What the Visiting Newspapermen Found in Salt Lake and Utah Contrary to Their Expectations.

The November number of the National Printer Journalist contains the folowing complimentary notice of the Utah Press Association and its president, D. P. Felt "The Utah Press Association, through its president, D. P. Felt, is establishing a great reputation for cordial hospitality towards visiting associations. On September 7th this year the Kentucky Press association, numbering about 125 members, took an annual outing making Salt Lake City their terminus, and spent three days among the "Mornons." They were met at Provo, fifty miles south of Salt Lake City, by President Felt and a committee, who tendered them the hospitality of the city and state and from the very first showered attentions on the visitors that The Woolley Smokeless Invention is Prohave called forth the warm and enthusiastic praise from the various papers represented in the party. The general tone of the Kentucky press is that prior to this visit the writers had some peculiar, and in many cases very uncomplimentary, opinions of the people of Isah, especially the Mormon element, but as a result of this visit much error has been swept away and in its stead a decidedly warm place is found in the average Kentuckian newspaper for the much-despised Mor-

"They found that Salt Lake City was strictly up to date in almost every way; her streets broad and beautiful in running streams and bounteous foliage that the buildings were modern and ca pacious; the people active and progreslve in every way, and, instead of a low grade of literacy and morality, that the people are second only to the most ed state in the union educationally, and that in good morals they rank first. They found that in natural reources Utah is rapidly forging into the front rank with her neighbors; that the banks of the State and city editors are non-Mormons; still their clearings for the past three to six months ar as to surprise the whole financial com-

"Salt Lake City and Utah have so any points of interest to tourists and ghiseekers that it seems quite easy to itertain the average visitor, especial-when courtesies are handed out with ich whole-souled hospitality as apcars from the reports of the many vis tors and newspaper men particularly. "Mr. Felt, the president, is a Mormon, but the greater part heartily support him in his position and he is also well packed by the local railroads, pleasure resorts and prominent men in all walks of life, so that it is little wonder it can e made so pleasant for visiting edi-ors or others."
