

PRIESTHOOD MEETING.

The High Council, Home Missionaries, the Bishops and their Counselors and the acting Priesthood in all the wards and quorums of this State are requested to attend a Priesthood meeting in the Assembly Hall on Saturday, July 24th, at 11 o'clock a. m. A full and substantial attendance is desired.

FRAGMENTS.

F. M. LYMAN, JR., was in from Tooele to-day.

JUDGE BUCKENBURY came up from Provo to-day.

TOOLE is to have a Pioneer Day celebration.

JUNIUS F. WELLS returned last evening from his business trip east.

The work of widening the Utah and Northern gauge is progressing rapidly.

An excursion to Cache and Bear Lake valleys will leave this city August 10th.

T. H. ROBERTS returned yesterday from a visit to Heeneferville, Summit County.

PROF. EVAN STEPHENS is enjoying himself in the "north count" in fishing, hunting, etc.

THERE was a death from scarlet fever yesterday in the family of B. A. M. Froelich, Fourth Ward.

The Second Ward Sabbath school, Ogden, will have an excursion to Salt Lake on Monday next.

MONDAY next will be generally observed as a holiday in Salt Lake and the other cities of the Territory.

THE new hotel at Idaho Springs, Idaho, cost $25,000, was opened to the public on Wednesday.

ON Monday—Pioneer Day—the fine play of "The Bell" will be presented by a selected company at the Theatre.

HENRY GRABMOND, of Dillon, Montana, shot and killed his wife last Tuesday, and then shot himself in the head.

We learn from Brother John Moore, of Spanish Fork, that the immediate cause of the death of Father Zebekide Coltrin was diphtheria.

The surveying party which has been looking over the proposed route of the Utah Central to the Coast will reach this city in a day or two.

THE advanced time of the D. & R. G. W. train to Lake Park, 8:15 p. m., has been changed for to-morrow evening only, the train leaving at 8 p. m. and 9:30 p. m.

JOSEPH J. TAYLOR, of Manti, dropped in on us for a short time to-day. He reports that the weather is very quiet in his ballfield; the grass is not producing at present, prospects for crops are good.

ON Saturday last the Manitoba Construction Company laid seven miles and 1000 feet of track on the Northern Pacific Railway, thereby beating all previous records.

A PARTY of excursionists just returned from Strawberry Valley, report that it "takes the cake" for a fishing and hunting region, as well as for excellent camping grounds.

"LITTLE GUSSES WALTZ" and "YOU'VE GOTTA HAVE YOUR MOTHER TALK" are two new pieces of music issued by White, Smith & Co., Boston, New York and Chicago.

The surveyors of the Utah Midland are still working in Strawberry Valley. They have been a line through Daniel's Canon, above Provo Valley, and are now working their way eastward from Strawberry.

The Park Hotel at Billings, Montana, was burned last Tuesday. There were four persons in the building who narrowly escaped with their lives, two of them, women, being rescued by means of ladders from upper windows.

The examination in the case of the United States vs. James W. Orr, charged with unlawful cohabitation, which was to have been held this afternoon, was postponed until 11 a. m. to-morrow, owing to the court of claims investigation.

The Executive Committee of the People's Party Territorial Central Committee have named Adam Spiers as candidate for the Legislature from the Fourth Council District, in place of LeGrand Fodges. Justice Spiers is an excellent selection, as he is well qualified for the office. He will put the full strength of the party.

FERGUSON, Esq., of Coalter & Schuyler, of Ogden, will start on a business trip to Rich County in a few days. The good people of Randolph, Woodruff and other places in that section will have an opportunity to meet Mr. Ferguson at a good supply.

This morning there was a further hearing, before Commissioner Norrell, of testimony in the claims of G. A. Perry & Co. and J. C. Lewis & Co. against the United States. The evidence all relates to the value of cattle, horses, mules and wagons in the fall of 1867.

In the Eighth Ward last evening Brothers Isaac Brockbank and John P. Mortenson, who recently emerged from prison, were the recipients of an ovation, at the hands of the Saints residing in that part of the city. It was the form of an entertainment, with glad welcome, an evidence of the respect and esteem in which the honored guests are held.

Six prisoners broke jail at Karama, Wyoming, last Tuesday evening. They are: Dan Walters, murderer; E. Linn, attempted murder at Fortemman; Lee Hall, horse thief; Will Rouse, sentenced to three years; George Nickles and Barney Kennedy, petit larceny. They had two shotguns, one revolver and a butcher knife. They overpowered the jailer.

Even the Police Court realizes that the much-talked-of "boom" is far away. It is only occasionally that a violator of the city ordinances can be found, and then the offender usually belongs to the small class of saloon-bummers. The only individual on whom the minions of the law could pounce last evening was John Gounand, who was "without visible means of supply" and has been wandering about the streets for ten or a dozen nights. He was ordered imprisoned 25 days for vagrancy.

On Monday next the Theatre will open after a lengthy recess. On that occasion the "Bell" will be presented by a selected company. The Theatre will also present the "Bell" on Monday, or the "Bell" on Tuesday, the gentleman assuming the character of "Mathias," a part in which Mr. Henry Irving made one of his greatest hits and most pronounced successes.

THE COMMISSION IN OGDEN.

Complaints of Business Men—The Union Depot.

Yesterday afternoon the Pacific Railway Commission held a session in Ogden, to listen to grievances against the Union Pacific Company. Charles Francis Adams, President of the Union Pacific, was also interviewed by citizens representing the Union Pacific. The Ogden Herald of this morning gives a full account of the proceedings at both meetings.

The Commission, Hon. Jos. A. West, Hon. D. H. Cherry, L. B. Adams, J. M. Dore, Sidney Stevens, F. T. Kiesel, E. T. Helander, David Kay and A. H. Nelson gave evidence. Mr. Perry stated that he had had business relations with the Union Pacific for many years. He had sent large quantities of flour over the road. The facilities for the transaction of business have been bad. One hundred and thirty acres of land were given to the Union Pacific and Central Pacific by Ogden people with the expectation that suitable depot buildings would be erected there. Since that time the people of Ogden, who gave that land, have been sadly disappointed. The accommodations are poor; many perished here been killed; there are no sanitary conveniences, while the freight advantages are very poor. Mr. Perry then related the concession of Fifth Street to the request of the railroad company through P. C. Williams, local attorney. The commission took the work on the depot was cancelled for the reason of the Commission. The stoppage of work was referred to. There has been a strong feeling that there are discriminations against the town and in favor of Salt Lake City. For instance, wheat could be purchased in Provo, but cannot be shipped to Ogden on the same favorable conditions that it can be shipped to Salt Lake City; but wheat and other merchandise is sent to Salt Lake City as cheaply as it can be sent to Ogden.

P. C. Shelby denied that the Union Pacific had made any concession in Ogden in favor of Salt Lake. The rates to both places from the Missouri River are the same, and the U. P. made the same conditions outward to both, so they could be on an equal basis.

After the session adjourned the Commission went to Virginia City, N. M., where the next meeting will be held.

To President Charles F. Adams, Judge P. H. Emerson made a careful statement in behalf of the people of Ogden, in regard to the Union Pacific. He stated that the Union Pacific company had done the best they could, but he had been met with a laxity on the part of the Central Pacific. Mr. Adams then went on to explain that owing to the action of the government towards the Union Pacific, work on all improvements throughout the system has been stopped for the reason that the U. P. has not the whole 5,000 miles of road in the U. P. system, similar arrangements to those made here have been made. But where it is plain that the company must suspend operations, the same action must be taken. When the difficulties shall have been adjusted then it is hoped that all will be smooth sailing. Congress ordered an investigation of the affairs of the Union Pacific—such an investigation, the like of which was never before heard of, and of course, the company has had to submit. For the past three months, Mr. Adams claimed to have not been managing a railroad, he has been furnishing information for a Congressional investigation commission. He also said that work on projected lines had been stopped, and the company compelled to stand aside and see competitors occupying fields which itself and could have occupied had not matters resolved themselves as they have. One instance he cited of a new line from the U. P. agreed to, which was a railroad to the town. The citizens made great arrangements on that promise, went to great expense for public improvements and enterprises. The company had made a grade for the road; has material on the ground for its construction; but its hands are tied and it cannot proceed. This is a case, the gentleman said, which is far more important than that of Ogden.

At the conclusion of the interview the following resolutions were passed by the Ogden Chamber of Commerce:

Resolved, that we, the members of the Ogden Chamber of Commerce, after hearing the frank statement of President Adams do hereby express our entire confidence in him and believe that he will solve the depot question to the entire satisfaction of our citizens.

Resolved, that pending the settlement of the difficulties in which we are involved that we will leave the matter entirely in his hands.

Resolved further, that we believe him to be the only individual to whom we can look for the final solution of this vexed question.

Nominations.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the People's Territorial Central Committee, held at the City Hall, Salt Lake City, on Thursday, July 21st, 1897, it was unanimously agreed to recommend to the electors of the Territory as commissioners to locate university lands, the names of Frederick A. Mitchell, Isaac M. Waddell and Richard A. Ballantyne.

To fill the nomination for councillor from the Fourth Council District made vacant by the death of LeGrand Fodges, the committee agreed to recommend to the electors of said district the name of Hon. Adam Spiers, of Salt Lake City.

In behalf of the committee, JOHN R. WINDER, Chairman.

E. A. SMITH, Secretary.

Case Dismissed.

To-day the curtain dropped on one of the most interesting cases that has come before a commissioner in Utah. James H. Nelson, charged with unlawful cohabitation, appeared for examination according to the continued continuance, at 2 p. m. After a wait of nearly an hour, Commissioner Rogers presided and announced to defendant's attorney, C. C. Richards, Esq., that it was about time to proceed. Prosecuting Attorney Hiles had retired from the room, although he was present for the examination of the only witness conducted by the Commissioner himself.

Dr. P. L. Anderson was sworn in and in answer to the questions of His Honor said that he was acquainted with James H. Nelson. He had not seen him during the present year, nor did he know of any person by that name who had been in the city. He had not seen a letter or a newspaper such as a fact, but he did not know where the defendant was.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Esq., then appeared and was examined by the Commissioner. He was found guilty of unlawful cohabitation, but the case was dismissed.

The Commissioner then announced that this was the case for the Government and that it was about time to proceed. The defendant, James H. Nelson, Es