ONE WEEK GONE! ONE WEEK LEFT!
CARNIVAL ENDS SATURDAY EVENING, JUNE 24th.

THE first week of this great carnival has been a wonderful success—past our fondest hopes has been the success of the venture. The people of Salt Lake City have indeed shown their appreciation of the departure from the trodden path and have accepted this great carnival as a talisman of the upbuilding and ongoing of the Walker Store. Throngs of happy people have besieged every department, and even with the large force of extra help, we were unable to cope with the crowds in many instances. Next week, with the impetus we have gained we will do better even than last week. "Everything so cool and fresh"—"A pleasure to shop in the great store," and many other equally flattering remarks have been rife during the past week.

be taken for granted they will not be a bit backward in declaring their opinion that the king is a jolly good fellow and every inch a gentleman. That sort of thing counts for international amity. Nor would it be just to his majesty to attribute his conduct to diplomatic motives alone. He is a thoroughly good-natured man and enjoys doing the little things that make lots of people happy.

YOUNG KING'S MARRIAGE.

Through his private secretary, Lord Knollys, the king intimated to several prominent newspaper editors that he would be glad if, during the visit of the king of Spain, they would suppress any suggestions that the youthful monarch was seeking a wife among the eligible maidens of the British royal family. Anybody who knows anything of the considerations that govern royal alliances must be aware that the head of the most ultramontane Roman Catholic country in Europe is not likely to marry outside his own church. It would cause no end of a row if he did. And equally improbable is it that the king of England, one of whose titles is "Defender of the Faith"—and it is the Protestant faith of which he is supposed to be the special champion—would ever consent to the marriage of any of his family with a Roman Catholic monarch. And that, not because he has any religious scruples against such marriages but because he knows it would cause a fuss. It is not generally known that it is not only his own children whose matrimonial affairs are regulated by the king, but his nephews, nieces and grandchildren are forbidden to marry without his consent. Probably few Americans are aware that under English law no English sovereign may wed a Roman Catholic under penalty of being deprived of the throne. That interesting legislation, which has never been repealed, resulted chiefly from the marriage of Queen Mary—the "bloody" Queen Mary—to Philip II of Spain, one of King Alfonso's ancestors by the way. It was in 1554 that he rode into London on the ashes of the reformed religion, as one chronicler puts it. Great pains were taken to effect, as far as possible, everything that might wound his religious susceptibilities.

PAINTER SENT FOR.

A painter who had portrayed Henry VIII "upon the conduit in Grace church street," with a Bible in his hand, was sent for by the lord chancellor, said children and commendment immediately given that the book should be wiped out and a pair of gloves put in the place. Of course none of these recollections interfered with the conduct of the wedding, which London extended to the young Spanish king. Nor did the fact that as far as hereditary right goes he has a better claim to the English crown than King Edward make any difference. One of his remote progenitors was Charles I who was executed at Whitehall. There are considerably over 100 persons who by virtue of having Stuart blood in their veins, could claim that they have a better right to England's throne than the present occupant of it. But on the question of hereditary right the people of this country had their say more than two centuries ago and the succession follows their decision.

BAZAR WITHDRAWAL.

Much curiosity has been aroused in fashionable circles as to the reason why all the prominent American women, save one, withdrew from active participation in the Westminster hospital bazaar, held in Dean's Yard, Westminster. It was the greatest charity fair of the year and a lot of lesser royalties. On such occasions American women are not usually found occupying back seats. As a matter of fact, conspicuous positions had been assigned to several of them. Mrs. Edgar Speyer was to have had charge of the candy booth, but at the eleventh hour she dropped out, pleading illness as an excuse, and so there was no time to make other arrangements the booth itself was omitted. The Duchess of Marlborough was another who made the sudden discovery that she would take no part in the affair. The Countess of Yarmouth, formerly Miss Alice Thaw, of Pittsburgh, was the only American among the stall holders who stuck it out. She wore a costume of the period of Charles I and very pretty she looked in it, and made a successful saleswoman. For one I cannot believe the picture that is being circulated in the smart set that it was her prominence in the affair that led to the wholesale withdrawal of the support of the English crown by a majority of the younger set of New York's best society. Her husband, who is a member of the New York Stock Exchange also belongs to one of its swell families. For some time he has made himself conspicuous in several of London's fashionable resorts accompanied by a New York chorus girl. Apparently his purpose is to make his marital transgressions as obvious and flagrant that his wife will be forced to take some legal action. For nearly a year, it is said, he has been anxious that she should obtain a divorce, but she has shrunk from the publicity and scandal it would entail. Now it looks as though her husband is deliberately trying to force an issue upon her. The few invitations he has received from his society friends have been ignored.

ANOTHER SENSATIONAL DIVORCE.

In the American colony in London there is a general expectation that another sensational divorce suit will soon be started on the other side of the Atlantic by a matron of the younger set of New York's best society. Her husband, who is a member of the New York Stock Exchange also belongs to one of its swell families. For some time he has made himself conspicuous in several of London's fashionable resorts accompanied by a New York chorus girl. Apparently his purpose is to make his marital transgressions as obvious and flagrant that his wife will be forced to take some legal action. For nearly a year, it is said, he has been anxious that she should obtain a divorce, but she has shrunk from the publicity and scandal it would entail. Now it looks as though her husband is deliberately trying to force an issue upon her. The few invitations he has received from his society friends have been ignored.

BIG AMERICAN CLOTHING HOUSE FOR LONDON

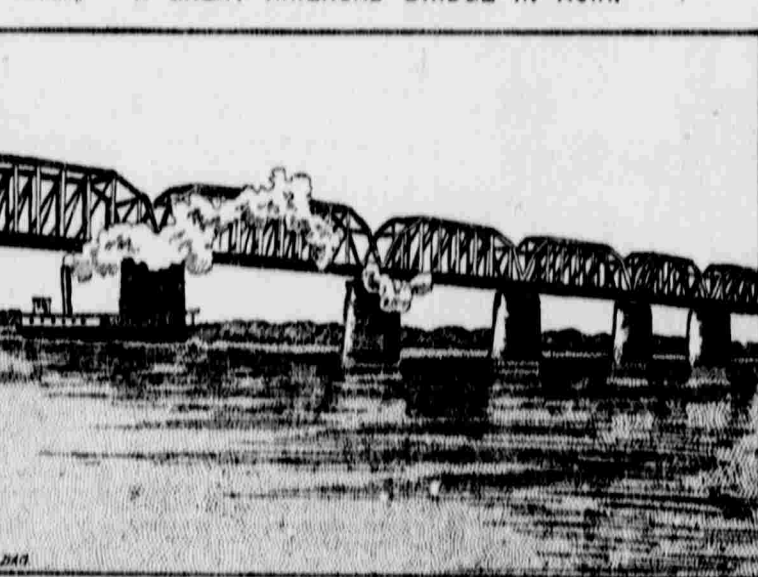

Special Correspondence.

LONDON, June 15.—From an official of the London county council, I learn that a large American clothing business is likely to be established in London shortly. Chapman C. Hall of New York and Walter B. Roscoe, of Pittsburgh, are at present here representing a New York syndicate with a view of finding eligible premises where an American house for the sale of men's, women's and children's clothing can be established. Three years ago the same syndicate tried to get a site in the new thoroughfare that is being constructed from Holborn to the Strand, but now as then they are opposed to the short lease—85 years—which the county council is willing to grant. The syndicate has a capital of $1,000,000 and in the event of being unable to come to any terms with the county council will seek a site in Kensington, where Whiteley's, Harrod's and other big London department stores are located. I understand that it is the syndicate's intention to deal exclusively in American manufactured goods and to employ American help as largely as possible. It is thought that there is a big field for such a business in view of the rapid increase of American residents in London.

Three Physicians Treated Him Without Success.

W. L. Vance, Paducah, Ky., writes: "I had a severe case of kidney disease and treated the best physicians in Kentucky three times without success. I then took Foley's Kidney Cure. The first bottle gave immediate relief, and three bottles cured me permanently. I gladly recommend this wonderful remedy." For sale by F. J. Hill Drug Co.

A GREAT RAILROAD BRIDGE IN ASIA.

The cut is a representation of the longest bridge on the Transiberian railroad. It is across the Sungari river, near Harbin. Only a part of it is shown in the picture, as it actually consists of nine spans of massive wrought steel construction. The Sungari is one of the largest rivers in eastern Asia and is navigable for large steamers at all times of the year for a great distance.

DRUNKENNESS A TERRIBLE DISEASE.

In every large city the mission superintendents are brought closely into contact with the terrible results of drunkenness, and realize what a fearful curse it is to humanity. W. C. McMichael, superintendent of the People's Mission in Washington, says: "I am superintendent of the People's Mission, a reorganized Christian organization that is doing a world of good. One of our people who had been drinking a pint of whiskey a day for a great many years was put on Orin and within ten days from the time the first dose was given, said he is now restored to perfect sobriety. I have no way to thank you for the valuable recipe for this terrible disease, drunkenness."

Orin No. 1 is given secretly in any food or drink, while No. 2 is for those who are willing to be cured. Either form is $1 per package. Orin is a guarantee for the cure of the habit, and is sold and recommended by Smith's Drug Store, Salt Lake City, Utah.
