

TWO ANNIVERSARIES AT THE LION HOUSE

They Will Mark the Fiftieth Year of Mrs. Susa Young Gates, Who Was the First Child to Be Born Within the Walls of the Historic Mansion, and the Completion of the House Itself.

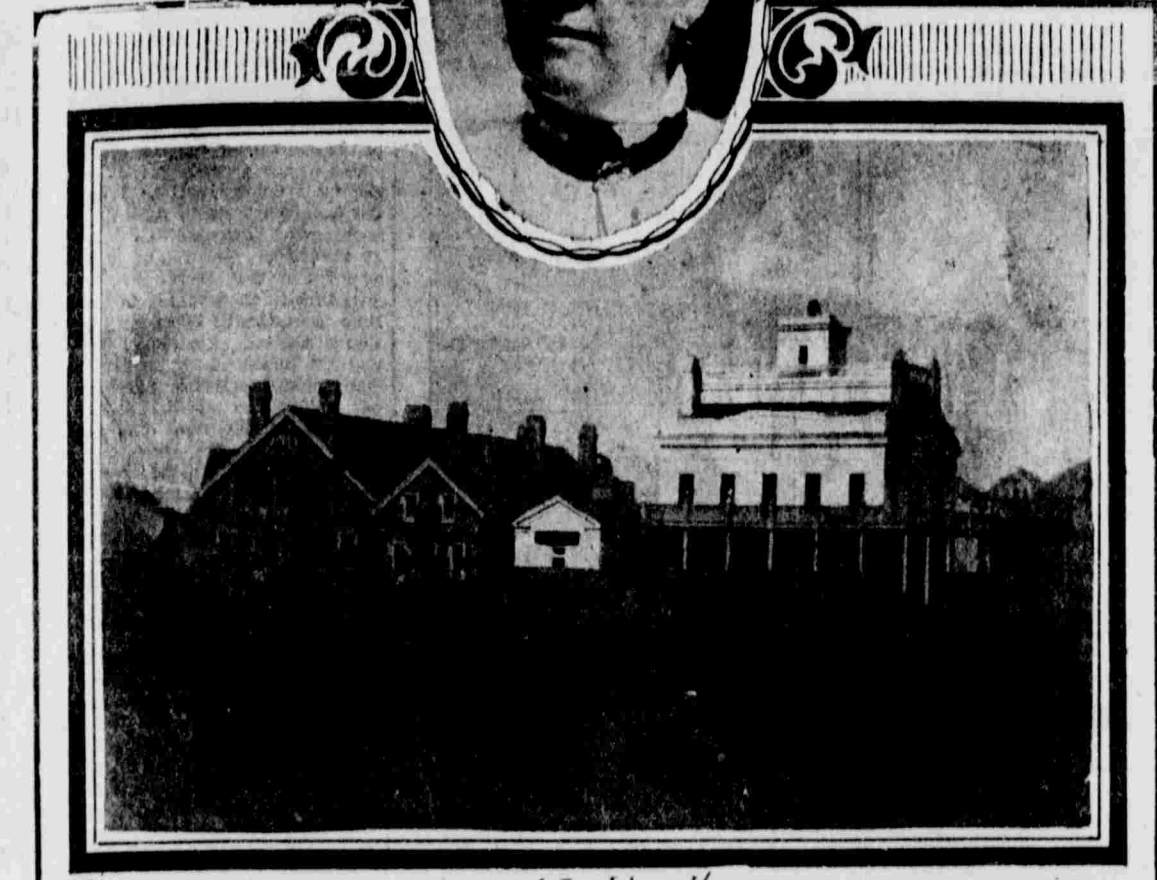

This evening Mrs. Susa Young Gates will be the guest of honor at a reception and birthday party to be held in the Lion House. Fifty years ago tomorrow, in that historic building, was born the child who was destined to become a distinguished woman. Mrs. Gates has received honor and distinction at home for her eminent abilities as a speaker and a writer, and her voice has been heard and the products of her pen read with interest and pleasure in various cultured centers of the nation. Who of the sons and daughters to the western nation born has not sat for hours absorbed in the writing of "Homespun"—poetry or

Susa Young Gates

The card of invitation announces that the program will begin promptly at 8 o'clock, and that no presents will be received. The evening will be devoted to music and song, the telling of reminiscences, and a genuine social feast between relatives and friends. Admission will be by presentation of invitation card only. The various committees having the affair in hand are as follows:

Program—Willard Young, H. B. Clawson, Spencer Clawson, Maud May Babcock, Hugh Douglass.
Arrangement—Alice Kimball Smith, Augusta W. Grant, Ann Groesbeck, Leah D. Whitson.
Relics—B. Morris Young, Emmeline Wells, Benjamin Goddard, Annie

prose, fiction or editorial expounding? Who has not been thrilled by the sound of the resonant voice of the "daughter of her father," as in the pulpit or on the rostrum of the lecture hall she speaks to or in defense of her people?

The house which sheltered Susa Young Gates during the most part of her early years, was not yet completed when she first saw the light of day. Many of the doors and windows were not in place, but some of the rooms had been made habitable, and among these was the room occupied by Mrs. Young. The latter was the first child born in the last earthly home of President Brigham Young, for in the Lion House the illustrious founder of Utah passed from mortality.

It is fitting that the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Gates should be celebrated in the house where she was born, and tonight invited friends, for the building can be made to admit only those who will gather to pay their respects to one whom they delight to honor.

Arranged by L. L. Maeser, Lillie R. Pratt.

Lion House Reminders—Mabel Young Sanborn, Ida Smith, Clarissa Y. Spencer, Sarah Eddington, Adella W. Eardley, Lou Groesbeck McCune.

Reception—Julia L. Smith, Seymour B. Young, Josephine Burton, Martha H. Tingey, Richard W. Young, Emma Empey, Sarah J. Cannon, Jos. A. Sanborn, Lucy Woodruff Smith, Mira Y. Rossiter, J. Golden Kimball, Emma W. Pyper, Thomas Hull.

A GAME OF BILLIARDS IN THE WATER.

The amusing scene herewith depicted actually took place at Bournemouth, England. This aquatic billiard game was the result of a wager. A floating table was constructed and moored to a spot designated, one of the conditions being that the water should be at least over the heads of the players. It was one of the duties of the referee to keep the table steady, and he succeeded.

THE 3d DOCTOR SAVED HIM

The following letter was unsolicited: Brothwood Railroad Trainmen, Now or Never Lodge, No. 517, Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 11, 1905.

J. J. Fulton Co., San Francisco—Dear Sirs: I feel it my duty to write you of your wonderful Renal Compound for Bright's Disease. It is the most wonderful thing I ever knew of. I had Bright's Disease in a most critical way, and two doctors gave me up as a goner. So my wife called a third. He said the only hope I had was in your medicine. It was gotten for me at once at 200 Broadway, N. Y. In seven days the dropsy left me and my eyes got so I could see quite plain, and I have been on the improve ever since. I am on the eighth bottle and am able to walk around and feel so much like myself that I expect to go to work next Monday. I am a steam railroad con-ductor, and you see I must feel pretty good to be able to handle a train. I shall continue with the Renal Compound till I am sure it has made my wonderful cure permanent. Trusting that all will do as well as I have, Yours, F. BLISS.

14 Stewart St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Note that after two doctors had failed with the orthodox treatment a broad physician prescribed the only thing known that controls Bright's Disease and saved this patient's life. Send for booklet on the curability of Bright's Disease to John J. Fulton Co., 409 Washington street, San Francisco, or to F. J. Hill Drug Co., Local Agents, Salt Lake City.

terial called "sonorine." When a card is placed in the phonograph, which is a simple little phonograph, a spoken message or a song delivered before the diaphragm is recorded by a sapphire-pointed stylus in the sonorine, a diminishing spiral forming a circle about as large as a small coin. The records are deeply impressed and not easily injured. About 75 or 80 words may be sent, and these cards offer such advantages as conveying actual sounds of the voice, being easily used at any stopping place, and ensuring comparative secrecy, as the message can only be read when placed in the reproducing apparatus.

An interesting new material using sawdust is wood-stone. It is a mixture of sawdust and calcined magnes-nesia reduced to powder, the moistened ingredients being thoroughly mingled, pounded, ground, and submitted to moderate pressure for a number of hours. The finished products are further compressed in a hydraulic press. The material is incompressible to water, and takes a high polish, being adapted for pavements, linings, coverings, and ornamental purposes.

A report of the years' work at the Wolurn Experimental Fruit Farm in England gives the curious result that carelessly planted apple trees, though weak at first, ultimately made more growth than the carefully planted. The reason found at last is that the roots of the former are too much injured to grow, and the new roots caused to grow from dormant buds higher up the stem in time surpasses size the roots that have been carefully transplanted, and thus set back without being destroyed.

A new agent in the civilization of Africa is now being brought into use. Zebras are numerous in certain parts of the country, and Major Cambler has reported herds sometimes numbering 80 to 100 animals along the east shore of Tanganyika, while in Katanga Dr. Delchard has met in a single day about ten herds of 20 to 30 zebras each. In isolated cases these animals have been tamed and trained to harness. An attempt at wholesale domestication was begun by Lieut. Uys of the Belgian army, on July 20, 1904, when 90 zebras were captured at Samptive, in Katanga, and were placed in a large enclosure. For two hours the captives galloped madly about their prison, while in the first few days many refused food and drink. Some starved to death, others died from over-eating after a long fast, and on being placed in stalls at the end of fifteen days a few were killed by throwing themselves against the walls. This reduced the herd to 60 members. These were in good health, had become quite docile and could be approached without kicking or biting. Success in training is confidently expected, with great results for the Congo country.

A late attempt to get electric power from the atmosphere is credited M. Michelin, a Russian. A kite was sent up from a mountain near Novo-Alex-andria, and when it had risen a little above 100 feet sparks began to appear in the collecting apparatus at the rate of every three to five seconds, soon changing to a continuous stream. A motor was then driven by a pressure of 22,000 volts for an hour, stopping for an interval when the wind fell. The motor reached a speed of 4,700 revolutions per minute, and it was concluded that higher flying, with a motor designed for higher pressure, could supply considerable work.

BORAH'S OUT OF SENATORIAL RACE

Idaho Lawyer to Use Talents in Prosecution of Federation Officers.

GREAT LEGAL FIGHT AHEAD.

His Retirement Means That Contest Will Be Between Chairman Brady and Judge Beatty.

The special correspondent of the Portland Oregonian who is stationed at Boise writes to his paper as follows under date of the 14th inst.:

W. E. Borah, one of the foremost lawyers in Idaho, and one of the most-talked-of Republicans for the United States senate, has from this afternoon ceased to be a candidate for that high honor. This exclusive announcement will startle the friends of this brilliant lawyer, will bring a storm of protest from them, and will afford political gossip for his political enemies for some time to come.

Those who know Mr. Borah best, those who for years have talked of him as the next senator from Idaho, those who have stood shoulder to shoulder with him, not only in the great fight he made during the Coeur d'Alene outrages, but in business and in the political affairs of this state, will believe, when it is said that the man and lawyer has risen above the man and political ambition, when it is announced that he has cast aside his ambition for the senatorial toga that he might devote his entire time to the prosecuting of the men accused of taking the life of Gov. Frank Steunenberg.

MOTIVES MAY BE MISUNDERSTOOD.

Cynics will sneer. Those leaders whose warped political visions are no wider than the office they seek will impute another motive to the withdrawal of Mr. Borah from the senatorial contest at this time. But let the cynic do their carping, let the little ring of politicians who have fought Mr. Borah for years, mouth their views and praise of him, let him out of the race at this time because he demanded that the next Republican convention be pledged to support him as the senatorial candidate.

The members of the Republican state central committee are housed at the Idaho hotel tonight. They meet tomorrow for the purpose of selecting the next convention city and for the purpose of selecting the call and fixing the apportionment.

WHAT NO ONE WILL KNOW.

Mr. Borah's demand that the next convention be pledged to him has met with opposition from some of the leaders. Whether he could have won his point, had he stayed in the fight, matters little at this time. He is out of the zone of fire and the battle now will be between J. H. Brady of Pocatello, chairman of the state central committee, and Judge J. H. Beatty, who is at present United States judge.

Before Mr. Borah stepped out there were three "B's" in the senatorial race. Now there are but two. Unless Mr. Brady reads the signs wrong, more probably if the campaign is long drawn out, the chances of the senatorial mantle falling upon Judge Beatty's shoulders are best.

Brady has the organization behind him, but the question that the campaign will settle is, has he the people with him, or rather, will he have the people with him when the count is taken? In a short, sharp and furious campaign, Brady's chances would be good, but with plenty of time for the washing of dirty political linen—well, that's another story.

GOODING'S FRIENDS INSISTENT.

There has been some little talk of Gov. Gooding having some senatorial ambitions. He has put the lid down on the speculation, for he is a candidate for re-election to the governor's chair, and says he is satisfied. Gov. Gooding has a number of warm friends who would, if they dared face his wrath, come out right now with a declaration that he is a candidate. They have been holding back and watching the trend of affairs, and now that the Oregonian announces for the first time that Mr. Borah has withdrawn from the fight, they may not be surprised should an open announcement be made. They may hold themselves until the convention, and after feeling the pulse

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

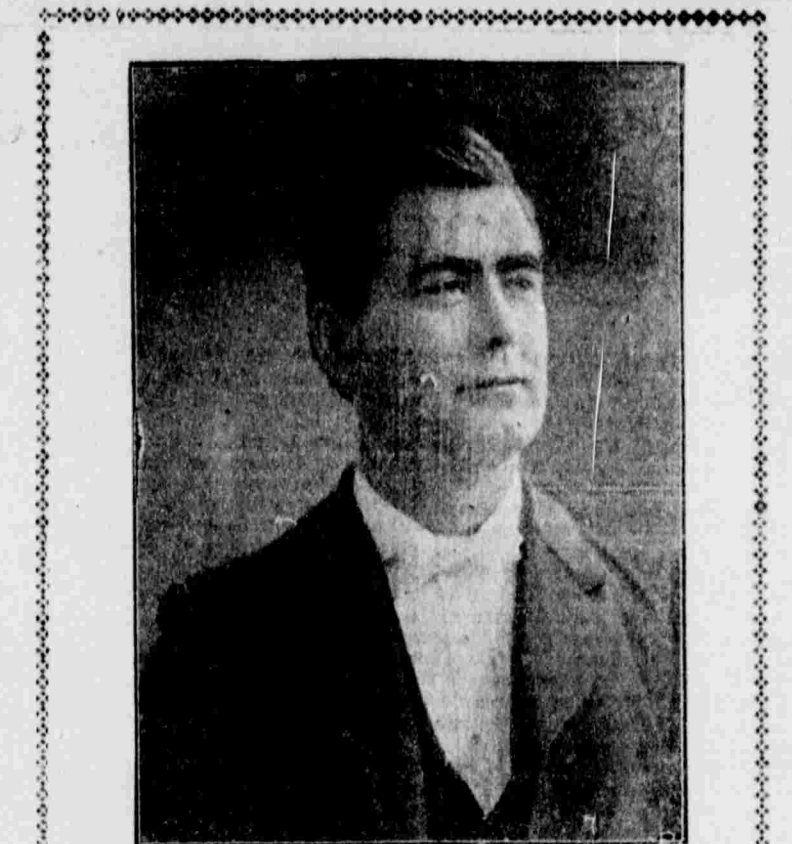

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion. It whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh. All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although I have some times a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

HON. W. E. BORAH.
Prominent Idaho Lawyer Who is Said to Have Withdrawn From the Senatorial Race in Idaho.

A Venomous Bird.

Rpir N'Doob of New Guinea is the name not of a man, but of a bird—the only venomous bird that exists. That there should be one venomous bird is not strange; it is strange there are not many more than one; for birds, anatomists say, are reptiles—prehistoric snakes that in the dim past put forth wings and sprouted feathers. So, since there are so many venomous serpents, it is natural enough that there should be one venomous bird, the Rpir N'Doob, which is New Guinea, for it is singularly savage. It will not, when feeding, flee at a man's approach. It will on the contrary attack the man if he draws too near.

OPPOSED BY THE MACHINE.

I have talked with a great number of men during the past ten days, friends and political enemies of Mr. Borah, and they admit under any system of fair politics Mr. Borah is entitled to the senatorship. Ask the leaders here if there is such a thing as a machine, and the question is met with a prompt denial.

A machine exists, however. It may not be a great, formidable thing, with every wheel well oiled and running smoothly—it's a machine, nevertheless. This machine, so-called, for a better name, has always fought Mr. Borah, fought him because he has never been a machine man. Not long ago one of the prominent organization men, a man close to the throne, in discussing this phase of Mr. Borah's character, said: "We are opposed to Borah because he is not one of us. He never consults with us and refuses to be bound by the organization, as a good party man should. If he were in the senate he would take light in smashing the machine and throwing it into the Snake river."

GOOD POLITICAL FIGHTER.

This seems to be the real objection, for while he is not a machine man, he is certainly a good party man, as he has certainly borne the brunt of the fight in the last two campaigns against Dubois. Many men, even his enemies, will tell you that his campaign three years ago was the most important factor in swinging the Republican party into power in Idaho.

CLOSE FRIEND OF STEUNENBERG.

An effort to get Mr. Borah to discuss his withdrawal from politics at this time failed. I have it from the very best authority that he has concluded to devote all of his time to the prosecution of the charges of assassination against Moyer, Haywood, Pettibone and the rest of the members of the Western Federation of Miners. In this great legal fight, for it promises at least to date to be one of the greatest in the criminal history of this country, he will be performing a labor of love. Governor Steunenberg and Mr. Borah went through the Coeur d'Alene troubles together, and there sprang up between them a friendship which ripened with years. When Governor Steunenberg was assassinated no man in the state was closer to the ex-governor than Mr. Borah and no one felt his death more keenly.

FORCED INTO THE CASE.

Mr. Borah was urged by the state to take hold of the prosecution from the first, but declined to accept employment or to act in any other way than as a friendly adviser, hoping, no doubt, that a way would be found to relieve him from giving personal attention to the case. Since the developments, however, which have startled the whole country he has again been urged to go into the case and has consented. These trials will undoubtedly string out through the entire summer, and it means that the field of politics is to be left entirely to Borah's opponents. It is currently reported that when it became necessary for him to decide he called in the friends he could reach, and stated that it was out of the question for him to do justice to the prosecution and give any time whatever to politics. He would have to stay out of one or the other.

Mr. Borah further stated he did not see how he could honorably decline to assist in the prosecution if his services were wanted. Whether any further determination was had, it is impossible to state, but it is known that he is giving his undivided attention to this case.

OPPONENT FOR SENATOR HEYBURN.

At first glance it would seem as if Mr. Borah was caught between political and legal walls and that the thing was forced upon him by his political enemies, who counted upon him to choose the greatest thing, that of working with Special Prosecutor James H. Hawley in the prosecution of the Federation officers.

Mr. Borah is still a young man. He knows that even should he have to wait six or seven years for the political honor which he has just thrust aside, he will be in a better position to fulfill the honor. His financial position will be better fortified, for if he practises he has built up would go to smash. That he will be Senator Heyburn's opponent is an assured fact.

BRADY'S FRIENDS JUBILANT.

Thinks Retirement of Borah Means His Election as Next Senator.
(Special to the "News").
Pocatello, March 17.—There is great jubilation here today on the part of Pocatello Republicans as they declare that the senatorial toga is now practically certain to grace the shoulders of Hon. Jos. H. Brady. They believe him to be the proper and logical man to represent Idaho in the Senate at Washington. A special article from Boise to the Portland Oregonian announcing that W. E. Borah had resigned from the senatorial race was read here with great interest today and yesterday and a number of people lost no time in hunting up Mr. Brady and promising him their support.

ANEMIA IS CURED

ANOTHER TRIUMPH FOR DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

The Remedy That Actually Makes New Blood and Strikes Straight at the Root of Disease.

Anemia is just the doctor's name for bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People actually makes new blood. Can any cure be more direct or certain? Blood is bound to cure bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure anemia just as food cures hunger. They cured Mrs. Thomas J. McGinn, of 17 Lincoln Place, Plainfield, N. J., and they can do as much for any other pale, weak, ailing, bloodless person.

"In the spring of 1903 I did my usual house cleaning," says Mrs. McGinn, "and soon afterward I began to have the most terrible headaches. My heart would beat so irregularly that it was painful and there came a morning when I could not get up. My doctor said I had anemia and he was surprised that I had continued to live in the condition I was in. I was confined to my bed for nearly two months, the doctor coming every day for the first few weeks, but I did not improve to amount to anything.

Altogether I was sick for nearly two years. I was as weak as a rag, had headaches, irregular heart beats, loss of appetite, cramps in the limbs and was unable to get a good night's sleep. My legs and feet were so swollen that I feared they would burst.

"One day, while I was wondering how long I could live, feeling as I did, I received a booklet telling about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I read it and told my husband to get me some of the pills. Before the first box was gone I felt a change for the better. I have taken about twelve boxes and although I was as near the grave as I could be, I now feel as if I had a new lease of life. I have no more headaches, the heart beats regularly, my cheeks are pink and I feel ten times younger. I feel that I have been cured very cheaply and I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to lots of my friends."

When Dr. Williams' Pink Pills replace bad blood with good blood, they strike straight at the root and cause of diseases like headache, biliousness, indigestion, anemia, neuralgia, sciatica, locomotor ataxia, and the special secret troubles that every woman knows but that none of them like to talk about even to the doctors. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
