Some of Those Who Captured Good Ones at the Big Event at Saltair.

FICKLE GODDESS OF CHANCE.

Several Things That She Handed Out To Her Devotees in the Grand Shuffle.

The committee of the Real Estate association in charge of the distribution of the prizes drawn yesterday at Saltair, experienced a most strenuous time this morning straightening out the various claims. Owing to the rush incident in getting the numbers in type at an early hour this morning there were several typographical errors in the list printed in the morning papers, all of which did not tend to pour oil on the troubled waters. Then there was a wad from the man who had drawn a season ticket to a local place of amusement and wanted to leave town. Mrs. E. Thomas, who has never experienced a day's sickness, drew a cure for rheumatism in the form of an electrical contrivance. F. C. Boulger, who never drinks anything stronger than mineral water, pulled down a quart bottle of stimulant. Mrs. H. Clark, who does not believe in strong drink, caught a $63 cologne in the shuffle, while several boys became the proud possessors of certificates entitling them to a $100 rebate on real estate purchased within the next 30 days. But that is the way with the fickle goddess of chance, she invariably creates trouble.

TRACKAGE FIGHT IS ON IN EARNEST

The fight between the Rio Grande Western and Oregon Short Line Railroad companies over a right of way for trackage over Fifth West street near Seventh North is on in earnest today before Judge Morse. Both companies claim a right of way and both are determined to secure possession of the street. Early last Sunday morning while the Rio Grande Western men were quietly and quickly laid a track on the street in controversy. The watchman who saw the Rio Grande men at once got out a restraining order and had Judge Morse sign it about 5 o'clock Sunday morning in order to stop the work of the Rio Grande men.

A large number of witnesses were present at the hearing today, which is merely a preliminary round to determine whether or not a temporary injunction would stand. It is contended by the Rio Grande Western that the city council granted it a franchise for a double track over the street in question in order to approach the new depot and that it accepted the franchise and has the right of way because there can be no more than two tracks on the street.

The Oregon Short Line claims that it has a 400-foot right of way from the United States government granted to the predecessor of the company, and that this right of way includes Fifth West street which is not opened up as far as Seventh North. The land was public domain at the time of the grant and was later entered upon by a man named E. W. Chatterley. The company claims that that entry was illegal and hence its grant is still effective. The hearing had not been concluded at 3 o'clock this afternoon.
