You may fine us, imprison us, drive us away, even kill some of us, but Mormonism will still survive, You may call me an enthusiast, fanatic, what you like, but if I had to choose between death and giving up my religion. I would simply say, 'kill me,' I believe 100,000 Mormons would do the same Religion is something above the laws of man. When the law says I must give up a tenet of my religion, I answer, that God has given me a belief in that tenet, and I cannot give it up. evitable that Salt Lake must fall into the hands of the invaders. Brigham Young was to give the signal by firing his own house. Although my home had cost me $9,000, yet I stood ready to apply the torch as soon as it should become necessary to sacrifice it. If the army had attempted to enter Salt Lake City at that time, they would have found it only a mass of burning ruins. But, happily, an understanding was arrived at, the troops turned their faces homeward, and Salt Lake City was saved. The Mormon Church does not meddle in politics except inasmuch as mon Church, who is the Utah emigrant agent in this city, was interviewed to-day by a Telegram reporter, for the purpose of obtaining his views on the Mormon question. He went to Salt Lake City in 1847, and has ever since been one of the leaders of Mormonism. dle in politics except inasmuch as they are compelled to do so for their own protection. If the same persons had been born and brought up Mormons their moral sense would not be vorce is the one it is necessary to offended by polygamy. The meral gain among members of the sense which polygamy offends is Church; the civil one is ob-merely a matter of religious train-ing. It is not like the instinctive feel-ing implanted by God in the human is granted for infidelity and ill-treatbreast which tells us it is wrong to steal or murder without being told it is so by some one else, or even in spite of being told that it is laudable to do so. There is no feeling like this which tells a man it is wrong woman is not considered sufficient. If a man were known to marry simply for lust he would not be granted permission by the church to take any more wives. Mormons who live outside of Utah do not practice polygamy. Although polygamy is the occasion of so much trouble from Mormon Church, prevents the administration of justice through the in fact to be unfair to the woman, the outside world to us, and seems though it is not absolutely neces-sary that a man should have more

I suppose that the President here alludes to the difficulties which the government encounters in convicting Mormons of polygamy. Now it is not likely that when there is a haw which entails imprisonment for two or five years and a fine of $5,000 on conviction of having more than one wife that a Mormon who breaks THE CHILDREN OF MORMONS. "One would imagine that whea it. His brother Mormons do not sons and daughters by other than than one wife. The wives themselves are not going to give information by which they will be deprived of the support of their husband for two years or more, and so it is no doubt. wish to know whether he has more world, where their religion did not prevail, where the stigma of their birth might prevent their reception in society. But it is not so. I have never seen a Mormon young man or young woman yet who was ashamed of his or her birth on account of being the child of a recently as a second or the stage. vears or more, and so it is no doubt difficult for the government to get evidence sufficiently strong to con-vict. Every effort is made by officials, detectives, &c., to obtain admissions. They will meet a little child and ask who its father and being the child of a second or even mother are and endeavor to get information which they are unable to obtain from their parents. The officers may suspect that the three or four women living with a Mormon are married to him, but suspicions count for nothing without a tenth wife. Mormon stepchildren are as much attached to each other as though full brothers or sisters, and this is the more remarkable on account of the reverse being the case outside of Mormons. It has been said to me that polygamy cannot be allowed because for one reason, a Gentile might live with three or four wives, and, if arrested, would claim that polygamy was his belief, although not a Mormon But the answer is that it is not his religion, as it is that at the "As to the charge of polygamy eing a criminal practice which descroys the family relation and endangers social order, it is only crimina in the sense that it is against the law. As for it destroying the family relation, I will admit this much; not his religion as it is that of the latter, although the courts hold each equally responsible for his acts. We do not believe in cohabitation but in marriage. Speaking of courts reminds me of another grievance in Utah. We need the best of lawyers as judges to decide the intricacies of

of course where a wife loves her husband deeply it is impossible for her not to be jealous of attentions to any other woman. Nevertheless they are as happy as many of the married women who have only one susband. The charge is made against us that a ctake more than one wife to gratify our lust. This is not the case. It is because it is a tenet of our religion, because our religion teaches us that processing is send men to Utah, who, with a few exceptions, are totally unfitted for exceptions, are totally unfitted for their positions and duties. One of the plans proposed to break up Mormonism was to divide Utah among the other territories, but that would only give us the balance of power in three or four territories, where now it is confined to ane. igion teaches us that procreation is one of the noblest works of nature, and that every woman should have the opportunity of becoming a mo-ther if she so desires.
