

CLARK SPECIAL MADE A RECORD.

Demonstrated that it Will be Possible to Get to Los Angeles in 20 Hours.

BANCROFT LOST HIS STEPS.

Wild Ride Over New Track to Las Vegas and Return—Railroad News.

President W. A. Clark of the Salt Lake Route this morning demonstrated that it will be possible to rush trains through from Salt Lake to Los Angeles in 20 hours.

Yesterday afternoon the special train bearing the San Pedro and Short Line officials left Las Vegas, Nev., at 4:30 p. m. It pulled into the Salt Lake depot at 7:55 this morning. Incidentally Las Vegas is 66 miles west of the halfway point and during the run the train traversed 150 miles of track that is barely six months old and 300 miles of track that is under course of reconstruction with about 20 big gangs of men at work and ballasting trains and cars of material scattered along the track. It must also be taken into consideration that old equipment was used and the biggest part of the mileage into Salt Lake is on an upgrade.

To quote one of the party, "only the high places were hit." The fact that during the run the steps were knocked off "1902," the handsome new private car of Vice President W. H. Bancroft of the Oregon Short Line, would indicate that something was hit in transit. Almost as good time was made going down to Las Vegas. The special left here at 2:10 p. m. Saturday, and the ranch was reached shortly after 7 o'clock the next morning. Both going and coming the train was routed via the Lemington cut-off.

In arriving at the track and property owned by the railroad was carefully gone over by Senator Clark and his associates who were shown around by District Engineer Jones. No decision, however, was arrived at regarding the sites of the proposed townsite, shops, roundhouse and refrigerating plant for loading the cars of fruit bound east from California.

The visit was in the nature of an initial one for every railroad official on the train, with the exception of possibly Atty. Whittemore, who made the trip and examined the proposed townsite and the purchase from Mrs. Stewart. Details are yet to be worked out regarding the townsite and other propositions, but when they are the officials will be in a position to know whereof they speak.

Senator Clark, who was seen prior to his leaving for Butte at 10:20 this morning, stated that he was very pleased with the progress of the work on the line, and again reiterated the statement that the gap would be closed up by the first of the year. Both going and returning Senator Clark was greatly interested in everything on route and took copious notes.

Grading gangs are now working at a point more than 20 miles west of Las Vegas and almost an equal distance east of Ivanpah. The extreme outposts of the route are accordingly less than 50 miles apart.

SALT LAKE AND OGDEN.

Looks as Though Now Something Will Be Accomplished.

There is very little doubt now, with those on the inside track, that the dummy line will be converted into an electric road and extended to Ogden, in the very near future. If this is done, the company should get permission from the city council to change the track in Hountiful from the road where it now is to Main street in passing through the city. This would not stop the McCarron or Main street as they could use the same track through Main street. The dummy line could bear off to the left near Heber Hobbs' residence so as to come out on Main street at Hountiful, then go back to the old track near Joseph Park. It is made a similar change in Farmington and Kayville and ran along the county road to Layton, there could be no more desirable route selected for an electric line as both the completed and projected portions outside of the cities in the country are much better than the large audience, Mr. Held hopes before many more weeks have passed, to be able to recover his health, and reappear as usual on the conductor's stand.

E. W. GILLETT HERE.

Salt Lake Route Official Returns from Eastern Trip.

E. W. Gillett, general freight and passenger agent of the Salt Lake Route, wearing the same old smile that went with him, is once more in Salt Lake, having arrived here from St. Louis, where he has been in attendance upon the Transcontinental Passenger association meeting of which the Salt Lake Route is now a member. While in the east Mr. Gillett visited the various general passenger agents of all the big lines and arranged for ticket representation in the coupon ticket offices in all the big cities. The form of ticket has been decided upon and it is now in the hands of the printers.

Mr. Gillett reports that affairs are now coming to a focus and all hands in the traffic department are working hard in readiness for the opening of the new line through to Southern California. There is a tremendous amount of work to yet be done in the lining up of tariffs and the issuing of schedules. Mr. Gillett will be in the city for a few days before returning to Los Angeles.

WORK BEGINS.

Dirt Will Henceforth Fly on Minidoka Branch Grade.

Actual work on construction on the Minidoka branch of the Oregon Short Line by the Utah Construction company is due to be commenced today. The big firm has the major part of its outfit on the ground, and men have been shipped in prior to breaking ground on the new line that is to be built to develop territory adjacent to the big canal that has been constructed by the Twin Falls Land & Water company.

SPIKE AND RAIL.

Las Vegas promises to become one of the most important towns on the Salt Lake Route.

District Freight and Passenger Agent Platford of the Oregon Short Line is down from Boise today.

H. A. Buck, district passenger agent for the Rio Grande at San Francisco, was in the city yesterday.

successor to General Manager Markham will be made tomorrow. The latest is that Mr. Calvin will not be the man after all.

While Denver is bragging about the fine construction of the Moffat road Salt Lake can go them one better and point to what is being done on the Salt Lake Route.

There will be a great falling off in railroad travel this week incident to election. Everybody who possibly can will stay home to vote. In consequence there will be plenty of room at the local hotels.

Ballasting is now under full way on the main line of the San Pedro, and the gravel trains are working at a point beyond Faust. The famous Stockton cut has developed into a splendid source of gravel supply.

An effort is being made by the Idaho Horticultural association to secure a 60-cent rate on apples to Missouri river points in place of the existing rate of 75 cents. If Utah does not wake up Idaho will be able to get into the market ahead of the Beehive state.

H. A. Johnson, general freight agent of the Colorado Southern, is registered at the Knutsford, en route to San Francisco on a business trip. Mr. Johnson says that the report that he discovered three Japanese torpedo boats on Palmer Lake recently, is a base canard.

R. W. Haines of the Oregon Short Line engineering department was in Ogden last week looking into the Twenty-fourth street viaduct proposition. It is understood that as soon as the city completes its grading operations that the railroad company will commence work on this much needed proposition.

A surveying party under Engineer Arnold was at work in Delaney canyon, Beckwith pass, last week, establishing the grade of the proposed Western Pacific, which is believed will take that route. Another engineering party is working in Long valley and a third down the North Fork, Hazen, although only a new station on the line, already boasts of a population of 350, and is growing daily. Should the Southern Pacific conclude to make it a connecting point from the south, Hazen will soon be one of the most important shipping points in Nevada—Wadsworth (Nev.) Dispatch.

James U'ley, the section foreman near Rock Springs, who a few months ago, broke a switch, shot himself through the arm and then attempted to induce the Union Pacific officials that he had the train hold up and wreck, pleaded guilty in the district court at Green River on Tuesday to a charge of malicious mischief, and was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail. U'ley at first feigned insanity, but when he learned that six months was the limit of punishment for the offense for which he was charged he dropped the pretense and pleaded guilty. His object in perpetrating the fake was to secure a reward from the railroad company—Rock Springs Miner.

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism—that acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also.

Sufferers dread to move, especially after sitting or lying long, and their condition is commonly worse in wet weather.

"It has been a long time since we have been without Hood's Sarsaparilla. My father thinks he could not be without it. He has been troubled with rheumatism since he was a boy, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine he can take that will enable him to take his place in the field." Miss Ada Dorr, Sidney, Iowa.

"Rheumatism affected my right knee so I could hardly walk and I suffered four years. Medicines did not give relief and the disease grew deeper and penetrated all through my body. I got a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and it did me so much good I got two more. When I had taken them I was cured and can now do my work with satisfaction." Wm. A. Cant, Edgewood, Md.

CONFERENCE OF PIONEER STAKE.

Well Attended Sessions Held Sunday in the Assembly Hall And Tabernacle.

STAKE IS IN GOOD CONDITION.

Morning Session Addressed by President Anthon H. Lund and Elder Rudger Clawson.

The opening meeting of the quarterly conference of the Pioneer stake of Zion was held Sunday morning in the Salt Lake Assembly Hall, Elder William McLachlan presiding. Besides a large representation of stake and ward officers, there were present President Anthon H. Lund and Elder Rudger Clawson of the general authorities.

After the usual devotional exercises of singing by the choir and prayer by Elder David McKenzie, President McLachlan made the opening address, reporting the Pioneer stake in excellent condition, with all of its organizations complete and in good running order, and improving in their work.

Sisters Lucy Smith Acomb, Sallie Heath and Edith Hunter of the Relief society, Y. L. M. I. A. and Primary associations, respectively, reported their organizations in excellent condition and all associated therewith imbued with the spirit of the work.

Elder Joseph J. Cannon reported the Religion class work making headway, especially among the smaller children. The Fourth ward double quartet sang "Come Unto Me," with fine effect.

Bishop Louis G. Hoagland and Bishop Carl A. Ek reported the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-fifth wards, respectively, in good condition, with all associations complete. The Bishopric of President Hoagland reported the ward officers working unitedly for the upbuilding of the people.

The general and stake authorities of the Church were presented and unanimously sustained.

Instructive remarks on general duties of members and officers were made by Elder Rudger Clawson. He particularly urged the importance of punctuality in all religious and business engagements.

President Lund expressed his pleasure in hearing the excellent report given. He especially commended the work of love done by the Relief societies, and urged the importance of the religion class movement. The choir sang, "Jesus I my cross have taken," and benediction was pronounced by Elder Frank Stanley.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Elders McKenzie, Rich and Prest. Smith the Speakers.

The afternoon session of the conference was held in the Tabernacle and commenced by the choir singing the hymn, "Lo, the Mighty God Appearing." Invocation was offered by Elders Charles H. Hyde. The choir sang the anthem, "In Our Redeemer's Name."

Elder David McKenzie was the first speaker. He said he was very much gratified in the encouraging reports given by the officers of the auxiliary organizations at the morning session. When he heard the representative of the Relief society give her report of the efforts of that organization to better the condition of the poor and aged, and assist in the redemption of the souls of the dead, he asked himself the question, "Can it be possible that such work is the result of an impostor's scheme to gain power? Are these women, with their love for those stricken by adversity, but dupes?" And again when he heard the report of the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement association was reported, the same thought came to him. If all these active and unselfish workers for the betterment of their fellows, are but dupes, the tools of an impostor, what a pity it is that such a world of good can be lost to the world.

No, said the speaker, the world has never seen such a work accomplished by such an agency.

Passing by the idea of an impostor organizing such an agency for human advancement and progress as the Church, the thought presents itself, "No man acts without a motive." That motive, implanted in every human breast, is an instinctive thirst for happiness. Inspired by this motive, could the boy Joseph, in his early youth, have made the declaration he did if he had not been true? And when he later experienced the bitter persecution that was directed against him as a result of his declarations, would he, actuated by this same motive, have continued to maintain the truth? No, it was not in the nature of the youth to have done this, if his declarations had not been true.

The speaker referred to the prophetic declaration of Joseph Smith, that his name should be known among all nations, for good or for evil. The testimony of those who had known the married Prophet were that he was an inspired teacher. Those who knew him best, loved him most. The essence of the teachings of the Prophet, as the work of the auxiliary organizations manifested, was self-denial. The speaker devoted his remarks to explaining the operations of this principle, showing that it was an elementary principle of the Gospel. In concluding the speaker said he had known the Latter-day Saints for 51 years, and though he had not seen the vision, he had never known a better people.

Elder Ben E. Rich was the next speaker. He prefaced his remarks by stating that he would read a text from the Bible. For the strangers who might be present, he would say that he meant King James' translation when he referred to the Bible. The text he read was Paul's Epistle to the Romans, ninth verse and eighth chapter. Obeyance to certain requirements, said he, has been prescribed by the previous speaker in order to gain salvation, and this contention was borne out by the declarations of the Apostles on the day of Pentecost. They had been instructed to tarry in Jerusalem until endowed with power from on high, and then they should take up the vineyard. Peter it was who had been told to "Feed my sheep." On the day of Pentecost, commissioned by the Lord, the Apostles proclaimed that only by repentance and baptism could the believer receive the gift of the Holy Ghost, which would lead him into salvation.

In our day, when the Elders of Israel come crying the same message to the nations, they are referred to the passage read from the eighth chapter of Romans. Forgetting to remember to whom the Epistle was addressed, the Christian world applied it to themselves, without rendering the same obedience to the principles that the members of the church in Rome had done. The Romans had come in at the door, not as hired men and servants, but as repentant and baptized of the water and the Spirit, and to such it was that Paul wrote.

The speaker said there could be only one way, for many ways would lead to confusion and the Father is a God of order. There is a beautiful thought in the means of salvation. The birth by water in baptism, the birth of the Spirit by the laying on of hands, and the birth by blood, through the atonement of Jesus on the cross. Then we are to go on bearing testimony, confessing Jesus, until we have won the same victory that He won, when he rendered obedience to the Father in all things.

Elder Rich concluded by reading John Wesley's hymn, "Happy the souls that first believe."

The Dawn of Eden sang a solo, "The Dawn of Eden." President Joseph F. Smith was the last speaker. He said he would read from the same book that Elder Rich had referred to—King James' translation of the Bible. A misapprehension existed in the mind of many who did not belong to the Church as to the Bible believed in by the Latter-day Saints. When the Saints speak of the Bible they refer to the Scriptures translated under the direction of King James. When they speak of the book of Mormon, they mean the record kept by the Prophets and kings of the people who dwell on this continent, to whom the Savior referred when He, after His resurrection, told the disciples that He had other sheep not of that fold. When the Latter-day Saints speak of the Doctrine and Covenants they mean the book containing the revelations given to the Prophet Joseph Smith in this age.

President Smith then read the eighth chapter of Isaiah's epistle to the Tensara and the second chapter of John's first epistle, explaining the application of the passages read. The philosophy of Jesus Christ, he said, is that philosophy which gives to mankind the greatest comfort. The Latter-day Saints accept His teachings and the teachings of His disciples. Joseph Smith taught Jesus Christ and Him crucified, and to reject Joseph would be to reject Christ.

At the conclusion of President Smith's address, the conference adjourned for three months. The choir sang the anthem, "Unfold, ye Portals," and the benediction was pronounced by Elder Rudger Clawson.

IN THE FEDERAL COURT.

Rue M. Smith Seeks to Get New Bondsmen—Damage Suits.

Rue M. Smith, who is awaiting trial by the grand jury on the charge of passing counterfeit coins, was today surrendered to the court by his bondsmen, and is now attempting to get other security for the $1,500 bond which stands between him and the county jail. The surrender was not made because of any fear on the part of the defendant, but because he was unable, owing to the fact that F. W. Grant has received an offer for part of the property pledged as security for the bond, on condition that he can deliver it free from all encumbrances. The other bondsmen, Hester Smith, is willing to renew her portion of it when security is found for what Mr. Grant withdraws.

The Southern Pacific company has still some figures to add to the cost of the Lucin cut-off. Today another Greek laborer was given a chance to sue the company for a crushed arm, for injuries received while working near Midlake. The plaintiff in this case was not blown up in the powder explosion which caused so many heavy damage suits, but slipped and fell under a moving freight car while employed in hauling gravel for the embankment. He received a crushed arm, incapacitating him for active labor, and his suit was for $25,000 in compensation for the loss. It was tried at the last session of the court, at which time the judge instructed the jury to bring in a decision for the defendant. Today a new trial was granted and another attempt will be made to collect damages.

In another suit for damages, that of W. J. Nichol, a yard foreman of the Union Pacific whose left foot was crushed while he was making a coupling, he will sue the company for damages for injuries received while working near Midlake. The plaintiff in this case was not blown up in the powder explosion which caused so many heavy damage suits, but slipped and fell under a moving freight car while employed in hauling gravel for the embankment. He received a crushed arm, incapacitating him for active labor, and his suit was for $25,000 in compensation for the loss. It was tried at the last session of the court, at which time the judge instructed the jury to bring in a decision for the defendant. Today a new trial was granted and another attempt will be made to collect damages.

In the case of Anna M. Scott vs. A. D. F. Reynolds, of Ogden, the receiver made his final report to the court today and was discharged. He turned over the remaining portion of the property to the trustee in bankruptcy, Monday, Nov. 7, will be November Rule day in the U. S. district court. In addition there will be a setting of jury cases, the trials to begin at a date to be announced.

John Prosvitgaard of Provo was today discharged in bankruptcy by Judge Marshall.

BISHOP SUSTAINED.

Elder Frank B. Platt Chosen for the Thirtieth Ward.

Elder Frank B. Platt was last evening unanimously sustained as Bishop of the Thirtieth ward to succeed the late Bishop, Nelson A. Empey, who recently succumbed to pneumonia. Chas. A. Johnson and Samuel M. Taylor were respectively sustained as his first and second counselors.

NEW BISHOP'S COUNSELOR.

At a meeting held last evening in the Eighth ward assembly rooms, Elder Geo. Richards, Jr., who has held the position of second counselor to Bishop O. F. Hunter, was honorably released on account of his removal from the ward to that of the thirty-sixth ward. A. Sims was chosen and sustained as his successor. Presidents Schultess and Maywood of the thirty-sixth ward present and commended the Saints on the election of Elder Sims. They also stated that the work of the retiring counselor was highly satisfactory and wished him success in his new location.

SMOOT HEARING TO BE RESUMED.

Members of Senate Committee to Come to Utah for This Purpose.

MANY WITNESSES ARE WANTED

Subpoenas Now in the Hands of U. S. Marshals of Utah, Idaho and Wyoming.

Advices from Washington, D. C., indicate that shortly after election the Smoot investigation will be resumed. According to a special to the Tribune, it would appear that certain members of the senate committee on privileges and elections have decided to come to Utah for this purpose, those named being Senators Burrows, Depew, Beveridge, Pettus, Blackburn, Dubois and Bailey. With the coming of the committee a large number of witnesses will be subpoenaed, and these, it is expected, will be examined thoroughly on the issues involved in the investigation.

The Tribune special above referred to, is as follows:

The senate committee on privileges and elections, which is investigating the Smoot case, will go to Utah shortly after the election and will remain in Salt Lake several days examining witnesses. This is the information that reached here today.

The entire committee will not go, but at least seven senators will be present to conduct the inquiry. It is not definitely known who the seven are, but it is intimated that Senators Burrows, Depew, Beveridge, Pettus, Blackburn, Dubois and Bailey will attend.

The senators named, with the exception of Dubois, who is at his home in Idaho, will rendezvous at Chicago as soon after the election as possible, the 15th being the date set, and from there they will proceed to Salt Lake, where they will be joined by Senator Dubois and the hearing will begin about the 20th.

The original intention was to hold sessions in Salt Lake, May, 1904, Brigham and Logan in Utah, but this has been abandoned and all the witnesses will be brought to Salt Lake.

After the hearing in Salt Lake it is quite likely that the senatorial party will go to Idaho and a session be held at Pocatello or Montpelier for the purpose of examining a number of witnesses regarding alleged plural marriages which are reported to have occurred in the southeastern portion of that state since the manifesto.

The committee has a long list of witnesses to subpoena both in Utah and Idaho, and it is said that a number from Wyoming will also be summoned.

Every effort made here to secure a list of the witnesses has been unavailing. At the hearing last spring the names of those wanted by the committee was prematurely published, so that when the United States marshal received the subpoenas from the committee several of the most important witnesses had disappeared and could not be found, hence valuable evidence which the committee expected could not be had. For this reason the list of witnesses is kept secret.

The subpoenas have been forwarded to the U. S. marshals of Utah, Idaho and Wyoming, and early next week the official deputies will begin serving the documents.

VILE METHODS OF THE TRIBUNE.

Sunday morning's Tribune contained a scurrilous attack on Hon. John C. Cutler, Republican candidate for governor, the article appearing under the sensational headline, "Cutler's Labor Record Great How Candidate Loves Workingmen. He Employs Women and Children and Starvation Wages. Sample of Abuse of Commercial Power That Would Be Tolerated Nowhere But Utah."

The article, from beginning to end, is a sustained attack on an honorable and well known business man. It says in substance that Mr. Cutler employs women and girls at wages so low as to afford them the most scanty livelihood; that he issues as pay part for the work done, certain scrip, and that John C. Cutler, Jr., who runs a brokerage office in the window of his father's store, has discounted this scrip.

Interviewed by a "News" reporter today, Mr. Cutler said that he did not run any tailoring establishment, neither did he hire any women or children for starvation wages. Cutler Bros. Co., as agents for the Provo Woolen Mills, take orders for suits and have these made at an independent establishment owned and operated by Mr. Charles W. Hubl, who makes suits for Cutler Bros. Co., as well as for others. "The firm of Cutler Bros.," said the gentleman, "has been in existence since 1895, and has never issued one dollar of scrip to any of its employees, as they pay in cash every Saturday night. We pay Mr. Hubl when sent by the representative of the 'News': 'I hire all my own help and conduct my business entirely separate and apart from the Cutler firm. True, I do a great deal of their work, but all that work is paid for in cash, my business throughout is conducted on this basis.'"

These statements are corroborated by Mr. Hubl, who says that the tailoring establishment referred to by the Tribune, is operated by him independently of the Cutler Bros. firm. Said Mr. Hubl, when sent by the representative of the "News": "I hire all my own help and conduct my business entirely separate and apart from the Cutler firm. True, I do a great deal of their work, but all that work is paid for in cash, my business throughout is conducted on this basis." The statements above made are made by men of reliability and character, and should be sufficient to convince even the shameless falsehoods.

COMPELLED TO MOVE

Compelled to Move in the Midst of A Sale They Turned Many Away.

Saturday and today a great many people called at Young Bros' store at 28 Main street to make purchases, but as the company was compelled to be moved by the 1st of the month, they were unable to show goods satisfactorily, nor did they have time to wait on the public.

They have concluded to extend the time of their sale for one week to enable those who were disappointed to secure the instruments they desire, for while the sales have been enormous, there were many who failed to make purchases who desired to.

At the new store, 23 West First South, what is left of the old stock, and all of the new stock will be offered at a sacrifice for the rest of the week.

Every piano in the old stock is sold, but the new stock is complete and satisfactory prices prevailing. Some more of those fast selling sewing machines are offered at $15.00; over 100 were sold in six days.

All sheet music still 10 cents; some of it is worth 50 cents.

Everything we have will be reduced for this short time, as we want to please you and are anxious for you to see our new store.

Don't forget the new location, 23 West First South, a few doors west of the Utah National Bank.
