REVISING JOURNAL.

Committee Appointed by House of Representatives Hard at Work.

The committee appointed by the late House of Representatives to revise the House journal, and which consists of Representatives McGregor of Iron county, and Axton of Salt Lake, and Chief Clerk Steele, is making Herculean efforts to complete its task in as short time as is compatible with good work. John Axton said this morning that the committee got to work at 7:30 the midnight oil but the twinkle in his eye belied his sincerity.

The only mistake of any moment that emmittes has so far discovered is connection with the McMillan bill, minutes of January 31st record hat the Speaker signed House bill No 8 (the compulsory vaccination measire), and further down on the same page is recorded the fact that the bill returned from the Senate, so that if the Speaker signed the bill as the minutes show he must have gone to the Sepate chamber to do the act one which, of course, would have been highly irregular, and, in fact, impossible under the circumstances. The real fact is that Minute Clerk Clawson had inserted the minutes in the journal, not in the order that the facts happened.

DEATH OF WILLIAM H. FOLSOM. THE "NEWS" DURING

Pioneer Architect, Builder and Citizen Dies at His Home Last Idoight-Preparations to Celebrate His 86th Birthday-Knew He Would Not See It.

William H. Folson died at his home | heart of the turmoil, the death and des in this city last midright at the age truction that raged in Nauvoo and no danger, threat or deprivation shook his of 86. His death is the termination of an active life in which much was acished. His skill and energy are expressed in the most sacred and enduring edifices of Utah, and for all time his name will be held in love by many and in honor by all.

William H. Folsom was born at Portsmouth, N. H., in March, 1815, and if he had lived until next Monday he would have reached his eighty-sixth perfected the plans. unliestone. As late as yesterday preparations were being made to celebrate MOVED TO HONOLULU.

Tom Fitch This Time Takes Up His Abode in Hawaii.

As announced in the "News" some time ago Hon. Thomas Fitch has again gathered up his things and again gathered up his things and struggled with asthma but he never the anniversary of his birth by his descendants, but he assured them that he would not live to see that day. He was conscious of the work of dissolution and contemplated the near proximity of death as serenely as though it were only sleep that was awaiting him. For twenty-five years he has struggled with asthma but he never him. For twenty-five years he has struggled with asthma but he never yielded until the actual hand of death had taken all of his vitality. Within the hour of his death he sat up in bed and asked to be dressed, and finally sank back through shear exhaustion, and quietly awaited the end.

He moved to Buffalo with his parents when he was a boy. When about twenty-five years of age be heard a "Mormon" Elder preach and was converted at once. He was a courageous man morelly and physically and be tais, act he was ostracised by his oplo. He took his family and moved Nauvoo and established himself as architect and builder. He assisted fealty to the people with whom he had cast his lot. He was expelled from Nauvoo at the time of the general exo-dus and settled at Keoukuk, He subsequently moved to Council Bluffs and in 1860 came on to Utah. His ability as an architect and builder was soon required by Brigham Young. While it was the genius of the great Pioneer leader that conceived the wonderful Tabernacie it was William Folsom who took the suggestions of his chief and perfected the plans. While others scouted the idea of the structure Fol-som had faith in it, and as a consequence he has associated his name in-separably with a building that stands as separably with a building that stands as one of the world's centers of interest and curlosity. He was the architect and superintendent of construction of the Manti Temple, and was an able assistant in the construction of all of the temples. He was the designer of the Salt Lake Theater and many other buildings that are to this day admired for their architectural grace and durablitty.

He was the head of the firm of Folsom and Romney for years. The firm is now Taylor, Romney and Armstrong. now Taylor, Romney and Armstron William H. Folsom was always useful man. As late as 1898 and 1899 he acted as building inspector in this city, and he performed that office as he did all others in his life, with ability. One year ago he was surrounded by 105 of his descendants, who gathered to felicitate him on his $5th birthday. and although he reached the shadow of another birthday no gathering was needed to keep green the love his chil-

It is not often that a teacher complains at receiving new and additional students. But the constant additions to the Sunday school class is getting troublesome, and I must beg parents to make up their minds one way or the ther, and let their children either join at once, or forego the training for this year, in justice to themselves, the children and the class—as well as icher. It is unpleasant, almost imble, to refuse admission to them as ey apply, with beaming faces, for en. liment. To refuse means that even year they cannot get into the 16X1 lasses with their little companions tho now attend, as this year's classes will be separate from those started next year if new ones are started at all. Over six hundred are now in attendance over half of whom have joined uring the past ten weeks. The class taving been divided into two sections. ere is room for another hundred in ch class. But the year is passing, and we are lvancing beyond the reach of begin-rs comprehending the work. Our ets and excursions for the spring concerts and excursions for the spring and summer are being planned, and we must know the exact number belonging in order to arrange for transportation, etc. And we must have the children now

Two excursions, and two concerts are now being arranged for. And when the little folks begin to get worked up over them there will be many sore little hearts at being refused admission. Parents, why are you so dilatory? If you are going to have your children in these classes at all, why not in time to get the chief benefits? Sabbath school teachers and superintendents doubtless feel that they have done their duty already, but I will ask them once more for a final for this year all take up the matter again next Sunday morning, and in the several schools and also in every class impress it upon the little folks to start the following week or give up the idea of starting at all, and spare us the refusal of them after the first of

Marshal Ramsey yesterday received box of the material, and all who saw it pronounced it first-class. It differs, apparently, in no particular from the coal on the markets. The development of a coal mine in southern Idaho would be of inestimable benefit to all. People who understand conditions, markets, etc., state that coal, if found so close to a railway as the Oakley beds, would be put on the market at much less than the present price, and bring a handsome profit to the owners. There are no hard conditions to guard against, the winble to keep a railway open at all sea-sons. It looks now as though the Cassia county find would develop into a

He had not anticipated such a testimonial of regard on his return and the spectacle well-nigh overcame him. The program, though Impromptu, was very entertaining. The feature of the evening was the presentation of a fine upholstered chair to the Bishop from the ward. Apostle John Henry Smith presented the chair in a felicitious speech. GONE TO SEE ABOUT IT. Utah Sheepmen Are Frightening the Idaho Exclusion Law.

Jesse M. Smith, president of the Utah Wool-Growers' association, left today for Boise, Idaho, for the purpose of getting relief through the Federal courts from the Idaho law prohibiting Utah sheep from being driven into that State, Mr. Smith will seek to have an injunction issued against the Idaho au-thorities to prevent them from execut-ing the prohibitory law. The Utah sheepmen say that the law is unjust because it excludes the healthy Utah sheep as well as those that are af-flicted with the scab. They also affirm that while the law is ostensibly to pro-tect the Idaho sheep from the scab, its real purpose is to protect the Idaho ranges against Utah herds.

BRAKEMAN KILLED.

J. F. Battle Loses His Life Beneath the Wheels of a Freight Train. J. F. Battle, an Oregon Short Line

brakeman, was killed at American Fork yesterday afternoon while setting out a car on No. 27. While in the act of uncoupling the car he slipped and fell beneath the wheels of the freight train. When the train was stopped it was found that the unfortunate man had received injuries which were fatal. severed; in addition he received inter-nal injuries. Conductor Fred Meakin, acting under instructions, placed the sufferer upon a special under the care of an American Fork doctor and the train was started for Salt Lake, but Battle breathed his last ere Lehi Junction was reached.

The dying man after being tenderly picked up by his comrades regained consciousness just long enough to tell how the accident occurred. He said that he went between the cars to uncouple them and in order to do so at-tempted to step on the brakebeam of the car. The beam, however, was on the inside of the front wheels, and as bore his weight on it it swung back, throwing him under the moving train.

The body was brought to Salt Lake, and is now at Evans' undertaking parlors, where it will be held pending we from the relatives of the young man.

The dead man was formed man. The dead man was formerly sten-ographer to Master Mechanic Tollerton of the Oregon Short Line, which posi-tion he held until about a month ago, when he asked for some outside em-ployment as the confinement in the office did not agree with his health. He came originally from Bluefields, Va., and his family is at the present time located at Washington, D. C. His mother was notified of the sad affair

The young man was universally liked and respected by his associates, who feel considerably overcome by the sad fate of the young brakeman.

The board of education met in the office of O. W. Moyle last evening in committee of the whole to again consider the school problem under the new aspect that the recent law has effeeted. The absent members were Messrs Walker, Bamberger and Geoghegan, and the first consideration was the mat-ter of notifying the teachers in the event that the schools will have to close in April. According to the contracts the teachers must have thirty notice before they can be put out of employment, and as the finds on hand will only keep them going for about another month they thought that it was about time to send the notices. There was a little difference of opinion as to how to word the notice, and after some discussion the matter went over till next Thursday.

The members feel confident that Governor Wells will sign the school tax bill, as he has applied to the board for a statement of its financial The amount required is $31,000, which could be raised with an additional tax surance that the county commissioners would levy a 4-mill tax for the county, it would obviate the necessity of taking
