

New Year's day was a busy one in all respects, many social events of a private nature, as well as more public ones taking place. A large number of people kept open house in an informal way, while many larger and more formal events helped to make the day a notably bright one.

Gov. and Mrs. Cutler kept open house during the afternoon and evening, and the rooms were thronged throughout the hours, the host and hostess being assisted by Mrs. Jennie Grayson and Miss Christman. The rooms were decorated in the holiday reds and greens, flowers being interspersed with small festoons of red carnations made the rooms attractive, and the tully and score cards were done in the holiday colors. The guests were Misses Katherine and Annie Adams, Carrie and Mary Marshall, Helen Hartley, Eliza Dye, Margaret Walker, Mercy Lewis, Clara and Marion White, Aileen McMillan, Isabel Jones, Lena Brodus, Frances Graham, Carol Evans, Mary Dyer, Belle Bird, Messrs. Martin and Walker, Cheesman, Harold White, Dee Stackman, Darwin Richardson, Harold Peck, Lawrence Graham, Harold Hartley, Center Walker.

Mrs. and Mrs. Pendleton received informally at the post on Monday, the officers and their ladies with many others being present.

A large affair of Monday night was the reception given by Rabbi and Mrs. Charles Freund in honor of their guests Mrs. and Miss Opendorfer of Ohio. A profusion of palms, potted plants, vines and flowers were artistically arranged in the rooms and refreshments were served with a bevy of young girls assisting.

The members of St. Paul's choir were entertained on Monday by Miss Berkebeck and Mrs. H. H. H. a musical game being the feature of the evening. The rooms were exceedingly pretty in their decorations of the red-pepper tree, branches and berries being used in profusion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Melan, Dr. and Mrs. B. Young, Mrs. Grant Brown and Mrs. W. A. Lee were among those who kept open house on Monday, a number of intimate friends assisting in receiving and serving.

A delightful event enjoyed by one of the younger sets on Monday was the card and dancing party given by Malcolm and Paul Keyser at their home. Festoons of holly and evergreen and vines of red carnations made the rooms attractive, and the tully and score cards were done in the holiday colors. The guests were Misses Katherine and Annie Adams, Carrie and Mary Marshall, Helen Hartley, Eliza Dye, Margaret Walker, Mercy Lewis, Clara and Marion White, Aileen McMillan, Isabel Jones, Lena Brodus, Frances Graham, Carol Evans, Mary Dyer, Belle Bird, Messrs. Martin and Walker, Cheesman, Harold White, Dee Stackman, Darwin Richardson, Harold Peck, Lawrence Graham, Harold Hartley, Center Walker.

An informal reception was held on Monday night by Rev. and Mrs. P. A. Simkin, the room being effectively decorated for the occasion and the time being delightfully spent.

Perhaps one of the largest receptions of Monday was the given by members of the Eastern Star order, a large number calling at the Masonic hall where a committee were in charge to dispense the hospitalities of the day.

Among those who received on New Year's day were Mr. and Mrs. Heber Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harding and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pitt of Manila, the trio of couples receiving their friends informally at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee. The rooms were bright with the holiday reds and greens and a number of intimate friends assisted in entertaining, among them Mrs. Charles Shields of Park City, Mrs. William Cleland, Mrs. E. O. Froeland, Miss Edna Dwyer and the Misses Orma and Oma Banks.

Miss Florence Kimball was guest of honor at a delightful tea on Monday afternoon given by Miss Jennie-Bud Geddes previous to her departure for Boston to continue her musical studies. The parlors were decorated in Christmas colors and emblems, and in the dining room pink and green were used with pretty effect, the centerpiece for the table being a mound of carnations, with sprays of smilax extending to the corners. Assisting the hostess were Miss Elizabeth Dunbar and Miss Alice Goodwin, and among the guests of the afternoon were many of the college boys who are home for the vacation.

Miss Winnifred Brice entertained at a delightful card party on Monday night, her guests numbering about 40. The parlor was decorated in red and white, and the library in Japanese style, a feature being a pretty booth in which sat a fortune teller who foretold events of the new year for each guest. Assisting were Mrs. George T. Brice, Mrs. Herbert Chamberlin and Mrs. Ernest Anstee.

Miss Cosgriff entertained a number of friends on Tuesday in honor of Miss Elizabeth Cosgriff.

Wednesday witnessed many bright events, one of the largest being the dancing party given by Capt. and Mrs. Woodward at the post, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Judge. The dancing hall was festooned in evergreens, and all about were palms and potted plants.

Supper was served in the reception hall, the table having a centerpiece of American Beauty roses, with silver candlesticks in rose shades at each corner, while a dainty spread of rich Cluny lace covered the board. Assisting were Gen. and Mrs. Milton Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Judge, Capt. and Mrs. George Jamerson, Maj. and Mrs. Edward Pendleton, Capt. and Mrs. S. D. Sturgis, Capt. and Mrs. Perry and Miss Katherine Judge.

Another large and delightful event of Wednesday was the musical reception given by Miss Mary Olive Gray, the studio being prettily decorated with pink carnations and festoons of smilax hung in chains about the low shelves and windows, while the darkened rooms were lit with candles in graceful holders. In the rear room the Japanese idea prevailed, fans, lanterns and tiny Japanese umbrellas being used with artistic effect. Here tea was served from Japanese teapots and cups.

THE ALL OVER LACE WAIST.

The combination of two or more laces, each of different weight and pattern, is strongly marked in the later productions, and especially so in the separate waist of dressy intent. Here a white Venice is mounted over a white chiffon cloth foundation, and a very elaborate yoke effect is given by the use of Valenciennes medallions which surround lattice work medallions of narrow white taffeta strips, this lattice work and medallions running well down over the shoulder line and forming the high collar supported by tiny featherbones, and also the bell shaped cuff of the double puffed sleeve. The closing, as in all waists of this character, is in the back.
