Who will get the Pony & Buggy?
A Christmas Gift By Keith-O'Brien Co.

Opening of Toyland Monday. THANKSGIVING LINEN SALE.

When She Went Thanksgiving Shopping She Took Him Also To KEITH-O'BRIEN'S LINEN SALE!

When she went shopping long ago
Her bonnet hid her pretty face,
But every quiver and powdered beau
Bowed in his homage to her grace.
The salesmen showed her costly stuffs
Brought from strange places over seas—
Linens all white like powdered puffs,
So dainty they couldn't help but please.
And she moved slowly here and there
Among the linens in the aisles,
Selecting with a regal air
Rich qualities and latest styles.

And it seemed from her dimpling smiles,
She thought this thought "There's no denying,"
As she sorted the linen piles—
"The best you get from Keith-O'Brien."

THANKSGIVING LINENS—Thanksgiving linen has been handed down and discussed ever since the days of our grandmothers, and back to their grandmothers. Quality was always first consideration in the preparation for the Thanksgiving dinner. Quality today is likewise a first consideration—and we invite your attention to the beautiful stocks. Further, we emphasize the strong, low selling prices. The reductions, like the qualities, are genuine—the best that can be offered.

Most of our linens were bought before the advance. We had to accept it in some instances—but the saving is yours.

Every first price is the regular selling price—the reductions are to make this sale a memorable Thanksgiving event. They are lower than we can afford to sell linen—except on an occasion when a week's volume of business justifies an extraordinary effort. We do not buy linens from jobbers. We do buy, however, direct from Irish, Scotch and German manufacturers. We buy in vast quantities to obtain lowest prices.
