

FIGHT AT MURRAY LAST EVENING.

Terry Davis "Lost His Head" and "Silent" Rowan Won on A Foul

IT HAPPENED IN THE FIFTH.

The Bout Proved Much More Clever Than His Opponent, but He Was Not So Strong and Rugged.

About 250 fight fans assembled at the Murray Opera House last night to witness the glove contest between Terry Davis of Salt Lake, and "Silent" Rowan of some where or other.

They saw four and a half rounds of pretty fast mauling with Davis finishing about a nose and ear, when something happened and the fight was stopped by Referee Jim Donaldson. The "something" was a foul of the worst kind; the second one committed by Davis.

Both men weighed in on the scale, and both came under the poundage—127 pounds.

Both boys appeared fit, each other, the two went at it with Davis doing the aggressive work and Rowan playing the clever, which he can.

Rowan had gone about the distance when he was sent to the floor from one of Terry's dashes. While on the floor Davis walloped away and quickly left the silent and smooth surfaces knowing that with the referee took the view that it was not intentional, and did not allow it. He stated that the people came there to witness a fight and not a boxing match, so the referee would pay no attention to the first one.

The boys then settled down to work, Rowan demonstrating that in point of skill he had it on Davis by a wide margin, but when it came to absorbing punishment, giving punishment, strength and endurance, it was Davis who was the head, and if he had not "lost his head" would in all probability have won by the slumber round.

Up to the beginning of the fifth round he had shown over the mat, but in that round he committed another foul; one that could not be overlooked by anyone. The boys were at the end of their tether.

Rowan slipped to the floor, while resting on one knee, Davis landed a sort of woodchopping blow on the silent boy's neck.

The two boys—Huggins, Seymour and Owens, three-round hits—heckled, (R. H. E. 3), off Scandan, 3; off Reisinger, 2; Struck Out—By Mathewson, 3; by Taylor, 1; Two-base Hits—Gibert, Umpire—O'Day.

BOXING RULES.

Many Questions Arise as to What Marquis Really Intended.

There have been many disputes on points in the Marquis of Queensberry rules. Eighteen to twenty, or more, straight times, and frequently violate them. Here are the accepted rules:

1.—To fair stand up boxing match in a ring or as near that size as possible.

2.—No wrestling or hugging allowed.

3.—The rounds to be of three minutes duration, and one minute between rounds.

4.—If either man falls through weakness or otherwise, he must get up unassisted, and if he cannot do so, the other man meanwhile to return to his corner, and when the fallen man is on his legs the round is to be resumed and continued, unless the referee has so ordered.

5.—If one man falls out of time, and the other fails to come to the scratch in the 10 seconds allowed, it shall be in the power of the referee to give his opponent a round.

6.—A man hanging on the ropes in a helpless state, with his toes off the ground, shall be considered down.

7.—A blow struck in the ring during the bout, or neck or shoulder, or any part of the body, shall be deemed foul, and that in a close, or an antagonist below the waist, by the thigh or otherwise, shall be deemed foul.

8.—A blow struck below the waist shall be deemed foul, and that in a close, or an antagonist below the waist, by the thigh or otherwise, shall be deemed foul.

9.—Should the bout be stopped by any unavoidable interference, the referee to make a decision as to whether the bout may be continued, or the bout stopped.

10.—If either man falls out of time, and the other fails to come to the scratch in the 10 seconds allowed, it shall be in the power of the referee to give his opponent a round.

11.—A blow struck in the ring during the bout, or neck or shoulder, or any part of the body, shall be deemed foul, and that in a close, or an antagonist below the waist, by the thigh or otherwise, shall be deemed foul.

12.—It shall be a "fair stand up" fight, and every man shall be deemed down, and a blow given in either case shall be deemed foul, provided always that, when in such positions, the man so struck shall not himself strike or attempt to strike the other.

13.—A blow struck when a man is thrown or down shall be deemed a foul. A man with one knee and one hand on the ground shall be deemed down, and a blow given in either case shall be deemed foul, provided always that, when in such positions, the man so struck shall not himself strike or attempt to strike the other.

14.—A blow struck when a man is thrown or down shall be deemed a foul. A man with one knee and one hand on the ground shall be deemed down, and a blow given in either case shall be deemed foul, provided always that, when in such positions, the man so struck shall not himself strike or attempt to strike the other.

15.—A blow struck when a man is thrown or down shall be deemed a foul. A man with one knee and one hand on the ground shall be deemed down, and a blow given in either case shall be deemed foul, provided always that, when in such positions, the man so struck shall not himself strike or attempt to strike the other.

16.—A blow struck when a man is thrown or down shall be deemed a foul. A man with one knee and one hand on the ground shall be deemed down, and a blow given in either case shall be deemed foul, provided always that, when in such positions, the man so struck shall not himself strike or attempt to strike the other.

17.—A blow struck when a man is thrown or down shall be deemed a foul. A man with one knee and one hand on the ground shall be deemed down, and a blow given in either case shall be deemed foul, provided always that, when in such positions, the man so struck shall not himself strike or attempt to strike the other.
