

YMAS BUSINESS SHOWS BIG GAINS

Money Market Decidedly Lively In Consequence All This Week.

IS MOST PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Crops Have Been Excellent and the State Generally Has Stood Financial Storms Gallantly.

The money market has been lively the past week. As one cashier remarks, "Individual depositors have been pulling money out to make Christmas purchases, and the merchants who received the moneys have been returning the same to their credit. That is about all the effect it has on the banks." Another local financier of long experience, in commenting on the situation today, said: "The year 1908 has been one of the most prosperous, taking it all around, that the people of Utah ever had. The beet crop has been excellent, the prices obtained for sugar very satisfactory, the wheat crop has been the largest in the history of the state, bringing a larger price than ever before. The same may be said of oats. Mining has improved, something very gratifying. In the wider aspect of the case, there has perhaps never been a year following so severe a panic as that of 1907, when recovery has been so rapid, with the situation assuming so healthy an aspect in so short a time. However, it is not to be inferred that all effects of the panic have passed away. In fact it is a healthy sign that some of the effects are still lingering. Were it not so, the excitable temperament of the American people would be leading them into wild speculation; and it was this that produced the late panic. But the country is reaching out and grasping immense possibilities as rapidly as prudence will dictate, and our money matters being on a safer basis, the promises for the immediate future will be pregnant with the best possible results. The demand for money in the local market is fully abreast with the supply, and money may be had for all legitimate enterprises in sufficient quantity but at rates slightly in excess of those of former years. Heavy flows in his last circular says the future of the railroads on the stock market is undeniably bright. All the roads have put important economies into effect, and with the advances in rates already or about to be enforced they are sure of liberal gains in net earnings whether the volume of traffic goes back to 1907 records or not. This policy of course insures the maintenance of dividends and is the source of all increase rumors. The fact, also, that the public attitude towards railroads is becoming more reasonable has a favorable effect upon values.

REALTY PROMISING.

The realty market, while dull in the matter of actual transfers, is considered full of promise for the spring. Dealers say when warm weather returns there will be a great move in realty, in both residence and business properties. The entire town east of State street is building up with remarkable rapidity, while the west side is not very far behind. The enlargement of local railway facilities, with the building up of factories on the west side will always make residence there a necessity for an increasing number of people employed in these industries; so the west side will not suffer. With the growing probabilities of the Gould depot, property on west Third South street is advancing in value, and two recent transactions amounting to $22,000 were chronicled there.

HARDWARE BRIGHT.

The hardware trade reports business good, and with futures being received in promising shape. Collections have been good, with the holiday trade all that could be desired. The demand for the past 10 days was for silverware, cutlery, sleds, toy wagons, skates, stoves, heaters, etc., and the mining machinery trade steadily improving, much better than a year ago.

LUMBER DULL.

The lumber trade reports that the steady cold weather has operated as a stopper on pretty much everything in the lumber line. But little will be done until after Jan. 15. The weather has interfered with more building construction than ever before. Incoming shipments for the wholesale trade have been moderate, and there is no noticeable fluctuation in prices. The trade has all the cars needed.

WHOLESALE DRY GOODS.

The local wholesale dry goods trade reports nothing doing beyond getting out full lines of samples for the traveling men to carry off on the road after the first of the year. In the general market, there are some concessions in the prices of fabrics, as earlier advances were a little too sharp. There is reported a broader market for ginghams, with the working shirt manufacturers doing a very good trade the last two months, while the large mills making the best goods are well supplied with orders for all kinds of fabrics, such as chevrons, chambrays, stripes, and the better qualities of plaids. On drills and brown sheetings the market is quiet, but with conditions fairly satisfactory. Print cloths are fairly strong, the marking up of regulars and narrower widths being the feature. The bleached trade is less active. Linens are reported running short, with hints at advanced prices ere long. Burlaps are not in great demand. Hosiery lines, the principal domestic are now open, and prospects good.

Underwear lines are moving well. The lace and embroidery trade is disturbed over reports of an increased tariff. This industry is peculiar in that the item of labor is the chief cost in production. The Swiss excel in this work, and have built up an industry that other nations can not compete with except on low grade goods. Importers declare a lower tariff would help the garment trade to look for a market abroad, which they can not now enter owing to the high cost of trimmings.

RETAIL RUSH.

The retail trade has had perhaps the liveliest week in its history. People were buying heavily in every department, and the stores were thronged every day, particularly in the afternoon and evening. One salesman sold 14 ladies' suits last Wednesday. In one big department store, while the silk and satin counters were rush centers. People bought immensely of candles of every description, of linens, hosiery, hats, gloves, umbrellas, underwear, skirts, cloaks, jackets, blankets, quilts, handkerchiefs, embroideries, general art goods, toys, books, shoes, perfumery, soaps, toilet articles traveling cases, suit cases, canes—everything one can think of and not think of. The great trade season closed Christmas eve, with the biggest kind of a rush, the stores remaining open until midnight, when the tired clerks went home to sleep. The retail stores are now taking inventory preparatory to clearance sales and special sales, with "marked down prices," etc.

GREAT BANK ROBBERY IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 25.—The fact has just been made public that the First National bank of Monrovia, Cal., was robbed of a sum said to amount to $29,000 Monday night. Detectives have been at work on the case, but it is stated that no clue to the robbers has been found, and no arrests have been made. The loss was discovered when the bank opened for business Tuesday morning. Whether it was taken by an expert thief after the close of the bank on Monday or removed after the vault had been locked for the night, has not been determined. All the officers of the bank refuse to discuss the matter. President John Bartlett admitted that the robbery had occurred, but said that in view of the fact that the bank was insured for $25,000 with a casualty company the loss to the stockholders would be less than $5,000. The bank is capitalized at $100,000, with a surplus of $90,000, and has undivided profits of $20,000.

HOLIDAY WEEK IN REALTY CIRCLES

But Two Transfers of Any Note Are Recorded With Clerk.

BIG REVIVAL IS ANTICIPATED

With the ushering in of the New Year A Flood of Activity is Looked For.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.	Amount.
Week ending Dec. 24, 1907, $44,979.04
Week ending Dec. 24, 1908, 44,046.80
Loss, 1908, $932.24
BUILDING PERMITS.
Week ending Dec. 24, 1907, $5,410
Week ending Dec. 24, 1908, 8,200
Gain, 1908, $2,790

Necessarily, the real estate transfers and building permits during the week have been small. Holiday festivities are not conducive to increased business in any line not closely allied with the season, besides which the coldness of the weather accounts for the small number of buildings started. Immediately after the ushering in of the new year, when the weather has moderated, a great revival is anticipated in building and in the transfer of real estate, which naturally accompanies it.

During the week past there has been but two transfers of city property attracting especial attention, and that only by reason of the fact that they were the only ones during the week at a figure of any magnitude. The two transfers were the one previously told of by the "News," one sold by Charles E. Taylor to Fred K. Lyons for $2,600, the other to the same purchaser by R. E. Miller for $10,000. The property which is on west Third South, was bought for investment purposes. The difference between the real estate sales of the past week and that of the corresponding week of last year, is seen to be but a few hundred dollars, the balance being in favor of last year, but an examination of the records will show that during the corresponding week of last year Mary G. Davis sold to A. H. Boxrud lot 7, block 35, plat A, for $10,075, which accounts for the difference as it stands.

PARENTS FIGHT, BABY KILLED AS A RESULT

Philadelphia, Dec. 25.—Alfred Turner, aged 10 weeks, was killed in a peculiar manner during a fight between his parents here today. William Turner, the father, according to the report made to the police, attacked his wife because she did not have breakfast ready when he came downstairs. Mrs. Turner held the child in her arms, and in the fight she dropped it to the floor. She was subsequently knocked down or fell upon the infant, crushing it to death. Both parents were arrested.

UNCLE SAM AND SUGAR INDUSTRY

Investors Counseled and Advised By the Department of Agriculture.

PLEA OF A MICHIGAN MAN.

Government Agent Says Course of the Department Has Induced People to Invest.

The thousands of people throughout the west who are connected with the beet sugar industry, directly and indirectly, will be interested to read the following interview printed in a recent issue of the Beet Sugar Gazette. If the view is sustained that many investors went into the sugar industry in the United States as a result of the counsel and on the invitation of the department of agriculture, it should cut a large figure in the decision of Congress as to reducing the tariff on sugar. The interview is with Mr. Saylor, the well known special agent of the department of agriculture and is as follows: "Were you present at the tariff hearings before the house ways and means committee at Washington when Mr. Carmen N. Smith of Bay City made his statement?" Mr. Saylor was asked. "I heard practically everything that was said at the hearings," replied Mr. Saylor. "Would you mind giving the Gazette some information regarding these hearings?" was the next question put to Mr. Saylor. "I don't know," laughingly said Mr. Saylor, "but in consideration of the fact that the statements made at the tariff hearings are now a part of the public records, the same having been printed in two parts, dated Nov. 16 and 17, I may be permitted to talk just a little. You may proceed with the pumping process." "You will remember, then, Mr. Saylor, that Mr. Smith gave utterance to the following in his statement: 'I wish to call the attention of the committee to one fact. The investment which our company made in the sugar business was one which was made on the invitation and urgent advice of the United States government through its department of agriculture, and also it was based upon the recognized policy of the administration and the party in power of protecting and encouraging domestic or home industries.' "Yes, and in a measure he was justified in making such an assertion," said Mr. Saylor, "for the reason that the United States government through its department of agriculture has practically committed itself to the propagation of the domestic sugar industry. I am of the opinion that the fact that the government has fostered and encouraged the beet sugar industry by sending out reports showing where beet sugar factories could be profitably located has induced many capitalists to invest in beet sugar enterprises." "Is the department of agriculture still favorable to the policy of stimulating and encouraging the production of sugar on American soil?" Mr. Saylor was asked. "Yes," replied Mr. Saylor, "the agriculture department has done everything in the direction of encouraging the domestic sugar industry and sugar beet culture, especially that it could." "The department has implicit faith in the beet sugar industry and has encouraged this, together with other lines of agricultural production that it believes can be profitably developed in the United States." "The department regards sugar beet culture as a great stimulus to agriculture in general, for it is the foundation on which the development of western agricultural interests is built." "The advancement of the beet sugar industry leads to corollary industries such as stock feeding and the development of breeding. The by-products of beet sugar factories are principally pulp and molasses. These are now extensively used for feeding purposes and enter largely into the manufacture of commercial feeding-stuffs." "The beet sugar industry educates the farmer in the practice of scientific and intensive agriculture and results in larger yields of other crops. It means more than the mere question of producing sugar, for wherever a beet sugar factory is located, you will find lines of transportation, both railroads and trackage, and every convenience of communication of a prosperous civilized community endowed with all the modern improvements requisite to a happy suburban life."
