

H. M. McCARTNEY WITH UTAH FUEL.

Former Assistant Chief Engineer
Of Salt Lake Route Gets a
Good Thing

PACIFIC COAST SALES AGENT

Succeeds P. H. Brooks in San Francisco—Heavy Business Under The New Rate.

H. M. McCartney, formerly assistant chief engineer of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake road, has been appointed Pacific coast sales agent for the Utah Fuel company succeeding P. H. Brooks, resigned. His headquarters will be in San Francisco.

Since the reduction in the rate on commercial coal to California on the part of the Southern Pacific which is effective today the Utah Fuel company will ship in heavy consignments to San Francisco for domestic and steamship purposes and the position of Pacific coast sales agent will accordingly be a decidedly important one. Mr. McCartney will undoubtedly receive numerous congratulations from his friends here and elsewhere upon the selection. When he resigned from the Salt Lake Route he stated to the "News" that it was his intention, if possible, to get out of railroad work and settle down to some occupation that would not necessitate him having to rough it in construction camps as he has been doing almost continuously for the past 23 years.

O. S. L. PROMOTIONS.

General Move Up in Office of Auditor
McNitt Today.

T. P. Shepherd, general bookkeeper under General Auditor McNitt of the Oregon Short Line, has been promoted to a similar position in the local treasurer's office. Mr. Shepherd's position has been filled in the auditing department by the advancement of T. H. Eddicks, formerly in charge of freight statistics, this latter having been filled by promoting J. L. Clemmons.

RED LINE QUARTERS.

Offices Selected—J. W. Trewthella Resigns
From Rock Island Today.

Kent O. Keyes, agent for the Red Line, West Short Line, Jersey Central and Lake Shore Dispatch, has at last secured a location in this city and has leased quarters in room 544½ Block, west second south.

With the opening up of headquarters comes the announcement that J. W. Trewthella, traveling freight agent for the Rock Island-Pasco system, has resigned his position to take that of contracting freight agent under Mr. Keyes and henceforth will solicit business under the Red Line banner. "Johnny," as he is familiarly known throughout Utah and Idaho, is a hustler and so is Kent Keyes for that matter. The combination is calculated to stir up things generally in the hunt for business on Railroad Row.

NOT ON THE MENU.

Humorous Misunderstanding Occurs in The Rock Island Office.

There was a humorous incident in the local office of the Rock Island a couple of days ago, that is now being told on Railroad row. The joke is on George Bible, the popular young traveling passenger agent.

It appears that a young man entered the office and approaching the counter commenced to select some railroad folders. Thinking that he was a prospective ticket purchaser, Mr. Bible put on his most winning smile and approached him. "Are you going east?" he asked in dulcet tones. The young man addressed looked Mr. Bible over fiercely for a moment and then snapped: "Don't get so gay," continuing he said, "if I wanted to eat I would go to a restaurant." When the smoke cleared away it was forthcoming that the young man thought Mr. Bible had asked him whether he was going to eat the folders.

All's well that ends well. Bible sold him a ticket, and that's the main point.

SHEEP SHIPMENTS.

Big Rush on of Livestock to the Eastern Market.

Sheep shipments are at last beginning to move to the eastern market. The rush is such a strenuous one that the Oregon Short Line has had to assign some 800 cars behind with the orders. In this connection the Rock Island is taking care of patrons to the extent that 300 cars have been allocated in the Oregon Short Line yard at Colorado Springs ready for business. As soon as shipments are booked the local agency wires to the Springs with the result that the Rio Grande or the Midland sends the empties through in short order.

Electric Welder.

Local mechanics are much interested in the electric machine on exhibition at the world's fair, which welds the ends of steel rails so that they form one continuous rail. It was feared this lack of allowance for expansion and contraction would result in a disarrangement of rail seat and consequent loosening of spikes and possible derailment. But Manager Campbell of the Utah Light and Railway company, says that such fear has not been realized, but the cost of the appliance is such as to make its general introduction slow for the present. It does away with the use of fish plates entirely.

Met in the Narrows.

A freight train standing on a siding at Jordan Narrows was hit yesterday afternoon by another. An engine and caboose were pretty well used up, but no one was hurt.

ANOTHER INVASION.

Special trains of Odd Fellows Due to Come Through Salt Lake.

Two weeks from date when the Knights Templars will be returning from the coast to their homes Salt Lake will be in the throes of a double-headed invasion. The Templars going east will be here in force, while the Odd Fellows en route to attend the session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge in San Francisco, Sept. 19-24, will also be in Salt Lake westward.

The Odd Fellows of Utah will also congregate here to welcome John R. Goodwin of Atlanta, Ga., grand sire I. O. O. F., and John E. Cochran, general attorney for the Lake Erie & Western, another prominent Odd Fellow, who arrives here on the morning of the 14th. On this occasion the Oregon Short Line and the Rio Grande will run special trains of half fare passenger rate from all points in Utah, tickets good from the 15th to the 18th.

In connection with the trans-continental trip to attend the Sovereign Grand Lodge session on the coast, a very handsome souvenir from a Cincinnati press has been issued, which contains numerous half-tones of characteristic western scenes.

Large Export Order.

New York, Sept. 1.—Probably the largest single order for railroad equipment for export ever placed with an American manufacturer has just been closed. It comprises 40 freight cars and 34 passenger, sleeping and baggage cars for the Argentine government railroads.

The American manufacturers secured the orders in the face of strong competition on the part of British, German and Belgian manufacturers.

SPIKE AND RAIL.

General Agent Shattuck of the Baltimore & Ohio in Denver, is in the city today.

Senator W. A. Clark, president of the San Pedro, is expected to arrive in this city from Butte on his way east tomorrow morning.

H. M. Cushing, traveling passenger agent for the Denver & Rio Grande, leaves for San Francisco tomorrow with the local Knights Templar.

DAN MALONEY, HUMORIST.

Rock Island-Price General Agent Tells
Some New Good Stories.

Dan Maloney, general agent for the Rock Island at Pittsburgh, who has been staying in Salt Lake for a couple of days on his way home from the coast with his wife and two daughters, is a typical Irishman. He has been keeping the boys on Railroad Row awaking with laughter since his arrival in this city and seems to have an inexhaustible supply of new stories. He does not in the least mind telling them on himself or his fellow countrymen either, as the following samples will indicate.

Dan is the proud possessor of a glass eye and he tells with great glee an incident which happened to him some time ago in Chicago, where he was sharing room in a hotel with former Commander Agost Jones of the Rock Island at Cincinnati. Before going to bed Dan always takes out his eye and deposits it in a glass of water by his bedside. During the night Jones got up and substituted an empty tumbler for the fall one. When morning came Dan reached for his eye as usual, but he was horror stricken to find that the glass was empty. With a yell he grabbed a slipper and rushed to the room to where the unconscious Jones was snoring snoring. "You great big mutt, you, can't you see enough glass in sight without having to swallow my eye. And two eyes in your head enough without one in your stomach?" Jones awoke deeply aggrieved, but sized up the situation. "Why, I guess that you swallowed it yourself," he heard him snoring around in the night for a drink.

So earnestly did Jones plead that Maloney really thought he had swallowed his own glass eye, in fact he could feel it resting at the pit of his stomach. So distinctly that when the true solution of the mystery was forthcoming it took him hours to get over his scare. Mr. Maloney also tells two stories on other Irishmen. Pat came to Salt Lake and after awhile he wrote to his boss friend over in Cork to come. "Come at once," he said, "wages are good and work fine. Sell all you have and come over to me. I have a fine job. I am getting two and a half dollars for pulling down a Protestant church when the gum I would be pleased to do the job for nothing."

The other story is of an Irishman who had been told by his friend in America that one could pick up five-dollar gold pieces on Broadway. In due season Pat arrived and the first place he made a search for was Broadway. He walked along with his eyes on the ground and sure enough near Union Square he spied a bright $5 gold piece lying on the pavement. He made a dive for it and secured the coin. Further along he spied a blind man playing a fiddle, doing up to him he dropped the money into his tin cup with the remark, "Yes, had better take-a-see this beca-a-se, poor devil, yes can't see."

Amusements

Mr. Kyrie Bellow and his company arrived from the east this morning and appear at the Theater tonight. Mr. Bellow in "Raffles, the Amateur Crackman," assisted by splendid typical Liebler & Co. support, including E. M. Holland as Capt. Bedford, the detective, is an attraction that is certain to prove fascinating to nearly every element in the community. During its 300 nights' run at the Princess and Savoy Theaters, New York, last season (and, by the way, it was the only drama to remain in the metropolis that long last year), society set its stamp of approval on the play; and members of the Metropolitan Detective bureau and police force were at every performance. Weber and Fields contributed their share to the fame of the attraction by burlesquing it, and editorial writers and reporters frequently used the character of the gentleman thief, to "point a moral and adorn a tale."

Madeleine Lucette Ryley, in whose play, "Mice and Men," Charles Frohman is to present Henry Miller at the Salt Lake Theater on Tuesday evening, Sept. 6, as well as "Joseph Estranged," on Sept. 5 and 7, has been conspicuously successful with her pen both in this country and in England. "Mice and Men" ran for fully a year in London and New York and it did much to popularize productions that are wholesome in story and dainty in lines and situations.

The complaint alleges that on March 21, 1904, Saunders came into the possession of $2,333, which belonged to the Prudential Insurance company of America, of which he was the agent, and it is charged that he appropriated said funds to his own use. The complaint is sworn to by P. A. Mangum, the Utah agent of the company, who says that there are several other cases of a similar character against the defendant.

This has at this time of fall, and the summer of 1904, and a thing of the past. A year ago at this time, the weather was hot and stifling, which condition continued through the first 10 days of the month. The sun crosses the equator on the 21st inst. when days and nights are equal all over the world.

There was a slight fall of rain last night which cooled the atmosphere, so that by morning the air was good for sleeping. Yesterday was a day of moderately high temperatures and today the weather is irreproachable. A rising mercury is promised for tomorrow, but up in Wyoming there will be a frost.

Mayor Morris today approved a number of matters passed upon by the city council on Monday afternoon, among which is the resolution introduced by E. H. Davis, giving the drivers of the sprinkling carts a half-holiday on Labor day. Black's ordinance requiring all vehicles on the streets of the city keep to the right under penalty of a fine, was also approved.

Adjutant General Burton and other prominent national guard officers consider the prospects for a local rifle association as very good, and think there is every reason why one should be one. The main object and purpose of such an association is to stir up as strong an interest as possible in target practice and the development of an accurate vision and quick and ready judgment, as well as an interest generally in building up of a strong national guard.

On a recent Sunday, Organist A. H. Peabody of St. Mark's cathedral officiated at St. Stephen's Episcopal church in Boston. While playing, he suddenly noticed the presence of J. Walcott Thompson of this city in the congregation, which made him miss a key and a half in the Hallelujah chorus. Mr. Peabody got away from the organ as soon as he could and instituted a sharp search for his fellow citizen from Salt Lake, but the latter had slipped away. He had not noticed who was playing the organ, consequently did not stop to shake hands and extend any highball courtesies.

A UTAH ACTRESS ALMOST DROWNED

Thrilling Experience of Miss
Blanche Kendall Thomas at Manhattan Beach.

CAUGHT WHEN TIDE WAS IN.

Strong Father to Her Rescue and She
Was Carried Ashore in Safety
—Family Not Notified.

(Special to the "News.")

New York, Sept. 1.—Up to the time she came to New York, Blanche Kendall, the leading lady of the Eben Holden company was at the impression that all water is alike, but she discovered that there is a great difference between swimming and being on exhibition in different places, when she went into the ocean at Manhattan beach for her first swim in the Atlantic yesterday.

Miss Kendall comes from Salt Lake City. Out there the stretch of water that corresponded to the ocean in the Great Salt Lake. It is not very far to know how to swim in much water as the waters of the ocean, and she was all right.

Blanche Kendall, the daughter of H. K. Thomas, the well known business man. The latter part of the family name was dropped for professional reasons and the former retained. The first information Mr. Thomas had of the thrilling experience of his daughter was that when he received from her, when the dispatch was handed to him. He was considerably shocked, but was thankful to know that the young lady was not drowned.

Fortunately, her father, who was just as she was almost exhausted
