FRAGMENTS.

The High Council meets in regular session to-morrow night in the Social Hall.

M. E. Cummings has been appointed a notary public for this county by the Governor.

The rumor of the suicide of one of the dead stores, current yesterday, has proved untrue.

The long-lived Hopt murder case will come up in the U. S. Supreme Court early in October.

Foreman Peter Reid, of the Utah Central carpenter, comes, promises to have the new depot building finished by Conference.

Street sprinkling for the wind to-day has been whirling the dust from some of the streets in every direction.

Jacob Moritz accidentally broke one of the large pipes in Smith's drug store yesterday, by leaning too hard against it. He cheerfully paid the glazier's bill, $10.

The list of Presidents and Councilors of the General, State and Ward organizations of the Relief Society of Utah, prepared by Sister E. R. Smith, is just from the press.

It is claimed by the local management of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone Company, that the Molecular phone, now being introduced, is an infringement on their patents.

Nothing unusual in the police court to-day; but several drunks, male and female, and one or two cases of doing business without a license made the day's docket look pretty formidable.

The August 25th issue of the Midland Star contains the short sketch of a little journey recently made in the Scandinavian Mission by President John Henry Smith and Elder Geo. C. Lambert.

The street lamps recently ordered by the City Council, for First Street, from the Theatre corner to Emigration Square, are nearly all in position. Property owners and night pedestrians are thankful.

Another case of diphtheria is reported—a six or seven year old daughter of Brother Joseph H. Felt, of the 11th Ward. At last accounts the child's condition was very critical. General sympathy is expressed for the family.

ED. KELLEY, the Ogden burglar, who was captured while going through the Chamberlain House the other night, is in the Penitentiary, having been brought down yesterday, after being bound over in $200 by Justice Dee, in default of which he was remanded.

An order of the value of $17.35, dated Salt Lake City, June 12th, 1884, payable to Hesa McCormick & Co., drawn on J. E. Jones, Logan, Utah, and signed by Simon Bros., has been picked up. The owner, if it is of any value can get it at this office.

The oyster supply was almost exhausted during the past few days of cool weather. The consequence was the lucky dealers who had a small stock on hand raised the prices about 40 per cent, and have been able to sell even then. The old prices are being restored now.

JOHN H. BURTON, Esq., and his estimable lady are to be congratulated on the birth, yesterday, of their first—a fine healthy boy. The happy father declares that the new comer will be the architect of his own bright fortune, and quotes as proof, that he has made a proper commencement in shouting loud and long and all the time for Cleveland and his race.

Last evening a young man named Theo. Allen, while "riding" around the corner on which is situated the Eagle Foundry, was thrown from his horse, alighting upon his head. Dr. Taggart and others, who happened to be near, administered restoratives, and he soon became conscious and walked off, apparently none the worse for the accident.

LOCAL NEWS.

Notice.—The State secretaries of the Primary Associations are earnestly requested to forward semi-annual reports immediately, in order that a complete report may be made to the General Conference in October.

L. L. R. P. O. N. 1185.
 Salt Lake City.

Arrival.—Elder J. M. Tanner, of Provo, arrived in Liverpool on the 10th inst., per S. S. Albatross, on his way to the continent to see the Swiss people. He is a German misanthrope. Since leaving his home he has visited various parts of the United States with a view to making observations and forming his opinion; and for the same purpose will travel about Great Britain somewhat before proceeding to his field of labor.

Called.—A pleasant call was made at the News office this morning by Mr. John M. Carson and Mr. R. N. Price, both of Washington, D. C., who were introduced by Hon. Geo. Q. Cannon. Mr. Carson is a newspaper man of many years' experience, and is at present associated with the Philadelphia Ledger, against the object of his visit this time to the west, as well as designing to join the two former of Provo, contemplate taking a tour of the Sanpete settlements to attend ladies' meetings. They will probably be absent six or seven days, and expect to visit nearly all the towns of the valley.

The same train took Sisters Ellen S. Clawson, Mary Frazee and Dr. Ellis R. Shipp, to Union, in this county, where they will attend the annual meeting of the primary association, and organize a Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement Association.

To-morrow morning Sister Rachel Gunn and Lavinia Ann Wells, take their departure for Tropic State, where they will attend the conference of the various ladies' societies.

OUT OF WHOLE CLOTH.

A TALK WITH NETHER MORAL NOR TRUTH.

The city organ of the veracious and modest "American gentlemen," noted all the time for the economy with which it uses the truth, and the slender foundation of fact on which it ventures to erect a whole superstructure of fanciful injury or immorality or scandal, had the misfortune last Tuesday morning to put itself in a conspicuously bad light before the public. Its city editor, in his usual sensational way of treating everything, wrote up the finding of the body of a new born babe in the pit of an outhouse, about two blocks west of the D. & R. G. Depot last Friday, efforts to conceal which occurrence it said had been made, but without success. It narrates how a man who went into the outhouse heard the cries of a child, but had to go a second time to find out whence they proceeded, then on peering into the hole he beheld the struggling infant, shouting as loud as the little lungs would allow. He secured assistance, overturned the building and rescued the little one, which was found to be about four or five hours old. Nor was this all; the enterprising reporter declares that the inhuman mother was tracked, found to be a Danish girl, charged with the crime, and that she finally confessed its guilt, stating that she did not want the trouble and expense of bringing the child up. In all of which there is not a single word of truth. There is no outhouse of the kind described in the locality mentioned, hence none was overturned; the babe was not found in the vault, because there is no vault with a vault in that part of the town excepting the one belonging to the D. & R. G., and that, of course, is enclosed, and not open to everybody. Still, slight inaccuracies may frequently occur in a hastily-written article, and that the finally confessed its guilt, it would be claimed this was, upon honest evidence. It would be possible to excuse the mistake about the overturned outhouse and the foul smelling vault, if it were possible to discover that the child had been found at all, under any suspicious circumstances whatever. But no such thing has occurred. No baby has been cast away and none has been found since the two cases referred to in this paper some days ago, or the public would have heard of it. The following of the Danish girl, therefore, and her admission of the crime are nothing but falsehoods manufactured, or at least grossly snappet at, by the duped scribbler.

It may interest the Tribune's readers to know how its reporters get their news. We can tell just what the item about the mythical infant cost, but will not do so for fear of causing a feeling that the price paid was extortionate. We are in possession of information as to how the whole thing started, and there is so little foundation for any real sensation that we would almost be afraid to insult our readers' intelligence by making the tale a matter of such importance. It will be sufficient to say a couple of ladies were conversing about the leaving of the two babies at the doors of Mrs. Wahlgren and Mr. Hemmelfer, when one remarked to the other, "I would not object to a nice little baby boy being left on my door step. I would treat it as if it were my own." This remark was told to one of the husbands who told it again until it finally reached the ears of one who knew how to get it into the paper, at a place where everything revolting is welcome whether true or not.

A gentleman tells us that a similar story to this of the Tribune recently appeared in a Denver paper as having occurred in that city. Perhaps the local scribbler stole the item instead of inventing it. However, what we have given above is all there is in fact to the shocking story of the third little castaway. Will the newspaper concerned have the manhood to confess itself "taken in?"

TERRITORIAL ITEMS.

CULLED FROM LATEST EXCHANGES.

The field of wheat in Apache Co., Arizona, is supposed to be good; but it is not yet known.

The Eastern Arizona Stake Conference begins at St. Johns next Saturday.

At the short session of the First District Court just held in Ogden, a goodly number of aliens secured their naturalization papers.

A grain in Weber County is still under, and has been damaged somewhat by the recent heavy rains.

Mrs. Currier, an invalid lady who with her husband had been visiting relatives in the west, died in her hotel in Ogden night before last.

The Order of the St. Johns (Arizona) favors the nomination and election of Mr. C. P. Head as delegate to Congress from that Territory.

John B. Hill and E. D. Sabury from Wellsville, and James P. Olsen of Millville, Utah, arrived in St. Johns, Arizona, on Saturday, the 30th of August.

M. P. Remney, of St. Johns, Arizona, who was bound over in $500 bonds to answer to the charge of perjury in a land case, was recently discharged, the grand jury ignoring the bill of indictment.

Bishop K. E. Hall, arrested on a charge of polygamy, gave bonds in Prescott, Arizona, recently in $2,000. A. M. Tenney and P. J. Christofferson, arrested on a similar charge, were to give a similar bond and the cases were expected to come up in November.

To Close Out—New Branches of Business.—It is reported that Messrs. Jennings & Sons, the well known and popular merchants of this city, intend going out of the mercantile business very shortly, that is, so far as pertains to the importation and handling of foreign goods. Mr. Frank Jennings, who lately went East to purchase for the fall and winter trade, has been telegraphed to forego his intentions in that respect, as the firm have since decided to close out with their present stock.

It will be remembered that Hon. Wm. Jennings recently purchased the Deseret Woolen Mills, and has taken and is still taking steps to improve the property, develop its capacity and place its products in the local market to an extent hitherto unprecedented in their history. Mr. James Dunn, our readers will also remember, has been engaged and is now acting as the superintendent of the factory.

The firm of Jennings & Sons, it is understood, will handle the products of these mills, in lieu of consignment, and for that purpose the part of the Emporium building now occupied by the grocery department, will be used as a saleroom. The front and main part of the Emporium will be occupied by a bank, another branch of business in which this enterprising firm is about to launch forth. We will doubtless hear more of it anon.

THE UTAH GAZETTEER.

SLOAN AND DUNBAR'S WORK JUST ISSUED.

A volume of 634 pages, cloth bound, a little above octavo size, and well printed, has just been issued by the Herald Publishing Company of this city. The title of the book is "The Utah Gazetteer, and Directory of Logan, Ogden, Provo and Salt Lake Cities, for 1884."

This is the work of which we have before spoken, as containing the combined energies of Messrs. E. W. Sloan and D. C. Dunbar, and upon which the former, who is the editor and compiler, has been actively engaged during the past year or more, traversing the Territory from north to south, gathering up the large amount of information which is now presented to the public in succinct and readable form.

It is, in fact, a history of Utah, her resources, attractions, statistics, etc., with a business directory of the Territory, and general directories of the four principal cities, and is dedicated by the publishers to the business men of Utah, to those interested in the development of her resources and the establishment of a foundation that will insure her permanent prosperity, and to her inhabitants in general.

"Social questions," says the editor's preface, "have long been a controversial and historical Utah have only been treated. The conviction is that all circumstances considered, the progress made by Utah since 1847 is a marvel, an eternal monument that will ever point to the unyielding industry of its people, and tell a story full of the energy of labor and the certain reward of honest toil, that can be pondered over with benefit to future as well as present generations."

"I am under lasting obligation to President Willard Woodruff, Mr. John Jacques, Col. O. J. Hollister, Professor J. E. Clarkson and Dr. Wm. Broderick, and others, Presidents of the Stakes and Bishops—throughout the whole Territory, without whose valuable aid and timely assistance many subjects must have been omitted or imperfectly given. With whatever success this work may meet, much of that success will be due to their kindly and valuable assistance."

We congratulate the editor and publishers on the commendable enterprise they have shown in collating and putting in proper shape for public use and enlightenment, the large quantity of reading material which this volume contains. We predict for it the popularity it deserves, and heartily wish its publishers every success in its distribution.

Tullidge's Quarterly.—The July number of Tullidge's Quarterly Magazine, announced last evening as having been issued, has since come to hand. It is in every way a worthy companion of the preceding numbers, and has the following interesting table of contents:

George A. Smith (with steel plates), the father of the southern settlements; The History of Provo—colonization, Indian wars, growth of the city, commerce, co-operative, the Provo Tabernacle, First National Bank of Provo, Stake Tabernacle, educational record, Brigham Young Academy, music, drama, theatrical, literature, the Provo Postoffice, municipal history, names of the Provo colony, facts worth remembering, biographies: David O. Calder, obituary; A Living Touchstone, by H. W. Naisbitt; Our Utah Poets—Youth and Age, by John Lyon; Spring, by Orison Snow; The Lovers, by Wm. Gill Mills; Biographies—David John, A. O. Smoot; History of Spanish Fork (concluded); Autograph of Wilford Woodruff, chapter III; Pioneer Days in the Mountains, by Hon. John R. McBride; Martha Luther, by Wm. Gill Mills; An Historical Tale, by Hannah T. King; William, Prince of Change, by Edward W. Tullidge; History of Salt Lake City (Part III) 113 pages.

That Mandamus Matter.—The following has been handed in:

Editor Deseret News:

In your last evening's issue, I notice an item headed "Matter of Mandamus." The facts are as follows, to wit: Tutts and Nyström

In the Justice's Court, 3rd Precinct, A. H. Kalleich, J. P.

In the above entitled case judgment was rendered July 17th, 1884, both parties being present, Attorney Burmaster for the plaintiffs, and Attorney Lomax for the defendant. On the 16th of August, over a month ago, the case was filed; on the 16th the exception to the sufficiency of evidence was made; and another surety was added; on the 20th certified transcript was made, and it with the other papers of the case, were transmitted to the Third District Court, and the clerk, per Deputy McMillan, received them.

Now will Judge Zane or some other legal gentleman inform me wherein the statutes are defective in providing for appeals in such cases? And how, if the statutes are defective, can the case be brought before the District Court for the justice before whom said case was tried, and the case be retried? Can the irregularity of an appeal be considered under an affidavit? A SINNER AFTER LIGHT.

Davis County Primaries.—The following has been sent in for publication:

The Primary Associations of Davis State will hold their conference on Saturday, the 20th inst., at East Bountiful, beginning at 10 a. m. They will also open a fair at the same place on Thursday, the 19th, and Friday, the 20th, evening. To prevent its being too crowded on Saturday it is hoped that those holding in the meetings will make it convenient to visit the fair on Thursday and Friday. An admission fee of ten cents for adults and five cents for children will be charged. The fair is for the benefit of the children who donate some small article to be sold during the fair. The proceeds of such sales will be the proceeds of the fair. We sincerely hope that parents will give their children a holiday, and also take a holiday themselves, to visit the Conference and fair on the 19th. AUGUST A. BOWMAN, President.
