U. S. Circuit Court Requested to Decide Against Utah Company—Action of Walter Morehead.

The San Francisco Examiner today says that Walter Morehead of London, who is a shareholder in the Southern Pacific Railroad company and seeks to set aside the reorganization plan, has filed a supplemental bill in the United States circuit court. In his bill the court is asked to set aside the transfer of the property of the Central Pacific to the Central Pacific Railway company of Utah. The appointment of a receiver for the company is also requested.

The Central Pacific company was incorporated in this city July 31, 1890, with a capital stock of $5,000,000. The action of the United States circuit court in this matter will be of great interest here.

WESTERN NEW LINES.

Statement of Col. Dodge Concerning the Company's Intention for the Future.

The following interesting statement of Col. D. C. Dodge is published by the Denver News:

The Rio Grande Western has about fifty miles more of track than it had last year. This is not such a great amount, but it represents a great deal as far as the development of the country is concerned. Every mile that has been built, however, and will eventually lead farther. The most important extension was that of twenty-seven miles from Provo to Heber City. That leads directly into a country that is rich agriculturally and is a good feeding ground for stock. This route will lead into the Utah reservation when it is opened. About 100 miles of track will bring us into Fort Duchesne, through rich mineral country. There are also glacial beds there, which, according to reports, contain coal. Another road which will be of great service to us this winter runs from Mounds, about twenty miles east of Provo, to the Sunnyside coal mines. At the mines matters are in such condition that we shall be able to ship about 100 tons of coal a day, beginning next Monday. At full capacity the output of these mines will be probably 1,000 tons a day. Another coal branch which has been in operation for a month runs from Scottsbluff to the Clear Creek mines. The mines have about the same capacity as those at Sunnyside. We have about as much more work planned to be done next year.

The greater part of construction next year probably will be on the branch which runs from Thistle toward Marysville. The line is operated at Belknap, at the head of the valley. Next year we shall begin building further up the canyon and out over the hills. How much work will be done there it is hard to say. There are rich gold and silver mines, and some valuable iron districts upon the line of our proposed extension, particularly in Cedar City and Iron, where, rumor says, the Colorado Fuel & Iron company has had representatives looking over the ground. Among other improvements on the line already in use is a steel bridge to cross the Green river. It will replace the iron one at that point, and will be three spans of 165 feet each. It will be one of the finest bridges in the West.

THE KALAMATH ROAD BONDED.

Santa Fe Reaching Out for Trade of Northern Coast of California.

The San Francisco Examiner today says:

The Santa Fe railroad is reaching out for the trade of the northern coast of California. It has recently bonded the Klamath railroad, reaching to the about Eureka harbor and immense tracts of timber land. In possessing the Klamath road, 28 miles in length, and the new harbor belt line, the Santa Fe obtains control of the entire coast of Eureka. It is understood the negotiations have been effected with the Donohue road, now completed from Tiburon to Ukiah, whereby in the near future that road will be extended to Eureka and Santa Crisita.

OREGON SHORT LINE WINS.

Decision of Judge Bellinger in the Portland Case—Demurrer Sustained.

Portland, Or., Nov. 20.—In the United States court today Judge Bellinger rendered a decision sustaining the demurrer of the defendants in the case of Allen and Lewis, representing the jobbers of Portland, against the Oregon Railroad and Navigation company and the Oregon Short Line railroad for alleged violation of the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act. Judge Bellinger in his decision says:

"The complaint is, that the Short Line and the Southern Pacific have made a joint tariff for freight between San Francisco and the Idaho points on which the same rate is charged as that charged by the joint tariff of the Short Line and the Oregon Railroad and Navigation from Portland to the same points, and under which the Short Line receives notably more for its haul than it receives on Portland freight. That the object of this is to give to San Francisco and its merchants an undue and unreasonable preference over Portland and its merchants, and that the Oregon Railroad and Navigation company, by aiding and abetting this purpose by entering into the joint tariff arrangement in question with the Short Line company."

"The complaint is proceeding upon the theory that the action of the Short Line company in entering into a joint tariff arrangement with the Southern Pacific and Navigation companies is a violation of the interstate commerce act."

The gross earnings of the Southern Pacific for the year were $43,766,949. The expense of the operating department were $37,944,743.

consideration of the premises"—in consideration of the alleged discrimination against Portland merchants in the two joint rates, and of the lower charge for the longer haul to Ogden—such rate is unjust and unreasonable and in violation of section 1 of the interstate commerce act. The case is therefore one of alleged unlawful discrimination in the rates complained of, and unless there is such discrimination, there is no ground for relief. The fact that the Short Line company under its joint tariff arrangement with the Oregon Railroad and Navigation company receives notably more for its haul than it receives under its tariff arrangement with the Southern Pacific company is not a matter cognizable by the court."

For Several Weeks Past Puget Sound Business has Been Demoralized.

Representatives of the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, the Canadian Pacific, the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, the Southern Pacific, the Railway company met in Portland, Ore., today for the purpose of adjusting passenger rates for Puget Sound points to the east. W. H. Hurlbert, general passenger agent of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, was chosen chairman of the meeting.

For several weeks passenger rates from Puget Sound have been demoralized, and brokers have sold tickets to Chicago for $25.

At the meeting today a general discussion of rates took place but no conclusion was reached. The meeting adjourned until tomorrow.

Effective December first, current low rates on grain from Utah and Idaho common points to Northern California will be withdrawn. This announcement of the Southern Pacific is made owing to the fact that the company is at present, through lack of equipment, unable to handle the enormous amount of freight that is coming in.

POLICE NEWS.

Mrs. Kirk, who resides at 713 south First, reported to the police today that a burglar had entered her house and stolen nineteen dollars the night before last.

Mrs. Kirk says that at about 8 o'clock she went into her bedroom and counted out some money she had put by upon the bed. At the time she laid out the money she noticed that the window and blind were up. After finding that she had nineteen dollars, Mrs. Kirk stowed the silver away under the mattress and went into the other room about her household duties. Subsequently she returned and retired; while dressing the next morning Mrs. Kirk thought of her money and turned up the bedding, when to her dismay she found that it was missing.

She is of the opinion that some prowler watched her through the window, and he is vindictive, which may be a point, entered the house and took the money from its hiding place.

Mr. Rangway, the diminutive tourist from Ceylon with aspirations to be a detective, did not leave for Omaha yesterday, but concluded to stay in Salt Lake until noon today. Ere he left, his heart was made glad by the presentation of an overcoat to cover his chilly duck suit, also a railroad pass to Omaha. He promises to write Detective Sheets a full and vivid account of his adventures when he arrives at Scotland Yard on the Thames embankment.

Hatch will be released, is the Knottford bell-boy who is doing time for robbing the guests at the hotel and when arrested had a $100 banking account. De Malchin says he has not yet finished with his case, and he intends to sue them for libel, false imprisonment, perjury, assault and damages. The swordsmen says he will stay in Salt Lake City until his sentence is purged of the state and he is vindictive, which may be a point, interpreted as challenging Detective Sheets and Sergeant Jamney to mortal combat with sabers.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. have been missing overcoat, hats and umbrellas from the parlors for some time past. James Maxwell of 321 east Fifth South reports to the police that while he was on duty last night he saw a man, some vandal walked away with two extension ladders which he had been using while trimming Mayor-elect Thompson's trees on Fourth North and Second West streets.

Patrick O'Connor, (no relation to sweet Kate O'Connor), is again in trouble. Patrick was only released from jail yesterday, after serving a term for bombarding an Italian saloon with paving blocks. In their roundup of vagabonds Simpson and Lincoln last evening entered the Klondike saloon; the first man they encountered was the redoubtable Patrick with a bundle of gaudy provisions under his arm. An investigation was then in order, and as the bundle was found to contain two pairs of pants and a coat, which bore the name of C. Houder, Patrick was asked to explain. He told a lame and contradictory story, consequently he slept in jail last night. This afternoon the clothes were identified as being the property of Mr. Houder, who rooms at Ford's, but is at present out of town.

AMUSEMENTS.

Last night was a red letter one in the history of the Grand. Not since Mr. Mulvey assumed the management of the house has there been such a rush as was in evidence there from 8 until 9 o'clock. Several hundred people were turned away, and Treasurer Caruthers states the receipts exceeded by several points any figures ever taken from the box office window. The Hays themselves are not with the company this time, their parts being assumed by John W. Jess and Ada Henry, who keep so closely to the business of the originals that the absence of the Hays was very little noticed. There was the usual cake walk, specialty acts, dancing, etc., and all went with a great whirl, the Glensons in their dancing being the main feature. The engagement closes tonight, and the house is already nearly sold out.

The Madeleine company holds a rehearsal at the Theater tonight. Mr. C. R. Savage of the old folks' committee will be on hand to request that the opera be given for the old folks next Monday.

The sale for Shenandoah is going splendidly forward at the Theater, and Thursday night's opening will doubtless be a great one.

Mr. Mulvey's attraction next week will be the Breach of Promise Co. Mr. Schless, the advance manager, is now in the city.

ANDY COLTON GETS THREE YEARS

Man who Came Near Killing Elijah Farr Sentenced Today.

WITHDREW A FORMER PLEA

And Allowed to Plead Guilty to Assault with a Deadly Weapon—Story of the Affair.

Andy Colton, the man who took a shot at Elijah Farr on Main street the 3rd of last September, was sentenced by Judge Norrell today to three years in the State prison.

Colton was arraigned a week ago last Saturday on the charge of assault with intent to commit murder, to which he entered a plea of not guilty. His trial was set for Thursday of this week.

Through an understanding between the defendant's attorney, Hon. George Sutherland, and County Attorney Putnam, Colton was this forenoon allowed to withdraw the former plea, when he pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon. The defendant also specially waived the time for sentence and requested that he be dealt with immediately.

STORY OF THE AFFAIR.

It will be recalled that on Sunday afternoon, September 3rd, Elijah Farr and George Jackson, of the sixth Illinois infantry, were walking up Main street, when they came across Mrs. Colton, whose maiden name was Susie Wray, and two other girls. Jackson knew the parties and introduced Farr to them. They were talking from the door of the New York Cash store, when walked Colton and with an oath fired a revolver at Farr's head, the bullet going through his hat, less than an inch from his forehead.

Colton then turned to his wife and undoubtedly would have shot her, too, had it not been for the timely arrival of Police Officer Jim Williams, who took the gun away from the crazy man.

Colton, at the time, claimed that Farr had been paying attention to his wife. This suggestion afterwards turned out to be groundless, and it was clearly proven that Farr had never met the woman before. Mrs. Colton is about seventeen years old and had only been married about five weeks when the affair happened.

Colton is the man who killed Pat Cullen about ten years ago. He was sentenced to fifteen years for the crime in 1883, but was later granted a pardon.

Case of John C. Graham.

Judge William H. King, as counsel for John C. Graham, appeared before Judge Norrell today and asked that a plea of not guilty be entered for his client to the charge of unlawful cohabitation. The plea was entered. It will be recalled that the defendant was recently held to answer by Justice Kroeger. Mr. Graham was not present in court during the proceedings.

Mr. Putnam this afternoon said that he would ask Judge Norrell tomorrow to set Mr. Graham's case for trial, commencing Friday, December 1st.

Two Youthful Defendants.

Arthur Moyer and John Magentitt, ten-year-old boys, appeared before Judge Norrell today to show cause why they should not be committed to the State industrial school. The little fellows were adjudged guilty in the police court recently of breaking into the store of James J. Gallacher, the well-known trunk manufacturer, on Main street, and held to the district court.

The father of Moyer promised to send the boy to a married son near Denver, and Arthur was released on his own recognizance.

The Magentitt boy, with tears streaming down his cheeks, promised to behave himself in future and was allowed to go home with his parents.

Judge Norrell said he was opposed to sending boys of such tender age to the reform school.

BURGLAR SENTENCED.

Morris Egan Gets One Year in the State Prison Today.

Morris Egan, alias Moses Higgins, who pleaded guilty to the charge of burglary before Judge Cherry on the 14th inst., was sentenced to one year in the State prison by Judge Norrell today.

Egan's offense was burglarizing the foundry of Thomas Miller, situated at the rear of 134 south Sixth West street, on the night of October 23, 1894.

The prisoner told the court he was only nineteen years old; that it was his first offense, and he hoped to be dealt with leniently.

CHANGES HIS PLEA.

William Hughes Pleads Guilty to Robbing the House of John J. Gallacher.

William Hughes, a 31-year-old youth, withdrew his plea of not guilty to housebreaking today, and by consent pleaded guilty. He will be sentenced tomorrow. There is another charge of housebreaking and one of burglary against the defendant, but in view of his plea today it is quite likely they will now be dismissed.

Hughes would have been sentenced today were it not for the fact that the police claim to be in possession of information showing that the defendant had only been released twenty days from a Colorado prison before he was arrested here. This was denied by Hughes, and Prosecuting Attorney Ray Van Cott asked that sentence be deferred until he had enquired into the matter. In answer to Judge Norrell Hughes said he was nineteen years old, and that he came here from Butte, and was born in St. Joseph, Mo.

The particular offense to which he pleaded guilty to today was entering the house of John J. Gallacher at 827 east Seventh South street, this city, on October 2nd, and stealing a silver watch and two gold rings.

Suit Is Settled.

Livingston (Mont.) Enterprise: The suit of Thomas Hunter against John H. Conrad and S. C. Hunter, which has been hanging fire in the district court in this county since April 17, 1894, at which time the plaintiff recovered a judgment against defendants for the sum of $1180 and $148.50 costs, has been settled. Recently a suit was begun by O. F. Goddard, attorney of Billings, to have the Utah courts declare J. H. Conrad a bankrupt and to have the debts of that gentleman settled. The suit was then dismissed, and the settlement of the claims against him, and on Saturday last an agreement was filed in the district court of this county by which the gentleman for a consideration of $15,000 settled the above suit and a few other minor claims.

HEAVY DAY IN COURT.

Judge Timmony Hands Out Justice in Police Court Today.

The police court docket was an extensive one yesterday; taken altogether there were thirty-four names upon the roster. The majority of the owners of the names aforesaid did not appear, consequently their bail was declared forfeited.

Jim French, who is better known as the colored boxer Francis, was the first man to answer to the roll call. He pleaded guilty to striking Principal G. N. McKay in the face upon the football ground at Walker's ball park on Saturday.

McKay made a statement to the effect that the spectators crowded over the line on the occasion of the Y. M. C. A.-Mercur game on Saturday and that the police and defendant pushed the spectators back, during the process, witness remonstrated with the defendant, whereupon F. French made a motion to hit him at the same time saying, "don't you pull no gun on me." Mr. McKay said that involuntarily he threw up his hands, whereupon the accused smashed him in the face.

Prosecutor Dehl then informed the court that he was an eyewitness of the whole affair, which was upon the lines already testified.

French got a solar plexus blow in the form of $20 or twenty days.

Pat Daly, Pat Farrell and James Seaman, who said they were miners, each pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy. The judge expressed surprise that men who said that their occupation was that of miners should plead guilty to vagrancy. He suspended sentence in each case and gave the trio an hour to get out of town.

Louis Johnson, a hard looking, strapping fellow, pleaded not guilty to vagrancy. Officer Pack said that the defendant was living with a woman of the town, and that he beat her shamefully in various wine rooms of saloons in this city on divers occasions. Johnson denied the charge and said that a man hit him with a club and set a dog on to him in a certain low-down saloon on Second South street. The court deferred further hearing until 2 p. m. today when witnesses could be subpoenaed.

The drunk list included Jack Johnson $5; the Wright "two often" $10; Dead Drunk, two tramps from Fort Douglas named Marshall Sheppard and Laurence Dove who were given five days, Rob Macroft and E. A. Humphries $5 each.

Jim Brown, John Doe, Jno. Carter and Sam Regal contributed $175 for keeping gambling houses, while the sporting element furnished another $500.
