

BRIVITIES.

Evening fairs of gift are now very fashionable.

They have a boy spotted like a leopard, on exhibition in Augusta, Ga.

It is proposed to open a horticultural school for girls at Ithaca, New York.

It is stated that the 6,000 sewing girls in New York and Brooklyn earn on an average, $1.50 a week each.

A Belfast woman lately sold a litter of kittens to a dog-man, who bought them for paper bags at three cents per pound.

A Nashville Police Court adds its contents were recently, entering a most interesting trial, precipitated into a cellar, by the floor giving way.

Scotland absorbs "mountain dew" in the quantity of 12 gallons a year to each person, and English men 120 gallons of beer to each adult male annually.

It is a remarkable fact that the lunatic asylums of all the Southern States are full to overflowing.

At a fashionable crowd in New York a lady fainting, but, while they were rubbing her face with salt, she suddenly shrieked: "For Heaven's sake, put nothing on that will change the color of my hair."

He that avails himself of faults, by little and little, will in the end, be careful also to avoid with great diligence those things in himself which do commonly displease the in others.

A gentleman who entered the room of his brother-in-law in a Texas hotel a few weeks since, struck a match for a light, and the brother-in-law mistaking the sound for the cocking of a pistol, shot him dead.

Depend upon it, religion is, in its essence, the most gentlemanly thing in the world. It will alone gentile, if unmixed with rant; and I know of nothing else that will alone—[Coleridge.]

The Belgians think it disloyal to have their sovereign's head on their postage stamps, where it would be instantly soiled and defaced, and the Minister of Public Works is to be substituted.

Always win both first. They talked much; what they have once uttered they will stick to; whereas, there is always time up to the last moment, to bring before a wise man arguments that may entirely change his opinion. —[Arthur Helps.]

The proprietors of a cause-way in Cincinnati have sued the Enquirer for $10,000 damages each, for calling them "blackguards." The Chronicle denounces them as "gate-keepers of the road to hell."

A pair of human hands, evidently belonging to a woman, were recently found in front of the nursery on St. Jean Baptiste Street, in Montreal, and a local paper inquires: "Is it the progeny of a leaguer or only a dirty trick of some medical student?"

A White Pine restaurant adopts this method of advertising: "And Joseph went along, and he said unto his brethren: 'I am Joseph, doth my father yet live?' And his brethren answered him: 'You be; the old man is doing badly, for he beards at the Comopolitan.'"

A major in the United States army was recently from England in one of the Grand steamers. When one afternoon a band on deck played "Yankee Doodle." A gruff Englishman, who stood by inquired whether that was the tune the old fellow died of. "Not at all," retorted the Major, "that is the tune the old Bull died of!"

Agile, living in Pickle-Pear Valley, rode into Helena to do some shopping. When the clerk asked if there was anything else he could do for her, he was answered by the reply: "Oh, no, sir; unless you will be kind enough to go out and milk the old mare, for I rode her from home without the colt."

It is not work that kills men; it is worry. Work is healthy; you can hardly put more upon a man than he can bear. Worry is rust upon the blade. It is not the revolution that destroys the machinery, but the friction.

A young man named Charles Monroe committed forgery upon the Sheriff of Council Bluffs for $155. He was engaged to be married to the Sheriff's daughter, and is now lodged at the father-in-law's county hotel.

A noted western express company prints on its shipping receipts that it will not be liable for "any loss or damage by fire, the acts of God, or of Indians, or other enemies of the Government."

The young Grand Duke of Tuscany has spent three years of authorship upon a book on the Antilles, the retail price of which is $2.50 a copy. Fortunately he is not entirely dependent on his works for a livelihood.

A writer in the Scientific American speaks of the death of John A. Locking by lockjaw, and says that a small quantity of turpentine warmed and poured on to any such wound as his, will relieve all tenaciousness to lockjaw at once. He says that nothing better can be applied to a cut or bruise than old turpentine—that it will give relief almost instantly.

The Indians are becoming civilized very fast. They have legislated tolls on Texas cattle passing through their country. The Cherokees charge ten cents a head, the Creeks twenty-five cents, and lately the Chickasaws have enacted that fifty cents a head must be paid for all Texas cattle driven through. It is asserted that there is no way to avoid this toll without driving much further west and running the gauntlet of the savage Comanches.

The ear-ache may be almost immediately relieved, unless proceeding from worms in the head, by the following treatment: Wash out the ear with soap and a syringe, holding the ear down so the water will run out. When the inner surface of the ear is dry, drop into it three drops of a mixture composed of two parts sweet oil and one of chloroform; then tie up the head in a warm flannel.
