

CHARLESTON CREAMERY.

The Charleston Creamery, the pioneer establishment of this kind in Wasatch, began business in 1884. The business has steadily increased since then until today its yearly output consists of 15,000 pounds of butter and about 6,000 pounds of cheese. This business is incorporated for $7,250, with Geo. Daybell, president, and his son, George W., as secretary. A prize for best creamery butter in Utah was taken by this creamery in 1899.

TEACHERS.

Dr. Talmage's new book, "The Great Salt Lake (Present and Past)," should be in the hands of every educator. The amount of information it contains relating to the great saline sea, makes it an invaluable work for reference or study. Desert News Book Store, Salt Lake City, Utah.

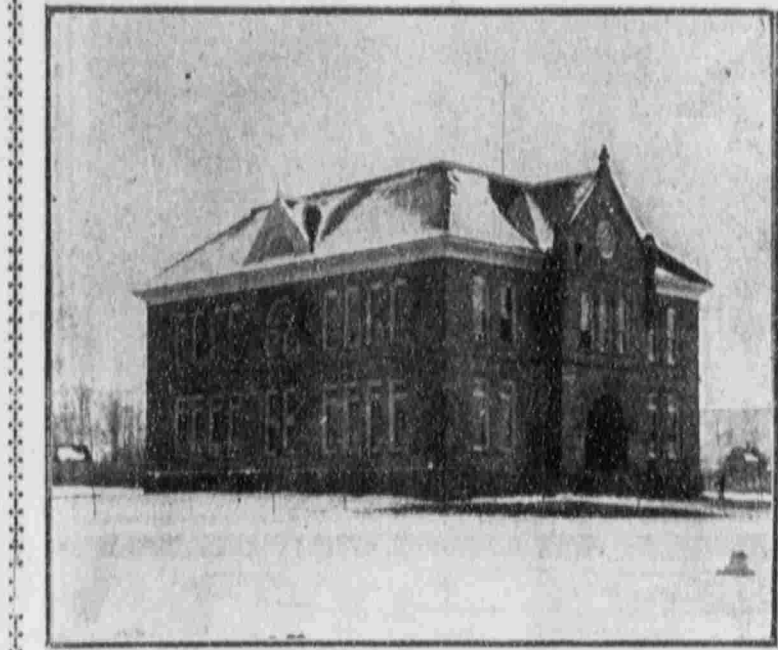

Dayton Hotel, Heber City.

The above is a cut of the Hotel Jiffy, managed by Mr. A. E. Dayton. It has recently been refitted and has the very best accommodations for traveling and business men and a convenient "sample room," and everything home like. All this, together with its location, being in the business center of the town, makes it the most convenient place for all.

The Heber Confectionery store established five years ago is also managed and owned by Mr. Dayton, who carries a full line of fine candies, this store and spacious ice cream parlor is equipped with a modern soda fountain.

CENTRAL SCHOOL BUILDING, HEBER CITY.

It would do credit to a much larger city than Heber.

MR. G. F. BOHLER.

One of the foremost and most enterprising merchants and dairy men of Midway is Mr. G. F. Bohler. Besides running an up-to-date and successful mercantile establishment, Mr. Bohler operates a creamery and cheese factory which receives a splendid patronage.

W. W. RITTER'S HOTEL, HEBER CITY, WITH HOT POT ADJOINING.

THE CHARLESTON CO-OP.

The Charleston Co-op. is one of the most up-to-date stores in the county. They enjoy an excellent and increasing trade, which is merited by the fair prices and honest dealing of that establishment. All kinds of general merchandise, farming implements, etc., are carried, and the patronage is not confined to Charleston alone, but is extended to all parts of the county.

GEO. DAYBELL & SON.

Wasatch county has just cause to be proud of her splendid breeds of fine cattle. Daybell & Sons of Charleston have carried off a number of prizes at the state fair for short horn and Durham cattle. They handle only the best breeds of cattle and make a specialty of raising thoroughbred Cotswold sheep. These gentlemen are enterprising business men, and deserve great credit for the splendid showing they are making along these lines.

CHRISTMAS REMNANTS?

How to Serve Portions of Turkey Left Over from the Feast.

After your Christmas dinner you will probably find that you have a goodly portion of turkey left. This has happened a great many times before, and as a result many ways have been devised for preparing these left over scraps of turkey meat. This does not mean the large white slices of the breast, for this portion of the meat can be simply arranged on a platter and eaten as it is.

A salad of the white meat of turkey is as good as if not better than chicken salad, says the Buffalo Times. Take one cup of turkey meat rather coarsely chopped, one cup of celery, also rather coarsely chopped, and the whites of three hard boiled eggs, also chopped. Put the yolks of the hard boiled eggs into a bowl and mash and then pour over them three tablespoonsful of melted butter or pure olive oil; into this, one of mustard, with a dash of red pepper; then thin with half a cup of good vinegar.

Another way to use the white meat of turkey is to chop it fine, then put a spoonful of cranberry sauce that has been run through a colander in the bottom of the mould or small bowl, on this a layer of chopped turkey, then a layer of cranberry, and so on until the mould is full. Press hard and put in a cold place till ready for use, then turn out on a platter.

Turkey croquettes are also excellent. Take one cup of Turkey meat chopped fine, one cup of breadcrumbs, one spoonful of butter and two of cream; season with salt and pepper, mould into little fancy shaped cakes and fry.

Turkey patties are made exactly as are chicken patties. To one cup of turkey take one cup of turkey gravy or one cup of water made rich by a generous lump of butter, season and thicken with a little flour, pour into pastry shells and bake in a quick oven.

HOW TO ILLUMINATE A TREE.

The illumination of the tree is an important problem for by the indirect use of candles many a joyous Christmas has been turned into one of mourning. Tiny Japanese lanterns are much safer than unshielded candles, and they give a pricier effect. The small square lanterns with colored mica sides are also safe, for they have a sponge in the bottom that may be saturated with kerosene. When the wick is lighted it burns brightly and lasts longer than ordinary wax candles.

Rapid Growth of Bingham Junction.

SHE IS AMBITIOUS TO BECOME THE SMELTER METROPOLIS OF UTAH.

BINGHAM JUNCTION is located about 11 miles south of Salt Lake City, on the line of the R. G. W. railroad, the S. P., L. A. & S. L. railroad, passing about three-quarters of a mile east of the town. Its main resources are the smelters, the United States Smelting & Refining company, and the Bingham Consolidated Smelting company having their plants in the town, while the Highland Boy smelter, at which a number of residents of Bingham Junction are employed, lays about two miles north of the town.

Of the smelters in Bingham Junction, the United States smelter is the largest, easily covering about 20 acres of ground. About 600 men are here employed, making the monthly pay roll of the company average about $36,000. The class of ore handled at this smelter is principally copper. The company, however, is at this time building another smelter, which is nearing completion, wherein lead will be smelted, exclusively.

The Bingham Consolidated smelters cover about 15 acres of ground, employing about 400 men. About $25,000 is expended by this company monthly for wages, to those employed. Copper ore alone is treated at this smelter. They have recently added to this plant one new furnace, making altogether five furnaces. Connections have also been made with the O. S. L. tracks, so that ore is now being brought to this smelter over both the R. G. W. and O. S. L. railroads.

The growth of Bingham Junction has been something marvelous, there being now a population of at least 2,500 where one year ago, there were not over 1,000 people in the town. Many business houses have been built during the past year, so that now anything needed in a home or for the erection of buildings may be purchased here. There has, also, during the past year, been built over the residences, most of them being well built, and durable houses. The four or five room cottages have been the most desirable, but there have also been built some very large and handsome residences of which larger cities might be proud. Notwithstanding the fact so many houses having been built, there is a great demand for more. A person now wishing to rent, must nearly always speak for the house some two or three months in advance.

The amount of railroad traffic, both passenger and freight, between Bingham Junction and Bingham, has increased during the last few months to such proportions that a passenger train running twice each day has been placed into service to accommodate the people going to and fro. In place of a mixed train, that ran formerly, and which carried a large number of men with their families, a passenger train is now running twice each day has been placed into service to accommodate the people going to and fro. In place of a mixed train, that ran formerly, and which carried a large number of men with their families, a passenger train is now running twice each day has been placed into service to accommodate the people going to and fro.

The merchants here have no cause to complain, as their business increases daily. Many people of nearby towns and communities are in the habit of purchasing of the firms in Bingham Junction, as they are aware that they may there obtain merchandise as good and at as reasonable prices as in the larger cities. The hotel accommodations here are also as good as may be found in other towns of the same size. The citizens of this town are peaceful and law-abiding, there being few arrests made. This is remarkable, from the fact that a large proportion of the residents here are foreigners, and that many of the working class of people are constantly going to and from the town. The Greek population may be commended for their good behavior, there being very few, if any, of this race arrested for any crime.

Remarkable progress has been made in Bingham Junction during the year 1904, and as the citizens are ever alert to business possibilities, greater things may be expected of them through the coming year. Citizens here are agitating daily the questions of incorporation, the need of more water, and protection against fire, and it is safe to say that when these things have been accomplished, a larger number of men with means will be ready to invest their money here, and those already here will more fully realize the worth of the town.

West Jordan Drug Co.

WITHOUT doubt the neatest and best appointed drug store in the valley, outside of Salt Lake City is the one conducted by the above named company. A full and complete line of all classes of goods usually carried by all first class drug stores is kept in stock. A large soda fountain that is equalled by few in the entire state dispenses cool, refreshing drinks, and for those who prefer the usual line of hot drinks, are served during the winter. The proprietors, Messrs. Watson & Scott, opened for business on Jan. 27, 1903. Mr. J. M. Watson, the pharmacist of the firm, having been connected for several years with leading drug houses both in Provo and Springville. Mr. J. S. Scott, having been formerly engaged in the book keeping industry in the valley.

Sander's Market.

MUCH depends upon a man's experience and judgement in selecting meats and groceries, for the trade. One butcher always has poor meat except on occasions when by accident a good "beef" is secured. The Sander's market of Bingham Junction always has a choice line of fresh meats to offer its patrons and in addition carry cured meats, fish at reasonable times and a choice line of green groceries. Their patronage is extensive and they are enjoying a steadily increasing business. They are the only butcher shop in Bingham Junction running their own butcher wagon.

BOOTH BLOCK, BINGHAM JUNCTION.

The above cut shows the large two-story business block erected in Bingham Junction in November, 1902, by the Booth Mercantile company and occupied by them in its entirety with a stock of general merchandise.

This company was organized and incorporated under the laws of the State of Utah on Nov. 17, 1902, with a capital of $100,000, and the volume of business they have done in the past two years speaks more forcibly than words that they fully understand their business and the needs and demands of the smelter community. Buying their goods in eastern markets for cash and in large quantities, enables them to meet the competition of even the larger stores in Salt Lake City. The stockholders of the company are property holders in Bingham Junction outside of the mercantile business and have the welfare of the town always in view. We predict for Bingham Junction and its leading store another year of continued growth and prosperity.

These shares are all held by members of the Booth family. Isaac Booth is president; Jesse M. Booth, vice president, and R. L. Booth, secretary and general manager. They carry a stock of $30,000, comprised of everything usually found in a large department store, together with hay, grain, coal feed, etc., and the volume of business they have done in the past two years speaks more forcibly than words that they fully understand their business and the needs and demands of the

American Fork AND ITS Business Activity

American Fork is one of the most prosperous and progressive communities south of Salt Lake City. It has a population of about 3,000 and has several fine buildings, among which are Latter-day Saints and Presbyterian churches, excellent schools, express offices, a creamery, a bank and several substantial stores. It has also long distance telephonic connections and the San Pedro and Rio Grande Western railroads pass through the town.

NEW GRANT HOTEL.

An up-to-date hotel is the new Grant of American Fork. Mrs. S. J. Lambert took the management of this establishment about a year ago and has spent a large sum in putting in new furniture, carpets, etc. Everything about the place is neat and inviting and the courteous treatment accorded patrons does much to increase the already large patronage.

WM. THORNTON, DRUGGIST.

The drug store owned and managed by William Thornton of American Fork ranks with the very best of such establishments in the state. Mr. Thornton has been in business four and one-half years, during which time he has steadily advanced in trade and increased his stock of goods. Everything found in a first class drug store is kept in stock.

KROFT'S KANDY KITCHEN, AND ART STUDIO.

A very neat and up-to-date candy kitchen is that owned by Mr. Kroft of American Fork. All materials used by him are pure and clean. Mr. Kroft is manager for the Desert Art Co., and has on hand a beautiful display of sample enlarged pictures and frames. It will pay one to see him before buying elsewhere.

AGAINST THE BEARD.

Many physicians oppose beards on hygienic and esthetic grounds, claiming:

AMERICAN FORK, UTAH.

Any one acquainted at all with American Fork and her business interests know of William Grant. For 36 years he has been in business there and enjoys the confidence, respect and liberal patronage of the people. Mr. Grant's store contains an excellent assortment of all kinds of glass and chinaware, charming and pleasing to old and young. One can spend a very pleasant and profitable hour in looking over the splendid assortment of toys now on hand. All kinds of musical instruments are handled and a splendid assortment of the best and most popular books of the day. Mr. Grant by honest business methods has built up a splendid patronage first, that disease germs are carried in them, and second, that they disfigure the face. "Even children," said a Chicago physician the other day, "perceive what an esthetic offense a beard is, and in their native way they condemn it." "When Dr. Adolf Lorenz was in Chicago, he wore a long beard. I hear that he has recently shaved this beard off. He wore it, at any rate, in Chicago, and heard a child one day rebuke him on its account." "He had operated successfully on the

THE BLIND AND THE DEAF.

Some writers allege that blind persons are usually cheerful, while deaf persons are usually gloomy and suspicious. The reasons for these characteristics were recently given, in reply to inquiries, the deaf man saying: "When anyone speaks to me, I am reminded of my infirmity." "The blind man said: 'As soon as any person speaks to me I forget my misfortune.'"—New York Tribune.

ADE'S FIRST FABLE.

George Ade has in his possession a number of the school exercises that he wrote in his childhood. "One of these exercises," he said the other day, "was about a river near the school. The teacher told us to incorporate in a composition three pieces of information about this river. I wrote—
