The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Northern Pacific Railroad today elected Directors. J. Gregory Smith, of St. Albans, Vermont, was chosen President of the Board, and O. H. Barney, Treasurer.

SARATOGA, 10.—The newly discovered Saratoga geyser has created such a sensation that the hotels are to be supplied with its waters. Arrangements have already been made for its introduction to the grounds of the New Union.

New York.—The new charter for this city, introduced into the Assembly, provides that the term of the mayor shall expire in December and a new one be elected for two years. The board of police commissioners will be increased to five, and elected for five years.

The board of supervisors will be remodelled and increased to eighteen, three from each of the six districts; they will be elected for three years. The board of education will be increased to eighteen, and elected the same as the supervisors.

A portion of each board goes out yearly. The aldermen will be chosen as now. The tax commissioners and the commissioners for the Croton aqueduct and Central Park will all be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the aldermen.

The board estimates that the appropriation, when established, will consist of a comptroller for the corporation council, two judges of the superior court. The board of health will consist of a health officer and two practical physicians.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Interest in American Securities.—More about the Infallibility Absurdity.—A Church Rate Rejected.—Great meeting of Conservatives.

LONDON.—A strong speculative interest in American securities is developing here and on the continent. Among the propositions before the Ecumenical Council is one declaring the Pope to be infallible in matters of faith and practice.

In the Commons this evening a bill to establish a rate to provide for the maintenance of ministers and mauses in Scotland was rejected by a majority of 117.

The Conservative Association held a banquet to-night. Fowler, M. P. for Falmouth, occupied the chair. He was supported on the right by the Duke of Marlboro, Earl Hamilton, Sir J. Pakington, Hunt, Mowbray and Sir Jno. Hayes; on the left by the Duke of Abernethy, Sir Stafford Northcote, Mr. Lyell and others.

Four hundred guests were present, including Disraeli and most of the principal men of the conservative party. There is a growing tendency to oppose the Irish education bill, especially by the Non-conformists.

Letter from Earl Derby, the Marquis of Salisbury, and Lord Lennox were read, regretting their unavoidable absence. Lord Hamilton, in reply to a toast, made reference to what he termed the "cheese paying" policy of the administration towards the army.

This was received with loud applause. Sir J. Pakington responded, in similar terms. He said there was still left of the army, bravery, efficiency, and discipline which would be the same through all time. The policy of the present government, condemned by all parties, to disconnect the army and reduce the force by 24,000 men was an injudicious remedy.

It was easier to dissolve than to re-embolden the army. Happily for the country, it had another force indissoluble, armed with truth, viz. the conservative party, which had enlisted to defend long established institutions, not excepting the Irish Church. Belcher responded for Beresford. The Chairman proposed the health of the leaders of the conservative party, and eulogised Lord Derby. Gathorne Hardy, in reply, said the party was now in a minority in Parliament, hence all its battles were fought outside of London.

He had ever been faithful to conservatism, which was growing in all the great centres of trade and manufactures and he was sure of the future ascendancy of the party.

FRANCE.

The Government of Algeria. In the corps legislatif, to-day, a debate took place on the government of Algeria. Jules Favre demanded that the affairs of that province be regulated through the legislation of both Chambers and not by senator or consul of the nation.
