UNITED STATES SENATORS.

Frank J. Cannon and Arthur Brown have been named by the State Legislature to be the first representatives of Utah in the Senate of the United States. The choice was virtually made in party caucus several days ago, but the formal action of the legislature came in the ballot of Tuesday afternoon and the announcement of the result by the last speaker today. The two gentlemen chosen are Republicans in national party politics, but by the rule in a government of the people the majority chooses in the action of the majority, and henceforth in the case of their official term Senators Cannon and Brown represent the whole people of Utah in their efforts for the common welfare.

It is fitting that the first senator to be elected from the new State should be a "Utah boy." Senator Cannon was born in Salt Lake City, and his life's interests are identified with Utah. His ability for the dignified office is a matter of general recognition, and his elevation to the position by the Legislature is a compliment to that which the people performed in November, when another son of Utah was named to be the Vice Governor of the State. The choice of Senator Cannon gives the Phoenix of Utah recognition in the upper house of Congress, as important factors in the nation's progress.

Senator Brown also has had a long experience in Utah, connected with an honorable profession in which he has displayed marked vigor and ability. As a representative of western Republicanism in national party politics, he has been a determined and effective factor in advancing the party's interests in the State. His characteristic energy assures untiring efforts on behalf of Utah in the important legislative body of which he is now a member. His selection gives appropriate recognition to the great body of people who, while they cannot claim Utah as the place of their birth, are equally interested in its welfare from having made it their permanent home.

The State of Utah now has efficient, indefatigable workers as its representatives in Congress, who will not only seek the advancement of the State's interests but also of the nation's. We congratulate the gentlemen who have been named as our representatives at the national capital, and wish them every success that can come to men in that high calling.

UTAH'S WOMEN.

Tomorrow, January 23, is the opening day of the twenty-eighth annual convention of the National-American Woman Suffrage Association at Washington, D. C. The convention will remain in session six days, discussing subjects associated with woman's exercise of the suffrage. The evening session of the first day has for its agenda a hearing on an address of welcome to Utah, by the Rev. Anna H. Shaw, whose visit here in company with Mrs. R. Anthony, in 1888, will be well remembered. Following the address will be "Speeches from Utah's Representatives," Mrs. Emily A. Hinckley and Mrs. Sarah A. Boyer; and on that occasion we may anticipate that many good things will be said regarding the women of Utah, and the men also, who, by a heavy majority in the Constitutional Convention, extended the suffrage to women in this State, which, as a Territory, was the first to enfranchise women, and now stands third in the order of states that have done so, Wyoming being first and Colorado second.

Referring to the advancement of the women of Utah, the official organ of the N.A.W.S.A., The Woman's Tribune, says in its issue of January 18:

"There are no women in the Union so well fitted in every way for the suffrage than the women of Utah. They are accustomed to manage their own affairs, to witness their right to do so, and to defend their rights. They are shrewd and astute, in fact, and the world over know them to be the best organized and most intelligent women in the Union."

The Women's Tribune then goes on to say that there is something of positive justice that the right of Utah women should be secured them while yet there are steps to take. It was helped to lay the foundations of their prospective enfranchisement. In itself the steps to making the desert blossom like the rose, it may, the women of Utah have borne their full share of burdens, and that larger share of sacrifice and sacrifice when in one cause or another has always been the lot of women. "Think not," exclaims that paper, "there are some still left to whom their bodily acquired rights were perched their blemishes with their blemishes and their blemishes in them those weary years across the Great American Desert. The early Mormon women were very largely of New England birth, and they gave birth in isolating the same and perils of the Pilgrims for the same cause, namely freedom or worship according to their consciences."

Our esteemed correspondent is quite enthusiastic in his description of what the Utah women will do, and they will perform their full quota in giving to the new State the best governmental administration of which its people are capable.

ENGLAND'S FLYING SQUADRON.

It seems surpasses in London any reputation in fact, there are more enterprises to start regarding the political situation. A correspondent of the Times-Herald says well informed people believe that the flying squadron is really intended for the Mediterranean, and that the famous message of Emperor William only was utilized as an excuse in the English government to make the preparations needed for a campaign against Turkey. It is further stated that present indications show that an agreement has been arrived at, whereby Russia will invade Turkey by land, and that England and France will force Constantinople. A Washington correspondent of the same paper confirms this story. Hence it is believed that the real destination of the formidable flying squadron is the Mediterranean instead of American waters.

It is clear enough that for winning victory can be said. Even the authorities in London officially decline any knowledge whatever of the real destination of that squadron; while, if true, would prove that Lord Salisbury's recent order to equip without any intimation of his further intentions. Should it turn out to be correct, however, that it is meant for service in Turkish waters, the conclusion is inevitable that the treaty powers must at last have decided to settle the Armenian question. For only on the assumption that the government of Great Britain anticipates some action which can the trouble and expense of the deployment of this naval force be explained. For any ordinary demonstration against Turkey the Mediterranean fleet would not need the reinforcement of such a force as the example of the Salt Lake organization in its effectiveness forged in the people of Utah.

Channing, the political complexion of the United States Senate by its two members of that body places Utah in a position of importance that new states are ever called upon to occupy. The upper house of Congress now has a clear majority of Republican members.

This front of mine followed on the sugar industry reform has been placed on the market, and shows that in mid winter weather the experiment is most gratifying success.

FOURTEEN TO ONE IN FAVOR OF HARMONY IS A Satisfactory Ratio. That is the way the City Council acted it up last night.

UTAH NOW HAS THREE VOTES IN THE NATIONAL LEGISLATURE. May they always be cast for the right!

THE IDEAL PARADISE.

The resolution introduced by Councilor Callister into the City Council at its last session, and adopted by that body, has a ring to it that will be pleasing in the ears of taxpayers, however it may sound to office holders.

This has been a general feeling, and substantial basis thereto, that for a long time past there has been too much of the city's money going to waste.

Under this resolution an investigation is instituted by which the city may be remedied and the city treasury relieved of unnecessary expenses.

In its effort to make the returns most effective, the Council should not lose sight of the saving clause which provides that all confirmations of official appointments be delayed until action be taken upon the report of the finance committee. This is to bring the new appointments under the rule that may be adopted; otherwise the provision that the salary of an officer shall not be increased or reduced during the term for which he is elected or appointed would defeat the object of the resolution. If Mayor Channing is in harmony with the proposed economical administration, he will withhold any new appointments until the Finance Committee has reasonably time in which to act, so that danger of claim or complication on the subject may be avoided. Now that the resolution is in force, the Finance Committee should report without unnecessary delay, that the Council may consummate its commendable proceeding.

THE TORCHES' LAW.

An account of the chief features of the Torches system of land registration was given in these columns at the time it was approved by the legislature of Utah and submitted to the vote of the people in that state. The Criminal and Police Current committee has made no changes.

As a short and definite title, should not the name "Torches" be retained, or, if necessary, changed? A. A. Hinckley, President, P. W. Malone, Vice Pres., J. E. Jennings, cashier.

The system has been in use in South Australia since 1859, in Queensland since 1862, in Tasmania since 1862, in New Zealand and British Columbia since 1870, in Western Australia since 1875, in England since 1875, in Ontario since 1881, and in Manitoba since 1882.

I estimate the value of land area occupied by the surface of the earth, while yet there are steps to take. It was helped to lay the foundations of their prospective enfranchisement. In itself the steps to making the desert blossom like the rose, it may, the women of Utah have borne their full share of burdens, and that larger share of sacrifice and sacrifice when in one cause or another has always been the lot of women. "Think not," exclaims that paper, "there are some still left to whom their bodily acquired rights were perched their blemishes with their blemishes and their blemishes in them those weary years across the Great American Desert. The early Mormon women were very largely of New England birth, and they gave birth in isolating the same and perils of the Pilgrims for the same cause, namely freedom or worship according to their consciences."

The operation of the law in Illinois is watched with much interest throughout the country, but it is generally supposed that its failure to make registration compulsory operates against the usefulness, in as much as it virtually establishes a dual system of transfer. Its failings, it is thought, cannot be obtained except by compulsory registration.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

The session of the City Council on Tuesday evening was a scene that brings a feeling of pleasure to the municipality at large. From the worthy, unselfish condition which seemed to have been shown through centuries of former sessions there was evolved a spirit more harmonious to inspire confidence that, as far as the Council can make it, the administration of city affairs for the next two years will be characterized by good feeling and progressiveness. The Council members have given quick recognition to public sentiment on what is desired of them in the way of economic movement for the city's good, and we trust that beneath this desire will not be lost sight of. Upon the policy of good will now initiated, by the Council's action we extend to the members hearty congratulations and support.

The London Globe is very angry because the American Venezuela commission has invited Great Britain to submit evidence on the Venezuela boundary line. The Globe writes: "Were such a demand made by any other power, our only reply would be to banish him unmercifully and make him the devil!" The Globe editor is assured his courtesy that England will take from the United States what it would not from any other nation suggests a reason therefore that is not complimentary to Britain's courage or strength.

Oregon and Water county are now on the subject of a great tabernacle sheet in their cities. There is no reason why Water State should not have such an organization, with five or six hundred members of good vessels can be brought together in the community. There is room for more big tabernacles to emulate the example of the Salt Lake organization in its effectiveness forged in the people of Utah.

Channing's tough remedy is famous for the cures of bad odds. It makes the heart, restores the lungs and aids nature in her work of the system to a healthy condition. It truly used as soon as the cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it greatly lessens the severity of the disease. It can be cured in a single day which would have been a month cold. Eat rice by druggists.

James Rice and Mr. Simon Goldsmith of Salt Lake City are treated with a lame back and rheumatism. He used Channing's Pain Reliever and a prompt cure was effected. He says he has since cured many of his friends to try it and all who have done so speak highly of it. It is fair for druggists.
