Suspected Foul Play.—Dead Body

Found. Nephi, June 25, 1878.

Editors Deseret News:

Yesterday a son of Richard Pay, a gentleman who has a sheep herd on Sevier River, discovered the dead body of a man in the river, about ten miles west of the bridge. There was a rope round his neck and a rock in a gully sack tied to his feet. The body was taken from the water and covered with branches of trees, to protect it while Mr. Pay came to this place and reported to the office. The coroner and party went last night, to make examination, but have not yet returned.

District Court.—The People, et al., vs. John A. Nelson, implicated with others; separate trial allowed; trial by jury.

The People, et al., vs. Isaac Hunter et al, defendant arraigned and plead not guilty.

The People vs. M. Thomas et al, on good cause being shown, and on motion of the District Attorney, it was ordered that the cause be dismissed as to defendant McGinnis.

Win. G. Van Horn, applicant for admission to the bar of this court; Judge Bennett, Hoge and Backlin appointed as a committee of examination as to the applicant's qualifications.

Petroleum.—A very important discovery has been made by Mr. J. E. Hutchings, and located by that gentleman and Messrs. William R. Folson, Thomas Venard and W. H. Lister. It is a species of sandstone, containing thirty-five per cent. of crude petroleum. The parties visited the location a short time since and succeeded, by means of a small relet, in extracting a quantity of oil, a specimen of which is before us. From the crude material, which exists in immense quantities. In its unrefined state the oil is one of the best of lubricators. It is thought the location has struck something in which there is a good deal of money.

Welcome Visitors.—Sister H. W.

Rees, of Wales, Sanpete County, writes that, on the 22nd inst., Sister Eliza R. Snow and Zina D. Young, from this city, Sisters Gouldsborough of Nephi, and M. A. Hyde, of Spring City, met and held meeting with the Sisters of the first named place, at the residence of Bishop John E. Ross. Sister Snow made some very interesting and instructive remarks, on the duties of the Saints, exhorting them to faithfulness, and counseling them to heed the warnings of prophecy; to store up grain against a day of need, to uphold and institute home manufactures, to raise silk, make clothing, etc., and in every way build up the kingdom of God, temporally as well as spiritually. The Bishop was absent, but his counsel attended the meeting, and all experienced a portion of the good spirit that generally prevailed.

The Regions of the North.—Last evening the lecture delivered in the 14th Ward Assembly Rooms, by Captain Tuttle, on his personal observations and incidents of travel in the Polar Regions, was attended by a rather small but very much interested audience.

He stated that he reached the north as 82 deg. latitude, while engaged in whaling. The nearer he approached the Pole whales became more abundant and the farther he traveled in that direction the more interested he became. At 76 deg. the compass dipped and became useless. This he attributed to the existence of metals at the bottom of the ocean, particles of which were brought up upon the sounding-rod. He passed the north star, which was as visible in the day time in that latitude as it is in this in the night.

Finally a barrier or belt of ice, which proved to be twelve miles wide, was reached. An opening in this was sought for and one was found, but the current in it was so swift as to make the passage impracticable with a "whaler." In this current were seen broad leaves and pieces of wood, proving the existence of land on the other side. Some of the pieces of wood had upon them the mark of tools, some of the indentations being of such formation as to lead to the supposition that they were made with an adze. This proved to him not only that there was land beyond, but also that it was inhabited.

Near the ice barrier the temperature was comparatively mild and the water was of greenish color. Captain Tuttle and a number of other men traveled some distance over the ice belt. On the way, one man slipped into a fissure, and was never seen any more. The others then, as a precautionary measure, tied oars across their backs and attached to each other by means of ropes for purposes of mutual aid, in case of another similar accident occurring. When the summit of the ice barrier was reached, the eyes of the party were greeted by a sight of the "Open Polar Sea," mentioned by the others of the explorers of the North. By the aid of a marine glass, Capt. Tuttle was enabled to see, apparently at a distance of about sixty miles, a cloudy substance, which might have been land. But of this he could not be positive.

Incidentally the lecturer stated his conviction that Captain Hall, the indefatigable explorer, was poisoned by one or more of his fellow voyagers. He heard him make a speech at Cincinnati, a short time before his departure, in which he said, with great determination, that he would reach the Pole or never return alive. Capt. Hall was determined, it was contended, to push on in his explorations, while some of the others became afraid and put him out of the way, one Buddington being the party upon whom the strongest suspicion rested. On account of the belief of the latter-day Saints regarding the location of the "Lost Tribes of Israel," in the "North Country," information regarding that region has a peculiar interest for them. We have given the leading points of the lecture, which Captain Tuttle claims to be an account of his own personal experience and observation.

The lecture would be still more interesting if condensed, by the Captain confining himself strictly to the subject, instead of introducing material essentially extraneous to it.

The Temple.—This morning we called upon the Church architect, Brother Truman O. Angell, at his office, on the Temple Block, and was much interested with some of the details of the design of that noble structure, which he kindly took the trouble to explain to us. Brother Truman has all the details reduced to mathematical precision, and everything pertaining to the actual work, as it progresses, is so nicely systematized that it goes on "like clock work," so to speak.

Where the masons are at work the walls are raised to the bottom of the elliptical windows, or twelve feet, four inches from the point where the upper story will begin. The architect assures us that, if nothing unforeseen intervenes to prevent, the walls can easily be raised to the latter point next season, and probably some distance higher.

The architectural labor connected with the building is necessarily heavy, on account of the peculiar character of the structure, each part of it having an expensive and symbolical meaning or significance. It will be dissimilar, in many respects, to any other building in existence, the only ones bearing a resemblance to it being the Temple at Kirtland and that at St. George, and yet it largely differs from those and is being constructed upon a far grander scale.

Land Surveys.—

SALT LAKE CITY, June 25, 1878.

The following township plat with descriptive lists, showing the exterior and subdivisional surveys Township No. 24 south, range No. 13 west, 10 1/2 E. 12 N.

executed by Newell E. Britt, United States Deputy Surveyor, were this day filed in the Local Land Office in this city.

FREDERICK SALOMONSON, U. S. Surveyor-General.

Accidentally Killed.—Brother

Joseph Horne, of this city, has received a telegram from his son, Bishop H. J. Horne, of Paris, Dear Lake County, stating that Thomas Sutton, a lad about 10 years of age, while working in the cotton, with his brother John, was killed by a falling log. He was a son of Joseph and Margaret Sutton, and a nephew of Brother Horne, our informant.

Crowded House.—The concert

for the benefit of the Welsh aid fund, at the 8th Ward Assembly Rooms, last night, was very successful, the house being crowded and the performance, under the direction of Brother John Chamberlain, being excellently rendered.

First Race.—The first race

under the auspices of the recently organized Driving Park Association was to come off at three o'clock this afternoon, at Agricultural Park.

Returned.—Miss Mary

This morning we received a call from Elder Louis Howell, of Wellsville, Cache County, who returned from a mission to Wales, with the first company of the season. He left to go to Europe, April 27th, 1876. He labored both in North and South Wales, as traveling Elder. He baptized eighteen persons himself, besides assisting in bringing a number of others into the Church. He paid the passage to Utah of two persons and extended some aid to others.

He visited some of the conferences in England, and enjoyed his mission greatly.

Harvesting.—Bishop F. Kester, of the 16th Ward, commenced cutting wheat yesterday on his farm, near the Point of the Mountain West. He has raised that class of cereal on the same land for ten years, and without irrigating the land, the only water it received being the rains. This year the yield will be from twenty to twenty-five bushels to the acre. We have seen a specimen of the wheat, which appears excellent, not being shrunk in the least, but is full and plump. He will probably dispose of the crop to parties who desire it for sowing on "dry farms," for which it is admirably adapted.

Bad Accident.—This afternoon, about two o'clock, two men, named McGinnity and Ward, were terribly burned by an explosion of powder, in City Creek Cañon. It appears that the two men were engaged in manufacturing blast powder, and the material they were using exploded in some unaccountable manner. They were injured very badly about the head and face, and all the upper part of their bodies. Their fingers were lacerated in climbing out of the ruins made by the explosion. They were brought to the city by a passing team, and taken to the office of Dr. Hamilton, where they were being cared for when we went to press.
