

lish manufacturing in Utah. With it we may hope to utilize the abundance of material our Territory affords and employ the labor required to utilize it.

Fourth—We are unanimously in favor of remonetizing silver, and the free coinage of silver. We also claim that the American product should be protected in all the uses to which it is adapted, including its use as a medium of exchange under the Republican principle of protection.

Fifth—We also assert and recognize the dignity of labor and the necessity of proper legislation to protect its interests. The home laborer and contractors, who contribute to the public funds, are justly entitled to the preference in all public works, and that Utah work should go to Utah workmen.

Sixth—We are opposed to the disfranchisement of any citizen except for crime of which he shall have been convicted by due process of law, and we favor the free exercise of the power of amnesty to all citizens disfranchised on account of polygamy or polygamous relations, who will obey and uphold the laws of the United States.

Seventh—The National Republican party can point to a history and achievements unequalled in the history of any other political party of the world. Since its first organization it has been the advocate of freedom, of equal rights to all citizens, and the leader in all progressive measures which characterize nearly a third of a century and make an era of unsurpassed national prosperity.

Major Bradley offered the following resolution, recommending that it be incorporated in the committee's report.

Resolved, That in the changed and changing condition of political opinion and action in this Territory it is desirable that in the political campaign preceding our Territory and local elections we aim at educational rather than mere partisan results and insist that the admission of Utah as a State in the Union await the deliberate action of the thought of the people.

Considerable discussion ensued, after which it was referred to the committee on resolutions, who retired for a time and offered the following
