WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN UTAH.

The following is from the report of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association, read by Matilda J. Hindman, at the annual meeting of the American Woman Suffrage Association at the Opera House, Detroit, Mich., Oct. 13, as reported in the Woman's Journal—

During the session of Congress we spent some time in the Capital, purposing to work for the enfranchisement of the women of the District of Columbia and of the Territories, but finding that Congress was more likely to disfranchise the women who already possessed this right, than to enfranchise others, our efforts were used, as far as possible, to prevent this backward step.

Had we been a voter we might have had less trouble to convince some of our friends of their duty in this affair.

Several bills were introduced, any one of which, if it became a law, would have disfranchised the women of Utah.

The McKee bill had been referred to the House Committee on Territories.

While the subject was under discussion in the committee, by invitation of the members on two occasions we stated our views.

One of the members, before the committee convened, gave his reason for favoring the passage of the bill.

"The women's vote sustains polygamy," said he, "and to destroy that, I would take the right of suffrage from every woman in the Territory."

"Would it do that?" we enquired.

"I think it would."

"Did polygamy exist in the Territory before the women voted?"

"Oh! yes."

"Have they ever had the privilege of voting against it?"

"No, that has never been made an issue, but they voted to send a polygamist to Congress."

"Did any man vote for him?"

"Yes, more than eleven thousand men, and ten thousand women."

"How many voted for the opposing candidate?"

"Something less than two thousand men and women together."

I found on examination this was correct.

"You intend to disfranchise the men who voted for this man," we said.

"Oh! no."

"Then the polygamist can still come to Congress by a majority of five to one." Though this was true, he seemed to think it would be very wrong to disfranchise the men.

How many of the Committee reasoned as this one we are unable to say, but the majority wished to disfranchise the women, as they returned the bill to the House with the obnoxious sections unchanged.

The friends of Woman, by their honest work, prevented action being taken on the bill, and perhaps saved the country the disgrace of having done such a great wrong, which it could not soon have undone.

There was something more vital to the wellbeing of the nation in this, than some of our Legislators were willing to admit. Had they passed this act they would probably have laid the foundation for the ruin of the nation.

If Congress has the power to disfranchise one class, it, undoubtedly, has the power to disfranchise another, and what freeman in such a case is secure in his rights?

Similar bills were before the Senate and House Judiciary Committee.

Should we go before these and argue, beg, plead, and pray that justice be done?

No. Had we not learned that there is nothing so powerless as the powerless in law?

Such can do nothing of themselves, but with powerful allies the weakest may conquer the strongest. Seek such, before you enter the contest.

Those in authority have little regard for the wishes of those who have no power to place them in, or remove them from office.

The question came, Where shall we look for help among those in power?

To the true, the trusted, and the tried. To those of the grandest intellect and purest heart. To the friends of the weak and oppressed. Our appeal should be made to the highest, to the honorable, and most honored, Charles Sumner.

He cordially granted us a hearing. When we stated the object of our visit he quietly remarked, "You have come to the wrong person. I have no influence with these men."

After talking some time on the subject he said, "I should hesitate to take this right from any who now possess it. I will go further, I would be willing to grant it to those who have it not."

He afterwards remarked, "I shall investigate this matter thoroughly."

"The Bill passed the Senate last year and many good men voted for it," we said.

He kindly apologized for their action in these words: "They did not fully realize the nature of the bill, they had not examined it carefully."

"Had it deprived them, or any class of men, of the right to vote, would they not have realized what it meant, and voted differently?" we inquired.

"In that case they would doubtless have had sharp eyes to note all its defects," he answered with a smile. "I did not vote on it. I was sick in bed at the time. Have you seen Mr. Frelinghuysen in reference to this?" was his next inquiry.

"We have not, it seems useless; a man who would frame such a bill would not be likely to change it."

"I must say that you will have performed your duty very badly if you neglect to see him," he said. "Go to his house, he has a nice home, an excellent wife and accomplished daughters, he will receive you in a kind and gentlemanly manner."

We followed his advice, saw Mr. Frelinghuysen, Mr. Edmunds and others.

Mr. Frelinghuysen declared he would not change his bill however much he might be abused, referring to something that had been said publicly about his action in this matter.

The principal reason he gave for wishing to disfranchise the women of Utah was that the man who had twelve wives would have thirteen votes while the man who had only one wife would have but two. Of course these women would have no opinions of their own to express; only husbands have personality.

We thought it would be almost as reasonable, and quite as Christian a method of avoiding the evil of giving one man more power than another, to prevent men having so many wives, as to take from all women, whether wives or not, the right to express their opinion on subjects of importance to themselves and others.

Two days after we again met Mr. Sumner and stated the result of our efforts.

His first remark was, "I shall talk with Mr. Frelinghuysen, he is a good Christian gentleman, and does not wish to do wrong."

"Senator Edmunds views the subject in the same light."

"That is unfortunate; as Chairman of the Committee he would have been great aid to you."

"You should see Senator Anthony; also Senator Sargent. He has publicly espoused the cause."

They are men of influence and can be trusted; and Mrs. Sargent is an excellent lady, she is engaged in this work. These can tell what is best to be done.

In comparing the manner of working in this and the Anti-slavery cause he said; "That was accomplished by working both in Congress and out. It never could have been done by either the people or Congress alone; so, in this, if you wish to succeed, you must educate the people and urge Congress to enact such laws in reference thereto, as it has power to do."

In answer to the request that he might publicly announce to the Association, which we represented, his views, he said:

"I shall let my actions, not my words, tell what I am."

"You did not do so in the case of the black man," we ventured to remark.

"No, but I shall in this."

In a moment after, he said: "I will present to the Senate any memorial or petition you may wish, and then refer it to the Judiciary Committee; that is the best way to do."

His farewell words were:

"Whether you succeed or not, I wish you all well."

We have been thus particular to state Mr. Sumner's views, as expressed on these two occasions, because many of the opponents of Woman Suffrage assert that he was unfriendly to the reform.

Every expression, every word, his whole manner proved him a friend, not an enemy; and by no means an indifferent friend, as too many are.

Just three weeks from the day of our last conversation with Mr. Sumner, his work on earth ceased, and the cause of justice lost a grand friend.

On the morning of February 20th we handed him a Suffrage Memorial, which he presented to the Senate, and referred to the Judiciary Committee, which was almost his last official act.

The women of Utah were not disfranchised. Doubtless this was chiefly owing to the searching, logical editorials of the Woman's Journal, which placed the subject in its true light before the people, together with the action of the advocates of Woman Suffrage in New England, New York, Pennsylvania and other States. We claim this as a grand victory for Woman Suffrage.

The following is from the report of the New York Association, read by Miss Mary F. Eastman.—

When the bill, disfranchising the women of Utah, came before Congress, our representatives were promptly petioned to use their influence against the measure.
