OGDEN SOCIAL NEWS.

ogden, Oct. 27.—One of the most laborate social affair of the year and as which will go down in the history of the Fourth ward took place on ursday and Friday evenings in the Thursday and Friday evenings in the vard meeting house and amusement half. It was an event long to be remembered by all who participated, the event including the reunion of the ward and the dedication of the new amusement half which has received been erected, much to the credit of Bishop Edwin T. Woolley, his cannecors and the entire ward. The half is a magnificent brick structure erected at the rear of the ward meeting house and will be used for amusements and sunday school class purposes. The lower story is a spacious dance hall, and the apper story is for class rooms, the structure costing something over 3,-30, and is nearly all paid for. Thurshay evening was for the married people the ward irrespective of creat and appears to the control of the control of the started people. day evening was for the married people of the ward irrespective of creed or nativity. The various committees that had been appointed had made very elaborate preparations, and the immense crowd gathered in the elegant dance hall, where a very fine program was carried out. The gathering was greeted with a very beautiful selection rendered by the ward choir, and opening prayer was effered by Hishop Robert McQuarrie, followed by another choice selection by the choir, Bishop Woolicy then delivered an address of welcome which was full of choice thoughts. Mrs. Mary Farley cang a beautiful solo and Apostle Heber J. Grant addressed the gathering, rehearing the blessings of Ged to His peopel and giving words of encouragement to the members of the ward.

Elder Joseph Stanford offered the dedicatory prayer, dedicating the hall to the Lord and the usage of the people. President Shurtliff made a few remarks upon the great progress which the ward has made, and the blessings which have attended their efferts. Mrs. Mary Farley charmed the gathering with another of her beautiful soles, after which they adjourned to the hall of the meeting house, where a most elaborate menu ing house, where a most elaborate menu was served by the young ladies of the ward. The balls were magnificently decorated, such artistic and beautiful decorations being seldom seen. The flags of our nation, also bunting, were draped on the walls, and flowers, potted plants, palme and evergerens were there in profusion. To appreciate the real beauty of the decorations and the elaborate menu it would be necessary to have seen the affair, and all was done by the members of the ward. On Friday afternoon the little folks of the ward were given a free dance in the hall and supper, and in the evening the young supper, and in the evening the young people of the ward gathered and had a most delightful time, in dancing and other enjoyments. They also partick of the bounteous spread, and there was of the bounteous spread, and there was still much left, enough for another great feast, which was distributed among the poor. It is estimated that about 1,500 people participated in the long to be remembered event.

One of the lending social events of the season took place on Monday af-ternoon when Mas Elizabeth Blair was united in marriage to Mr. John Culley at the elegant home of the bride's par-ents, 2341 Madison avenue, President ents, 224 Madison avenue, President L. W. Shurtliff performing the ceremony. The bome was very teautifully and artistically decorated, with roses, carnations, chrysanthemums, dahlias, evergreens, and paims, and the wall and curtain decorations were pink and white, all making a very beautiful effect. The bridging artistic project the partor at five bridai pair entered the parlor at five o'clock and the solemn ceremony which made them one was then performed. The bride wore a very costly and elaborate gown of blue silk, and carried bride's roses, while the groom wore conventional black. After the cereans the wadding party exthesis. mony the wedding party gathered in the spacious dining room, where a very sumptious wedding repast was served, 7:15 Rio Grande Western train for the East, to be absent about one month. On their return they will make their home in Ogden. Mrs. Culley is one of ogden's most charming young ladies, and very popular among the musical talent of the city. Mr. Culley is one of the city's most efficient and well known drugglats, having followed his chosen profession for several years in this city. There were present at the reception only the immediate families of the contracting parties and a few intimate friends. They have a host of friends in Ogden and other parts of the State who will extend hearty congratulations and wishes tend hearty congratulations and wishes for a long and prosperous life,

On Wednesday evening Miss Ida Recowcroft was the hostess of a very pleasant party given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Woodward and Misses Rawason of San Francisco, at the beautifu home of Hon. John Scowcroft on 26th street, There was one scene of splendor and merrymaking from early in the evening until midnight, vocal and instrumental music was enjoyed, after which delicious refreshments were served in the dining room. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Woodward, Misses Rawiance, Mr. Rolla Emmett, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Scowcroft, Heber Scowcroft Ida Pingree, Will Howarth, Miss Howarth, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scowcroft, Miss Ida Scowcroft and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Rowman. and Mrs. Arnold Bowman.

Friday evening the home of Hon, Dan Hamer was the scene of a very de-lightful surprise party, given in honor of his wife's birthday. The evening was spent in music, vocal and instru mental, and real pleasure, after which a sumptions supper was served and the merry crowd departed, wishing Mrs. Hamer many more years of life and

Mrs. Alpheus J. The Omaha Bee has the following The Omaha Bee has the following to say of the recent session of the Household Economic association which convened in Omaha on October 11th;

The Household Economic meeting was called at 2:30 o'clock, Mrs. Pugh of Omaha in the chair, Of all the branches of club work there is probably none that appeals to all women as does that of domestic science. The auditorium was filled with interested women from all kinds of households and this session unquestionably attracted more women who had come expecting and craying unquestionably attracted more women who had come expecting and craving practical benefit than any other. They were the homemakers of Nebraska. The papers were of the highest order and the discussion from the floor which followed removed all doubt of the practibility of the methods advocated. Mrs. MacMurphy of Omaha was roundly applauded when she rose to speak. She made an earnest appeal for a revision applauded when she rose to speak. She made an earnest appeal for a revision of the state pure food law, with an appropriation of funds to sustain it, and a committee, which should include at least one woman, as inspectors. She urged a practical application of what the women have been learning in their study and that the cooking school of the state fair he continued.

enthusiastically received. This de-partment held an overflow meeting at 1 o'clock, which was largely attended. The organization of a State Household Economic association was the result, with the following officers: President, Mrs. Baker of Norfolk: vice president, Mrs. Steel of Fairbury; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Seymour of Norfolk.

The food was like that generally served in good American families, which may be taken to mean that it was plain, plenteous, well cooked and wholesome. At breakfast, toast, a cereal preparation, griddle-cakes and fruit were provided. The noonday din-ner consisted of soup, two kinds of meat, with vegetables, and dessert. FEMININE FLOTSAM. A WOMAN'S VOTE.

How It Might Elect Our President. What If the women should settle the contest for the presidency, and deter-mine whether Mr. McKinley or Mr. Bryan shall direct the government of the United States for the next four the United States for the years?

They cannot do it, do you say? That remains to be seen. They have it in their power, and a close fight between Mckinley and Bryan outside of Colorado, Idaho, Utah and Wyoming will give the women of those four States a deciding vote in the great political contest now under way.

It is just beginning to dawn on the poliffeal managers that there is a woman vote in this country with which they must recken. In former years the politicians have devoted their energies to denied them in thirteen other States capturing the German vote, the Italian vote, the Scandinavian vote and the Hebrew vote. But from now on they also must look after a new element in also must look after a new element in American politics, the woman vote.

That American women exert great influence in politics has been long recognized by the managers of both great parties. But that influence until now has been regarded merely as an indirect one. For many years there have been appeals to mothers to get their sons to support a certain party or principle.

One of the most experienced Republi-can politicians in the United States, when asked at the Fifth Avenue hotel the other day, said he did not know that women in any of the States could yate for President. Investigation which his reply suggested brought out the in-teresting fact that enough women actually can vote for President to give the fair sex the deciding voice in a close contest. In Colorado, Idaho, 1 tah and Wyoming the women will vote for presidential electors in November, and a con-servative estimate shows that there are nearly 150,000 women in these four States will have the right to vote at this

There are many States in which wo-men have been granted the franchise in local elections, but in these four West-ern States they may vote for President as well. The people of these States, through the adoption of constitutional during the last two years.

The women of Wyoming have been yoters for many years, but women in that State have been so scarce that the special franchise privileges granted to them attracted little attention. In Colo-rado, where the fair sex will vote for President for the first time this year, they are credited with representing ut 51 per cent of the total vote of one. For many years the appeals to mothers to get their sons to support a certain party or principle; to wives to tell their husbands how to yote and to young women to point out the patriotic course their sweethearts should pursue in casting their ballots on election day. It was for making these appeals that women's political clubs were formed.

This represents in Utah, Idaho and Wyoming at 8,300, This represents in Utah, Idaho and Wyoming about 40 per cent of the total yote.

All four of the States in which the women will vote for President this year are small, and their total voting strength in the electoral college is but thirteen. One needs but to recall the close contest of 1876 or the Cleveland-blaine, fight to realize how important a factor thirteen electoral votes may become in determining who shall occupy the White House for the ensuing four years. The importance these thirteen electoral votes may assume, if this your's contest should prove to be a close one, has been recognized by Governor. All four of the States in which the

the contest more than an incident in American politics.

Both sides claim New York, Indiana, Muryland, Montana and Nevada, but to set an estimate on the possible strength of the woman vote, all five States might be classed as doubtful. There are 148 votes in the electoral college, of which Bryan is sure, and which are conceded to him by the Republicans. If Mr. Bryan, in addition to these 148 electoral votes, should capture all five of the so-called doubtful States, he would have a total of only 313 electoral votes, eleven less than the number necessary to elect. In that contingency, the thirteen electoral votes of the States where women hold the balance of Fower, if they should support Bryan, would elect him President. McKinley, on the other hand, is reasonably certain of 198 electoral votes outside of the five-so-called doubtful States. If he should carry Kansus, which is claimed for him by the Republican managers, and North Dakota, years. The importance these thirteen electoral votes may assume, if this your's contest should prove to be a close one, has been recognized by Governor Roosevelt, who, on his western tour, has appealed quite as strongly to the female as to the male veters.

To what exent the women voters of Colorado, Idaho, Utah and Wyoming will directly influence the result of the present battle is, of course, a matter of

A Boston Man Gets Miss Van Lew's Manuscripts.

Richmond, Va.—The most interesting feature about the will of the late Miss Elizabeth L. Van Lew, whose capylus services for the Union cause made her a conspicuous figure, was the bequest of her manuscripts. These she gives to Mr. John Philip Reynolds of Joston. These manuscripts are known to con-tain a history of Miss Van Lew's life, and especially that part connected with In these papers she tells how she assisted the escaped prisoners from Libby to clude arrest and get through the Confederate lines. She also tells in them some of her nurrow escapes in being detected by the Southern offcials in communicating with General Grant and other federal commanders. Grant and other federal commanders.
Among these Van Lew papers, too, are some interesting letters written her by Generals Grant and Ben Butler, mostly, it is believed, acknowledging the valuable services rendered the Union cause
