

EVENING NEWS. Thursday, Oct. 18, 1883.

FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

Three cases of drunkenness were mulcted in the sum of $5 apiece.

Two men for engaging in a fight, were fined $7.50 and $2.50 respectively.

Main Street, with a reasonable allowance for its perils, is a reckless river of mud.

On Sunday next the 21st Ward Sabbath school will hold their sixth anniversary jubilee.

Bishop Lorenz D. Young, who resides in Sugar House Ward, is reported as being very ill.

A new sidewalk is being put down at the intersection of First South and Second East Streets.

A new crossing is being constructed between the Valley House and Watson Brothers' premises.

The social reunion of the Middleborough branch of Saints will be held next month instead of next week.

Last night of the Grover Combination, those who desire a dancing treat should attend the Theatre tonight.

Macbeth, in his wonderful monologue entertainment, takes the stage to-morrow night at the Salt Lake Theatre.

Dr. Crookwell advertises that he devotes special attention to diseases of children, particularly diphtheria. A special notice.

Macbeth, the renowned carterial artist, who appears at the Theatre to-morrow and Saturday nights, arrived in the city to-day.

Miss Flora Drake, daughter of Richard and Lavinia Drake, formerly of Willard, Box Elder County, committed suicide on October 11th, at Casht Creek, Idaho, by shooting herself through the head.

Business at the Tithing Office and the Church Public Works will be suspended on Friday, out of respect to the memory of Bishop Edward Hunter, and to allow the Church hands to attend his funeral.

An impending strike among the tailors is rumored. The shiners say they don't mind polishing boots as far as the knee, but if mud continues as deep as it is at present, prospective bankrupts stare them in the face.

A woman was fined $10 to-day for throwing scalding water over a child upon one of the streets, and at the time of the event, mother sex. She claimed it was an accident but appearances were against her as she had a quarrel with her victim just before.

Foster, Choir Master; Miss Millie Foster, Organist.

The Fourth Ward Mutual Improvement Association re-organized last night and elected the following officers for the coming year: F. A. Wilson, President; Wilford Smith, First, and Stephen Durant, Second Counselors; James Glen, Secretary; Andrew Smith, Librarian; Secretary; James Hurst, Treasurer; Thomas Davis, Wm. Garbet, Dora Williams and Kate Carless, Programme Committee; Harry Sherry and Robert Harris, jun., Janitors. The association will hold its meetings on Wednesday evening, commencing at 7:30 p.m.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

High Council.—There will be a meeting of the High Council in the Social Hall to-morrow evening, Oct. 19th, at 7 o'clock.

WILLIAM W. TAYLOR, Clerk.

"Didn't Think it was Loaded."—Last Tuesday, at Farmington, a man who had recently purchased a new needle gun, was explaining the reloading part of the magazine to a younger member of the household, using by way of illustration, instead of a blackboard, a cartridge which had refused several times to go off. But the missile, it appears, was only waiting a more favorable opportunity to "make things fly," for it exploded in the gut proprietor's hand, and pieces of the shell indicated a painful wound on two of the fingers and the thumb. One piece passed near enough to the junior member's hand to scratch it a trifle, but the ball happened not to hit anybody. Next.

On Business and Pleasure.—Mr. Ira Wescott, superintendent of the John T. Noye Manufacturing Company, of Buffalo, New York, accompanied by his wife, arrived in Salt Lake City from the East on Saturday the 13th inst., and intend remaining here about a week longer. Mr. Wescott, as will be seen in another column, is here to represent his company in the perfecting and putting in running order of the Armstrong Patent Roller Flour Mill, a description of which will be found in this evening's issue. Mrs. Wescott accompanies her husband on a visit of pleasure to the West. We wish them a pleasant sojourn in our midst, and a safe return to their eastern home when their visit here is ended.

Funeral Services.—The funeral services over the remains of Sister Hannah C. Monford, were held as per announcement at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Marian T. Bottie, Twelfth Ward, to-day, beginning at 11 a.m. The services were under the joint direction of the presiding authorities of the Twelfth and Eighteenth Wards, of the latter of which the deceased had been a member. A choir of selected voices, led by Brother H. G. Whitney, furnished music suitable to the occasion, and the opening prayer was offered up by Elder Wm. B. Barton. The speakers were Elder H. W. Nephthali and Bishop O. P. Whitney and H. B. Clawson. Father Samuel Nelson pronounced the benediction. The remains were conveyed to the City Cemetery and followed by an extended concourse of mourners to their final place of repose.

THE PIONEER PATENT ROLLER MILL.

A NEW ERA IN UTAH FLOUR MAKING.

Among the numerous monuments to industry erected by the capital and enterprise of prominent citizens, is the recently completed Pioneer Merchant Patent Roller Flour Mill of F. Armstrong & Co. This capacious building, which is situated on City Creek, in immediate proximity to what was formerly the Kimball Mill property in the Eighteenth Ward, is a four-story brick structure, with machine room attached, consisting of three upper floors and a basement. It was commenced last April and finished in June. Its projectors and proprietors, to whose efforts it is due that our Territory can to-day boast the possession of some of the highest and latest improved milling facilities known, are four of Utah's solid and reliable business men and residents of Salt Lake City, viz: Francis Armstrong, George Romney, George H. Taylor and Elias Morris.

The machinery was purchased of the celebrated John T. Noye Manufacturing Company, of Buffalo, New York, who sometime last August sent out from their establishment Mr. A. Eggleston to supervise the putting in of the machinery. This work was completed several days since, but the starting up of the new enterprise was delayed a few days beyond the time anticipated, pending the arrival from Buffalo of Mr. Ira Wescott, superintendent of the Noye Company, who brought with him Mr. John Brining, from the Commercial Mills of Detroit, Michigan, one of the best millers in that region, who has been engaged to take charge of the Armstrong mill for the ensuing twelve months. It was under the direction of Mr. Wescott, who is himself one of the best practical millers in the United States, and has superintended the putting up of mills similar to this in London, Glasgow and Edinburgh, that the machinery was put in perfect running order and the new concern commenced operations day before yesterday. An attempt to convey the reader through a description of the various processes of flour-making, is as unnecessary as it would be tedious. This article will therefore confine itself to an enumeration of the several sets of machinery, which as before stated, are all of the highest class, with the very latest improvements in milling machinery known to modern times.

The machine room, which is partly on the east side and partly in the rear of the main building, is fitted up with a one hundred horsepower Cummer steam engine, with patent automatic governor, which furnishes the entire motive power of the establishment. Near at hand is a Cope and Maxwell steam pump, and in a separate compartment adjoining, a tubular boiler 16 feet in length with a 42 feet shell diameter. The engine and its appurtenances are at present in charge of Bishop Nathan Davis, the well known machinist of this city. We now descend to the basement floor where among the best objects that attract the eye is the main line shaft and pulleys, which connect with the engine in the adjoining room, and drive all the machinery about the building. All the elevators to the bolting reels above start from this floor. Here also is located a milling or wheat separator, a brush scouring machine, and the lower end of the wheat storage garner, which reaches up to the highest floor, but the foundation of which rests upon the solid earth, and is constructed independently of the building. The receptacle of wheat from the weigh-hopper above, likewise leads down to this floor from the one overhead, and the bran storage will also be placed here. The first floor, or the one above the basement, contains a line shaft of pulleys, to which the power from below is transmitted by belts, and by means of which all the machinery above the first floor is kept in motion. All the rolls, which are of the celebrated Ste. ens patent, are on this floor, and the right of the apartment is divided into two parts, the first, or west granular, where the wheat is first broken, and by a series of calping processes converted into flour, middlings and bran. There are three double sets of the Stevens rolls, the offices of which are various; for instance, one is for granulated germ middlings, another for coarse and fine purified middlings, another for A. middlings and low grade material. From here by means of elevators the different materials from each set of rolls go above to their respective reels. On the same floor are the flour packer, for packing sacks and barrels, and the office, the former to the right and the latter to the left of the principal entrance.

On the second floor, is located a chest of four reels, two Smith direct purifiers, another line shaft of pulleys and the flour packing garner. The third and last floor contains two sets of two reels each, above which is placed the dust collector the office of which is to collect the dust from the purifiers' fans and send it off with the feed and of. Here is also an aspirator of winnower of germ middlings, a Smith purifier, a bran duster and a receptacle for wheat just over the head of the concentrated mill. The heads of all the elevators are on this floor and the flour is all collected here and sent down by the spouts to the packing chests or garner in the room below. A peculiarity of this mill is that it manufactures only two commodities, viz: flour and bran, by means of which system it is claimed and obviously with good reason that a higher grade of flour is produced than by the ordinary method of extracting shorts, bran, etc., thereby depriving the flour of its vitality. The mill will grind a variety of grain and has a productive capacity of 125 barrels (25,000 lbs) every twenty four hours. With the proposed addition of two double sets of rollers the capacity will be extended to 200 barrels per day.

Our Agent.—Brother Richard G. Lambert, of the business department of this office, leaves for the north to-morrow on a tour through the settlements in the interests of the paper. We commend him to the good graces of the readers of the News and wish him every success.

BISHOP HUNTER'S FUNERAL.

The body of the veteran will lie in state in the Assembly Hall to-morrow, from 12 m. to 2 p.m., to be viewed by all desiring to do so. At the last named hour the services will begin.

ORDER OF PRECEDENCE.

Pall Bearers. Hearse. Family. Bishop Hunter's Counselors. First Presidency. Twelve Apostles. Presidency of the Stake. Bishops and Counselors. High Council. High Priests. Seventies. Elders. Priests. Teachers. Deacons. Citizens.

PALL BEARERS. Jacob Weller, A. McKee, Wm. Thorne, E. F. Sheets, M. Atwood, J. Tigney, O. F. Whitney, John Sharp, J. Warburton.

Should the weather be sufficiently warm it is not improbable that the services will be held in the Tabernacle.

Business Suspended.—On Friday, the 19th inst., all business will be suspended at the Tithing Office and the Church Public Works, as a token of respect to, and to permit all who so desire to attend the funeral of Presiding Bishop Edward Hunter, which takes place at the Assembly Hall, at 2 o'clock on that afternoon.

The "Romany Rye."—Picture-que illustrations, descriptive of scenes in this renowned drama, greet the gaze of the passer-by from many of the prominent show windows of our principal streets. We received to-day, with the compliments of Mr. J. W. Morrisey, business manager of Messrs. Brooks and Dickson, an elegantly burnished silver souvenir, likewise suggestive, by its engravings and representations in bas relief, of the opening scene of this celebrated play. The company, which is heralded as first class, open their engagement on Monday evening and conclude it on the following Thursday night.

Death of Thomas Howells.—It will be observed by a notice elsewhere, that Elder Thomas Howells, of the 15th Ward, is dead. This will be a great surprise to his friends, very few of whom were aware of his illness. He was constitutionally a strong, hearty man, and appeared naturally to have a considerable lease of life. He was an old settler, having come here three years after the first settlement of the valley. He was employed about 20 years as a stonecutter on the Temple Block, was known as a straightforward, honest man, and of unvarying integrity to his conviction. His bereaved family have the sympathy of a host of friends.

The Grover Benefit.—This evening witnesses the farewell appearance of the Leonard Grover Comedy Company upon the boards of the Salt Lake Theatre. This talented troupe, though their performances have not been patronized in any degree adequate to their merit, have nevertheless won unfading laurels from the theatre-going public, by whom the engagement now about to close will be long remembered as one of the most pleasant of their recollections. "My Son-in-Law," which held in a thrall of delight the audience last evening, is one of the best written and most laughable conceptions owing their origin to the facile pen and prolific brain of Mr. Leonard Grover, senior. It must be seen to be in any wise appreciated. To-night Mr. Grover, the author and manager, takes a benefit, well earned, and it is to be hoped that he will have a bumper house so show how his talents as an actor and a playwright are appreciated. Two acts of "The Boy" and the entire story of "Our Boarding House" make up the splendid bill.
