Hawley inquired of the Chair wheth-er this bill was retroactive in its operations. (Laughter.) The Chair replied that in his opin-ion it was not. (Renewed laughter.) Butler called up his resolutions of inquiry relating to the alleged organ-ization of the Territory of Dakota into

Vest said the Senate by its record now stood committed to the fact that there was such a thing in existence as the State of Dakota, the papers here tofore presented by Harrison and read from the desk having borne the words "State of Dakota." A body of gentlemen coming here representing Dakota, style themselves the Executive Committee of the State of Dakota, the chairman of it being Hugh J. Campbel who was not unknown to fame since Hayes ladministration for a zealous and not over-scrupulous political assistance to that administration. This person, as Vest saw by the newspapers was to receive an ovation for having received the recognition of the United States Senate for "The Statehood of the State of Dakota."

Plumb thought Mr. Vest was giving

In reply to a remark by Vest as to the conditions on which the Territory ight be admitted to the Union, Harison said there was no such thing as breaking out of this Union. Vest said we were not talking of reaking out, we had settled that. Harrison - Then there could have cen no point to the Senator's re-

Vest argued the question of admis son from a legal point of view, and in seted that under the decisions of the United States Supreme Court in former cases of admission, the recent action to Dakota was revolutionary. He ted Judge Cooley and other authoriies to the effect that an enabling ac was necessary as a preliminary to the admission of a Territory as a State and asked what more outrageous insult could be offered to the govereignty of the United States than the actions of men responsible for the recent develop-ments in Dakots. McMillan replied that the whole state ticket had been elected in Minnesota several months before the State was admitted, and Douglass of Indi-ana had taken a position strongly in favor of the admission of that State.

Ingalls suggested the case of the addission of Kansas. Plumb showed that the first Senator from Kansas had been waiting in Washington ready to take his seat on be admission of that State and took his seat in the Schate on the day fowing the act of admission, and that had not been suggested to be revolutionary. He thought it presented an exactly similar case to this of Dakota. Vest had not specially looked up the thousand men and boys were at work question of the admission of Kansas on the various openings, but at the although Missouri took the same interest in that admission: "For," said he, "a large portion of our personal property escaped into that State." Plumb said—"Yes, some that was black."

Logan auggested sotto voce that the reason urged for trying to get the State into the Union might be applied to an Vest said if he had been disposed to be offensive he might have remarked that the Senators from Illinois and Iu-diana anticipated that three electoral

Washington, 18.—The consideration of the report of the committee on rules was resumed, the pending amendments being that offered by Springer, of Illinois, to abolish the various committee of the consideration of the consi of expenditures in the different De-partments and to concentrate their dates in one committee consisting of to members. In advocating this amendment Springer stated that during the past ten years the clerks of these committees had been paid $250,000 while as far as he could remember but two of them had made reports, one being the committee on expenditures in the War Department in the Forty-Fourt's Congression and the other the committee on
