Last Night's Dispatches.

CONGRESSIONAL.
SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 27.—Merrimon argued at length for the presence of federal troops in South Carolina affected by the vote of at least 10,000.
Mitchell's amendment of last night was modified, making the resolution the special order for Wednesday at 12:30, and lost.

Thurman's resolution discharging the election committee from the Butler case was agreed to—59 to 27.
Several pairs were announced. The vote showed no change.

Edmunds objected to present consideration, and the credentials were laid over.

Edmunds moved to adjourn till noon to-morrow, but the motion was rejected—28 to 25.

Thurman moved to adjourn till 3:30 to-day.

After a brief discussion, the Vice President decided to order the fiftieth rule the Butler case must lie over one legislative day, or until to-morrow; that if the Senate adjourn till after four o'clock to-day, it begins the legislative day of Tuesday.

Thurman's motion, if agreed to will violate the standing rule of the Senate which made noon the time for the introduction of bills.

Thurman withdrew his motion and moved that Butler be sworn in.

Edmunds said that he had decided, and the chair decided, but said the motion might be made and acted upon in the future.

Edmunds gave notice that he would immediately after roll call to-morrow call up, as a matter of the highest privilege, the Kellogg case.

The Senate then, 28 to 27, went into executive session, and when the doors were reopened, after a twenty-seven hour's continuous session, adjourned.

EASTERN.
Raid, the Murderer.

St. Louis, 27.—Raid left for Galesburg, Ill., to-night, in charge of Sheriff Hitchcock and other officers.
There was a considerable crowd at the depot, but no unusual excitement. He was in a good humor, and apparently had no apprehension whatever of any unlawful demonstration being made against him.

The Rising Waters—Destruction of Life and Property.

BUCHANAN, Va., 27.—The river is six feet higher than during the greatest freshet in 1852. Twenty colored people have been drowned in this neighborhood, and the destruction of property in town and country is unnumbered. A bridge and thirty dwellings have been swept away, and many poor people are left without property, food or clothing.

CINCINNATI, 27.—A sudden rise in the Ohio carried away a number of coal barges from their moorings.
Several were sunk at the railroad bridge below the city. The loss will exceed $10,000.

The Ill-Fated Steamer "Huron."

FORTRESS MONROE, 27.—Regarding the sailing of the Huron, on Friday night, it is stated that on Friday morning Admiral Trenchard signalled Captain Ryan, inquiring if his draughtman had arrived, and being answered in the affirmative, replied, "You can go to sea when you choose."

NORFOLK, 27.—Advises from Kittyhawk state that twenty-one dead bodies can be seen from the shore, lashed to the main and mizzen rigging of the Zetland.

KREYTHAWK, 27.—The body of Captain J. Guthrie, paymaster of life-saving district No. 6, and two colored men were washed ashore five miles north of this station. Thirteen dead bodies were washed ashore near No. 5 station, one lieutenant by the name of Simmons, one corporal of marines (name unknown), nine sailors, and two colored men.

ERIE, Pa., 27.—The three men indicted for larraging and feathering a woman of doubtful character at Waterford, in this county, have all been sentenced to the penitentiary for from one to two years.

The Struggle for the Control of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, 27.—The great struggle for the control of the Senate assumed another phase, and was temporarily suspended, after continuing without intermission for twenty-eight hours. The all-night session, as anticipated in the previous dispatches, was mainly consumed by the reading of the valuable opinion of Chief Justice Wadsworth, of New Hampshire, as portion of his remarks. The successive clerks, becoming hoarse with unremitting reading, were relieved by grave and reverend senators like Burdette, who, at the request of Wadsworth, rambled through such passages as he would indicate much for the manner of a first-class at reading. The monotony of this proceeding was, however, interrupted occasionally by speeches of colloquies, for which the floor was yielded temporarily among them a spirited passage between Hor and Ransom, and nearly an hour between 1 and 2 o'clock a. m. was occupied by Conflicting in an impromptu speech of masterly power and clearness, calling attention to the numerous features of the case, which, in his opinion, demanded careful examination, and laying the ground-work for a more elaborate argument when the credentials shall come before the Senate for final action. Dull speech-making by the members of North Carolina, and some other long-winded, tedious members, and an able defence of the fairness of the Senate committee investigation in South Carolina, by Camron, of Wisconsin, together with the roll calls on motions to adjourn, etc., occupied the time until after the regular hour for the daily meeting of the Senate had arrived.

A motion by Mitchell, to make the pending resolution the special order for a special meeting to-morrow was voted down and the Republicans allowed a final vote to be taken upon the question of discharging the committee from Butler's credentials, which was, of course, decided in the affirmative by the usual majority of two, Edmunds, Conover and Davis addressing directly to the Democrats. Immediately upon the announcement of this vote Thurman endeavored to obtain the floor, but Edmunds was recognized to interpose an objection upon the present consideration of the credentials, and the Vice President promptly stated that, under the rule, this objection carried them over. Edmunds thereupon moved an adjournment until to-morrow, but his motion was rejected, Butler's friends desiring only a nominal adjournment with the view of forcing further action, if possible, this afternoon. At the close of the discussion, however, the Vice-President decided that another legislative day, could not be commenced before 12 o'clock to-morrow, without changing one of the standing rules of the Senate.

Thurman accordingly withdrew the motion he offered for adjournment, and moved to adjourn, in which latter motion, of course, went over with the subject matter to which it relates. Edmunds then gave notice that after the reading of the journal to-morrow, he will call up the committee's report on Kellogg's credentials, and thus the contest was left over until to-morrow's morning.

The advantage which has been gained by the republican tacti-cians is this: they have placed the Kellogg case in a position where Edmunds must either pull out, and be entitled to consideration, but there are various parliamentary expedients by which a majority could give precedence to Butler's credentials without taking issue with this anticipated ruling, and, of course, it can be directly reversed by a majority vote upon appeal. The advantage which has

are various parliamentary expedi-
give precedence to Butler's creden-
appeal.

The advantage which has been
gained by the republican tacti-
