

TOO MUCH DELAY IN SULLIVAN CASE

To Expedite Matters Court Orders Venire List to Be Drawn from City.

COUNSEL PROMPTLY OBJECTS

Twelve More Men Examined This Morning and Not An Additional Juror Was Secured.

THOMAS ALSTON, employe Utah Light & Railway company, city. CAMEL OLDHAM, employe Utah Light & Railway company, city. CHARLES DENNEY, formerly printer, Union. HYRUM STOFFER, bricklayer, city. HYRUM EVANS, bricklayer, city. JOSHUA HILL, shoemaker, city. THOMAS A. LOWRY, carpenter, city. ROBERT HAZEN, JR., employe of McDonald Candy company, city. H. H. URLEY, car inspector for Salt Lake Route, Mill Creek. WILLIAM A. BOGGESS, SR., farmer, Union.

Two incidents in this morning's session of the Sullivan murder trial tended to enliven the proceedings somewhat, breaking the desultory manner in which the case is proceeding.

The first interesting thing that happened was the attempt made by the defense to oust from the jury box Thomas Alston, the first juror secured and who had been sitting since Tuesday last. When court convened, at 10 o'clock, Atty. Bailey, of counsel for Sullivan, arose and, addressing the court, asked for permission to submit a number of interrogations to Mr. Alston, and the request was granted.

The juror was then questioned as to his acquaintance with certain officials and guards at the state prison, and the answers given were satisfactory. Then the attorney submitted queries as to whether or not since he was sworn in he had not talked about the Sullivan case with Deputy Sheriff and Bailiff Claude Russell. The answers of Mr. Alston were emphatically no, and Attorney Bailey was compelled to admit that he was satisfied in the premises.

It is claimed that there are a number of "spotters," who keep as close as possible to the jurymen in their rambles around the grounds and about the city, and who report their findings, and it is said, some things not found, to the defense.

FOURTH LIST ORDERED.

Another incident of note in today's proceedings was the action of Judge Armstrong, in ordering that the fourth list of veniremen, called for shortly before 12 o'clock, should be made up of men from the city, or so close to the city that their presence in the court room could be secured by 2 o'clock.

Attorney Bailey objected to say that the defense would object to any such procedure, when he was reminded by Judge Armstrong that such action was in the discretion of the court, and while he was willing to hear suggestions from counsel, he would take such measures to obviate any further delays as were purely within the law.

The court attaches were then instructed to draw from the box 36 names, and when numbers were read indicating residence well out from the city, instructions were given to lay such names aside. Exceptions were made to Murray, because of its closeness to the city. When it became apparent that the number of men inaccessible would cut the list down materially, it was determined that 20 additional names be drawn, and this was accordingly done. The list was made returnable at 2 o'clock.

TWELVE EXCUSSED.

Twelve men were examined this morning, and not a juror was secured. J. H. Preese, ex-city councilman, and Samuel E. Hamer, were promptly excused by the court, which has now used 19 of its 15 challenges. C. H. Reagan, a cigar merchant; John B. Dalley, P. J. Nelson, a furniture store clerk; Walter J. Lewis, book store manager; George D. Alder, insurance man; William Coates, a blacksmith; A. H. Parsons, a mining man; William Fairbourne, a farmer; and George T. Odell, implement manager, were excused by the defense for cause, all expressing fixed opinions.

The state excused but one man, for cause, James W. West, Jr., a medical student at the University of the "Nevada" who went to press yesterday. They are H. H. Urley, car inspector of Mill Creek, and William A. Boggegg, Sr., a farmer, of Union.

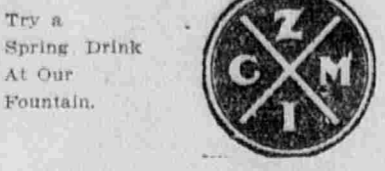

TOUCH OF HIGH LIFE.

Grantsville Man Has Exciting Experience With Pickpocket.

Dilworth Woolley of Grantsville had rather an exciting introduction to Salt Lake life last evening. He had just come in from Tooele and had taken the R. G. W. car up town and was just about to get off at the White House corner. Finding some one feeling in his rear trouser pocket, and knowing that his purse was there, he turned suddenly round, grabbed the man behind, who was making away with his -pocketbook, and wrenched the purse out of his hand. He then caught the would-be thief by the coat collar, throwing his money purse back into the car, with the intention of giving the man up to the police. Thinking, however, he might not see his purse again, and perhaps that the man would stand till he returned, he went back in the car to pick up his money. Returning to the street he was in time to see the fellow dash into the alleyway west of the Atlas building followed by a crowd. There was no police man handy and the man got away.

NEW ATHLETIC CLUB.

Organization in Granite Stake Will Have Headquarters at Wandamere.

The Granite Stake Athletic club is an assured fact, and the Calder home and grounds at Wandamere will be its headquarters. The young men of the stake are enthusiastic over the affair, and the coming week the organization will be completed, prospectus issued and announcement made for the opening which will occur about April 1.

Members of the club include basketball, tennis, golf, lawn tennis, basketball, cinder track, baths, library and everything which is incorporated in a fine athletic organization. The promoters are: S. H. Love, Ed. McClelland, N. J. Horne, Preston Richards, Jas. Moss, Joe. Horne and Jas. T. Dunbar.

AMUSEMENTS.

Opheum—A superior bill of attractions is promised at the Orpheum next week.

As headliners come the Picchiani troupe of eight people, five women and three men. Their work is said to be of the most highly finished order, in fact, wherever they have appeared they have been proclaimed the most wonderful acrobatic performers in the world.

Of an entirely different nature is the act of Jules and Ella Garrison, a Roman burlesque travesty. It is a real hurstles on an ancient Roman life and habits, and is one of the most hilarious sketches on the vaudeville stage.

Jordan & Harvey present an interesting and original act entitled "The Sons of Israel," which has made good everywhere.

Miss Anna Woodward is one of the features of the show. She is a soprano and has made reputation for herself with the Pittsburgh band as soloist.

One of her encore numbers is a song called "Samiani," which is said to be a most tuneful hit of music.

By way of variety, Ferrell brothers, who are billed as comedians and sensationists, promise to give an entertainment both novel and unique.

The indispensable kindred and Wethe's orchestra will fill their usual important parts.

PREST. HARVEY AT HELM.

No Changes at Independent Telephone Co. Headquarters to Announce.

President H. A. Harvey, the new executive of the Independent Telephone company, began his official duties this morning. He was called on by a "News" representative who was cordially received. But Mr. Harvey stated that as he had just stepped into the position, he had not as yet made up his mind what changes, if any, would be made; and just what the policy of the new management might be he did not feel competent at the early hour to outline. However, in a few days Mr. Harvey said he would know just what was to be done, and could then make a statement for publication.

E. B. Jones, who has resigned the managing directorship, stated that he did not propose to leave Salt Lake which suited him very well. He said he had quite extended interests in mining and real estate, which would give him plenty to do. The offices and entire staff of the independent company were at work this morning, as usual.

MASQUE CARNIVAL.

Prof. Kennedy will give a St. Patrick Masque Ball on Tuesday, March 17, the last of the season. This academy will give two of the above functions a year, on Halloween and St. Patrick's evenings, and as a matter of fact they are the largest and most successful functions of their kind given in the city.

The prizes to be given away for this affair can be seen at Bower's Jewelry Store.

McDONALD HAS CABLED TO DRESDEN, GERMANY, FOR A COMPLETE DUPLICATE OF THE COCOA MACHINERY INSTALLED LAST SUMMER.

It is just two weeks since McDonald's cocoa was introduced on the market. Two weeks of an unprecedented demand. Already the outfit of the plant is overtaxed, with no cessation of orders—with every indication that they will grow in volume as the weeks roll on.

IN MANUFACTURING CIRCLES WAS THERE EVER A PARALLEL CASE?

McDonald meets this unexpected situation with characteristic enterprise—and loses no time in an endeavor to double the capacity of his cocoa plant.

He believed the capacity of the imported machinery, which is of the most improved type, would suffice for a year or two at least—but his most sanguine expectations for the early success of his soluble cocoa did not encompass such magnificent response on the part of the public.
