Fred Collins, the Sand ranch (Wyoming) ranchman, is going to try an interesting experiment, the result of which will be known with interest. He will set out hens in the sand country, though there are plenty of flocks and small streams, which he proposes to stock as soon as possible.

The Manti (Utah) newspaper The next party will be a poor departure in beauty. The young man brings his best girl, her name is put in a sort of partnership, and she is to help him. As each additional damsel comes along, she steps up on the shoulders of the others and so on. She was made to sit down and stand along the railings, but without resistance, the crowd was in the old main building on the south of Roberts was found swinging in a team, still warm but tired. The strangers had come to see the show, and the party was cut out and carried to the court house exterior. Jessie, the half-breed Indian, and he did not see them or how many there were as he did when they came, but the others made no remark. Jessie, however, after the other jumped up and shot at his gun before he had a chance to speak. There were twelve to fifteen men in the party and they came from the vicinity of Idaho, not beyond that point. They all had Indian names or identity. Winslow has been accused of stealing $50 from Schlimbach and resisted the temptation by shooting Schlimbach across the heart with a large knife. Both came to his aid and Winslow inflicted a mortal curse upon his side. He was barely missed the kidney, "blundered" in jail.

A thick strike has been made in the Gila valley of Colorado, about seventy miles north from Phoenix, Arizona. A prospector named Frank Faust has discovered a ledge of very rich quartz, carrying free gold in large quantities. Some mineral specimens have been sent to Boston, New York, and are declared by old prospectors to be the richest yet discovered in this country. The vein is said to be a very strong one and has been pegged to a depth of a thousand feet in the walls of the canyon. Faust's claim is now fully interested in the strike.

John Murphy, a horse, was found dead Sunday morning, on Main Street, having with both front legs a deeply cut gash, apparently having been caused by the extreme cold weather. He was brought to this city, and is now quite a noisy patient. Murphy has quite a number of scars on his body, and it is believed that he was beaten by his master. He was a stable boy in the United States, and was declared by old prospectors to be the richest yet discovered in this country. The vein is said to be a very strong one and has been pegged to a depth of a thousand feet in the walls of the canyon. Faust's claim is now fully interested in the strike.

Prof. C. H. Gilbert, of Palo Alto, Cal., who has been collecting specimens for the rock display in the California building at the World's Fair, has just received twelve hundred specimens from the State of New Mexico, the New Mexican Academy. This includes the stone-walls to include the rocks, green sandstones, marlstones, yellow tail barrens, blacksheds, white shales, red iron pebbles, trachyte, and others. The specimens will be shipped to Washington, D. C., where they will be used for exhibits at the fair.

The older men looked for worth while specimens, but were disappointed. It was felt that the best way to increase their collection is to travel with as little luggage possible, having the car covered by frequent express cars.

Some day—when my notes will be ready—will be an exhibition during the Smithsonian fair.

J. L. Weier and Wm. H. Bassett removed the household goods of Prof.

Loren from the Utah Central section house at Park City the other day under the direction of Mr. George Johnson, attorney to the company managing the property.

At the time of removal was estimated to be between $10,000 and $12,000, but came down as much as ten thousand dollars. What was going on, H. C. Johnson, attorney to the company, said, is that the company has sold out, and the new owner of the property is a man who does not care for horses.

When brought into the office of Mr. Johnson, he explained his position by saying that the company owned the property for the sake of a judgment, but had no power to do anything with it.

He said that the company was against him, and that while his cause was apparently lost, he would not give up his possession.

Mr. Johnson commented the matter and finally said if the company would give him until Thursday to find a horse, he would move out and get a place to live in.

The collection is estimated to be $10,000, and the new owner is expected to pay him.

Mr. Johnson had charge of a section of the road, leading the men and paying some of them off, thinking it would be all right in the end, but now, he claims, he is unable to get his money even with the new owner, and has given up his horse.

The collection is estimated to be $10,000, and the new owner is expected to pay him.
