ROLL OF HONOR.Names of Two Utah Women Appear in Notable British Publication.

MRS. WELLS AND MRS. GATES.

Book "An Annual Biographical Record of Women Who Have Worked For the Public Good."Copies of "The Roll of Honor," an English publication, whose sub-title is "Annual Biographical Record of Women Who Have Worked For the Public Good," have been received in Salt Lake, and it is interesting to note that it contains the names of two Utah women. They are Mrs. Emmeline B.
Wells and Susie Young Gates.The book is the 1906 edition and is published at and under the auspices of the officers of "The Gentle Woman," a periodical of the English aristocracy.
In the editor's foreword occurs this introductory statement:"I believe no illustrated record exists of women who have devoted a large portion of their lives to the furtherance of objects of usefulness to the state or to the individual.
"This roll of honor contains interesting biographical details, all specially written of women who have achieved distinction in work for the public good in the arts and professions. Position in the social world, often the mere accident of birth, does not suffice to include in this roll of honor, its object being to record, in a permanent form, something of the strenuous lives of the gentler sex who work to further objects of usefulness to the state or to the individual.The special feature of this work, which will be issued annually, is that the biographies are illustrated with portraits, a new idea in an annual book reference.This volume, which contains nearly 50 biographies, must necessarily have all the defects of the first edition. Each year the number of biographies will increase, until we have included in the roll of honor all who are entitled to find a place therein.Included in the biographies are sketches of her majesty, Queen Alexandra, Lady Lugard, the Hon. Mrs. B.
Russell, the Countess of Annet, Mrs.
Percy Frankland, F. R. S., E. L. S., the Countess of Jersey, her royal highness, Princess Henry of Battenberg; her imperial majesty, the German empress, her royal highness, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein; Lady William Lennox, Madame Adelaide Patti, her royal highness the Duchess of Connaught and Strathearn, the ex-Empress Eugenie, wife of Napoleon III; Wilhelmina, queen of Holland; her royal highness, Victoria Mary; the Princess of Wales, the Baroness Burdett-Guthrie, her majesty, Carmen Sylva, queen of Roumania, and many more noted European women, both in and out of the titled classes, who have won distinction in the world of letters, philanthropy or industrial achievement and activity.Both Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Gates are given conspicuous position and complimentary mention in this notable publication.When the baby talks, it is time to

NEWSPAPERMAN IS CONSUL.

Government Position for Geo. N. Ifft, Formerly of Salt Lake.The Printer and Publisher has the following to say about the appointment of Geo. N. Ifft as consul at Chatham.
Mr. Ifft was formerly a reporter on one of the Salt Lake papers:It is a wise policy on the part of any government to recruit its consular forces from the ranks of the journalists.
The newspaperman is the man of the world, the man who knows the world and the man who is able to fulfill the duties of a consul in the Province of Ontario, is Mr. George Nicholas Ifft, United States consul at Chatham, Mr.
Ifft is proprietor and editor of the Pacific (Salt Lake) Tribune, which he has purchased about 12 years ago. He received his appointment at Chatham in May.

BEYOND BELIEF

(Pacific Coast Manufacturer's Journal.)

It is amazing that in this intelligent age there should be an almost certain specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, yet but few know of it. The promoters are trying hard enough to tell the people, but patent medicine men, have, with their testimonial bureaus, so imposed upon the people as to create general distrust. The innocent are now suffering with the guilty, for who can pick out the honest from the dishonest statements?Let it be recorded for thoughtful people that these diseases are no longer necessarily fatal; that with care and proper treatment they yield almost to a certainty, and that the species that thus do what nothing else in the world is known to do are known as Fulton's Compounds. I will say that parties desiring it are sent literature. This item is not written by a subeditor, but by the editor of this publication, and I speak by the card.

ABSOLUTELY PURE1905, and entered on the duties of his office last September. Though only located in this country a few months, he has already prepared some admirable reports for his government, which show the results of painstaking research.
Mr. Ifft is a native of western Pennsylvania, where he was born 40 years ago on a farm near the city of Butler.
He spent his boyhood on the farm, subsequently studying at Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster, Pa. After graduating he spent a couple of years in Europe, studying at Berlin, Paris and Leipzig, and took his degree at the latter university. Returning to America he engaged in newspaper work and since then he has done either reporting or editorial work in almost every big city from Philadelphia to the coast.
No sooner had Consul Ifft settled at Chatham than he set to work to compile a series of reports on Canadian trade and allied subjects. That his work has met with the approval of his government is abundantly evidenced by the frequency with which his reports are quoted not only in the Daily Consular and Trade Reports, issued by the department of commerce and labor, but by the daily and trade newspapers in both the United States and Canada. In the past six months he has discussed a great many questions, including the Canadian forestry policy, the beet sugar industry, American immigration, American capital in Canada, etc. Even before his appointment as consul Ifft's information is now, which illustrates the thoroughness with which he has made his investigations.HAVE YOU DYSPESIA, INDIGES-

FROM A BLOW.Two Inmates of State Prison Engaged in a Fatal
Row.

AN INQUEST IS BEING HELD.

Joseph Petelene, an Austrian, the Victim—James Gordon Struck Blow—May be Charged With Murder.Joseph Petelene, an Austrian convict at the state prison, died early last evening, from spinal and cerebral complications due to a blow received over the left eye with a clothes stirrer in the hands of James Gordon, a fellow convict, who was in charge of the laundry, the Saturday previous. The two men had not been getting along very well together, and it was found necessary to have the guards keep an eye on them. On this occasion they were alone for a brief time, and Petelene attempted to put a piece of carpeting from his cell in the wash boiler along with the clothes being boiled there.
Gordon told the Austrian he must wait until the clothing was removed; then he might boil his carpet. The latter was not satisfied and, it is claimed, replied in very unclassical language, and the matter ended by Gordon's whacking Petelene over the head with the clothes stirrer. The guards interfered, and found the Austrian much the worse for the blow. He was removed to the hospital, where Dr. A. C. Young, the prison physician, attended him; and up to Thursday afternoon, it was thought the patient might get well. But it developed that he was suffering also from a constitutional disease which operated against the man's recovery, and complications set in which resulted finally in his death last evening. An inquest is being held today.The warden reports Gordon as a prisoner of the first class, of good conduct since entering, Dec. 15, 1903. He is serving five years for burglary. Petelene had, too, behaved himself since his arrival last January for a three years' sentence for assault with a deadly weapon. He was a second class prisoner, with good chances for advancement to the first grade.

"DIAMONDFIELD JACK."

Western Character Once Accused of Murder, Visits This City.John Davis, otherwise known as "Diamondfield Jack," was a Salt Lake visitor for a short time yesterday. Mr.
Davis is a well known western character, first coming conspicuously before the public eye when he was being tried for his life in Idaho. This was in 1898, and the man was three times condemned to die on a charge of murdering two young shepherders named Wilson and Cummings. Davis was an employee of the Sparks & Herrell Cattle company, and it was for the alleged trespass of the shepherders upon the cattlemen's territory that the killing was done.
Judge O. W. Powers was at one time retained as counsel in the prosecution of Davis. Becoming convinced, however, that the man was not deserving of the death penalty, Judge Powers interceded in his behalf before the state board of pardons. Finally liberty wasDid you evey

"MORMON" ELDERS
ARE HEARD FROMPresident Robinson of the California Mission Explains That They Are Safe.

AND THEY LOST NO BAGGAGE.

How They Became Separated From The Utah Colony in San Francisco After the Catastrophe.The five Elders who became separated from their companions during the panic and stirring incidents in San Francisco on the morning of the great earthquake and fire, have been indirectly heard from and are reported to have left San Francisco in safety with all their baggage intact. The missionaries alluded to were en route to Samoa and Australia, and were to have sailed on the day following the catastrophe. The Elders involved are L.
L. Gardner of Salem, Utah; William Kearson, Cowley, Wyo.; R. S. Remington, Tooele; Mark Hardman, Osmond, Wyo., and Alex. Layton of Thatcher, Ariz. All, with the exception of Elder Layton, who was going to Australia, were bound for Samoa.This good news came to Salt Lake yesterday in the form of a letter from President Joseph E. Robinson of the California mission to Elder George Reynolds of the President's office. The letter is as follows:"I have the pleasure to inform you that the Elders for Australia and Samoa that you wrote me of, all got away in safety on the Alameda for Honolulu, Sunday, April 23, and will be picked up by the Samoan steamer at that port. It is most remarkable that the transfer and railroad baggage men had told them they had no chance to recover their baggage, they afterwards found it intact and piled together, separated from other baggage, and undamaged. This is little short of miraculous, for the baggage map at the depot, said, upon seeing their checks:"Why, boys, you haven't one chance in a thousand to find your baggage again," but permitted them to search, with the result above noted. Neither the Elders nor the baggage men could account for the baggage being where it was found."Why we became separated from them is because in wandering about in the ruined city, they lost track of us for several days, we being forced at one time to move camp a short distance. They came to Oakland for a few days, then returned to San Francisco, where they found the notices I had set up at the mission house site, telling them where to find us. So the first information sent me was incorrect, and I was told the foregoing was reported, or I should have written sooner."Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that

TANNER'S GRATITUDE.

How G. A. R. Commander Lost His Legs—Remembered a Friend.Col. Squires tells the following tale of how Corporal Tanner lost his legs:
"It was at the second battle of Bull Run. Corporal was lying down with his legs crossed when the shell came which shattered him out of the army.
I took his right leg off completely above the ankle, shattering it further up and badly crushing the left leg. A young man named Isaac Lawrence saw him lying there in a mangled condition and picking him up, carried him to where he could get medical assistance. The doctors trimmed the two shattered members off at exactly the same distance, three inches below the knee. Corporal Tanner was in the hospital and lost sight of Lawrence for many months, but when he received from Set. Low, mayor of Brooklyn, the position of collector of that city, the first act was to hunt up the man who had saved his life and give him a lucrative position in his office."
