

GUERRA READY TO TAKE OFFENSIVE

Intends to Make Rapid Moves. Changing Camp as Frequently as Possible.

NO ATTEMPT TO HOLD TOWNS.

Cuban Government Has Not Officially Made Any Proposals for Peace.

Americans Would Not Let Such a Government as Cuba Have Remained in Power Five Days.

New York, Sept. 7.—A cable dispatch to the Herald from Havana says:

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

The telegraph wires had already been cut. When the train had proceeded without a shot having been fired, the insurgents resumed their march towards the hills back of the station. A long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgents in Pinar del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. He intends making rapid moves, changing camp as often as possible in order to avoid the burden of feeding so many men living in any one section. He broke camp at Jibara before noon yesterday.

Forty minutes later, when the daily train for Havana started for San Juan, the government troops were ordered to be on the road south of the station, where the road is as straight as the eye can see. Two miles below the station, where the highway crosses the railroad, the train was stopped by insurgents who fired upon it from the hills. From this point a long view of the road in each direction showed the insurgents massed in the horizon. Col. Julian Belancourt, Guerra's adjutant, went through the train, receiving warm greetings from almost every passenger. He ordered the removal of two rail guards who had been placed on the road in each direction, and the train proceeded.

ously wounded on the forehead by an insurgent subaltern, who struck him with a machete. The general had struck the insurgent officer with the flat of his sword.

LIBERALS ARE STUBBORN.

Havana, Sept. 7.—The main features of the situation today are the stubbornness of the Liberal leaders and the determination of the non-partisan veterans to compel the insurgents to accept peace terms.

It is not believed, however, that anything definite will transpire until the arrival here of more of the party leaders from distant parts of the island. Gen. Menocal of the Liberal party, who had hoped for a peaceful solution of the crisis. On the other hand it was pointed out that should the veterans decide to carry out their plan of compelling peace by making war on the insurgents it would result in the strange and bloody eastern Cuba being in arms against the western part of the island.

HARRY BROWN HANGED.

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—Harry Brown was hanged at San Quentin prison this morning. He was the murderer of a saloon man named Dunn in Del Norte county on Dec. 23, 1904. He ascended the scaffold at 10:30 and was dead within 12 minutes from the time the trap was sprung. He went to his death without a word, although in the early stage of his imprisonment he had been considered incorrigible and gave the prison officials a great deal of trouble. The Rev. Father Walsh of San Rafael attended him at the execution.

ELEVEN FIREMEN INJURED.

St. Louis, Sept. 7.—Eleven firemen were injured while fighting a fire in a grocery store by the explosion of gasoline gas today. The building was practically wrecked. Asst. Fire Chief Darry was severely injured. The fire originated in a room where a man was thought to have been extinguished when the explosion occurred.

GOLD IMPORTS.

London, Sept. 7.—The United States purchased $3,632,000 of eagles from the bank of England today, making nearly $7,500,000 in gold obtained from this source during this week.

Boston, Sept. 7.—The National Shawmut bank of this city has engaged $1,000,000 in gold coin for import from London. The transaction is being handled by the bank of England.

STENSLAND TURNED OVER BY MOORISH AUTHORITIES.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Asst. State's Atty. Barbour received the following telegram from Asst. State's Atty. Olsen today, who in company of James Keely of the Chicago Tribune, is in Tangier watching Paul Stensland, the president of the wrecked Milwaukee Avenue State bank:

"Stensland turned over to us."

It is believed that Olsen and Keely will start with Stensland immediately.

FATALLY HURT IN COLLISION.

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—Charles Goertzel, a porter in the Anglo California bank, was fatally injured and Charles Wolf, driver of a butcher cart, was seriously hurt in a collision today. Wolf was driving a heavily loaded cart across the street and struck when an electric car approached and the brakes refused to act. Goertzel's skull was fractured and Wolf was hurt internally.

AN APPEAL FROM CHILE.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Suffering is very great," says Mr. Hicks, American minister to Chile, in a dispatch received by the state department today urging the people of the United States to lend a helping hand for the relief of the distress caused by the recent earthquake that destroyed Valparaiso and did great damage in other Chilean towns. The dispatch says that action should be prompt and suggests that funds be sent to Santiago by cable.

Officials at the state department regret the recent lack of interest shown in the misfortune of this sister republic of the United States.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—It became known today that an attempt on the life of Krzyshchensky, vice minister of the interior, was made a few days ago. A revolutionist, attired as an army officer, appeared at the chancellery of the interior and asked for an audience with the vice minister, but while the revolutionist was waiting for a porter to take him to the minister's office, he was arrested. The man could be arrested he became aware that he was the object of suspicion and succeeded in escaping from the building.

ALEXANDER BELFORD DEAD.

Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—Alexander Belford, who some years ago was the proprietor of a book and magazine publisher of Chicago, died at Good Samaritan hospital in this city today of paralysis. Mr. Belford had been ill for several months. He married the daughter of Andrew McNally of Rand. McNally publishing company of Chicago. J. A. McNally of Chicago, a brother-in-law of the deceased, who came to Los Angeles to see Mr. Belford some time ago, is seriously ill at a hospital in this city.

REAL ESTATE TRUST CO. WRECK INVESTIGATION.

Philadelphia, Sept. 7.—Three separate investigations of the wrecking of the Real Estate Trust company, officers of which are now in progress, and it is expected that by the time the examinations have been concluded every irregular transaction and the name of every director, officer or employee of the institution which may have had a hand in the unlawful proceedings, will be known to the investigators. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell, with a corps of assistants, is pursuing his investigation to learn whether any other persons connected with the institution are criminally liable for the ruin of the institution and the state of Pennsylvania, through its banking commissioners, John A. Barker, this afternoon began a thorough examination of the condition of the trust company.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Dist. Atty. Bell said that until today he had only investigated the complicity of Frank K. Hippie, the dead president. Adolph Segal, the promoter, and J. V. P. Smith, the cashier, were also being investigated. The investigation is being conducted by the state and federal authorities, and the company is being kept under close guard.

Returns From Europe to Probe Coal Land Frauds

Judge John A. Marshall of the Federal Court Back From His Vacation in Paris, Where His Daughters Are in School—Understood That Corporation "Dummies" Will Not Be Prosecuted if They Testify to the Truth.

The term of court ahead of Judge Marshall promises to be an important one. There are the land fraud cases, not all of which have yet been filed, and a decision to hand down in the smelter cases, in addition to the regular routine. On these two matters a great deal of public interest will center.

The first work of the courts, following Judge Marshall's return, will begin Monday next in Ogden, when a session will be held at 2 p. m. This will be merely for the setting of cases on a later date. No court will be held in Salt Lake until the regular October term. It may be remembered that the coal land cases so far filed are merely civil, and yet they seem to indicate that criminal cases are due. It was known that these were not filed at that time because it was impossible to secure a grand jury during the absence of Judge Marshall. It is now expected that the coal land situation will be canvassed by the next grand jury and indictments brought against all those whom there is probable cause to consider guilty of fraud.

The people in Salt Lake and elsewhere who are said to have acted as "dummies" for coal company agents, are not thought to be in danger of prosecution, but will be summoned as witnesses. They are expected to tell the truth, and all of it they know, and unless it is for perjury while on the stand, no cases will be pushed against them. The "News" is informed from an authoritative source that this will be the government's program.

for the tomb of St. Ignatius and also before the altar where the arm of St. Francis Xavier is preserved.

He Will Go to Indiana and Marry the Other Woman.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—The wife of Prof. Charles H. Frye, at one time head of the Cook county normal school and who recently returned to his home after an absence of 21 years, was today granted a divorce from her husband.

A Mrs. Goddard of Hurley, S. D., declared that 20 years ago she had been married to Frye under the name of Goddard without knowing that he had a wife in this city. Frye, who was in jail facing a trial for bigamy, was given his release after the granting of the divorce, which was coupled with Mrs. Goddard's divorce from Hammond, Ind., to be married. The laws of Illinois forbid the marriage of divorced people within one year from the time of the granting of a divorce.

CALHOUN TO RESIGN AS PRES. OF UNITED RAILROADS

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—The Chronicle says today:

Patrick Calhoun, president of the United railroads, will resign from that office within the next two weeks and Thorneville Mullaly, now acting as assistant to the president, will be elected to the office of president by the board of directors. Although this has not been officially announced, it is not denied by the officials of the United railroads. Patrick Calhoun has interests all over the United States and the San Francisco system does not comprise one-third of his interests. As president of the United Railroads and Investment company, he has charge of the United railroads of Pittsburgh, lines in Cleveland and in some of the important cities of the south. To oversee this tremendous system takes a great deal of time and as San Francisco is somewhat removed from the field of operations, he has determined to turn over the guidance of the local system to Thorneville Mullaly, who has had practical charge of it since last February.

Although Calhoun will step down from the office of president, he will still be a member of the board of directors and will have a great interest in the affairs of the company.

SECY. SHAW ADMONISHES GOV'T DEPOSITARIES.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Secy. Shaw has made public a circular letter dated today to all national bank depositaries in which he says in effect that he expects public moneys in depository banks to be kept in the communities where it is deposited and not loaned through brokers and other agents in New York for speculative purposes.

The letter is as follows:

I am advised that many banks, scattered throughout the country, are being tempted to make a full surrender to the reactionist influences at court but says his efforts are foredoomed to failure and adds that he must yield to the demand for the abolition of the parliament. Even the Novoye Vremya is noncommittal.

The attitude of the Moscow press towards the premier's announcement of his policy is not sympathetic. The leaders of the peaceful regeneration party who are gathering at Moscow after touring the country in the interests of their party have slight hope of the government winning the elections, not even with the aid of the reforms.

To the correspondent of the Associated Press at Moscow, M. Guchkov, Count Heyden and others said they were all impressed with the tone of the premier's note, but unless the distribution of lands and the removal of the restrictive laws bearing on the peasantry and old believers had a more sweeping effect than anticipated the coming parliament was apt to be even more radical than the first one.

The resounding of universities is practically certain. Meetings of students and the councils of various institutions have adopted the same view as did the revolutionary students of St. Petersburg yesterday evening, namely, that it is advisable to abandon entirely all destructive tactics and to resume the studies, instead of making the universities centers for the revolutionary movement.

BANK CLERKS.

In Convention Decide It Is Their Duty To Expose Superiors' Wrongdoings.

New York, Sept. 7.—A special to the Times from Atlantic City, N. J., says: The American Institute of Bank Clerks, with a membership of 6,700, decided at its annual convention here yesterday that it was the duty of clerks in financial institutions to expose irregularities on the part of their superiors. The convention burst into a roar of applause when Dean Joseph P. Johnson of the New York university school of commerce, referring to the Real Estate Trust company scandal said:

"Even the people in Philadelphia today have a good deal of confidence in banks."

WEBER GETS REPRIEVE.

Sacramento, Sept. 7.—Gov. Pardee, at the request of Atty. Gen. Webb and Dist. Atty. Robinson, has granted a reprieve of 15 days to Adolph Weber, sentenced to be hanged next Wednesday at Folsom for the murder of his father, mother, sister and brother at Auburn.

LAST DAY OF QUADRIUM.

Rome, Sept. 7.—This being the last day of the quadrium preparatory to the election of a general of the congregation of the company of Jesuits tomorrow, additional prayers were offered by the delegates in their quarters in the college; special prayers were also said in all the Jesuit churches, principally at the Jesuit hospital, before the tomb of St. Ignatius and also before the altar where the arm of St. Francis Xavier is preserved.

He Will Go to Indiana and Marry the Other Woman.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—The wife of Prof. Charles H. Frye, at one time head of the Cook county normal school and who recently returned to his home after an absence of 21 years, was today granted a divorce from her husband.

A Mrs. Goddard of Hurley, S. D., declared that 20 years ago she had been married to Frye under the name of Goddard without knowing that he had a wife in this city. Frye, who was in jail facing a trial for bigamy, was given his release after the granting of the divorce, which was coupled with Mrs. Goddard's divorce from Hammond, Ind., to be married. The laws of Illinois forbid the marriage of divorced people within one year from the time of the granting of a divorce.

CALHOUN TO RESIGN AS PRES. OF UNITED RAILROADS

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—The Chronicle says today:

Patrick Calhoun, president of the United railroads, will resign from that office within the next two weeks and Thorneville Mullaly, now acting as assistant to the president, will be elected to the office of president by the board of directors. Although this has not been officially announced, it is not denied by the officials of the United railroads. Patrick Calhoun has interests all over the United States and the San Francisco system does not comprise one-third of his interests. As president of the United Railroads and Investment company, he has charge of the United railroads of Pittsburgh, lines in Cleveland and in some of the important cities of the south. To oversee this tremendous system takes a great deal of time and as San Francisco is somewhat removed from the field of operations, he has determined to turn over the guidance of the local system to Thorneville Mullaly, who has had practical charge of it since last February.