SALT LAKE CITY. - SEPT, 13, 1905

THE COUNCIL DID WELL.

The City Council acted wisely or Monday evening, to deciding to purchese the block of East Jordan Canal company stock, which will give the city additional irrigation water, wherewith to supply the formers in exchange for potable water useded for domestic purposes within this municipality. This netion is clearly within the powers of the nonnell, and in accord with the plans submitted to the taxpayers befare the bonds were voted upon.

Reelamation service would aid in the development work at Utah lake depended upon for an increase of irrigation water, and $200,000 of the bonds money was named for that purpose in the Address to the taxpayers. But the government has done nothing in the way expected, and the Address, Ir mentioning that anticipation, stated that to make certain and sufficient the supply of water from that source, the Our country seems to have been work would be done according to the struck by another wave of lynching inplans prepared "or independently as sanity. At first the objectors ridiculed the purchase of one-fifth of that company's right, on the ground that the water was "soapy" and unfit for cullnary purposes. But, as we have already shown, the exchange water for the farmers was to be obtained in the way which would be "found most advantageous to the city," The Address gave the gist of the whole plan in the following longuage;

West Yesterday at the Caxton hall, minster, Sirdar Arjan Singh addressed the East India association on "Early Marriages in India," Sirdar Arjan Singh said in India people married in childhood, sometimes in infancy, and not rarely the promise of marriage was made before high. If a girl was un-married at tweive she was regarded as disgraced and her father as a sinner. About 400,000 children in every five years were married when under five-years of age. Many girls then married became widows while still bables or small children, and the misery of wi-downood in India was inconceivable to the European mind.

HAILSTONES AND EGGS.

Washington Star.

Washington Star. There is some strange relation he-tween hallstorms and poulity, or he-tween hallstores and eggs, that fasci-mates mankind. The hallstone may be dodged, the segs should be dodged, but the comparison between hallstones and eggs never can be dodged. It is impos-sible to get away from it. Whenever there is a hallstorm, when tender plants are out to death and window glass is shivered, the holistones are always the size of hems' eggs. Nobody ever heard of a hallstone the size of baseballs, walnuts or potatoes, or the size of macadam rock, golf balls, tomatoes or the fiel, but ever and always the size of eggs. Yet eggs vary in size.

DIVORCE IN BURMAN.

Chicago Law Journal. There is something to be said for Burmah. If the Burmese husband and the Burmese wife come to the conclu-sion that they have injudiciously in sion that they have injudiciously in-creased the matriage rate their proce-dure is simple and direct. The wife does not go to her solicitor, but to the tallow chandler. From him she obtains two little candles. These she brings home, and she and husband sit down on the floor, placing the candles be-tween them. One candle represents the husband, one the wife. They are light-ed at the same moment, and the owner of the one which goes out first leaves the house, taking only his or her clothes, while the owner of the more enduring candle remains, also the ownnduring candle remains also the own-r of the house and all that therein is. Thus divorce becomes simple and charming. It will be observed that the wife always selects the candles.
