

AT the complimentary collation at the opening of the Walker House yesterday, the very best and most sensible speech of the afternoon was that made by Captain Selwyn, in response to the toast of the Chief Justice of the Territory, to England and the English. Con-sidering that among the guests at the table were several of the chief federal officials of the Territory, and that the sentiments of most of them and the manner of their expression, in refer-ence to the community at large, were harsh, coarse, somewhat passionate, and in rather ill taste, the temperate
