The first crop of alfalfa for the season is now being cut in many portions of Tulare county, Cals.

Garibaldi is planting the Eucalyptus globulus (Australian gum tree) around Rome, with a view to prevent malaria.

For two of the last months, emigrants have poured into California at the rate of 6,000 a month, and as high as twenty-five carloads in a day.

Mrs. Mary Le Fevre said, in her lecture in Washington, that man's inhumanity to man cannot compare in severity to woman's "inhuwomanity" to woman.

A well-boring company has been formed at San Diego, Cals., and they are determined to find artesian water if they have to go 4,000 feet for it.

The towns along the line of the Central Pacific Railroad are full of thieves, whose sole business it is to "beat" the emigrants who pass through.—S. F. Chronicle.

At Pioche, April 16th, the pumping machinery at the Raymond & Ely mine was put in motion. It was only in motion twenty minutes, but in that time drained the shaft.

Miss Rye has brought a libel suit against Mr. Doyle for the following statement: "Miss Rye and her co-adjutors made a clear gain of $5 per head upon every pauper child taken to Canada."

Alexander H. Stephens has recently said that "from the foundation of the government of the United States up to the present time, there has always been a struggle between centralism and constitutionalism."

Messrs. Moody and Sankey do not meet with entire approval in their revival labors. The London Athenæum says there is more curiosity than religion in the crowds they attract, and compares Mr. Sankey's singing to a costermonger's cries.

The Oregon Mountaineer says: We have tried the word "Wallamet," but got tired of it, and so we come back to the word "Willamet" again. We like it best, and don't care whether it is proper or not.

Pants vs. Petticoats.—The latest fashion for gentlemen's trousaloons make the legs a world too wide, while women's skirts are shrinking daily so rapidly as to now display their figures man-fashion.—Ex.

The much mooted Tiber canal to drain the Campagna and relieve Rome of all future fears of inundations, is designed to be 150 yards wide, 10 feet deep and 25 miles long; and if these proportions are carried out in reality the Eternal City will become virtually a seaport.

The mining excitement has broken out in Maine, valuable silver deposits having been found at Dexter, on what is known as the Bennett farm. Several capitalists have secured the property, and will operate for a year under a bond of $25,000. Several specimens of the ore have assayed a value of $300 of silver and $12 of gold to the ton.

The Brooklyn bridge is to be beaten before it is finished. Its rival, which is to be constructed over the Frith of Forth, Scotland, will be the largest in the world. The height will be one hundred and fifty feet, and the number of spans nearly one hundred. The great span in the center is to be fifteen hundred feet, or nearly one-third of a mile in width, and the smaller spans one hundred and fifty feet. It will cost about $10,000,000.

All the people in a Paris house were startled one night by a tremendous noise made in an upper apartment. Rushing to the doors they saw a man coming down four steps at a time. He was arrested half dead with fear. He was a thief, had made his way in with a false key, and feeling his way about the apartments from room to room to find valuables, had come upon some strange, movable, upright thing in the middle of a room. He felt of it, passed his hand higher and higher and felt a face, cold as ice. Frightened, eager to escape, he could not find his way to the door, and in his flight upset every article of furniture in the apartment. Then they all went upstairs and found the tenant of the fourth floor hanging in his room.

EMIGRATION—A SYSTEM WANTED.

THE New York Herald calls attention to the matter that an important source of the grandeur of America is the emigration to this country of many Germans, English, Irish, Swedes, and people of other nationalities, who come and found cities and commonwealths under the stars and stripes. These emigrants not only bring muscle and brain and the sturdy virtues of civilization, but they bring also a large amount of money and other effects, all of which is a direct gain to this country. On the contrary, now that foreign emigration has received so serious a check as it has the past year or so, amounting to probably fifty per cent., there results the corresponding loss to this country, financially and otherwise, which, our New York contemporary thinks, is a circumstance worthy of thoughtful deliberation. Says the Herald—

"It would be wise for New York State, or for the general government, to take hold of this whole emigration question and arrange it upon scientific principles. The Mormon church has established the best plan of emigration in the world. By the operations of Brigham Young a Mormon proselyte is taken from his Welsh or English home, caught up in the arms of the Church and safely deposited in Utah—his way protected, his course clearly marked, and every comfort that can be given to a traveler bestowed upon him. But by our system of emigration the practical effect has been that in thousands of cases emigrants who come to America to unite their fortunes with ours through citizenship are dropped into New York, plundered by runners and ticket swindlers and allowed to find their way as best they can where they may. Now, instead of wrangling over head money and the fear of officers, and twenty other trifling questions that every day come bubbling up to us from Castle Garden that have no possible importance to the emigrant, why should not this whole system be reorganized? Emigration is, after all, a national matter, and to us there is no question more important. We think the time has come for our State or for the national authorities to take hold of this question, to do away with the scandals that now surround it and to give us a system worthy of the subject and worthy of a free and generous country."

WATER SUPPLY.

Not only Salt Lake City, but San Francisco, as well as other cities of the metropolitan species, is discussing the important matter of water supply.

On April 20 the report of Chief Engineer Scowden was presented to the board of supervisors concerning the water supply of that city. The report is long and minute, and from a synopsis of it in the California papers it appears that six different schemes are reviewed in the report, with the following summary of estimates of each—

Blue Lakes	$25,581,414 00
Clear Lake	22,014,641 12
Laguna Merced	2,223,177 20
Calaveras Valley	10,855,052 00
Spring Valley Water Works	8,746,928 12
Pescadero Creek	5,946,027 00

For the present and coming ten years the quantity of water contemplated to be delivered to the city and county of San Francisco, with a prospective population of 500,000, is 100 gallons per diem to each inhabitant, or 50,000,000 total every 24 hours; for the second decade a supply at the same rate for a million of inhabitants. New York has 80 gallons per head per diem. The canals, tunnels, and flumes are estimated to convey 100,000,000 gallons every 24 hours, but at first the syphons and one pipe line are to be laid for 50,000,000 gallons, the increased capacity to be added when needed.

All the plans proposed are for gravitation works, except that of Lake Merced, where pumps are contemplated.

The Calaveras scheme is favored by the engineer.

A SAFE JAIL.—The Reese River Reveille talks of a safe jail they have at Stillwater, Churchill Co., Nev., consisting of a shaft 200 feet deep, into which a prisoner was confined, being hoisted to the surface three times a day, meals were placed at the edge of the shaft, and, after he had partaken of the same, he was lowered to his cell, and the rope was hoisted out.

A Preacher on a Slow Horse.

If you have any sympathy on hand for which you have no particular use you may as well bestow it upon a certain clergyman of New Haven, Conn. This clergyman has long wanted a horse, but being afflicted with a want not entirely unknown in his profession, the want of money, has been unable to purchase the desired quadruped. Recently, however, he came into possession of a fine horse without paying for it. The clergyman had a friend, a sporting gentleman, who remarked to him one day that he had a horse totally useless to him, as it was too slow on the road, and that he should receive the animal as a gift. To say that the reverend gentleman was elated would be to express in the most absurdly inefficient manner his satisfaction and astonishment. To get a good horse for nothing was a wonderful stroke of fortune, and to get a kind, slow horse, one with a deliberate clerical gait, was best of all. The horse was sent to him soon afterward, and its fine appearance but added to the clergyman's gratification. As soon as possible a carriage was obtained and then the minister took the reins and drove out upon a public avenue to give the staid horse an airing. Once upon the avenue where fast horses were careering by, the clergyman's animal began all at once to conduct itself singularly. It pricked up its ears, and champed and pulled at the bit and pawed out with its fore feet and reared like a Tartar of the Ukraine. In vain the reverend gentleman strove with the beast as he would strive with the enemy of souls. A fast horse unencouraged by a fast driver dashed by and like a shot the divine's steed rushed forward in competition. The fast man with the fast horse plied the lash, but the good man's steed gained steadily, though the good man dug his heels into the floor of his carriage and tugged at the reins with perspiration on his forehead and holy horror in his eyes. People on the sidewalk stared to see their pastor having a brush with a jockey, and small boys shouted "Hi! Hi!" Tapping, then neck and neck, then ahead dashed the clergyman's horse and the envious jockey yelled out an admiring curse, while the plaudits of lookers-on were freely vented. Finally the horse of the minister slackened speed, and its grief-stricken owner managed to get it home and in the stable. Then straightway he hunted up the donor of the fiery steed and demanded an explanation. The generous individual was all mystification and innocence. "Fast!" said he, "why, that horse ain't fast! I bought him in New York for a fast one and took him out and tried him, and I was sick enough, I tell you, when I found he could only make 2:45. There ain't any speed in him! That's the reason I gave him to you!" And that was all the satisfaction the clergyman got from the unconscious cause of his discomfiture.—St. Louis Republican.

Shipwreck—Decision of Treasury Department.

NEW YORK, 18.—The ship Dauntless, Captain Wilbur, arrived today from San Francisco. She brought Captain Jas. Howard and crew, twenty-six in number, of the British ship Cornwallis, wrecked on Pitcairn's Island. Captain Howard reports that he sailed from San Francisco, Dec. 18, for Liverpool. On January 23d he made the island of Pitcairn, and hove the ship to, with her head off the shore, at a distance of about three miles. At three p.m. he went ashore with the ship's boat, leaving the first mate in charge with instructions not to come within three miles of the island. After being on shore some time he saw the ship standing in, prepared to come off, she having stood close in. In tacking she missstayed and, in trying to wear the ship round, she went on the rocks. Within ten minutes after striking I was on board. She was then filling, having a hole through forward. The wind was fresh and right on shore, so that it was impossible to get her off or save the ship.

The Treasury Department has decided that 5 per cent. for breakage is not allowed on effervescing wines in warehouse. The grounds on which this position is taken are that the 5 per centum specified in the act of January 18th, 1875, being an allowance in lieu of breakage, is therefore analagous to allowances for damages from other causes.

A Big Lawsuit.

WASHINGTON, 19.—The great suit brought by the Union Pacific Railway against the government to recover half the cost of transporting mails and public supplies is set for to-day, in the court of claims; it is for half a million dollars, but several millions will be involved in the decision.

Damaged by Icebergs.

NEW YORK, 22.—The steamer W. H. Schotter, from Rotterdam, has arrived with her propeller damaged, her starboard bow stove, and her fore compartment filled with water, having encountered several fields of icebergs, and at one time being completely surrounded by them.

Numerous Proselytes to Mormonism.

A dispatch from London, Canada, says that the Mormon apostles laboring there are making numerous proselytes.

Denied.

WASHINGTON, 22.—The report that the President has requested or intimated to Secretary Delano to resign, is positively denied at the executive mansion.

WESTERN.

Burning Ships.

SAN FRANCISCO, 22.—Nothing definite is known concerning the burning steamer off Santa Barbara. A dispatch received at three p.m. yesterday states that a person saw the whole of the forward part of the ship on fire; and later, when the fog had lifted, the steamer could be seen with a thick cloud of black smoke issuing from her stern. Fifteen or twenty guns had been heard. A dispatch from the agent of the Goodall, Nelson & Perkins S. S. Co., dated 9:40 p.m., says that several parties saw a two masted steamer on fire off Rincon Point, about one o'clock, she fired about twent-five guns. About two o'clock she had ceased firing, and appeared to be steaming along all right. They could not tell whether she was a screw or side-wheeler. Another dispatch from the same source says that a party who came by team from Santa Barbara saw no vessel in distress; some vessels had been firing guns off Carpenteria. It was very foggy.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Keneally Summoned—Epsom Races.

LONDON, 21.—Dr. Keneally appeared in the Guild Hall justice room, in response to a summons at the instance of Wright, editor of the Advertiser, charging him with libel. The room was filled with the friends of the Dr., and there was a dense crowd in the street. After a hearing the summons was dismissed, the result being greeted with immense cheering by the people in the room, which was caught up outside. Keneally was escorted from the building by thousands of people.

At Epsom, to-day, the great Metropolitan stakes were won by Hampton, Temple Bar 2nd, Rose Bush 3rd.

Chartered—Abandoned at Sea—Raised.

The steamship Oceanic, chartered from the White Star Oriental Co., for the San Francisco and China trade, has sailed for Hong Kong, via the Suez Canal; no vessel of her size has ever passed through the canal.

The bark Edwin S. Hammon, from Howlands Island for Liverpool, was abandoned at sea in a sinking condition; the crew were rescued by the ship Carr sbrooke Castle, from San Francisco, and landed at Queenstown to-day.

The bark Scott, which filled with water and grounded in her dock at Liverpool, has been raised, and is discharging her cargo.

Another Note From Bismarck.

It is rumored that Bismarck has addressed a note to the Luxemburg, similar to that sent to Belgium.

MEXICO.

Horrible.

MEXICO, 12.—Ten natives of Ixtacalco are on trial, charged with the horrible crime of burying three men alive, leaving their heads above ground and despatching them with matchetes after prolonged torture.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

Disasters to Ships.

PANAMA, 21.—The Pacific Mail steamer Payta struck a sunken reef just off Santa Peru, and had to be run ashore to prevent her sinking; it is hoped the ship or much of her cargo will be saved. The St. Nicholas, an American ship, with coal from Liverpool, to San Francisco, ran ashore and was scuttled close by; the cargo had been on fire several days.

FRANCE.

Gold Medal Presented.

PARIS, 22.—The president of the French Geographical Society has handed Minister Washburne the gold medal, to be presented by him to the family of the late Capt. Hall, in commemoration of his exploration of the arctic regions.

Our Country Contemporaries.

Ogden Junction, April 21—

This morning a train was all ready to start eastward, with a goodly number of the passengers who have been accumulating here for several days past, anxious for transit. When just about to move out, word arrived of more inundations and washouts on the line, a very bad one occurring in Weber Canyon. The disappointed passengers had therefore to swarm off the cars again, and wait as patiently as they could for the settling of the waters and the repairing of the track.

A train was expected to arrive with mails and passengers from the East to-night at 8 o'clock, but the new breaks in the road will render that impossible.

This morning, R. Smith and W. C. Bradley, were brought before Alderman Thomson, the former charged with assaulting and beating the latter, and Bradley with stabbing and wounding ——Lynch, on Monday night at the Delmonico. From the evidence it appeared that Smith interfered when Bradley was striking Lynch, who was disabled in one of his arms, telling him not to strike a cripple. Bradley then struck Smith, who returned the blows, and while he and Lynch were both striking Bradley the latter drew a dirk and stabbed Lynch.

Smith was discharged and Bradley was committed till Friday morning, to which time the case was adjourned in order that the condition of Lynch might be more accurately determined, the doctor not being prepared as yet to decide as to the probable consequences of the wound.

Whiskey is responsible for this unfortunate affair.

Utah Pomologist—

After ten years of practical experience with the apple tree borer, we come to the conclusion that it does not confine its depredations to apple trees alone, but may often be found in the peach, plum, currant, willow, and some other shrubs and trees.

That borers never successfully attack a thrifty, well conditioned tree of any kind but generally trees just transplanted, or of slow and stunted growth—trees whose stems are specially exposed to the fierce rays of the Summer sun, or those nearly killed by frost or neglect of giving proper moisture.

Now we have two infallible remedies for borers; one is, keep your trees, whether recently or longer set, in a thrifty state of growth, and the attack of the borer will be fruitless in ninety-nine cases in every hundred. The other is quite as simple; when you set trees, wind the stem for four feet with rags or bark, and keep it there till the tree attains a good size and becomes impervious to the attacks of borers. The borer with which we have made such intimate acquaintance seldom attacks a good-sized, tough-barked tree, but seeks the small, young or thin-barked tree. The egg is laid in May or June on the outside of the bark of the tree by an insignificant fly. If the tree is thrifty and full of sap and life, the vitality of the egg is destroyed, or drowned out, while those deposited on the bark of the stunted, sapless, half dead tree or shrub work their way in, growing larger, and will finally kill the trees in most cases. The borer fly seldom rises on the stem of a tree four feet high, so if the tree is well wrapped, or has a good coat of whitewash all over it, early in the season, then there is no danger. We have never lost a well-wrapped tree by borers.

A gigantic swimming bath, composed of iron and roofed in with plate glass, has been moored to the Thames at London. The water that is admitted to it flows through a thick bed of charcoal, and is so effectually filtered that it sparkles and glistens as if it were drawn through an artesian well.
