FRAGMENTS.

SOMETHING about re-unions will be found in another column.

The person who recently lost a key can get it on calling at this office.

PATRICK KELLY, of Summit County, was admitted to citizenship in the Third District Court to-day.

THE Misses Martin, late with Simon Bros., who are well and favorably known as milliners, announce that they will carry on their business at their residence, in the rear of Tassard's store. See their advertisement.

A NEW county jail is to be erected shortly by Salt Lake County. It will be a properly arranged, lighted and ventilated two-story building, well provided with iron gratings to prevent the escape of prisoners. The prison will be located on the County Court House lot.

AMELIA HATE, 65 years of age, and one of the women convicted of keeping a house of ill-fame, was sentenced to the penitentiary to-day for a term of six months for the same offense. She was fined $100, which she could not pay. On condition that she bid farewell to this part of the country, the amount was remitted.

LOCAL NEWS.

THE Emigrants.—By special telegram from New York we learn that the company of emigrants from Liverpool arrived yesterday afternoon, in charge of Elder Moroni L. Pratt. They left New York for the west to-day.

Too Elaborate.—We have received from a Kayville correspondent a communication which we are only unable to publish on account of its extraordinary length. We would be pleased to insert letters from "More Anon," if they were cut down, briefly being an absolute necessity when space is at a premium. Direct statements of facts are what newspapers want. We will be pleased to hear from the gentleman again if he will summarize his matter and give us the gist of what he touches upon.

Characteristic.—On Tuesday morning Edward Brain was sentenced, under conviction for resisting a United States officer, to imprisonment in the Utah Penitentiary for one day (24 hours) and to pay a fine of $25. He served the term and paid the fine, thus fully satisfying the judgment of the court. Notwithstanding this fact U. S. Marshal Ireland peremptorily refused to liberate him until he had paid the costs of the prosecution, amounting to $250. Mr. Brain paid the amount pro tem, and has since taken the necessary steps toward legal proceedings against the Marshal, with a view to recovering the sum not included in the judgment.

This Morning's Fire.—Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning a small stable belonging to Christian Windelbrough was discovered to be in flames. Neighbors at once rendered assistance, and a boy was sent to Firemen's Hall with the news. As soon as the alarm was given the firemen hastened to the place on Fifth South Street, between Third and Fourth East, but the stable and about a ton of lumber were destroyed. By vigorous efforts the residence of Mr. S. W. Darke was saved. A strong wind was blowing at the time, and the stable was in close proximity to Mr. Darke's house. The loss amounts to about $50. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The County Hospital.—The fine brick structure being erected on the State Road by Salt Lake County for the care of those dependent on the County for support is now up to the square and the timbers of the roof are being put in place. It is expected to be finished within sixty days. The location of the hospital is an excellent one. The building is substantial, well lighted and ventilated. All of the rooms, both in the upper and lower stories will be heated by steam, the intention being to dispense with the use of stoves or fires throughout the house, for the additional safety of the inmates. The surrounding grounds will be laid out and beautified, and as soon as practicable everything will be arranged to make the place as attractive and comfortable as possible for those who are placed there.

Parry's Literary Journal.—The June number of this popular home monthly is before us, filled with more than its usual quota of excellent reading matter, original and selected. The frontispiece is an excellent portrait of Governor West. The leading paper of this number is the conclusion of Apostle Moses' "Fletcher's" article on the "Persecutions of the Early Christians." Henry W. Kershaw contributes a very interesting sketch of the life of Sarah E. Carmichael—"The Lost Pleiades," several of whose poems are given in the article. "Will and Work" is a paper of much merit, and the story "Little Bel's Supplement" possesses more than usual interest, or two minor articles and the "Monthly Summary of Current Events" and the "Literary Notes" make up a number of this magazine, of which the publishers may well be proud.

First District Court.—The following first District Court items of yesterday, are gleaned from the Ogden Herald: "The case of the United States vs. John Bergan, charged with selling peaches, was continued for the term by consent of both sides." "Mr. A. J. Kershaw was asked to stand up and the court informed him of the nature of the indictment found against him for best and to which he had pleaded guilty. The Court asked Mr. Kershaw if he had anything to say, to which he answered that he had nothing to say. Mr. Kershaw replied as follows: 'Being a native born American citizen, I would say, as your honor already says, in the past year I have tried to live as such a citizen as to cause no offense against the United States. And without making such a promise, I will say, I will try in the future to be further trouble to the United States; and as I have done during the past eighteen months will live with my first wife.' The court was barred in thought for a few minutes, and then informed Mr. Kershaw that his sentence in his case would be deferred until 2 o'clock this afternoon." "Mr. Kershaw sat down and the Court announced, 'Draw a jury in the case of the United States against William Kershaw.' The witnesses in the case were called, and C. C. Richards, Esq., announced that he had no objection to change his plea to one of 'guilty.' This was done by the defendant, and the day for passing sentence." "At the afternoon session the case questioned Mr. Kershaw as to his course in the future and he promised to obey the law as construed by the courts." "His Honor then gave defendant the usual homily, though it was different in its substance from that which has been given and then suspended sentence."

THAT SWINDLE

The following communication has been received in reference to an article in the Evening News, headed "A number of parties having been swindled out of amounts paid Mr. Warnock on notes given to him for agricultural machinery." MARYSVILLE, Utah, May 25th, 1886. Editor Desert News: DEAR SIR:—I was surprised and grieved when I read your statement of the 22d inst, concerning my "swindling operations" as you term it. You have only heard one side of the business and I ask you to publish this statement.

May 1st, 1886, I made a report to the Williams Harvester Company through their agent, Mr. J. H. Burmaster, of all the money paid me on said Company's notes up to that date. The principal was $10,000, and the interest on the different payments was $2,000, amounting to $12,000. For this amount, together with other small items of account I settled with Mr. Burmaster by note, and gave collateral security. Prior to this settlement, the entire business was submitted to the Williams Harvester Company, and the collateral security described by Mr. Burmaster and they consented to my having my name placed to me.

At the time I executed a note in favor of Hoge & Burmaster for $12,000, in settlement of my notes, I provided for a return of the same, I then asked for the notes, and the same were paid in full and to see the endorsement on the books, I gave my name to the notes, and they were placed in my hands. I then gave Mr. Burmaster two dollars to pay postage on letters to the different parties.

A few days after the time of settlement I left Salt Lake City and have not returned since, and learned no news concerning the business until I saw your issue of the 22d inst. My report to Mr. Burmaster shows that I had no interest in the business on his note Nov. 1st, 1884. To this I added $200 interest and settled for the amount of the note.

If Mr. Burmaster had paid me any more, or if he had not, I would have been content directly or indirectly on the Williams Harvester Co's notes that I have not accounted for, I do not know where I see Mr. Burmaster has been used for the entire amount with 10 per cent. at my option, and I have no objection to my business with my customers as the Johnston Harvester Co's agent has been conducted in accordance with the provisions of my contract with said company as I understand it. All collections have been reported to them, I expect to be in the city in a few days, when I shall produce the documents, meet the issue and let the consequences follow.

Please favor my former customers as well as the writer by publishing the above, and oblige. Yours respectfully, R. WARNOCK.

We give place to the above so that if any injustice has been done to Mr. Warnock, he may be placed in a proper light. But we fail to see how his statement explains his transactions. It is a fact that the parties made payments for which they received no credit on the notes they had given. The note of Wm. Buxton, mentioned by Mr. Warnock, will serve as a sample. He admits having received $20 on the account, yet the note failed to show that anything had been paid, and the full amount, with interest and attorney fees was sued for and has to be paid. What became of the $20 perhaps Mr. Warnock knows. Mr. Buxton received no benefit from it. Other parties are in the same situation. The promissory notes were endorsed by Mr. Warnock and transferred to the Harvester companies, and the receipts given him for any payments are just so much waste paper. All of the money thus paid by those who bought the machines is lost, and the promissory notes call for their full value, with interest and cost.

NOTTINGHAM REUNION POSTPONED. The committee have reconsidered the action taken by them, in providing for a reunion of the Salt Lake Notingham Conference, which was to have taken place on the 14th inst., at Fuller's Hill (Garden). And on reflection concerning the scarcity of money in circulation, the general dullness of the times, the fact that many men are out of employment, and that it is a general time of mourning in some of the members of the church, through the persecutions now being endured by our brethren in bonds and exile, it has been concluded to postpone the contemplated reunion to a more suitable and convenient time. All arrangements made with railroad companies and others must therefore be considered as postponed indefinitely. The committee who have so kindly favored us will please accept our heartfelt thanks for their generosity and kindness. The members of the various committees will please take all proper steps to circulate this postponement in their respective localities, and when it shall be deemed prudent to renew our labors in this regard due notice will be given through the papers of our intention. The Ogden Herald and Territorial Enquirer will oblige if they will copy this notice.

GEORGE SPRINGFELLOW, GEORGE GODDARD, FREDSON A. EMERY, JOS. BULL, SR., C. W. STAYNES, W. W. WELLS, Making Committee. SALT LAKE CITY, June 3, 1886.

A PATRIARCH DEPARTED.

CHICAGO, May 30, 1886. Editor Desert News: A concourse of relatives and friends assembled at Chicago, to pay to their last respects to Patriarch Wm. Draper.

The good lines were blessed with 51 children, he was 79 years of age, and he died in a beautiful home spot on his son W. J. Draper's homestead. He was born in the town of Chaska, in Canada in 1807, and the preaching of Elder Blesser Miller and the late President Wm. W. Phelps, by repeated visits, he checked the history of the Church. He was a member of the Church, Salt Lake County, was its first pastor, and he called as well as all other positions entrusted to him he filled them with honor and integrity.

Under the supervision of Elder Ashton Hardy, the services were conducted. W. L. Draper appropriately read extracts from the life sketch of this father in Israel. By his request, Elder Wheelock preached a discourse of interest, truth and pathos. Elders Candland and Charles Kemp followed, the first in stirring vivid testimony of the restoration of the church, and the second in a most eloquent and patriotic address. Brother Draper was ordained a Bishop by appointment of President Taylor, and he held the position of Bishop of Cannon and Apostle Erastus Snow, at Moroni, in 1829.

In a beautiful and touching manner, the great work prepared by willing and loving hands was this shock of corn fully ripe laid away in peace. We wait the great day, when the marks were all that could be desired, yet the narrative of Father Draper was the most eloquent of them all, being the expression and testimony of one who had succeeded to the top of the great divide, and before he passed away leaves these milestone incidents to guide his posterity up the same steep and rugged pathway to the glory and honor he has achieved. (S. CAMPBELL, Secretary of the Convention.)

Survival of the Fittest. For some time past the question of purity in baking powders has formed quite a feature of newspaper discussions, and eminent chemists and philosophers have given opinions as to the ingredients which compose many of the articles of this kind. The result of investigations have shown down to the limit which awards the Royal Baking Powder Co. the honor of being several of the most distinguished scientists have testified to their conviction that no extraneous or objectionable matter enters into its composition. The Royal Baking Powder Company have achieved a world wide reputation for the success which has marked their preparation of certain of their baking powders. It is their aim to produce that they have eliminated all elements of impurity, and other ingredients, and present to the public a healthful and chemically pure article. Such widely known chemists as Henry, Morton, E. G. Love, H. A. Mott, Wm. McMurtrie and others have verified its superiority over other manufactures, and testified, through practical experience, to its excellence. It is well known to all who have used it, that it is, as shown by chemical analysis, the one "absolutely pure" baking powder made.

COLORADO NOTES. On Saturday, May 29, Mr. and Mrs. Rothwell, of Denver, were standing by a large house near the corner of the street, when a lightning bolt struck the house, which also entered the bodies of the man and woman, rendering them insensible. Pieces of the tree were thrown a distance of 200 feet.

On Deaver, on May 28, is sinking a well, oil was struck at a depth of 1,135 feet. The quantity was insufficient and the owner has concluded to continue the boring until he gets a satisfactory supply, if he has to go down 2,000 feet.

The murder of Joseph Whitney, the Deaver car driver, who was shot and killed on May 25th, near Aspen, two men named Maloney and Gill were charged with the crime. The bodies of the man and woman were buried in the morning, and the bodies of the man and woman were buried in the morning, and the bodies of the man and woman were buried in the morning.
