Held to Bail—Defiant—Meeting of Bishops—Election Frauds—Relief for Memphis.

NEW YORK, 29.—E. S. Jones was held in five thousand dollars bail, to-day, on a charge of selling forged Buffalo and New York railroad bonds.

El Cronista, the Spanish organ, here, publishes a letter, to-day, from Havana, dated the 22nd inst., in which the writer breathes forth vengeance and slaughter. He says Cuba is perfectly indifferent as to whether the United States attempts an invasion of the island; if she does she must take the consequences. El Cronista also publishes a long and inflammatory article, urging the Spanish government to maintain a bold attitude towards this country, and to show itself capable of governing Cuba, for the editor asserts that the United States would otherwise invade Cuba without declaring war against Spain, on the pretense of re-establishing on the island the authority of the peninsula. The five points which the American government has presented to Spain, and which have already been published, are denounced as humiliating and inadmissible.

This afternoon a meeting of certain Protestant Episcopal bishops, whose dioceses are in this immediate vicinity, was held in the vestry room of Grace church, to take into consideration the matter of the withdrawal of Bishop Cummins from the episcopal fold. The bishops participating were summoned by telegraph, as the emergency was deemed serious. The deliberations were conducted in profound secrecy. It is understood that the prelates were summoned to the conference by Bishop Smith, of Kentucky, the presiding Bishop. There were present Bishops Salter, of New York, Littlejohn, of Long Island, Odenheimer, of New Jersey, Stephens, of Penn., and one other. The main question to be brought up was that of the formal deposition of Bishop Cummins, who, until such action is taken, is de jure, a bishop still, and qualified to consecrate other bishops. It is said in clerical quarters that there is a feeling among certain bishops in favor of deposing Bishop Cummins without according him the six months notice which the canon requires, trusting that the House of Bishops, at the next general canon, will justify this action.

The counsel for Tammany Hall, collecting evidence of the frauds practiced at the late election, have submitted papers to the District Attorney, covering sixty election districts and involving a hundred and fifty persons.

The amount collected at the various polling places on election day for the relief of Memphis was $3,409.

Fire.

Ingersoll's boat building establishment, on South St., was burned to-night, loss $40,000.

Held to Bail—Brooklyn Churches Moving—Libel Suit.

John W. Crawford and Michael P. Fartner, builders, having a large structure in West 11th St., which fell two months ago, killing seven persons, have been arrested and held in ten thousand bail each, on the charge of manslaughter in the first degree.

The members of the Rev. Drs. Storrs' and Buddington's Congregational churches, Brooklyn, have adopted resolutions providing for the calling of a national council to take action upon the recent declaration of the Plymouth Church, in the Rev. Dr. Beecher denying the right of one Congregational Church to make inquiry into the government, political belief or deportment of another. This is the latest phase of the Beecher-Bowen-Tilton scandal.

Judge McCue, of Brooklyn, has begun a libel suit against the New York Tribune, placing the damages at a hundred thousand dollars.

Will Appeal.

WASHINGTON, 29.—Attorney-general Williams will appeal the Credit Mobilier suit from the decision of the U. S. District Court for Connecticut, to the Supreme Court.

Gen. Sherman's Report.

General Sherman, in his report to the Secretary of War, says the number of enlisted men in the army is four hundred and ninety less than thirty thousand, as limited by law. In active regiments, the number of men sick and on necessary details about the posts will fully equal twenty-five per cent., so that the actual strength for military service does not exceed nineteen thousand six hundred and fifty-two men. In order that the regular army should fulfil its arduous duties on the frontier, as also to form a model on which to shape the volunteer and militia force of the United States, he earnestly recommends that Congress be asked to fix the limit of the enlisted force at such a figure as will give thirty thousand for regiments of the line, and to provide, specifically, for non-combatant detachments, such as an engineer battalion, ordnance department, West Point detachments, and signal, ordnance and commissary sergeant, in the same manner as has been done for hospital steward. The artillery regiments have an organization different from infantry, viz., twelve batteries to a regiment; that of these only one is equipped and instructed as a battery of artillery, the other eleven companies in each regiment being armed with muskets and instructed as infantry. Regimental commissioned officers on duty or belonging to the several departments and divisions number, in the aggregate, 1532; those engaged at present on fort duty 1,234, absent on leave or detached two hundred and ninety-eight. The foregoing does not include the thirty-one second lieutenants recently appointed from civil life and who are under orders to join their regiments. The military divisions embrace the whole area of the United States, and their reports, which have been forwarded to the Secretary of War, include the acts of all the regular army. No part of the army, General Sherman says, is under his immediate control, and the existing army regulations devolve on the Secretary of War the actual command of the military peace establishment, and all the responsibility thereof, so he forbears making any further recommendations or report.

Report of Secretary of War.

The annual report of the Secretary of War shows the estimates for military purposes, for the year ending June 30th, 1874, to be $33,828,378; the estimates for the same purpose for the year ending June 30th, 1875, are $34,410,722, the excess over the current year being $584,344. The appropriations for military purposes for the year ending June 30th, 1874, were $32,917,971. In addition to the usual estimates already made the following are submitted for such action as Congress may deem proper: armament of the forts $1,449,550; estimates for engineer purposes, $29,459,393. It is recommended that better facilities be afforded to obtain field musicians by the passage of an act authorizing the enlistment of boys not under twelve years of age, with the consent of their parents or guardians. The Secretary says his order, directing officers, active or retired, to refrain from visiting Washington during the session of Congress with the view to influence legislation, will be strictly enforced, so far as he has power. He also says that further legislation is necessary to define the scope of the provisions of the act regulating the pay of officers' commutation. He commends an allowance of ten dollars per month to lieutenants of the line detailed as assistant quartermasters. Of the fifty railroads which purchased material from the department at the close of the war to the amount of $7,500,000, thirty have paid in full, the remaining twenty are still indebted about $470,000. He recommends the passage of a law which will enable the department to collect from the post office department the postal earnings of several of the delinquent railroads. The report also recommends an appropriation to continue the experiments for an artesian well at Fort D. A. Russell, believing that a series of wells in Colorado, Wyoming, Dakota and Montana will be of importance to the people in the development of their material resources. He also recommends that an act be passed authorizing the issue of tobacco as part of the rations of enlisted men, and that the medical corps be open to appointment and promotion; that there be an increase of paymasters from forty-four to fifty-two, and that new appointments and promotions be allowed. He says the works on the sea coast defenses and fortifications are being advanced with all the rapidity consistent with economy and efficiency, and that the principal harbors now contain quite a number of platforms ready for their armament of guns of the largest calibre. The harbor defenses in course of construction are recommended to be brought to a completion. The Secretary invites the attention of Congress to the bridging of the navigable waters of the United States, and suggests such general legislation as is necessary for the preservation of the channels of commerce. He recommends the repeal of the law authorising the construction of a bridge across the Arkansas river, at Little Rock, for the reason that a bridge constructed according to its terms would materially obstruct navigation. The survey of the lakes has been continued with success during the season. The Springfield system of breech loaders will be henceforth as the muskets and carbines in the army, and an appropriation of five hundred thousand dollars is asked for the manufacture of about three hundred and fifty thousand arms of the accepted system for the reserve supply in case of war. It is recommended that appropriations for arming and equipping militia be increased in proportion to the increasing population since the passage of the act of 1808. The cities on the sea coast, it is stated, are in a very defenseless condition, and the secretary calls the earnest attention of Congress to the fact, suggesting that a million and a half of dollars be appropriated to put them in a state of defense. He says this sum will only provide the defenses with one-sixth of their complement of the guns required for efficient fortifications. The purchase of a proving ground for experiments in heavy guns is needed, also an appropriation of seventy-five thousand for the manufacture and trial of twelve-inch cast-iron rimmed cannon. A large powder depot, it is recommended, should be established in some region where neither private nor public interests would be endangered, and away from the influence of salt air; and for the purchase of a site and the commencement of magazines a hundred thousand dollars should be appropriated. In the same connection it is recommended that the smaller arsenals be sold, and larger ones be built from the proceeds. The Secretary concludes by recommending that the legislation should be renewed, giving the Secretary of War authority to appoint a competent person to arrange and prepare for the publication of official documents relating to the operations of the army during the war.

Peace Assured.

The negotiations between the United States and Spain with regard to the questions growing out of the capture of the Virginius were brought to a conclusion to-day, Secretary Fish and Admiral Polo having agreed upon and signed a protocol, which the latter soon after telegraphed to his government. The terms are substantially as follows: First, the immediate surrender to the United States of the ship Virginius and all the surviving passengers and crew; second, a salute to our flag on the 25th of December next, unless, in the meantime Spain shall satisfy us that the American flag was improperly borne on that vessel, and further, that she had no right to the American flag or American papers. In this event the salute is to be spontaneously withdrawn, and Spain is to formally disclaim any intention of indignity to the flag of the United States in the acts committed by her against the Virginius. Third, if it shall be shown that the Virginius had no right to carry the American flag and papers, the United States will institute proceedings against the vessel and the surviving parties who have violated the laws of the U. S., and Spain guarantees to institute proceedings against any of her authorities who may have violated either law or treaty stipulations; 4th, the matter of reclamations for damage is reserved for future consideration. Within the next two days Secretary Fish and the Spanish minister will determine the port at which the Virginius and the surviving passengers and crew shall be delivered to the U.S. The words "immediate release," as applicable to the delivery of the Virginius and surviving passengers and crew, implies, of course, reasonable time for its execution, as some days must elapse before Havana and Santiago de Cuba can be reached. This agreement, it is remarked in official quarters, covers all the points of our original demands, though in a modified form, while it is considered respectful and honorable to both countries. The fixing of the 25th of December, as the time for saluting our flag, is to allow the necessary opportunity to Spain to show that the Virginius improperly carried the American flag and papers. There is a sensible relief in all quarters that the negotiations have thus peaceably ended. Both Secretary Fish and Admiral Polo had, for two weeks past, been engaged in broaching this result, on which they have received the congratulations of their respective friends.
