

Prosecution Announces That it Expects to Conclude This Week.

DEFENSE MUCH SURPRISED.

Trial to be Resumed Tuesday Morning --- Not Likely That Defense Will Open Until Next Week.

Roise, Ida., June 15 .- In support of Its case against William D. Haywood. charged with the murder of Frank Steunenberg, the state today submitted to the jury the testimony of an even dozen witnesses tending to confirm several details of the story of Harry Orchard, and at adjournment announced that it would close its case next week. The announcement as to the conclusion of the prosecution's case was a sur-prise to the defense and was very cleary pleasing to the prisoner and his counsel. It came in response to a re-quest from the defense for notice from contact. It canno in response to a re-quest from the defense for notice from the state as to the time it should as-semble its witnesses, and Senator Borah, who spoke for his side, gave next Wednesday as the time. He later explained, however, that he had given an early day in order to avoid delay, and as the trial now stands adjourned until Tuesday morning, the prosecution would not be able to conclude before the end of the week. Among today's witnesses were former Gov, Peabody and his daughter. Miss Cora Peabody, but neither was on the stand very long. It was anticipated that the defense would extendedly cross-examine Gov, Peabody and open the entire contention involved in the Colorado labor law, but a noon recess cross-examine Gov, Peabody and open the enthe contention involved in the Colorado labor law, but a noon recess conference of the united counsel for the defense decided that it would be better Nactics to refrain from doing so. Against a sustained fire of objection and motions to strike out and along a record paragraphed with exceptions by the defense to the rulings of Judge Wood, the prosecution succeeded in Se-curing the admission of much evidence bearing on points of Orchard's tale. First there was a showing that Steve Adams, stranded at Ogden in June, 1963, on the way home from California, where, it is alloged, he went to kill Bradley, sent a telegram to Haywood at Denver for money. Next it shown by the originals of six drafts on New York bunks, five of which were purchased at the First Na-tional bank of Denver, by Haywood himself, that during 1904, 1905 and 1906 money was frequently remitted by Hay-himself, that during 1904, 1905 and 1906 money was frequently remlitted by Hay-wood to L. J. Simpkins, former mem-ber of the executive hoard of the West-ern Federation of Miners, who, as "Simmons" came to Caldwell with Har-ry Orchard and assisted in the first at-tempt to kill Steunenberg. The last draft, sent in January, after the mur-der, was cashed by Mrs. Simpkins, pre-sumably after Simpkins had fied. After that came the production of

After that came the production of the shattered and twisted fragments of the device by which the Vindicator bomb was set off and this led to an extended inquiry by the defense into conditions and events centering about Cripple Creek during strike and mar-tial law days. The defense tried to show that there had been unwaranted deportation of union miners, that the stores had been looted, that agents of the mine owners had committed acts of violence and incited others to violence, that union miners had been flogged and driven from their homes and that peace officers controlled by the mine owners had employed depu-ties who were gun-fighters, thugs and riminals criminals, Next the state completed the legal history of the Peabody bomb, first by showing that it was dug out of the ice in the Coeur d'Alene river, then that it was brought to Boise and taken on the coeur descine by identifying its casing in court by the plumber who made it. The Peabody family was present during this testimony and watched the bomb cover every moment that it was displayed before the witstand. Then the state once more took up Then the state once more took up the general thread of Orchard's istory and successively offered the testimony of Miss Peabody to the incidents re-lated by Orchard where he and Steve Adams followed the Peabody carriage bome, the evidence of Gov, Peabody that he had seen Orchard in Canyon City and that he had repaired his home as Orchard aestified, testimony show-ing that at various timos in 1905 Hayas Orchard aestified, testimony show-ing that at various times in 1905 Hay-wood, Petilbone and Orchard were seen together, a general confirmation by William Vaughn of the trip that Or-chard and Vaughn made in Canyon City, and lastly, proof that Steve Adams was at Pocatello in September, presumably to meet and throw "Petti-bone dope" at a carlead of non-union miners.

There was some laughter at this new charge against Orchard. The prosecution, continuing its tac-tics of jumping from place to place in corroborating Orchard, called as the next witness, George W. Forty-five people were asleep in the various apartments at the time, but all escaped injurg. The outrage is laid to the "Black tadd." In furtherance of a plot to extort 1.000 from Bruscato. The explosion made a fearful noise, and people came running from all directions, while the frightened residents of the building jumped out of windows in their frantic scramble for safety. A large bore for powder was found in the rear of the building, and a man was seen running from there immediately after the alarm. He was pursued and fired at by several policemen, but escaped. Since May 30, when the last of a series of letters was received by Bruscato, there policemen have guarded the house each night. Except for an hour when the duals were changed, vigilance was unre-lated. It was during this time that the outrage was committed. Simplins is named in the indictment with Haywood. Have Made Not Only a Good But An Advantageous Bargain.

Paris, June 16 .- While political coniderations of a high order contributed to the new France-Japanese entenuie, there is no longer any doubt that the substinitial quid pro quo givon by France was the promise of access to the French market for future Japanese loans. Japan did not need French guarantee for Korea and Formosa, but a Japanese guarantee for Indo-China was worth a great deal to France and she was willing to pay the price demanded.

Japan, according to the confidenal statements made by some of her ighest representatives in Europe, ill need something like 5,000,000,000 francs ($1,000,000,000) within the Lext few years to convert her present high rate loans and to furnish the capital necessary for industrial and nimercial development in Manchuria and Korea. While the money markets of the world are at present unfavorable to flotations, Japan has succeeded in insuring the assent of the French government to the placing of her loans when the opportunity ar-It is regarded as a big achievement

Besides, as a matter of ct, the dread of Japanese aggression Indo-China has haunted the Quai

She was a party with Russia and Germany to the tripartite greement recement which forced Japan to re-equish the truits of her victory over hina obtained in the treaty of Shim-noseki, and there has always existed tear that Japan would some day the her revenge. kio. Subsequent events, however, de-cided Japan to strike Russia instead of France. There was a critical moment dur-ing the Fash da incident when France and England seemed on the verge of war. France was then great-ly alarmed lest Japan would selze the opportunity and strike, and hurried preparations were made to defend the Chinese colony. There was another crists in the relations between France and Japan during the Russo-Japanese war, when France stretched her acu-trality to the limit in favor of her ally by allowing Rojestvensky's fleet to shelter for weeks in Cameron bay. So keenly did the French govern-ment at that time feel that it may have given just cause for reprisal, that after peace was made by the treaty of Portsmouth, and Japanese entered the market for a 500,000,000 yer loan, M. Rouvier, then minister of finance, deliberately braved the dis-satisfaction of Russia by insisting up-on the admission of part of the loan to the Paris bourse. To those who complained that it
