLS

Mme. Blauvelt Program—Tabernacle Services—City Sued for Damages—Divorce Suits.

Ogden, March 21.—Actual work on the construction of the Twenty-fourth street viaduct will be commenced not later than April 1, so states General Manager W. H. Bancroft, who paid Ogden a visit yesterday. Chief Engineer Ashton will have general supervision of the work, while Engineer Campbell will be in personal charge of the construction work. There are a great many telephone lines crossing the viaduct, and these will be removed, and that will be the first work done by a large force of expert wire men, and will be the laying of the concrete foundation. It is evident the railroad companies expect to push the work to completion with every possible haste, as a large force of men will be employed at good wages, thus bringing considerable money into circulation, helping business in general.

The building of the viaduct this year is going to be a big help to Ogden, as a large force of men will be employed at good wages, thus bringing considerable money into circulation, helping business in general.

As to the freight depot and other improvements the officials could give out but little information at present.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL.

Mme. Blauvelt Program for Monday Evening Next.

The Utah Spring musical festival to be held in Ogden Monday, March 23, and 24, has aroused musical interest and the advance sale which commenced yesterday is very brisk.

It is the event of the year in music circles, in fact Ogden people are fortunate in having two such great attractions in one season.

Mme. Lillian Blauvelt, one of the greatest lyric sopranos of the world, will be the principal attraction for Monday evening next.

The Ogden Tabernacle choir, under the direction of Prof. Joseph Ballantyne will render "The Festival Chorus." Other artists who will assist on the program are Albert Rosenthal, cellist and Edith Kellogg, pianist.

Monday, March 23, the Chicago symphony orchestra will give a matinee during the afternoon. In the evening Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah," which the tabernacle choir has been rehearsing for months, will be rendered by the choir and Chicago symphony orchestra with the following vocalists, Mrs. Genevieve Clark Wilcox, soprano; Miss Rose Lutz, contralto; Mr. John B. Miller, tenor; Mr. Arthur Middleton, basso; Prof. Joseph Ballantyne, conductor.

For Monday night's concert, following is the program:

PART I.

Der Hirt Auf Dem Felsen, Schubert.
Mme. Blauvelt, Mr. Rosenthal, Miss Kellogg.
Hungarian Rhapsodie, Popper.
"Jubilate Deo," Mr. Rosenthal.
Mme. Blauvelt with the Festival chorus, Tabernacle choir.
Humoresque, Dvorak; Berceuse, Chopin; Norwegian Dance, Grieg.
Aria from "Rodolinda," Handel.
Cherry Ripe, Horn; Pourquoi, De-Libes; Voce de Primavera, Strauss.
PART II.

Rondo, Beethoven; Air, Bach; Chante Triste, Tschalkowski; Air Springbrunnen Davidow.
When Celia Sings, Mott; Hushing Song, Kate Vanland; The Breeze that Blows the Barley, Kate Vanland; Spinning Song; Liza Lehmann.
Rhapsodie Op. 11, Brahms.
PART III.

Special Music by the Choir—H. H. Rolapp Will be the Speaker.

Ogden, March 21.—The regular Saturday afternoon service at the Ogden tabernacle commencing at 2 o'clock will be addressed by Elder H. H. Rolapp.

The musical part of the service will be rendered as follows:

Selection, Tabernacle Choir

TABERNALE SERVICES.

Ogden, March 21.—The regular Saturday afternoon service at the Ogden tabernacle commencing at 2 o'clock will be addressed by Elder H. H. Rolapp.

The musical part of the service will be rendered as follows:

"Beautiful Isle"....Double male quartet Organ solo, selected, Sam F. Whitaker Solo, "For God So Clothed the Grass," William S. Wright

Saturday, March 21, 1908. Tabernacle choir Judge Howell heard three divorce suits in the district court yesterday.

A decree of divorce was granted Stephen C. Kinsey in his suit against Alice M. Kinsey, the grounds being desertion.

On the testimony of Bertha Armstrong and her sister, showing that Joseph Armstrong deserted her and was faithless to her, the court ordered the bonds of matrimony dissolved. They were married at Morgan, Utah, eight years ago.

William H. Clark having been guilty of drunkenness and failure to provide for his wife and three little children, the court granted Elizabeth P. Clark a decree of divorce, custody of the children. They were married in this city Christmas day, 1903.

The Weber club has telegraphed an invitation to Admiral R. D. Evans, commander of the Atlantic fleet, which is now at Massachussetts, requesting him to visit Ogden the honor of a visit on his trip east. The admiral will leave his command on the arrival of the fleet at San Francisco. Should he accept the invitation the city and city officials will plan a big reception in his honor, for the early part of May.

An inspection of the city school buildings made yesterday by Supt. William Allison, and Fire Chief Paine, for the purpose of considering arranging at each of the buildings a big fire escape, thus making the protection of the children more safe from fire. The board of education has practically decided on installing a spiral fire escape at the schools, as they are the largest and quickest means of emptying a building. Ogden's school buildings all have wide halls and the doors open to the outside and there is not a public school building in the city that could be emptied in less than three minutes.

On account of the heavy storms of 1905 when several homes were partially submerged in water in the southeastern portion of the city, through the city having filled up the natural water ways, has been heard in the filing of a complaint in the Second district court by T. J. Miller against Ogden city. He alleges that his house, located at 2649 Monroe avenue, which was constructed in 1887, is now being threatened by flood waters, damaging him in the sum of $550 for which amount he asks judgment against Ogden city.

Mrs. Annie Ballantyne Quayle, one of the pioneers of 1847, is now laid to rest in the Ogden city cemetery. After impressive funeral services yesterday at the home of Mr. A. E. Hyde, Sr., at Salt Lake City, the remains were brought to Ogden, where they were met at the depot by a number of relatives and taken to the place of burial. At the grave Prof. Joseph Ballantyne, a quartet rendered "Nearer My God, to Thee," and Elder E. A. Larkin read the dedicatory prayer. The deceased was a sister to the late Richard Ballantyne and was nearly 89 years of age.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The time of holding the funeral services for the remains of William L. Sharner has been changed from 2 o'clock Sunday to 1 o'clock at the Lynn ward meetinghouse.

MR. LARKIN RETIRES.

After Nine Years Connection With the Deseret News.

Mr. E. A. Larkin, who for nine years past has acted as correspondent of the Deseret News in Ogden, has filed his resignation and will discontinue service with the "News" after this date. Mr. Larkin's business in the undertaking line has grown so rapidly of late years, that he is no longer able to take the time from the "News" to do so, and hereafter will devote himself entirely to his business.

During the years he has been with the "News," Mr. Larkin has made numerous friends for the paper in Ogden and Weber county, and his services have been fully appreciated by the management of the paper. He retires with the best wishes of everyone connected with the "News." Mr. Larkin's successor as correspondent will be E. T. Spencer, who will hereafter be found at the office of the company, room 316, Eccles building.

TRAIN STRIKE AFFAIRS.

Yards Are Quiet—Superintendent of Telegraph in City—Denver Word.

J. M. Walker, superintendent of telegraph for the Rio Grande, is in town today, but his visit has nothing to do with strike or labor problems. He is over from Denver to see about establishing wire offices in the Judge building. The passenger department and freight offices of the Rio Grande will move soon and arrangements are being made for the accommodation of the telegraph department. The threatened trouble between telegraphers and the Rio Grande company is at an end. Both sides got together and arranged things in such a manner that each was satisfied. No new developments were noticeable in the shopmen's strike. A high board fence is to be built around the shops to keep trespassers out. In the neighborhood of 30 men are at work and trains are reported on time, with business more than holding its own. The only word out of Denver this forenoon was a dispatch which read:

William Hannon, sixth vice president of the International Association of Machinists, arrived in Denver yesterday afternoon, and has been placed in full charge of the Denver & Rio Grande shopmen's strike at this point. A. O. Wharton, representing the grand lodge of the organization in the southwest, and M. J. McQueney, business agent of the machinists, will assist Mr. Hannon in the details of business which confront him.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—Wilton Lackaye, who has not been seen in Salt Lake since his productions of "The Pit" and "Tribby" had a warm welcome in "The Bondman" last night. The rendition was one in all ways worthy the name of a metropolitan production. Mr. Lackaye himself is surrounded by a group of admirable players, among whom his leading lady, Elsie Ferguson, made an emphatic hit for the charming, tasteful and effective way in which she delineated the role of Gretha. She is a beautiful girl too, and if we mistake not, will be heard from in the future. While it seems rather difficult to get accustomed to Mr. Lackaye without his coal black mustache, he is such a magnetic artist, and always plays with such care and vigor, that he carries his audience completely with him. After every curtain last night he was given some tremendous recalls. His voice did not seem to be at its best, but even with this drawback, he made a most vivid impression. Next to Mr. Lackaye and Miss Ferguson, Mr. Haley, in the part of the priest, deserves high mention for a most artistic rendition. Mr. Ayres as Sunlocks was also effective, and Mr. and Mrs. Byers and Mr. DeForest, rendered their roles in excellent fashion. All the lesser parts were in good hands and the scenery and general mounting, especially the scene in the interior of the sulphur mine, were beautiful and impressive throughout.

Mr. Lackaye's engagement closes this afternoon and evening.

Those who view the drama with the expectation that it will closely follow the famous story will be disappointed. The story, in fact, is so large that it seems impossible to compress it into the time necessary for stage presentation. Even then, it grows so complicated at times that the audience is apt to grow puzzled at the unfolding of the plot, especially in this time of the close, where Jason dictates a note telling his brother that he and the priest have escaped from the island. The need of this is not apparent in view of later developments. The locale of the story is changed from Iceland to Sicily. Then, too, the artistic effect is weakened, even though popular taste is satisfied, by having Jason rescued almost at the final hour. In the book he carries out his supreme self-sacrifice by falling before the bullets of the soldiers in his brother's place. Mr. Lackaye's rendition, also, while superb on the whole, is not the Jason of the book, and it may well be doubted, whether a character actuated by such a sublime purpose, as that which brought him to the island, would indulge in the levity which the stage character several times imparts to the role.

TWO SMALL FIRES.

The fire department answered two alarms this morning, but no particular damage was done at either fire. The first was at 48 south Eighth East street, at the residence of S. Sears, where sparks from the stove had set fire to the shingles. The loss to the building will not amount to more than $15.

The next call came in from the home of a Greek named T. Kromis, 112 North Fifth West street. The fire was started by a defective stove and the damage to the building and contents is estimated at $75.

GIRLS BEAT BOYS.

Of 34 Births 23 Were Females, During Present Week.

More than two-thirds of the births during the week in Salt Lake were females, 23 of the 34 being of that sex. In the number of deaths females also were much in excess, the figures standing 19 to 12. Other features of the weekly report are as follows:

There were reported during the week 25 cases of contagious and infectious diseases, consisting of: 16 cases of scarlet fever; 5 cases of diphtheria; 4 cases of measles; 1 case of cerebro spinal meningitis; 4 cases of pneumonia, and 1 case of tuberculosis.

Seven houses on account of diphtheria and 43 houses on account of scarlet fever remain in quarantine at the ending of the week.

BANKING ROOM FOR NEWHOUSE BLOCK

For the past few days a rumor had steadily gained ground to the effect that among the plans for the Newhouse skyscrapers is the establishment of a new bank to surpass in the point of the elegance of the banking room's fittings, any other establishment of the west.

When asked as to the truth of the rumor this morning Mr. Newhouse confirmed it as far as the building of the banking room is concerned. "They call me," he said, "that these two buildings are too large for Salt Lake and they will never be a success, but in my heart I feel to say, 'Very well, then, if they are a failure I am content to let them be called Newhouse's folly. Personally, I feel that there is nothing so sure in the west to bank on as Salt Lake's future.'"

Into one of these buildings will go a banking room and it will be as well finished as it is possible to make it. For I want a banking room that will have no superior in the country. As to what bank will occupy it that is another matter, and one that has not yet been considered. I have no plans on that point.

The Newhouse skyscrapers present an interesting study in basement construction since they go deeper in the ground than any other building in the city. The foundation anchorage more security in foundation anchorage than any other buildings constructed here. In single masses of concrete there are steel beams hidden which extend over $100,000 and in the buildings at the ground level a respectable fortune has been sunk. The construction accounts now reach the sum of $150,000 per month, and will continue to do so until the completion of the structures in October. It was formerly planned to allow the occupancy of the two blocks in August, but the date now given by the engineers in charge is Oct. 1.

BAD BOYS SENTENCED.

Harry Jackson and William Smith, aged 17 and 16 years, respectively, were sentenced to the State Industrial school today by Judge E. G. Gowan. The lads had been on probation for some time, but in the opinion of the court officials, had not lived up to agreements made at the time suspended sentences were declared. The boys were turned over to the sheriff's office, to be taken to the institution at Ogden, today.

Here are a couple of strong letters:

J. G. McDONALD
Mr. J. G. McDonald,
McDonald Candy Co., City:
Dear Sir:
Enclosed please find copy of letter received March 9, which will be of interest to you.
Yours truly,

Dear Mr. McDonald:
I see by the papers that you are still leading and doing things in Salt Lake's commercial world, and so I am sending a mere line to say, Success! Success! to you and may the world also eat your cocoa. I find your chocolates all over southern California, and I always give them a helping hand.
Best wishes to any friends,
Yours sincerely,
KENNETH KERR.

McDonald's pure, soluble cocoa is making cocoa drinkers of men and women—where they formerly drank cocoa at social functions. Now they drink it because they like it—because it is the highest grade cocoa made.
