

CHARLES O. LEVEY NOW ON TRIAL.

Stranger From Kansas Charged With Housebreaking.

ENDEAVORS TO PROVE ALIBI

Police Summoned as Witnesses
Fall to Appear in Court—His Honor Inquires Into It.

Charles O. Levey is being tried before Judge Stewart and a jury on a charge of housebreaking today. The information against Levey is that he broke into the house of E. T. Palmer at 1523 south West Temple on Sept. 23, and stole a quantity of clothing and other things valued at $14.33, the property of E. T. Palmer. Levey is being defended by Attorney D. B. Richards.

The defense is an alibi, the defendant claiming that he does not even know the house of Palmer which he is said to have broken into. His story is that he fell in with a man who gave him a hard luck story, and whom he fed for several days at different restaurants. He accounts for having been found in possession of some of Palmer's property by saying that the man gave them to him. Defendant says that he was entirely ignorant of where the man got the articles of clothing etc., which he gave to him, and was entirely ignorant of the fact that they had been stolen.

Levey stated that he came here from Larned, Kas., and was a member of the Methodist church. Officers Gillespie, Sperry and Brown had been subpoenaed as witnesses for the state, but did not appear when called and the trial was delayed a half hour while the deputy sheriff searched the officers named with a bench warrant. Before the court took a recess this morning Judge Stewart summoned Sheriff Naylor and asked him to explain. The sheriff said that according to a time-honored custom officers were never personally served with summonses, but that they were left with the desk sergeant and notices posted on the notice board that the officers were required to appear in such and such a court.

The court informed the sheriff that he would not be responsible for any such arrangement and that hereafter officers must be personally served the same as other persons. He cautioned the sheriff to see that a recurrence of this laxity did not happen.

SENT TO REFORM SCHOOL.

Fred Mosier, the 14-year-old incorrigible, was yesterday committed by Judge Stewart to the Reform school. The boy has been sentenced before, but a suspension of sentence only seemed to be mistaken leniency in his case, and his parents' patience had at last given out.

SUES STREET CAR CO.

Thomas Winger wants $10,000 damages on account of accident. The street railway has again been made defendant in a damage suit. This time Thomas Winger is doing the suing, and he wants $10,000 for personal injuries, and $100 for the destruction of his tie by the car on North Third street, between Second and Third West on September 11. Besides, Winger asks for $25, which he claims to have invested in doctor bills.

THREE OPINIONS.

State Supreme Court renders decision upon appeals. Three opinions were handed down by the Supreme court today. In the case of C. F. and F. C. Loof-bourne, appellants, vs. Joann W. and Roy P. Hicks, the court rendered the decree of the district court is ordered set aside, and it is directed that the court enter findings and decree in favor of the appellants, and that they have a lien for $125 with interest upon certain real estate owned by the Hicks. The opinion is written by Chief Justice Miner, the other members of the court concurring.

An opinion, written by Justice Barth and concurred in by his brothers of the Supreme bench, affirms the judgment of the lower court in the case of F. W. Cowley, vs. H. Child, Eugene Peyton and J. H. Weldon, appellants, vs. J. Welsh and the Huntsman Copper Mining company. This action was brought to recover damages for the removal of the buildings and improvements from certain mining claims. The Supreme court holds that the decisive question is whether the respondents had the right under their contract to remove the buildings and track during the term and while in possession of the mining claims and the court finds no reversible error in the ruling of the lower court.

The third and last case passed on is that of Jesse Reynolds, convicted of having been intimate with a girl under the age of consent. The retrial was sought on a mere technicality, that no information against the defendant was filed by the district attorney instead of the county attorney. The Supreme court finds that Reynolds' conviction was lawful. The opinion is written by Justice Barth, Justices Miner and Baskin concurring.

To Enforce Judgment.

The Richardson & Boynton company is suing the Utah Stone and Hardware company to enforce a judgment for $388.57 rendered in the circuit court of Cocon county, Illinois, on March 11, 1901.

Title Quiet.

Decree Recommended.

Referee Eldredge today took testimony in the divorce suit brought by Annie Houston against her husband, Neil McK. Houston, and will recommend that the court grant the decree. Should this be done the couple will have been twice married and twice separated by the law.

Mrs. Houston, who was represented by Attorney Cyrus G. Gatrell, testified that she was married the last time to the defendant on October 14, 1900, and that he left her for another woman. At the time he had given her since their marriage was $20. She said that her husband had said that he did not marry her to provide for her, but merely to keep her from marrying any one else. She was divorced from him before on the grounds of cruelty and because he would not provide for herself and children. He had promised to do better but had failed to keep his word.

Mrs. Houston's testimony was corroborated by that of her son, Neil, a lad of 19 years. He said that his father made $3 to $4 a day in the Diamondville mines when he was not drunk.

COURT NOTES.

The case of George W. Lambourne vs. John Hallin was set for trial for December 9.

The case of G. W. Lambourne vs. the Highland Boy Gold Mining company was today stricken from the calendar of the civil department of the district court.

Trial of Hirschboon, Mack vs. Nelden-Judson was brought to an end today by the court granting a non-suit to the cross-complaint and instructing the jury to find a verdict for plaintiff, which was done in the amount of $348.90, the amount sued for.

The case of Victor Pinot, one of the Frenchmen who were arrested last summer for living on Commercial street without any visible means of support, and who was bound over to the district court by Judge Timmony on a charge of vagrancy and put under $200 bond, was finally disposed of by Judge Marks today. The defendant withdrew his former plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy. The court fined him $100, ordering the clerk to retain the amount out of the cash bond.

THE CASE IS NOW SETTLED

Morrison, Merrill & Co. vs. Bingham Tunnel Company.

Court Orders Claims of Smith and Gee, Laborers, to Be Satisfied First.

Trial of the case of Morrison, Merrill & Co., vs. the Bingham Tunnel company et al., is going on before Judge Hall today. The suit is brought by Morrison, Merrill & Co., against the Bingham Tunnel company to foreclose on a mechanic's lien for $879.40. The Salt Lake Hardware company also has a mechanic's lien for $1,933.83, and Joseph Y. Smith and Charles Gee have liens for labor of $488 respectively as superintendent and cook at the mine. W. S. Henderson has a judgment for $382.13, the Salt Lake Electric Supply company for $1,357.40, McCornick & Co. for $2,362; J. M. Marriott for $379.45; F. N. Gifford for $17,265, and Dey & Street for $4,000, and all these claimants file counter claims against which the Bingham Tunnel company is in default. The suit is to establish the priority of the various judgments and liens.

There is quite an array of counsel engaged in the trial. The plaintiffs are represented by J. M. Bowman, J. Y. Smith and Charles Gee by George Nye, J. M. Marriott by S. McDowell, McCornick & Co. by Zano & Rogers, F. N. Gifford by H. L. Hoppaugh, Dey & Street by J. E. Bannberger and the Bingham Tunnel company by W. H. Brummel, W. S. Henderson by Stephens & Smith, and the Salt Lake Electric Supply company by W. R. Hutchinson.

The foreman named in the examination of E. E. Lamson, the book-keeper, and a stockholder in the mining company. Judge McDowell objected to Charles Gee's claim under a mechanic's lien for services as a cook, which he argued, could not be classed as work done for the preservation or development of a mine or lode. As to Gee's claim as night watchman the judge said he did not object to that, although he did believe that that even could come under the mechanic's lien law.

The court rendered judgment, ordering a decree of foreclosure and sale of the property to satisfy first the claims of Smith and Gee, laborers; second, Morrison, Merrill and company, and Salt Lake Hardware company, material men. In the third class come all holders of lien holders in the order of the dates of their judgments.

The officers found five boys and two girls living together in an old shack behind the Board of Trade building, and took them all to jail. The officers were reduced against them this morning was so shocking to publish and the court held they were vicious and incorrigible and bound them over to the district court to show cause why they should not be sent to the State Industrial school. During the progress of the hearing, the young defendants laughed and counted on their fingers how many years they would spend at the institution in Ogden. They were taken to the county jail in the patrol wagon. The case against Annie Cronin and one of the other boys is being heard this afternoon. SOME ERRORS FOUND.

Canvassing Board Hard at Work Upon Official Election Returns.

The Council met twice as a canvassing board yesterday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and 8 o'clock in the evening. The regular session of the evening was summarized by the calling of the roll and adjourning, after which the members got to work as a canvassing board. During the day, at the two sessions, the Second ward and the 25th district of the Third wards reported. In the latter the board had about an hour's work of searching before it could locate a discrepancy of ten votes between the poll book and the register. As Oppenhaus, the Republican candidate, ran close to Fernstrom and Arnold it was necessary to locate the discrepancy. On investigation it was found that the poll book showed ten more names than had been marked "off" on the official register, and the poll book had to be checked up with the register. This resulted in the discovery that ten names of voters had not been marked off the register by the election judge who did the checking.

A discrepancy in the returns of district 19 out "Voters" were found from 137 to 132, and an error in the totals for district 24 gave Nye 135 instead of 155. In district 25, five votes were credited to Glenn which belonged to Lewis. One hundred socialist votes were credited to the Republican party in the southwestern part of the city, district 15 alone having forty-three. The entire city shows about 450 socialist votes cast.

The result of yesterday's canvass is as follows on the vote for councilmen: Cottrell, 2,362; Eastley, 2,181; Vignas, 1,989; Glenn, 1,667; Lewis, 1,738; Badger, 1,753. Cottrell's majority is 277; Eastley's 245 and Vignas, 203.

On the head of the ticket the Republican carried the Second precinct by a majority of 410 over the Democrats. Thompson receiving 2,108 votes for mayor to 1,753 for Leary. Stewart, the Socialist candidate, received 19,111 votes. The result of the election of the ticket in the Second precinct was: For Recorder—Nystrom, 2,151; Sloan, 1,754. For Auditor—Reiser, 2,255; Swan, 1,536. For Treasurer—Whittemore, 2,048; Morris, 1,838. For Attorney—Nye, 2,125; Stephens, 1,732. For Judges—Diehl, 2,066; Tanner, 2,136; Sommer, 1,539; Thomas, 1,587; Gunter, 201; Lewis, 193.

RATHBUN MAKES MORE ADMISSIONS

Says His Wife Was in Part of the Conspiracy.

NO MURDER WAS COMMITTED

Declares Goodman Was Not Killed, But Died From Natural Causes.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 12.—Newell C. Rathbun, who is in jail on suspicion of having murdered Charles Goodman in Jeffersonville, made another damaging admission to the detectives today. For the first time he admitted that he had a confederate in Little Rock and when closely pushed by Chief of Detectives Sullivan, stated that his wife was in part of the conspiracy, although he insisted that she was entirely innocent of complicity in any plot to put Goodman out of the way. At first Rathbun stated that his only confederate was a doctor from the regular army by the name of Blanchard, but he finally admitted that this was false, and that Blanchard was fictitious.

The suspicions of Capt. Sullivan were aroused today by news from Little Rock that a Miss Corinne Pryor had stated that Rathbun had proposed a very much similar plot of defrauding an insurance company to her and had said that she would marry him and carry out her part he would send a corpse home; that it could be buried as him and that he and she would divide the insurance. She learned that Mrs. Rathbun still insisted that the corpse sent from Jeffersonville and now in Little Rock was that of her husband.

After ascertaining these facts, Captain Sullivan and Rathbun brought into his private office and interrogated him about this phase of the case. Rathbun said: "I have only told you part of the truth so far. I arranged this matter with my wife in Little Rock long ago. I told her that I would find a corpse and that she was to telegraph for it to be buried and then collect the insurance, and in time I would desert again from the army and meet her at some place and we would divide it."

After making this statement Rathbun said his wife knew nothing of any plot to commit murder or to set fire to a hotel.

"Indeed," he said, "no murder was committed, for I did not kill Goodman. I might have killed him if necessary, but he died of natural causes."

One of the most perplexing features of the case as it now presents itself to the police is in regard to the real identity of the prisoner here. That he has been passing himself over the country as Lieutenant Newell C. Rathbun, that he was married in Little Rock under that name and that he was insured for $4,000 appear to be certain, but the detectives are convinced that it is an alias.

are increasing, causing disastrous floods. Reports of wrecks and casualties continue to flow in. The death list, made up of three and four, has an aggregate approaching one hundred. The boat from Dover, from Dover for Calais, which last night ran down the lights of the works of the new Dover pier, has succeeded in returning to Dover. The mails and passengers are safe. The crew of the lights was also landed this morning after passing a terrible night at sea in a small boat. The British steamer St. Elieve has been beached at Dover. She is high and dry across the parade.

Early today a French bark struck off Hendon. Nineteen of the crew were drowned. Numerous other wrecks have been reported but the weather in most cases prevents the identification of the craft. Two vessels in distress were sighted last evening off Dungeness, but the weather was so severe that the lifeboat was unable to put out to their assistance. This morning one of them sank. The other, a steamer, reached West Bay, where a tug is now standing by her.
