

SECY. WILSON AND MEAT INSPECTION

He is Rapidly Perfecting Organization of the Service.

HAS ABSOLUTE DISCRETION

In Matter of Compensation—Salaries To be Paid Not Yet Announced—Many After a Job.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Secy. Wilson is rapidly perfecting the organization of the meat inspection service, and within the next two or three weeks every one of the larger packinghouses from Boston to Denver will be supplied with a force of inspectors to pass upon the healthfulness of every pound of meat which enters into commerce between the states.

The secretary, who has absolute discretion in the matter of fixing the compensation of the inspection force, has not yet announced the salaries to be paid, but this has not caused a deficit of applicants, and there will be no dearth of men willing to serve their country, even in such unattractive places as the slaughter pen and packinghouse plants of the great centers of the trade. When the committee on agriculture of the house first voted to suspend the civil service law so as to enable Secy. Wilson to make appointments promptly it was with the understanding that the civil service commission could not supply the demand for this particular line of employment. It must be understood that no one is eligible for appointment as a meat inspector who has not been trained in a college of veterinary surgery. But nearly every member of the committee declared that he, individually, had no desire to be consulted in the matter of appointments. Just as soon as the president declared his opposition to the civil service clause of the bill it was promptly stricken out, there was a dissenting vote. It is now announced that the civil service eligible list is sufficiently well equipped with the names of veterinary graduates, who have passed the examinations prescribed, to insure the appointment of an adequate force as fast as the other necessary preliminaries can be completed.

WILL TAKE TIME.

It will be some months, however, before the new law can be put into full effect in every city in the country. But within the end of July the shelves of every retail store, in the larger cities at least, will be supplied with canned meat products bearing upon their labels the stamp of the federal government showing, first, that the animals from which they were made were healthy when slaughtered, next that the carcasses exhibited no signs of disease, and most important of all, perhaps, that the contents of the can was prepared in an absolutely sanitary manner.

Other country on earth has enacted such stringent regulations to govern the killing of animals for food, and the preparation of food products. It will take some months to make the European markets which have been lost, and in the interim hundreds of tons of American canned meats, now in European warehouses, must be destroyed or sold for a song, but once that label of the United States department of agriculture becomes recognized as an absolute guaranty of wholesomeness and healthfulness the meat industry of America will have obtained a standing throughout the world of which it cannot be deprived again.

Regulations for putting into effect the pure food bill are also being perfected and these two measures, affecting as they do practically the entire food supply of the country, ought to relieve the anxiety of the squeamish, especially when it is recalled that the federal legislature now taxes oleomargarine and "renovated" butter, compels the branding of "filled" cheese and "mixing" sour, by four separate statutes. Permits which are to be bottled in bond, including all its full oil, and has just enacted another law to permit the "fortification" of sweet still wines.

Within a few years one may hope to have potatoes labeled by government experts and onions deprived of their scent through the efforts of the bureau of plant industry and perhaps the day will come when a chemical analysis of the contents of every egg will be required to be stamped on the shell before Mrs. Farmer trades her henfruit for sugar and tea at the general store at the "corners."

THE POWDER TRUST.

By the time Congress reconvenes in December the department of justice will probably be in possession of all the facts connected with the existence of the alleged powder trust. During the session just closed Congress has been bombarded with circulars calling attention to the alleged existence of the trust and to the fact that the government is paying nearly twice as much for powder as it costs to manufacture a like grade at the small government factory at Indian Head. These circulars were so insistent that certain officers of the United States navy are the patentees of the process under which smokeless powder is made, and that the patent rights should by law be vested in the United States government, and not in private hands.

It is learned upon excellent authority that the administration has taken the preliminary steps towards securing the necessary evidence upon which to base legal proceedings. If a title of these proceedings is made in the circulars so generally distributed, it is probable that another United States senator will be mixed up in a federal legal tangle, for it is well known that Col. Dupont of Delaware, who has at last succeeded in reaching a seat in the senate, is the head and front of the biggest powder plant in the country.

But whether or not the investigation results in the discovery of the existence of an unlawful trust it is certain that the price of smokeless powder will take a decided drop, and the passage of the bill to remove the tax on denatured alcohol will be prime cause. Alcohol is one of the "component parts of chief value" in the manufacture of smokeless powder.

THE CONSULAR SERVICE.

Secy. Root has practically completed the plans for the reorganization of the consular service and by the time he returns from his South American trip the new regime will be in full working order. One of the most radical changes decided upon in the plan of reorganization is the determination to refrain in future, from sending "as a representative of the country of his adoption" a naturalized citizen back to the place of his birth. In the past innumerable complications have arisen because it was deemed wise or expedient to send a German born American back to Germany, or an Italian back to Italy as a consul. Such selections and appointments while occasionally beneficial, have, in nine cases out of ten, resulted in great detriment to American commerce, and it is to benefit American commercial interests that consuls are now to be appointed.

Secy. Root expects great results from the reorganization of the consular service.

Human nature is the only kind of nature that makes a mistake. Don't try to get along without.

HUSLER'S FLOUR

The utmost care is being taken to choose appointees who will appreciate that they were appointed for the purpose of advancing the interests not of themselves but of their country. In selecting the four consuls at large, or "inspectors of consulates" the secretary was particularly fortunate in obtaining the services of men qualified in every respect for the important duties imposed upon them and so far as can be judged at present he has also secured a score or more men for consular places of exceptional merit.

In this connection it is worthy of note that in transferring the duty of collecting and publishing consular reports from the state department to the department of commerce and labor, a very wise move was made. That most valuable of governmental publications known as the Daily Consular Reports, is published under the direct supervision of Major John M. Carson and Mr. E. J. Gibson. The former was a quarter of a century the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, and he was for several years, during that period, clerk of the committee on ways and means, during the incumbency of "Big Iron" Kelley and William McKinley as chairman. Mr. Gibson was for a long period the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. Both gentlemen are thoroughly equipped newspaper men, and there is none better posted on the foreign commercial relations of this country than Messrs. Carson and Gibson. The Daily Consular Reports are recognized by manufacturers and exporters as of the greatest value and they will continue to increase in importance with the reorganized consular service behind them.

DR. HAVILAND HERE.

Dr. W. H. Haviland of Butte, Mont., one of the most popular Elks in the western country, was in the city for a few hours today. With his wife he was at the Knutsford, and they left this afternoon for Denver, where the big convention is to be held next week. Dr. Haviland is one of the grand trustees of B. P. O. E. and has done a great amount of work for the order. He stated this morning that the Butte lodge would send a strong delegation to Denver, and that a band would accompany the anti-tier herd. The band will cost the Butte lodge $3,500. The delegation is going on a fine special train.

Dr. Haviland was in Denver recently, and stated that excellent conditions prevail there, and that no trouble or expense has been spared to entertain the visitors and show them the time of their lives.

Secy. Raybold, of "55," is anxious for those who go on the trip to understand that the big special will leave here on Saturday evening at 7:15, and arrive in Denver early Monday morning.

The uniforms for the juvenile band are here and the youngsters look decidedly "swell" in the same. They paraded the streets late yesterday afternoon and made a strong hit with their fine appearance and stirring music. Tom Pitt has charge of the little fellows and is working like a beaver to make everything run smoothly.

MRS. NESTOR DEAD.

Passed Away at Holy Cross Hospital From Ruptured Blood Vessel.

Mrs. Caroline Nestor, wife of Leo S. Nestor, who resides at Fifteenth South and State streets, died yesterday at the Holy Cross hospital from the effects of a ruptured blood vessel. Mrs. Nestor was in excellent health on July 4, and the family were preparing to get into a carriage to drive to Lafayette Park, when Mrs. Nestor complained of pain in her side, and became ill. She then stated that the day before she had slipped while walking on the house and had felt a pain in the same place. She was removed to the Holy Cross hospital Friday last, and was attended by Dr. Homer. An operation was performed, but she failed to recover, and yesterday passed quietly away. The funeral services will be held from the rectory of St. Paul's church, at 3 o'clock p. m. Interment will be in the Mill Creek cemetery.

Mrs. Nestor was a daughter of James Gordon of Murray, and is survived by her husband and a child who is 11 years of age.

GREAT CROPS AT REXBURG.

Governor Gooding Says They Are the Best He Has Seen on Dry Farms.

(Special to the "News.") Rexburg, Idaho, July 12.—Governor Gooding was highly pleased with his reception at this place and did not hesitate on his departure for the more extreme southern points of the state last night, to say, averring that he should long remember the day. On his arrival yesterday morning he was met at the depot by prominent citizens headed by a band, and escorted to the Idaho hotel where breakfast was served and where he met a considerable number of leading men and women of the community. After breakfast he was taken for a drive among the dry farms of this section by James W. Webster and Charles H. Woodmansee. The crops are in splendid condition, and the governor declared the best he had ever seen in the line of dry farming. He asserted that the barley would yield at least 30 bushels to the acre and that the wheat yield would be proportionately heavy.

After the drive, luncheon was served at the Commercial club parlors and a program in which Governor Gooding spoke and toasts and responses were made, was given. The governor declared that if he should have the privilege of again addressing the Idaho legislature he certainly should make some recommendation with regard to state action for getting rid of the cricket pest that is troubling some of the farm sections of the state.

At Calder's—The feature of the outing of the Pioneer Stake Mutual Improvement association at Calder's park yesterday was the oldtime spelling bee, which afforded considerable fun. The women present lined up on one side against the men and Mrs. Thomassen, an old lady of three score and ten, held the field and was the last of the gentle sex to retire. This left S. Q. Cannon and Alex Buchanan to do battle for the honor. For five minutes both held their ground, and then the Scotch champion of the literary fifth stepped a teaser, and went down and out before Noah Webster Cannon. A program of events also was among the features. The results were as follows:

Running race (any old style) between Don Carlos, owned by J. E. Willey, and Lady Bess, owned by Preston Cannon—First heat, tie; second heat, won by Don Carlos by a neck.
Pony race, between ponies owned by E. H. Barclay and J. E. Sharp—Won by the Barclay pony.
A baseball game, played between the M. I. A. and the Sunday schools, resulted in a victory for the first by a score of 10 to 4.

I. O. O. F. at Lagoon—Yesterday was a red-letter day at Lagoon with one of the largest crowds of the season present on the occasion of the I. O. O. F. reunion. Apparently delegates came from all over the state and fully 2,500 people patronized the charming Davis country resort. The first contest was a tug of war in which Murray was pitted against a picked team from throughout the state. Murray won. The races resulted as follows:

Girls' footrace under 12 years, 50 yards—Nellie Randall, Ogden.
Girls' footrace under 18 years, 55 yards—Helen Riley, Salt Lake City.
Boys' footrace under 10 years, 75 yards—Ed. Dunn, Ogden.

Peanut race for boys under 16 years of age, 50 yards—Frank Myers, Salt Lake City.
Peanut race for girls under 16 years of age, 50 yards—Helen Brown, Stockton.

The fine oil painting which was sold for the benefit of Brother George W. Jewett was won by the holder of ticket No. 1,388. The next four tickets drawn out of the hat were 1,369, 1,360, 1,213 and 25. The painting can be had at Strayer & Scoville's bakery.

Tomorrow the Eighteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first and Twenty-seventh ward Sunday schools and their friends will go to Lagoon where a capital program of sports and other forms of entertainment has been prepared. The Utah county Mutual Improvement associations will join the Salt Lake excursionists for the outing, and a baseball game between the two sections will be one of the afternoon attractions.

AN ICE PLANT IS A REGULAR MINT

President of Kansas City Ice Trust Made a Big Fortune In Five Years.

CAPITAL AT START WAS $600.

Cleared $45,000 Second Year—Not in Business as a Philanthropist.

Kansas City, July 11.—Ex-State Senator W. F. Lyons, president of the Central Ice company if this city, gave interesting testimony at the "ice trust" hearing here today. After stating that he had started in business in 1900 with a capital of $600, he cleared $45,000 in the following year, and that he now owned a plant valued at $400,000. Mr. Lyons said that prices ought to be even higher than they are.

Mr. Lyons told of asking two advances this season in the price of ice sold to the peddlers on April 15 and May 1.

"How did you come to raise the price on the first of April?" was asked.

"I heard that the People's Ice company was going to raise the price on that date, so I raised it."

"Why?"

"Well, I am not in the ice business as a philanthropist. I wanted to get all I could for my ice."

The first advance was from 50 cents to 10 a ton. Later he made an additional raise when he heard that the other companies intended doing so.

Mr. Lyons said he knew of no combination in the ice business. "But it is not necessary this year," he added.

In reply to further questioning, Mr. Lyons said:

"If I had the making of the price of ice it would be higher than it is now. The downtown trade today ought to be paying several dollars a ton. It is due to the timidty of the ice men that the price is not higher. I say timidty—I won't say cowardice—but it is business timidty and moral timidty."

Mr. Lyons said he thought the cost of manufacturing ice was about $1.75 to $1.85 a ton.

Mr. Meiklejohn's candidacy adds interest to an already heated senatorial campaign, in which the principal participants have been Edward Rosendorfer of Omaha, and Norris Brown, attorney-general of the state. The contest is for the nomination to succeed Senator Millard, who has not entered into the fight.

WASHINGTON ICE TRUST IS INDICTED.

Washington, July 12.—The grand jury of the District of Columbia today returned indictments against the American Ice company and the Chapin-Sacks Ice company and their local officers on the charge of entering into a conspiracy to increase the price of ice. #### COLLISION ON THE PENN. R. R.

Philadelphia, July 12.—An express train, known as the Philadelphia special on the Pennsylvania railroad, which left Pittsburg at 10 o'clock last night, collided with a freight train at Allentown, Pa., 25 miles west of Philadelphia. Passengers on the express were shaken up and bruised but none was seriously injured. The engines of both trains and a brakeman on the passenger train were severely but not fatally hurt. Owing to a fog the express was running slowly which probably prevented a more serious accident.
