Edith May Confesses to Murdering her Mother.

WHISKY TURNS HER TO A DRUG.

Fire in Helena.—A Hotel Consumed.—A Man Thrown from a Train and Killed.

Denver News.—Denver, Colo., Sept. 29.—Early this morning, Edith May, the daughter of the late Mrs. May, who was arrested in New Mexico last Wednesday and brought to this city last night by Deputy Sheriff Delaney, confessed the crime and said she thought nothing had happened. Her only fear is that of being hanged.

He says the murder was committed by him September 23, 1891. He had been drinking with his mother. A few minutes after the whisky was taken away from him, he went out to the back yard and took a drink of whisky out of a bottle which he had concealed in the back yard. He started back to the house, when he felt the drink had made him feel better and he continued to drink the whisky and drink the whisky.

After he had drunk up all the whisky in the bottle, he returned to the house and entered into a conversation with his mother about going to the Fairgrounds in New Mexico. He told her that he would go with her, but she would not let him go. He told her that he would go away from home, but she would not let him go. He told her that he would go away from home, but she would not let him go.
