

Social interest is centered just now in engagement announcements, the usual large batch appearing at the opening of the spring season with their promise of early marriages. May and June will witness the nuptials of the most of those whose engagements have been announced in the last month, and from the preparations being made there will be some exceptionally pretty affairs.

The wedding of Charles S. Wilkes and Miss Lusy Moore in Washington on Tuesday was an exceedingly pretty affair. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Bigelow, first assistant rector of St. John's church, assisted by the Rev. Ellis Bishop of New York City. Mr. Bishop was formerly rector of St. Paul's church, Salt Lake City, and is an intimate friend of the bride and groom, having come on from New York to assist in the marriage of his friends. On account of the recent death of the groom's brother, Gilbert Wilkes, formerly of the United States navy, only a few of the most intimate friends were invited, but although very quiet, the wedding was one of the prettiest of the season.

The ushers were P. H. Moore, brother of the bride, and Dr. J. D. Irving of the United States geological survey. The decorations of the altar and the church were especially beautiful and elaborate. The bride's only attendant was Miss Louise West of Baltimore, who was daintily gowned in white point d'esprit over white tulle. A large white hat with pink rosette and a big bunch of golden Gate roses completed her toilet.

The best man was J. M. Boutwell of this city, formerly of Boston and now of the United States geological survey. The bride was very handsomely dressed in white liberty satin and chiffon, trimmed with lace. Her toilet veil was held by an opal and pearl pin, the gift of the groom. Her flowers were lilies of the valley. Mrs. Moore, the bride's mother, wore gray silk trimmed with rose point lace and lavender velvet, and a toque of black and lavender. As the newly-married couple stepped down from the chancel, Miss May Wiseman, a cousin of the bride, scattered May flowers and trailing ribbons over their path. The bride and groom and about twenty-five invited guests drove to Rauscher's, where the wedding breakfast was served. The bride was formerly of Beaver Falls, Pa., who has been residing for a short time in Washington with her mother, Mrs. Henry R. Moore. She is a graduate of the Woman's College Institute, Baltimore, and has for the last two years been a resident of Salt Lake City. The groom is a son of Major Edmund Wilkes of the same place, and a grand son of the late Rear Admiral Charles Wilkes of the United States navy. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes will spend their honeymoon in New York, after which they will leave for Salt Lake City, which will be their future home.

One of the most delightful events of the week was the farewell party given Monday evening in honor of Hyrum A. Barton, who leaves shortly for Mexico. The event occurred at his home on the corner of Third North and Main streets, and the time was enjoyed with music, recitations and games. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hyrum Barton, the Misses Vida McKinn, Dorothy McKinn, Lilly Barton, Lillie Barton, Alberta Barton, Lillie Barton, Sadie Haurbach, Elsie Clayton, Edith Drake, Lillian Farrington, Alberta Rockwood, Lillian Brooks, Mabel Wright, Barbara Brown, Lydia Willis, Lily Kiddle, Naylor, Mabel Freibaren, Leonora Brown, Blanche Newman, Clara Covington, Messrs. Moursse, S. Young, Joe Finlison, Perry Rockwood, Charles Manning, Joe Everett and Harold Reynolds.

Mrs. Ellen Elliott and Mrs. Mary Bickford entertained at a delightful Kensington at the Kenyon on Wednesday afternoon. The color scheme was pink and green, and was prettily carried out. The decorations and pink ribbon, pink shades and candles added artistically in carrying out the idea, the room being darkened. There were five tables, each provided over by a young lady—their costumes being in pink and green—and the colors were carried out in the refreshments. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Dinahy, Mrs. Dr. Beattie and Mrs. Dr. John White. Assisting in serving were Misses Ivers, McMillan, Webber, Mrs. J. T. Harris and Mrs. Johnson. Coleman's orchestra rendered choice musical selections during the afternoon, and Miss Odell recited. The guests were: Mesdames J. J. Judson, Don Porter, Elmer Jones, John Reed, W. H. Jones, Mrs. Ross, J. S. Kincaid, Frank exception was that a ring was attached to one of the cakes instead of a heart—the one to whom it should happen to fall being supposed to be fated as the next one of the party to be married. This going to Mr. Fred Odell. The tallies were bon-bons slipped into dainty bon-bon boxes in the shape of banjos, mandolins, violins and tambourines. The scores were staid figures in water colors. The lady's prize was won by Miss Odell, and the gentleman's by Mr. Fred Odell. Present besides the hostesses were Miss Odell, Miss Fannie Bird, Miss Allie Miller, Mr. Joseph Richmond, Mr. Carl Schell, Mr. Fred Odell and Mr. Stanley Price.

Miss Jane Howat entertained at a Kensington on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Weston of Iowa. A feature of the afternoon was a guessing contest, in which Miss Critchlow and Miss Lowe were prize winners. The guests were: Mrs. Walter Druell, Mrs. Percy Sadler, Mrs. Chas. McCullough, Mrs. W. H. Donnell, Mrs. D. C. Roberts, Mrs. Ward Clark, Mrs. A. W. McCune, Mrs. E. V. On Tuesday evening a pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Offenbach, the occasion being the golden wedding anniversary of the host and hostess. Over 100 guests were present to participate in the enjoyable affair, and the estimable couple received a number of valuable presents as tokens of the esteem in which they are held and in remembrance of the occasion. Mr. Offenbach is seventy-four years old and Mrs. Offenbach is seventy-three. They have four children: Mr. Chas. E. Offenbach, Louis A. Offenbach and Mrs. Stella Chaffin of Iowa and Mrs. May Scott of Spokane. The first with his wife and child were the only relatives present but messages of congratulation were received from the others. The time was pleasantly spent in social pastime and delicious refreshments were served.

Last Wednesday the ladies of the "Utopia" club spent a very pleasant afternoon with Mrs. E. Sheets at her residence, 734 east First South street. The parlors were beautifully decorated with spring flowers, and music was rendered by Mrs. Sheets and Miss Shoelbridge. Prizes at "63" were won by Mrs. May Small, Miss Clara Shonbride and Mrs. Shale. The next meeting will be with Mrs. William McDermott, 664 east First South street, Wednesday, May 8th.

One of the prettiest events of the week was the supper and card party given by Miss Claudia Morris on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Louise Odell. The pink and white color scheme was carried out in carnations and sweet eucalyptus, and the heart shape was carried out in score cards, and also in the refreshments. A pretty feature of the supper was the surprise for each guest of finding a souvenir in the shape of a tiny silver heart attached to a pink ribbon fastened in a dainty heart-shaped cake in pink and white, with the names of each guest engraved on the souvenir. The only

Mrs. W. B. Clarke entertained the Trousseau club at cards on Thursday at the Kenyon. The ordinary was decorated with palms and carnations and about ten enjoyed the afternoon. The scores and tallies were hand-painted figures, done in water colors, on heart-shaped cards, and the prizes were won by Mrs. A. W. McCune and Miss Odell. Present were the Misses Howat, Miss Weston of Iowa, Miss Louise Odell, Miss Fannie Bird, Mrs. A. W. McCune, Miss Hattie Jennings, Miss Hampton.

Mrs. William McDermott and Mrs. A. H. Tarbet entertained at cards on Thursday afternoon for the benefit of the Altar society. The affair was given at the residence of Mrs. McDermott, the rooms being decorated with palms, potted plants, ferns and carnations. About forty were present, and prizes were won by Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Sullivan. The tallies were shaped in diamonds, clubs, spades and hearts.

A pleasant event of the week was the annual installation of officers of the Army of the Philippines, which took place at the L. O. O. F. hall. The evening was spent in the enjoyment of an excellent program, dancing, and banquet, those taking part in the former being Miss Lochler, Miss Kane, Miss Roberts, Miss Cronin, Miss Farnsworth, Beasley, Henry Klenke, Mason, and Henry Gibbs, and Hauerbach's orchestra.

On Wednesday Mrs. L. H. Farnsworth was hostess at a delightful progressive dinner, about twenty guests enjoying the function. The tables were artistically decorated with red roses and carnations, and the prizes were won by Mrs. Frank Knox, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Milner, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Judson, Mr. S. B. RESIDENCE OF DOCTORS ISAIAH AND JOHN T. WHITE.

It would be difficult to find throughout the entire city a more artistic interior than that of the residence of the Doctors White on South State street. The arrangement of the rooms on the first floor—four of them running straight back from the front without deviation, provides an opportunity for a most charming vista effect, which is carried out with exquisite taste. The woodwork throughout the house, with the exception of the mantels, is done in Georgia pine, and the designs of arches, mantels, etc., is colonial—the handsome columns and grill work of the arches making an exceedingly picturesque effect throughout the house. On the east front is the drawing room, an apartment done in white and gold, with a handsome mantel of birdseye maple with fireplace set with Dresden tiles, decorated with dainty scroll designs, and with walls and furnishings in delicate La France rose tints. Separating the front from the rear drawing room is a grill archway supported on either side by double columns, and with rich portieres hung on laced cords from the grill work above. The design of this room is somewhat oriental, and a picturesque divan corner at the rear end aids in the pretty effect. Perhaps the most strikingly designed portion of the house is the foyer, which occupies the central position in the arrangement of the four first floor apartments. The south wall has for its central feature a mantel of handsomely carved oak set with majolica tiles in dark green, which give the effect of cool green moss. On either side of the mantel are cushioned wall-seats and above each is an oval-shaped art window. From the central space of the foyer a single stairway ascends on the north to a landing crowned with a stained glass window, and from this landing branches into two stairways leading up on either side to a circular gallery above, which extends around from one stair to the other. The last room, on the first floor, is the dining room, a finely fitted apartment, with handsome sideboard set in a specially built nook, and a bracket-shelf lined with dainty chinaware extending around the entire room. The prevailing tint in the room is red, and is carried out in the walls, rugs, etc. Between each of these four apartments, the grills, columns and drapings, make a charming effect. On the second floor is a pretty morning room, with finely carved mahogany mantel and fitted with bookshelves, making it a combined lounging room and library. In the basement is the billiard room, with the large table filling the center, and two picturesque divans arranged in the south corners—one in fish-net, and the other in Japanese design. A window on the east overlooks another cushioned seat, and the whole effect is artistic. On the same floor are the doctors' offices, which front the street, and the breakfast room and kitchen, which are at the rear. The entire arrangement combines the utmost convenience with exceptionally artistic effect.

OGDEN SOCIAL NEWS.

The social event of the week was the wedding of Miss Grace Steed, one of Ogden's charming young ladies, to Mr. William Stone, of Idaho, but formerly of Ogden. The affair took place Saturday evening, April 20, and was a thorough surprise to everybody excepting the contracting parties, who procured a marriage license and immediately went to the Methodist parsonage, where they were united by Rev. J. W. Taylor. The bride was attended by Miss May Conroy, and Henry Turner acted as best man. The young lady is a daughter of Mr. Al Steed, the well known sheep grower, and the groom is a son of Moroni Stone, of Mound Fort. The young couple left Ogden on the midnight train for their Idaho home. They both have many friends in Ogden who extend hearty congratulations and wishes for a happy and prosperous journey through life.

Andy J. Stewart of Provo, Utah, was in Ogden Wednesday, on his return from Baltimore, where he has been studying medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. William Critchlow, Mrs. Joseph Stahr and daughter Eva will leave Thursday next on an extended tour of the coast, to be absent several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, of Wells, Nevada, are spending their honeymoon at the Lincoln hotel.

Miss Sadie Goble was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Wednesday.

Hon. John Sowercott, accompanied by his wife and youngest daughter, left

Ogden Thursday morning for an extended trip through the east and Europe. They expect to be absent for about six months. On their trip east they will visit Denver, Chicago, New York and Boston, they will then cross the Atlantic and spend the summer traveling through Great Britain, France, Germany and other European countries.

Mrs. William Calkins was very delightfully surprised Tuesday afternoon by a number of her lady friends, who took possession of her home. The afternoon was spent very enjoyably at "63." The head prize was won by Mrs. Lulu Reynolds, and the consolation by Mrs. W. A. McGraw. After a most sumptuous repast was partaken of, those present were Mesdames Stokes, Rhine, Andrews, Duffer, Milan, McGaw, Mary and Lydia Farley, McIntosh, Gullihier, Davis, Sadd, Stark
