WEATHER.

The weather continued warm over the entire state, averaging about 5 degrees above the normal over western counties. Light frost occurred in a few eastern sections on the 14th. No rain fell, except a light sprinkle in eastern sections on Sunday night. The sky remained clear, light smoke prevailing in western countles.

CROPS.

Frult .- Shipping of pears and prunes and drying of prunes is progressing rapidly; over the northern portion of the state the yield of fruit has been nearly an average one, prunes being a large crop; in the fruit growing valleys of southwestern Idaho the yield of peaches, apples and prunes is generally above average, peaches beings especially plentiful; the yield of pears is somewhat below average; where fruit is grown in eastern sections, the yield is generally somewhat below average, except in portions of Bannock county, where a good yield has been secured. Most of the fruit, except winter apples and late peaches, is mature. Grain .- Harvest of grain is practically complete and most of it has been threshed; in northern counties the yield is somewhat below average on acount of drouth, but the quality is excellent; in southwestern sections the juality of the product is excellent and the yield is a good average; in eastern counties the yield is average and above and the quality is generally excellent, except that in a few elevated sections some of it has been injured by frosts; grasshoppers did some damage in Bear

Lake county; corn has yielded well. Grass .- Most of the hay grop has been cut, except that in a few southwestern valleys some third-crop alfaifa is yet to be secured; the yield of hay in northern countles is slightly below average, but the quality is good; in southern and eastern sections, hountiful yields have generally been secured and the quality is excellent; some sec-ond crop alfalfa in eastern sections has been slightly frosted. Range grass is now very short and is needing rain badly.

Vegetables and Melons .- The yield of potatoes is somewhat uneven, but reports indicate that general results will be below the average, with quality excellent; garden vegetables have well throughout the season; sugar beets have prospered, and a good yield will soon be gathered; melons have yielded well and markets are well supplied with watermelons and canteloups of excellent quality. Stock,-Stock kept on irrigated pastures has done well throughout the son and is now in excellent condition;
