

FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

The Ogden Herald does not reach us with that regularity that is desirable.

The High Council will meet to-night at 7 o'clock, in the Council House.

David Rich was seriously injured at the U. C. R. depot this afternoon.

A small-pox scare in the city, turned out to be only rumor, unsupported by fact.

The regular weekly practice of the Tallmadge choir will be held at the Council House, to-night.

Three parties charged with being concerned in the passing of counterfeit coin are now in custody.

The Oakes company played to another full house last night. It was the best performance of the troupe.

The weather continues to wear a wintry aspect. It has been snowing hard the greater portion of the day.

The Pope Manufacturing Co. are getting out a new bicycle called the "Expert Columbia." It's a beauty.

The Legislature adjourned to-day until Monday, to allow members from a distance to visit their homes.

Look out for a "bilk" who pretends to be a hawking smuggler. He is an unmitigated fraud. He has been seen peddling a lot of cheap goods.

The funeral services of the late Mr. Elizabeth H. Cannon will be held at the Fourteenth Ward Assembly Rooms, on Sunday morning, beginning at 10 o'clock.

Harry Haines, of South Cottonwood, whose place on the State Road was burned down a short time ago, is letting materials together for the purpose of rebuilding.

It is an affecting sight to see a big six-footer approaching the telephone instrument to use it for the first time. He generally feels and looks awkward as a big boy making his first advances toward courting his sweetheart.

On Tuesday night a silver watch (said to be lost in the 9th Ward) was found by the owner of the fact that it was a present from his mother. The finder will confer a favor by leaving it at this office for him.

An exchange says: At this time last year most of the mountain pass which are now traversed by the Rio Grande were almost impassable because of the great depth of snow and the continued severity of the season. They are almost entirely free from snow this year, and all trains are traveling on time.

A correspondent of the Cheyenne Leader says, about the Wyoming wolf bounty law: It should be wiped out at an early date. This thing of getting a reward in Nebraska in Colorado for the left paw, and in Wyoming for the right paw is putting it on a little thick. It is said that hundreds of paw faws have been imported from Idaho into Wyoming in the past two years.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

An Innocent Error.—The Laraine Boomerang says:

A good thing reported from Denver recently on the veteran grocery dealer, J. G. Brockway, of this place. He hung in a overcoat and hat on the rack by the dining room door when he went to his meal, and when he came out grabbed the clothing, and hurried to his train. After he got in the car he missed a couple of packages which he supposed were in his pockets.

Thinking they were stolen he started out to recover them. Turning a corner suddenly, an enraged man collared him and charged him with gobbling his—his—stranger's coat. Mr. Brockway said he wouldn't have any trouble over a little thing like an overcoat so gave it up, and returning to the hotel found his own coat with the packages in the pockets O. K.

School Bill.—The bill presented by Councilor Caine this morning provides for the consolidation of the present school districts into one, to be under the government of a Board of Education which will consist of the Mayor, the County Superintendent of District Schools, and five trustees, who must be men of experience and education, one to be chosen from each municipal Ward. They are authorized to provide for the maintenance of one intermediate school in each municipal Ward, and sufficient primary schools to meet the wants of the people. Plans and specifications for school buildings and furnishings are to be prepared to the City Council for approval, who are authorized to levy a tax of not more than one-fourth of one per cent, for buying the land and to build and furnish such school-house. They are, however, withheld from erecting more than one intermediate school building in any one year. Their accounts are to be audited by the City Council or the city auditor once every quarter, and published one time in some newspaper published in the city. Their other duties are well defined, and the City Council have power to fill any vacancies occurring in the board until the next election.

The Counterfeit Coin Matter.—The counterfeit coin case is being worked up by the police. James Shields was before Justice Pyper this morning, and his examination on the charge of passing counterfeit specie was to be resumed at 2 p. m. This morning a man named Jas. Murray was arrested on a similar charge, Shields asserting that it was from him that he obtained the spurious coin. Both came from Cherry Creek Nevada, in company with another party, whose name is said to be Hodge. The police state that they have been considerably hampered by Whittemore, the proprietor of the lodging house near the depot, where Shields and Murray have been stopping. They assert that he gives them as little information as possible.

Later in the day, Budge, alias Shepherd, was arrested. Of course, he denies all knowledge of any counterfeit money transactions. A touching expression of injured innocence spread over his open countenance. He was soon, however, confronted by young Aubrey, who at once identified him as the party who was detected in passing counterfeit coin at his store a day or two since. He also stated that he had seen him and Murray in company.

FUNERAL OF MRS. E. H. CANNON.

THE SERVICES TO BE CONDUCTED IN THE FOURTEENTH WARD ASSEMBLY HALL, ON SUNDAY.

In response to a dispatch forwarded to Hon. George Q. Cannon, informing him of the death of Mrs. Cannon, the following was received: WASHINGTON, D. C., January 26th.

To Angus M. Cannon: Keep the children constantly in company. They must not yield to grief. Have no gloomy trappings at the funeral; no black about the coffin. Make it of natural wood, mountain wood if possible, varnished and comely. Bury next to the children in my lot. Cannot show too much respect to her worth, but avoid everything like a painful impression on the children. If she expressed wishes, execute them. Write them in full and send me a copy. Tell the children for my sake to bury up.

GEORGE Q. CANNON.

The funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m., on Sunday morning, January 29th, at the Fourteenth Ward Assembly Hall. The cause for the selection of that building for the ceremonies is in consequence of the early associations connected with it. The lot upon which it stands belonged, in early times, to her husband; the deceased herself, in her younger days, taught school in the building, which was erected while her father was Bishop of the Ward. The respected deceased was also a resident of that part of the city during perhaps the larger portion of her life, and it has been the locality in which most of her more immediate relatives have lived.

At 9.30, half an hour before the commencement of the services, the relatives of the deceased will assemble at the house where the remains are lying, and escort them from there to the Fourteenth Ward Hall.

It is expected that the wishes of President Cannon, regarding the unostentatious character of the surroundings and belongings of the obsequies will be complied with. It will be in keeping with the characteristics of the deceased. Although her feelings had been deeply tried in life, by the deaths of a number of her children, she never for them assumed the merely outward emblems of sorrow. Simplicity in this regard is, however, not only in unison with the noble, yet unostentatious character of the deceased and the desires of her husband, but in strict harmony with the revelations of Jesus Christ given for the guidance of the members of His Church.

Friends of the family are invited to attend the services.

NARROW ESCAPE.

DAVID RICH HAS HIS LEG ACCIDENTALLY CRUSHED.

Shortly after two o'clock to-day David Rich, yard brakeman at the U. C. R. R. depot, had a narrow escape from being crushed to death. While engaged in his vocation he unfortunately threw the wrong switch, and consequently got upon the wrong track. Thinking he was all right he jumped upon the beam of the switch engine, in front of which was a car. Discovering his error, he made the reverse signal. The discovery came too late. Impelled by the engine upon which he was standing, the car in front of him struck with such force against a number of other cars on the track that it was driven back violently, breaking the beam of the engine in front of which he was standing.

As a matter of course his right leg, which was between the beam and the car, was very badly injured, but it is thought that the bones are not broken.

It is marvelous that he escaped being crushed to death. It is probable that he would have had it not been for the large draw-head in front of the beam. The injured limb was examined by Dr. H. J. Richards, Dr. J. S. Richards and Dr. Hamilton, and the unfortunate man was conveyed to his home, in the 19th Ward. Although the bruise is a severe one, we understand there is no doubt that the limb will be saved.

Brother Rich is about 30 years of age, and the son of Apostle C. C. Rich.

A Swindling Cloth Pedler.—An unmitigated fraud, is going about in this vicinity hawking goods. He pretends to give enormous bargains, on the ground that he is a smuggler, having evaded the customs laws in bringing his wares into the country. Like all "bills" of his class, he approaches his intended dupes confidentially, and catches them unawares, who soon afterwards discover, when too late, that they have been sold.

For instance, we can relate the particulars of a genuine case that occurred yesterday:

The fraud exhibited a piece of cloth to an intended victim, saying: "Here is a piece that you would have to pay $40 for in any of the stores. But I will not charge you that much, but will throw in this other piece and call it $40. In case you should not be suited with that, here is a third piece, and you can take the three for $47."

The victim had no want the three pieces, but finally closed a bargain by taking one of the three for $16. The extent of the delight of the purchaser may be imagined when he subsequently ascertained from a well-known and respectable Main Street merchant, that the cloth he had bought at a bargain could be had at any of the stores in town for $10.50.

In our opinion, those who buy from such swindlers as this cloth-peddler, are nearly as much in the mind as he is in the mire. They purchase doubtless because they believe his smuggling story; and they cannot otherwise than believe at the same time that they are aiding and encouraging a rascal to evade and break the laws. The smuggling theory is a confidence dodge of a piece with the trap set for green-horns in large towns by fellows who take their victims aside and confidentially draw bogus diamond pins from their boot-legs, and pretend to offer a small fortune in genuine jewelry for a small consideration in cash.

Still Prevalent.—Mumps continues its hold upon the juvenile portion of the community, and not a few grown people are affected with it. In many families nearly all the younger members either have been or are now affected with it.

Lewis Smith, on page 261 of the second edition of his "Treatise on the Diseases of Infancy and Childhood," says:

"Mumps has no premonitory stage, and commences with tenderness in the parotid region."

King, in his "American Family Physician," page 253, says:

"Mumps appears to be a contagious affection, and frequently exists as an epidemic. From its tendency to attack distant parts, it is believed by some, and perhaps correctly, to be of nervous origin."

Some of the cases in this city are very severe, and perhaps this may, in some instances have been occasioned by neglect. The following also from King's work, may be of some use:

Mild cases of mumps require hardly any treatment, the bowels may be kept open by mild laxatives. The parts attacked as well as the face and head should be kept warm, and great care should be taken to avoid exposure to cold and wet. Sometimes bathing the feet during the febrile symptoms, as well as drinking freely of warm infusions of balm, catnip, spearmint, sage, etc."

In cases in which the symptoms are severe a more complicated treatment, requiring considerable judgment in administration, is recommended.

The resolution of Mr. Townsend concerning the "Mormons" in Arizona, introduced in the United States House of Representatives, is based on one more of those absurd and malicious fabrications which obtain credence among otherwise sensible people. It is utterly without foundation in fact.
